

designed so as to be available as a stand alone used to fulfill course requirements in other certificate can be used to fulfill course Sciences. None of the courses in the certificate

In the current economic climate, nations are provide prospective students the opportunity to learn and personal and cultural perspectives will be their lives and careers. Knowledge of the the rehabilitation and disease prevention service their challenges in the United States. Moreover, expose US trained rehabilitation professionals their own cultural perspectives and beliefs, practices, and expectations of the in the United States. It will also increase their 3

Systems Across the World	3
Professionals in Dev. Countries	3
Rehabilitation and Health	3
Malnutrition, Health, Disease, and Disability	3
Training in Rehabilitation	3 NRS N500 is an existing course.

institution
4.0 on a 4.0 scale applicant's ability to be academically successful and professional goals lications of economic and political theories and international experiential learning opportunity through reviews of student performance in ent will occur through evaluation of the service e International Service-Learning in e surveyed one year post certificate completion Assessment will be the responsibility of the es. These data will be shared with the School's (Development) Committee for the purpose of uate students whose career opportunities will be ve on health care and rehabilitation. It will also improving their job performance or opportunity cate will be incorporated into the School's nces degree.

ntal mission:

urban research and academic health sciences ilitation complements the campus mission. emphasis on international understanding and nly be congruent with that emphasis. In to increasing educational opportunities for the he certificate would not be limited to Indiana opportunity for Indiana citizens to continue their also complements the IUPUI mission.

quired international experience is another rad