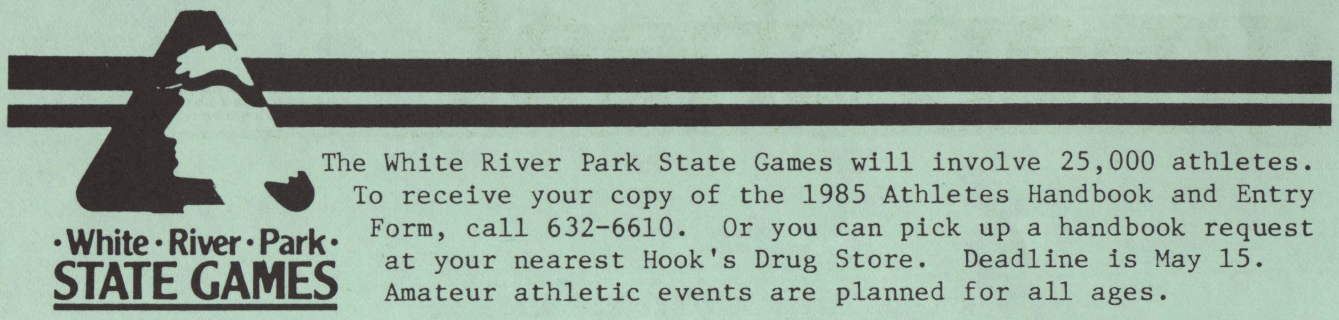
TRUSTEES APPROVE THREE NEW DEANS

Three new deans of schools at IUPUI were approved at the recent meeting in Bloomington of the IU trustees. Patricia A. Boaz was given a two-year appointment as dean of student affairs. Dr. H. William Gilmore was named dean of the School of Dentistry and William J. Voos met approval as dean of the Herron School of Art. An associate professor of chemistry in the School of Science, Boaz is also an associate dean of faculties at IUPUI. She has served as acting dean of student affairs since last July and in 1983 was associate dean of the School of Science. Dr. Gilmore, an Indianapolis dentist-teacher-reasearcher, replaces Dr. Ralph E. McDonald who has been dean in the School of Dentistry since 1969. He is a professor of operative dentistry (part-time) at the school and was chairman of the department from 1964-1970. In general practice for 18 years, Dr. Gilmore has also been a visiting professor at the U. of Pittsburgh and at several other universities in the U.S. and Latin America. He served as editor of the Journal of the Indiana Dental Association (1974-1984). Voos, president and former dean of the Atlanta (Ga.) College of Art, succeeds Arthur Weber as dean at Herron. He brings to his new post considerable experience in major building projects at several schools, including planning and design of larger facilities at Atlanta College--experience compatible with IUPUI's plans for Herron. He was dean of Atlanta during his 12 years there, and was an associate professor of art, assistant dean and associate dean of fine arts at Washington University, St. Louis.

Tuition increases for all campuses, starting with the fall semester, were among many agenda items also approved by the trustees. Higher operational costs made increases necessary. IU President John W. Ryan pointed out at the trustees' meeting that IU's tuition is still among the most economical in the Big Ten and across the country. For 1985-86 tuition per credit hour for the IUPUI campus will be $50 for undergraduates and $69.50 for graduates, compared to last year's rate of $46.50 for undergraduates and $65.75 for graduate students.

LEADER IN CARE OF CANCER IN CHILDREN HEADS SURGERY

Dr. Jay L. Grosfeld has been appointed chairman of the Dept. of Surgery at IU by the IU trustees. The Lafayette F. Page Professor and director of pediatric surgery at IU since 1981, Dr. Grosfeld joined the university as professor and director of pediatric surgery in 1972. He is a recognized leader in the research and care of children with cancer and in neonatal surgery. Regarding his plans for the department, Dr. Grosfeld said, "The recruitment of topnotch faculty over the next two years will enhance the current work of our faculty, so that we will be able to expand our creative research program. This will dictate the future direction of clinical care in Indiana, particularly in cardiology, cancer and fetal surgery, as well as programs in organ transplantation...."



The White River Park State Games will involve 25,000 athletes. To receive your copy of the 1985 Athletes Handbook and Entry Form, call 632-6610. Or you can pick up a handbook request at your nearest Hook's Drug Store. Deadline is May 15. Amateur athletic events are planned for all ages.

AGREE ON ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS AND ARCHITECTS

Dealing with a full agenda at their recent meeting in Bloomington, the IU trustees gave the nod to the appointment of Su-Shing Chen as chairman of the Dept. of Computer and Information Science, School of Science. In personnel action affecting the School of Liberal Arts, the trustees approved the three-year appointment of Patrick J. McGeever, professor of political science and adjunct professor of American Studies, as chairman of the Dept. of Political Science. He replaces Richard A. Fredland, professor of political science, for whom the trustees approved a one-year appointment as the school's acting assistant dean of student affairs. Approval was also given for a one-year appointment of Fredland as coordinator of international affairs at the school. Also, a three-year appointment was approved for Lucila I. Mena, associate professor of Spanish, as chairman of the Dept. of Spanish.

In other matters the trustees approved Browning Day Mullins Dierdorf Inc., Indianapolis architectual firm, as both the design and project architect for the new National Institute for Fitness and Sport Facility here. They also selected Edward Larrabee Barnes Associates, New York City, as project architect for the development of a conference center on campus at an estimated cost of $12 million to be provided by several sources in the public and private sectors. It will include meeting rooms, auditorium, exhibit area, teleconference facilities and a central registration area and will be located on a two-block site bordered on the west by Agnes Street, east by Blake Street, south by Michigan Street and north by North Street. And they authorized the plans to proceed to enlarge the south parking garage to accommodate 2,000 vehicles. Cost is estimated at $6.9 million, to be funded from parking revenues.

CITE EXTRA EFFORTS OF TWELVE ON CAMPUS

Among the 80 nominees, 12 people--six staff, six faculty--were honored for their extra effort on the job and in their relations with co-workers and the public. A check and plaque were given during the second annual Experience Excellence Recognition Award ceremony held recently. The staff honorees are: Anthony R. Brillo, plumber, Physical Plant, for creating a friendly atmosphere at Riley Hospital; Phyllis Brumbaugh, cardiovascular perfusionist at University Hospital, for her gift of comforting patients and families; Patricia Griswold, director of education, Cerebral Palsy Clinic, Rotary Building, for her ability to foster understanding in persons working with families and patients; Mary Kuhn, supervisor, Printing and Duplication Dept., 38th St. campus, for her gracious attitude as "sole/soul" printing and duplicating source at the School of Science and the campus; Della Pacheco, business/manager/publicist, IUPUI Theater, for volunteering countless hours in developing and operating the theater, and Nina Pick, certified orthopist, Rotary Building, for her cheerful and good heart and willingness to help others.

Faculty honorees are: W. David Bostwick, associate dean of student affairs, Engineering and Technology, for his sensitivity to students' needs; Merle R. Draper, director, Guided Studies Program, Education, for instilling confidence in students and just being there when needed; Myra D. Mason, director, university affairs, Dentistry, for leadership, dedication and commitment to the minority community; David Z. McSwane, assistant professor, Public and Environmental Affairs, for unselfishly giving of time and talent to promote the health of the community; Jan Shipps, director, Center for American Studies, professor of history, Liberal Arts, for tireless efforts in many important university projects and activities, and Arlene M. Wilson, director, Dept. of Nutrition and Dietetics, University Hospital, professor of medicine, for her dedication in helping to create pride and quality in employees.
