PHILANTHROPY CENTER SETS INAUGURAL

Rockefeller Foundation President Richard W. Lyman and other dignitaries will be here Monday (Nov. 23) during an open public colloquium to inaugurate the new IU Center on Philanthropy. An invitational lunch is also planned. The colloquium is at 10 a.m. in the University Conference Center; the lunch is at noon in the Lincoln Hotel. Lyman, who is former president of Stanford University, speaks during lunch.

Panelists for the colloquium will be John J. Schwartz, past president of the American Association of Fund Raising Counsel, Inc., and a consultant to the center, who will discuss "Current Trends in Philanthropy;" Virginia A. Hodgkinson, vice president for research of the Independent Sector and member of the center's research committee, who will discuss "Mapping the Information Needs for Philanthropy," and James R. Wood, chairman and professor of sociology at IUB and center's associate director of research presenting "The Impact of Religion and Philanthropy."

Moderator will be Eugene R. Tempel, vice president of the IU Foundation and chairman of the center's operations advisory committee. Howard G. Schaller, executive dean at IUPUI, directs the new center, which was established last April with a $4 million grant from Lilly Endowment, Inc. It is a comprehensive interdisciplinary organization that will conduct research and provide teaching programs in resource development, fund raising management and the cultural aspects of philanthropy. It includes the Fund Raising School, based in San Rafael, Cal. Everyone is invited to the colloquium. There is no charge.

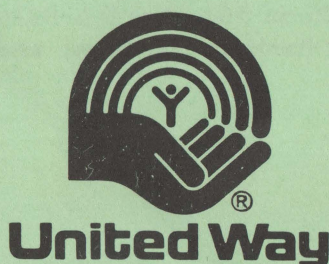

BASIC HUMAN NEEDS, such as warmth, medicine, a place to live or food at Christmas and holidays; needs such as preschool for kids who will fail without it, and crisis intervention for people at the end of their rope is one of the five major categories served by the money you give the IUPUI United Way Campaign. This year's campaign is going slowly. You still have time to give. If you have misplaced your pledge letter, others are available through your unit rep. Give 'til it helps.

YOU HAVE UNTIL DEC. 7 TO NOMINATE AN IUPUI FACULTY MEMBER FOR THE EDWARD C. MOORE AWARD

Students or faculty can nominate any IUPUI faculty member who teaches here or elsewhere in the system for the 1988 Edward C. Moore Award for Outstanding Teaching. Candidates will be judged on the basis of the documentation provided the committee. Forms and guidelines are available now. Call Carol Nathan's office, 4-8974.

(Editor's Note: Deadline for the next Green Sheet is Monday, Nov. 23 at 5 p.m.)

SCOTTISH AUTHOR TO TALK ABOUT CHILDREN AND DIVORCE

Ann Mitchell, a former research associate at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, will talk about her extensive research of the problems faced by children of divorced parents in an open lecture on Nov. 30 at 4 p.m., fourth floor commons, School of Social Work, E/S Building. She has written several textbooks about the subject, including "Children in the Middle: Living Through Divorce," "Someone to Turn To," and "Coping with Separation and Divorce." A question/answer period follows her talk. Everyone is invited, but social workers, educators, child care givers, lawyers and parents are especially urged to attend. Sponsors are the Schools of Social Work and Education. For more, call Hugh A. Wolf, associate dean, School of Education, 4-6862.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Thanksgiving Cheer--Here's hoping you do not forget the paper-wrapped giblets in the turkey neck, that your pumpkin pie finally gets done, that the bread rises and that you enjoy the breaking of it with cherished friends and family.

Reel Deal--You will need cash and an ID to get reduced General Cinema tickets for $3 each in the Bursar's office, first floor of Cavanaugh Hall. Hours are weekdays, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Celebrate--Artists and friends of Maureen Dougherty are invited to a reception honoring her retirement after 15 years as administrative assistant to the dean at the Herron School of Art. Her party is Dec. 3, 4-6 p.m., Herron Gallery.

Preview--There is still time to register for a preview class on "The Barber of Seville," which will be performed by the Indianapolis Opera next month. The $10 class includes a dress rehearsal, plot summary and more to help you enjoy the opera. Call Continuing Studies, 4-5036.

Show Off--There is booth space available to schools and units to exhibit in "Reflections of Indianapolis," a display set for Dec. 5 during the Big Four Basketball Classic in the Hoosier Dome. More than 40,000 people are expected. Call 633-5273.

On the Airways--Radio and TV shows by and about IUPUI can be seen on cable TV and heard on public radio in the coming months. Amy Warner, coordinator of special media projects, announces the following: On American Cable (Ch 10) and COMCAST (Ch 3) there are three shows. Consider This, a news-type show, with Charles Winslow and Dick Fredland from political science, airs at 7 p.m. on Monday evenings. Also, the Lincoln Hotel/University Conference Center will be featured on Indianapolis Alive, to be aired at 7 p.m. on Fridays and Sundays in December. Then a special, "The Creative Process: The Making of a Print" which was produced at Herron, will air from 6-6:30 p.m. every Wednesday next month, beginning Dec. 9. The Winslow/Fredland half hour also airs on WIAN radio (90.1 FM), the third Friday of each month at 4 p.m.

Turkey Hours--This corrects information about Thanksgiving hours at the School of Dentistry library. It will be open Nov. 23-25, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.; closed Nov. 26-Nov. 29, and resumes normal schedule on Nov. 30.

Change--Stephen Palamara is the new coordinator of the Malaysia Cooperative Program, replacing Ron Dusendschon. His office in the Union Building, Room 561, call 4-3934. Linda Haas is now director of the Women's Studies Program, replacing Barbara Jackson, who directed the program for the past two years. Call 4-7611.

TRUSTEES OK TITLES AND DIRECTORSHIPS

In a recent meeting of the IU board of trustees, Professor of Medicine Ronald Hoffman was given the additional title of Bruce Kenneth Wiseman Professor of Medicine, effective Dec. 1. In other action, the trustees made Executive Dean Howard Schaller director of the Center for Philanthropy, and added associate dean to the title of George Stookey, professor of preventive dentistry and director of the Oral Health Research Institute. Barbara Cheun Yue Amerman was approved as an assistant professor of nutrition and dietetics and was officially made director of adult food services, School of Medicine. And, a leave of absence without pay was granted Robert Harris, associate professor of economics and director of the Center for Economic Education, so that he can serve as economic education consultant for the state of California, Jan. 1-June 30, 1988.

SHOP NEARBY FOR GIFTS THAT LAST A LIFETIME

Your holiday gift shopping can make young and old happy if you include a membership to the "new" zoo and all the fun things planned for its opening next spring. Or, you can buy fitness gifts from the natatorium or the track and field stadium. There is learn to swim for little people and aqua fitness for young and old. There are adult learn to swim courses and masters swimming workouts, there are fun runs and youth track and field classes. Call the zoo, 630-2030; the natatorium, 4-3517, or the track and field, 4-6780. Most courses begin in January; lap swimming and some track exercises are ongoing.

LAW STOPS SMOKING MOST PLACES IN SOME BUILDINGS

The Indiana smoking law requires that there be no smoking, except in designated areas, in classroom and licensed health facilities on this campus and in other state-owned buildings. The law says there can be no smoking in rooms, hallways, elevators or stairwells in these kinds of buildings. On campus, buildings that fall into those two categories will have designated smoking areas and someone in the building will be appointed to locate and mark the place, put up signs, take complaints and enforce the smoking law. Where there are problems enforcing the no-smoking law, the IUPUI police will be asked to assist, and may also be called for people repeatedly break the smoking law. Deans and directors have been asked to post the name of the person appointed as the no-smoking building coordinator. These people hope everyone on campus will cooperate.

TICKETS ARE ON SALE NOW, SEATING LIMITED, IN THE 17TH MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. DINNER set for Jan. 18 in the ballroom of the Madame Walker Urban Life Center. Dr. Alvin Poussaint, associate professor of psychiatry and associate dean for student affairs at the Harvard Medical School, is dinner speaker. He is the author of best-selling books and is a consultant to the Bill Cosby television show. The IUPUI Black Student Union is sponsoring the celebration entitled "The Struggle Continues...Sustaining the Dream." Tickets are $12 for students; $15 for others. Seating is limited to 250 guests. Reservations must be made before Dec. 18. Call 4-2279, weekdays, 8 a.m.-noon.

DEAN GROSSMAN WILL BE DIFFICULT TO REPLACE

Dean Elizabeth Grossman, who has headed the School of Nursing for the last 15 years and who has seen nursing through many changes over the years, announces she is retiring next June. Vice President Gerald Bepko notes that Dean Grossman, in addition to her duties at the school, has established nursing programs in several Indiana cities and has been an effective national advocate for nurses and nursing. "She will be difficult to replace," he said. He has appointed a search and screen committee for a new dean. Chairman is Dean Sheldon Siegel, School of Social Work.

THE PHOTOGRAPHS AND MONOPRINTS OF LISA COOREMAN GO ON EXHIBIT NOVEMBER 23

at the Herron School of Art's student photography gallery, 1802 N. Illinois St. An opening reception for the Herron senior's work was set for Nov. 20, 7-9 p.m. in the gallery. Her symbolic representations of politics and society will remain on display through Dec. 18. There is no charge at the gallery.

SPONSORS NEEDED FOR STUDENT SPRING CONFERENCE

Staff and faculty are invited to sponsor selected IUPUI students to attend the Minority Student Leadership Conference on campus, Apr. 8-9, 1988. The conference is being sponsored by the Office of Minority Student Services, the Black Student Union and the Black Faculty & Staff Council. This year's theme is "Student Development for the 1990s: Packaging Leadership Skills to 'Assure' Professional Success!" Cost per student is $15. If you wish to sponsor a student, call Robert Bedford, conference coordinator, 4-4239.
