

green sheet

volume nine, number forty-six

november 18, 1979

LISTENERS' THEATER BLENDS SOURCES

A production that may reveal as much about its college student cast as it does about the authors it represents will be presented by the Listeners' Theater at IUPUI November 30-December 1. "Days of Futures Past," co-directed by Dr. B. Bruce Wagener, professor of speech, theater and communications, and Lois Smith, a senior, will be a blend of work by nearly 30 poets and writers.

Most of the pieces were selected by the cast after several sessions of sharing concerns covering a wide range of matters. Poets and writers contained in "Days of Futures Past" include Robert Frost, Mark Twain, e.e. cummings, William Butler Yeats, Theodore White and Gwendolyn Brooks. Also included are several selections published in Genesis, the IUPUI literary magazine.

The directors and readers have written transitions to use between the selections to give flow and continuity to "Days of Futures Past." Wagener, who describes the production as one of the most interesting and challenging he has experienced, says his cast is working as a true ensemble. "They know themselves and one another well enough to sense and react to one another in a way that is not captured in a typical play or readers' theater," he said. "This is a group of young people who have learned to play off of one another. Because of a number of things, including the opportunity to almost choose their own lines, they have become a unified whole that makes a presentation to an audience rather than just single readers merely working with parts."

The players, all veterans of readers' theater or stage production at IUPUI and elsewhere, come from a variety of backgrounds and hold a variety of views -- from activists for justice to a person self-described as "staid middle class." They include Michael Bowman, John Clouse, Grant Lukenbill, Jamie Safford and Elizabeth White.

They will be supported by sound, music, backdrops, three slide projectors, lighting and still photographs. Technical director is Mike Scott. The production is made possible in part by funds provided by the IUPUI Lectures and Convocations Committee.

"Days of Futures Past" will be presented at 8 p.m. each night in Lecture Hall 101. Admission, available at the door, is $1.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

At IMA -- A turbulent period in world and art history is reflected in a collection of 50 prints by 26 artists in the exhibition "The Expressive: German Prints 1895-1930," on display through January 27 at the Indianapolis Museum of Art. Note: The museum will be closed Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

The Way It Was -- An inside view of the lives and literature of F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway, Thomas Wolfe, Ring Lardner, Sherwood Anderson, James Jones and others will be given this week by a young biographer who has written about the man who knew them all: Max Perkins who served as editor for the diverse group of American greats. A. Scott Berg, author of Max Perkins: Editor of Genius, will present a "Literature Lover's Holiday" Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 102. This free program will be followed by a reception and autograph party in the Cavanaugh Hall faculty lounge, Room 537. Sponsors are the IUPUI Lectures and Convocations Committee and the department of English.

Seminar -- "High Intensity Ultrasound Lesioning in Liver," ICFAR seminar by Dr. Leon Frizzell from the University of Illinois; University Hospital, Room C424, 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Display -- Mead-Johnson Laboratories will have a pharmacy display in University Hospital Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Staff -- The next Staff Council meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in University Hospital C424 (not N424 as the agenda says).

Tune In -- Dr. Robert Bunnell and Coach Mel Garland from the School of Physical Education will zero in on IUPUI athletics and the Metros on the next IUPUI Magazine. Tune in WIAN-FM on Thursday at 11 a.m. and Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Thursday -- Thanksgiving Day holiday (Friday is a floating holiday).

ISO -- Violinist Gil Morgenstern will join Music Director John Nelson and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra in performances Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Clowes Hall.

MSA -- Market Square Arena will be the site for the Metros second home game of the young season (they won their opener there against Marion College, 88-77). The Metros meet the team from Cedarville (Ohio) College on Saturday at 5 p.m., just before the Indiana Pacers-Detroit match. For ticket information, call Ext. 3764. (One $3.50 ticket bought in advance will get you in for both the Metros and the Pacers games.)

Coming Up -- "Evaluation of Impedance Cardiography for Measuring Cardiac Output in Dogs," Physiology Seminar by Vickie Veigl, graduate student; Medical Science Building, Room 205, 4 p.m. Monday, November 26.

* * *

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Hours -- School of Medicine Library hours for the Thanksgiving holiday are as follows: 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, closed on Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Normal schedule resumes Monday, November 26.

Careers -- The Division of Allied Health Sciences, School of Medicine, in cooperation with the IUPUI Office of Career Counseling and Placement, announces an Allied Health Careers Day for Thursday, December 6, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Fesler Hall, Room Hurty A. Representatives from hospital and health care institutions from throughout Indiana will be available to discuss allied health employment opportunities with students.

Advisory -- All Indiana Guaranteed Student Loan and Federal Insured Loan applications should be processed by the Financial Aids Office. If students bring these applications to your department, please forward them to the Financial Aids Office at 920 West Michigan Street (Berkey Building). This will avoid delay in processing or jeopardizing IUPUI's eligibility in participating in the two programs.

Pin Money -- The Campus Bookstore in Cavanaugh Hall is taking applications for part-time employment for the beginning of the spring semester. Apply in person to Rosemary Robinson, manager of the store in Cavanaugh, before December 1.

Windfall -- In a sort-of continuing orientation effort, the student services office last fall started a new non-credit course called "Introduction to College Life." The eight-week program would cover topics like "Stress in the Academic Environment," "Financing a College Education," "International Student Orientation," "University Libraries." They allocated 15 sections to accommodate the anticipated enrollment. But the anticipated enrollment mushroomed, to the point where more than 330 students saw the need for this information. Result: 32 sections were opened to handle the student "windfall."

Green Sheet Deadline -- Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the next Green Sheet will come hard on the heels of this one. We will compose it on Monday, so it can be distributed Wednesday. Contrary to our normal policy, we will take items over the telephone until noon on Monday, items that absolutely must be included in the next issue. The number to call is Ext. 7711. That's the News Bureau.

Off the Beaten Path -- Looking for a different place for a conference, retreat, seminar? Bradford Woods near Martinsville has facilities for such gatherings. The area is I.U.'s 2,300-acre outdoor education, recreation and camping center. For information on facilities, lodging and meals, contact Gary M. Robb, Director, Bradford Woods, 5040 State Road 67 North, Martinsville, Indiana 46151 (812-337-0227).

Open -- Both the Admissions Office and the Registrar's Office in Cavanaugh Hall will be open Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

* * *

DEPARTMENT OF HONORS & ACCOLADES

Dr. Harvey Feigenbaum, professor of medicine, was in Anaheim, California, last week to receive the prestigious 1979 Richard and Hinda Rosenthal Foundation Award at the annual meeting of the American Heart Association. The award, which recognizes "outstanding research contributions in the field of cardiology," was presented to Dr. Feigenbaum for his pioneering work in echocardiography, the use of ultrasound to diagnose heart disease.

School of Medicine Dean Steven C. Beering was named chairman-elect of the Council of Deans of the Association of American Medical Colleges at the organization's annual meeting this month in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Eugene G. Roach, associate professor of psychiatry and medical genetics, has been elected president of the American Cancer Society, Indiana Division.

Rolf F. Rehe, associate professor of typography at the Herron School of Art, was in Amsterdam last month to address the International Research Association for Newspaper Technology. Nearly 1,200 journalists and print media professionals, mostly from Western Europe and North America, attended the conference.

Dr. Maynard K. Hine, chancellor emeritus of IUPUI, is the new president-elect of the American Academy of the History of Dentistry and chairman-elect of the dental section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Erna Simek, associate professor of occupational therapy, has been appointed to the Commission for the Handicapped by Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

Dr. James. R. Roche, assistant dean for faculty development and professor of pedodontics at the School of Dentistry, has been named vice-chairman of the American Board of Pedodontics.

Richard K. Curtis, professor of speech-communication, traveled to Warsaw this fall to present a paper to the Polish Academy of Sciences. His topic was "Toward a Universal Value System for the 21st Century: A Neo-Evolutionary Approach." He also co-chaired a discussion meeting with Adolph Cibrowski, famed city planner and chief architect in the rebuilding of Warsaw after World War II.

Michael R. Curtis, assistant professor of community dentistry, has been named a consultant to the Commission on Accreditation and the Council on Dental Education.

Dr. Ralph W. Phillips, associate dean for research at the School of Dentistry, received the Pierre Fauchard Gold Medal Award at the memorial luncheon at the Pierre Fauchard Academy last month in Dallas. He is the 43rd recipient of this award, one of the oldest and most prestigious in dentistry.

Helen Garfield, associate professor of law, has been awarded the certificate of merit from the Indiana State Bar Association for an article published last February in Res Gestae, the ISBA official publication. The article, "Indiana's Displaced Homemakers," discusses the plight of the Indiana housewife facing divorce and the effects of Indiana law governing divorce actions.

Morris H. Aprison, distinguished professor of neurobiology and biochemistry, has been elected chairman of the International Society for Neurochemistry.

The American Academy of Pediatrics has awarded a first-place award for teaching to the Department of Pediatrics and the Medical Illustrations Department for their Infant Lumbar Puncture, a teaching simulator. This is the fourth year in a row that the academy has awarded first place to the I.U. School of Medicine.

John V. Gebuhr, director of the physical plant, has been elected president-elect of the Midwest Region, American Association of Physical Plant Administrators. The group includes members from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa.

* * *

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202