

2006 State of the Campus Address

Presented to the IUPUI Faculty Council

By Chancellor Charles R. Bantz

October 3, 2006

A photograph of Nicole Murphy, a woman with dark hair and glasses, wearing a white lab coat over a red shirt. She is smiling and holding an open book. She is standing in a library or study area with wooden bookshelves filled with books in the background. A brass lamp is visible on a table in front of her.

JOHN KETZENBERGER:

"The campus is part of the economic triangle that links Bloomington and West Lafayette to Indianapolis.

"It's not far-fetched to think that within that triangle reside the intellectual ingredients that will define the state's economic future."

Focus

Influence what matters . . .
Move the train we care about . . .

Success

IUPUI is successful, and will continue to be,
because we believe in ourselves,
we are focused,
and we have the trust and support of our community.
