

THE CAMPUS READING GROUP WOULD LIKE TO KNOW: READ ANY GOOD BOOKS LATELY?

Shared readings of a few "really interesting and stimulating works that can help us better understand our contemporary world" will be read in the coming year by IUPUI students, faculty and staff across campus and across disciplines. The readings will be taken from a list developed on campus. The shared readings can help develop a sense of academic community and shared intellectual experience at IUPUI. The IUPUI shared readings group, under the auspices of the IUPUI Council of Undergraduate Learning, is asking everyone to recommend a favorite, important, well-written book or other written work in print on just about any subject that can appeal to a broad range of readers. You are asked to submit recent readings that you think are so important that they should be read by the entire campus committee and then discussed as widely as possible during the next academic year. Contemporary novels, essays, biographies, histories, poetry, commentary and collections will be considered. From three to five books or writings will be selected and announced; through the shared experience of reading the same books, formal and informal conversations can develop, while other connections, accidental and serendipitous, also can emerge. Some authors of the selected works may be invited to speak on campus, and schools and groups will be encouraged to plan meetings and discussions. The shared readings organizing committee, John Barlow, Tom Lenz, and Bill Plater, invites you to submit your suggestions for the reading list before Mar. 31. Send them to Plater--by campus mail to AO 108, by electronic mail to IQYS100@INDYCMS, by FAX at 4-4615 or call 4-4500.

THE BEAUTIFUL, CHILD-SCALED RAGGEDY MAN GIFT SHOP OPENS IN RILEY

The new gift shop named after the "kind Raggedy Man" of James Whitcomb Riley fame is open in Riley Hospital. A ribbon cutting ceremony to honor the opening is Mar. 13 at 1 p.m. just outside the shop in the Carousel Lobby of Riley. A large, stuffed Raggedy Man is expected to arrive in time for the ceremony and he will live in the shop that is designed on a child's scale with low ceilings, a village look and a show window that is an aquarium. (Adults are welcome.) The Raggedy Man Gift Shop will be operated by the Cheer Guild volunteers, whose fund raising efforts made the shop possible. Proceeds will benefit Riley. Hours are weekdays, 9 a.m.-8 p.m.; weekends, noon-5 p.m.

SOUTH AFRICA'S MAART HELPS CELEBRATE INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

Rozena Maart, South African feminist, activist, poet and author is the guest speaker in a celebration Mar. 12 to honor International Women's Day and Women's History Month. She is the author of Talk About It and founder of the first black feminist organization in South Africa. A panel discussion will follow with Sue Kenyon, visiting lecturer in the Dept. of Anthropology, and Amira Machour, formerly with the National Center for Social Research in Cairo, Egypt. Their topic is "Creating a Feminist Agenda for the 1990s in Developing Countries." There also will be a lunch featuring food from 11 countries, and international music. The event is in the Champions Room in the Indianapolis Sports Center, near the School of Law. Everyone is welcome, there is no charge. For more, call Women's Studies, sponsor, 4-4784.

COWABUNGA!

All proceeds from the Mar. 21 Indianapolis premier of "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles II" at Loews College Park Theatre will benefit Riley Hospital. Tickets are $5 and are available by mailing your check no later than Mar. 15 to the Cheer Guild, RI 403D. Tickets also will be sold Mar. 5 from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. in the lobbies of Riley and University Hospitals. Supplies are limited.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Hungary Feed Hungary--This winter the government of India has pledged to donate 20,000 tons of food to the Soviet Union. This winter no government in the world has pledged to donate any food to India. (Harper's Index, March 1991)

Medical Ethics--The Medical Educational Resources Program, School of Medicine, will broadcast a 90-minute program on medical ethics Mar. 7 at noon. It features Richard C. Powell, M.D., professor of medicine, and a panel representing medicine, law, nursing and religion. Health care professionals can see the teleconference at local MTN sites or at the University Place Conference Center. For more, call 4-7212.

Hesburgh Lecture Here--In a Hesburgh Lecture on campus, Suzanne Kelly, director of programs for church leaders unit in the University of Notre Dame Institute for Pastoral and Social Ministry, presents "You and Your Aging Parent," Mar. 6 at 7 p.m. in the University Place Conference Center. She will discuss the problems and the positive aspects of aging and caring for aging parents. Before going to Notre Dame she was the education director of a geriatric center in Syracuse, NY. Sponsor is the Notre Dame Club of Indianapolis of which John Short, director of the conference center, is past president. For more, call Jackie Simmons, 236-2254.

History Contest Opens--Each year the Dept. of History awards a monetary prize for the best history paper written by an undergraduate student at IUPUI. The paper does not have to be written for a history course nor does the student have to be a history major. This year the Thelander History Award will be $250. The essay must be 15-30 pages and the deadline is Mar. 22. For details, call 4-3811.

Music in March--A baroque string quartet, masters students in the School of Music at IUB, will present a free recital Mar. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Emerson Hall. The Medical Student Council, sponsor, welcomes everyone. For more, call Terry Bahn, 4-7173.

Better Federal Job Access--All students can get up-to-date information on federal employment opportunities, policies and more through a new agreement between the US Office of Personnel Management and the Career Planning and Internship Center (CPIC) in SPEA at IUB. They have formed the College Cluster Career Information Center, which is designed so that there will be a federal recruiting presence on campus, said Pat Schifferli, director of SPEA's CPIC. For more, call 5-9639.

More Minimum--Budget managers should take note that another minimum wage increase becomes effective Apr. 1, when the minimum hourly wages goes from $3.80 to $4.25.

Serving the City--Several people on campus are active on boards and commissions in the city. Mayor William H. Hudnut, III, recently appointed John Short to the Community Action Against Poverty, and has reappointed Judith Palmer to the Commission for Downtown, Inc.

WINNING PLAYS TO BE READ AT YOUTH THEATRE SYMPOSIUM THIS MONTH

Best friends, loving mentors, nurturing adults and other childhood delights, as well as war, sickness, family problems and other childhood terrors are addressed by the four playwrights who are winners in the 1991 national IUPUI Youth Theatre Playwriting Competition. Their plays will be showcased with staged readings at the fourth biennial IUPUI Youth Theatre Playwriting Symposium Mar. 22-23, where Jed Davis, scholar and expert in youth theater, will give the keynote address. Winners of the contest are Julie Brinker of Bloomington, Ill, for "Rachel's Night," about a young leukemia victim whose disease is in remission and who explores her problems through dreams; Brian Kral of Las Vegas, for his poignant play "Paper Lanterns, Paper Cranes," about a group of Japanese children who witnessed the bombing of Hiroshima; James Still of New York City, for "Amber Waves," an all-American story about a struggling farm couple and their teen-agers who face family ills and hard times, but hang together "because it's not over till it's over," and Sharon Whitney of Portland, Ore, for "Totty--Young Eleanor Roosevelt," written around the classical ugly duckling story of the young and not-so-pretty Eleanor's experiences in boarding school abroad. The winners each receive $1,000 and their plays will be exposed to scholarly critique and to publishers attending the symposium. To register for the symposium, call 4-2095.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Ride Needed--Marthena Smith of Mooresville needs a ride to and from the School of Dentistry, 8 a.m.-5 p.m., weekdays. Call 4-8583 or 831-1874.

Muy Bien--Reservations are being taken for an international lunch buffet of Spanish cuisine set for Mar. 21, noon-12:30 p.m. in the Hoosier Room, Union Building. Lunch is $8, and reservations are required. Sponsor is the Quantity Foods Class in Restaurant, Hotel and Institutional Management. Call Jim Bennett, 4-0810, or Pat Ault, 4-0815.

The Westside Pre-IUPUI--The people--mostly poor, and the land--mostly swamp, is part of the history of the "Westside Neighborhood Before IUPUI," to be presented by Eric L. Pumroy in the next meeting of the John Shaw Billings History of Medicine Society, Mar. 11 at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of Emerson Hall. Pumroy is head of the IUPUI Special Collections and Archives and has been very interested in the history of the immigrant groups in Indiana, such as the Germans and the French. All are welcome to the meeting. For more, call Jans Muller, M.D., 4-8577.

Herron Welcomes Budding Artists--No appointment is necessary and there is no charge for high school students and art teachers to get a close look at the Herron School of Art. Careers in Art and Portfolio Day is Mar. 19, 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at the school, where administrators, faculty, staff, students and professionals from various art fields will be on hand for information. The gallery will be open, there will be tours of classrooms and studios, and the portfolios of student art work will be reviewed by Herron faculty. Admissions, financial aid information and career counseling will be available. Light refreshments will be served throughout the day; there are nearby restaurants for lunch or participants can bring a brown bag lunch. For more, call 923-3651.

Dandy Dean's List--School of Continuing Studies Dean James Weigand praised the 400 students placed on "his" list for the 1990 spring and summer semesters, and noted that many of them hold full-time jobs and support families as they pursue their degrees. "Their academic accomplishments (3.5 or better), in light of their other responsibilities, are truly remarkable," he said.

EIGHT SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS PRESENT ART, MUSIC AND HITCHCOCK

AN ARTS EXTRAVAGANZA

An exhibition of the work of Herron School of Art grads, music by artists in the School of Music and a film and discussion of the classic Hitchcock mystery, "Strangers on a Train," are all planned for "An Arts Extravaganza," Mar. 22 at the University Place Conference Center. The art exhibit/reception with light refreshments is from 7-8 p.m. Some art work will be for sale with 10 percent of the proceeds going to the Herron Alumni Association. Music will be ongoing. The film begins at 8 p.m., and afterward John Barlow, dean of the School of Liberal Arts, will lead a discussion. The cost is $2.50 per person and can be paid on-site, but reservations are due by Mar. 15 and can be made by calling 4-8828. Sponsors are the Alumni Associations of Continuing Studies, the Div. of Allied Health Sciences, Engineering and Technology, Herron School of Art, Liberal Arts, Physical Education, Public and Environmental Affairs, and Science. The IUPUI Alumni Relations Office is handling arrangements.

THE PHYSICIANS ASSOCIATION FOR AIDS CARE presents to upcoming programs on the AIDS satellite TV network. On Mar. 6, first is the clinical agenda, "Cutaneous Manifestations of HIV Infection," with Clay J. Cockerell, M.D., assistant professor of dermatology and pathology, Div. of Dermatology, U. of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, Dallas. He will present a case study and that includes the patient. Next is the ethical agenda, "Should Physicians and Other Healthcare Workers Perform Invasive Procedures on HIV-Infected Patients." Leonard Fenninger, M.D., lecturer in medicine, Northwestern Medical School will discuss the decision of whether or not to perform invasive surgery on an HIV-infected patient. The telecast begins at 12:45 p.m. in Fesler Hall, Hurty C.

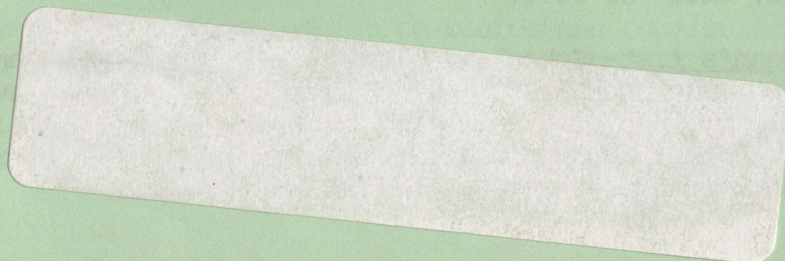

PEOPLE WHO ADVISE FOREIGN STUDENTS AND WHO HANDLE ACCOUNTS INVOLVING THEM are invited to a special workshop, "U.S. Taxation of Foreign Students and Scholars: Issues and Answers," Mar. 14 from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. in University Place Conference Center. There is a minimal fee to cover the cost of a lunch buffet and other services. Registration is required and due by Mar. 8. For forms and details, call Raymond Gude, assistant director, IUPUI Office of International Affairs, 4-7294.

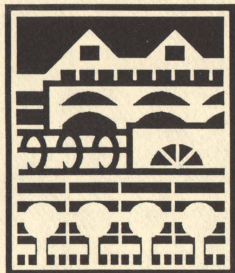

FINALLY...

...Women's Studies' film series and discussion continues with a focus on AIDS and women in the next presentation on Mar. 12 in Lecture Hall 104, beginning at 7 p.m. First is "Di Anna's Hair Ego," a videotape set in a southern beauty salon where "condom displays are as common as a basket of curlers." It documents the growth of the South Carolina AIDS Education Network. Second is "Her Giveaway," about Carole Laforov, Ojibwe tribe member, activists, mother and nurse with AIDS, who combines her traditional healing beliefs with Western medicine. Cost is $5. Call 4-4784.
