"EAST OF THE SUN AND WEST OF THE MOON" OPENS ON CAMPUS

A big white bear, a beautiful maiden, a witch, a wizard, their trolls and other wonderful stuff from which classic fantasy is conjured will gather on the boards in the Mary Cable Building Theatre Sept. 27-29 for performances of "East of the Sun and West of the Moon." The IUPUI Youth Theatre is producing the enchanting play by Tom Evans, 23-year faculty member at Hanover College. He will co-direct along with Shakespearean actress Barbara Farrar, his wife. Special daytime performances for school groups only are Sept. 27-28 at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and tickets are $2 each. Public performances are Sept. 28 at 8 p.m. and Sept. 29 at 2:30 and 5 p.m. and tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for children. The play takes to the road October-November for weekend tours throughout Indiana and returns to campus for performances Dec. 6-8. For bookings and all reservations, call the IUPUI Theatre box office, 4-2094.

"QUIET EXCELLENCE" NOTED BY DEAN OF FACULTIES

The dedication of staff and faculty as they serve record-breaking numbers of students is lauded in the following statement by William M. Plater, executive vice chancellor, dean of the faculties and professor of English:

PLATER "With 27,518 students officially registered this fall, IUPUI has set yet another enrollment record. The growing recognition of IUPUI as a center for high quality undergraduate and professional education has undoubtedly been the major factor. The faculty, librarians, staff--and students--who have built this reputation of quiet excellence should take great pride in this tangible recognition of their achievements. As we struggle to meet unprecedented demand for classes, advising sessions, parking spaces, seats in lecture rooms, study carrels and financial aid, we must recognize that quality comes at a price. Our faculty and staff have contributed mightily during the past three or four years and the greatest effort lies before us, as the real success of this new era of growth will be the numbers we graduate--not how many we admit.

"When we have run out of classrooms, saturated our computing systems, parked cars on every flat surface between the canal and the White River, and exhausted the patience of office-mates with complaints about the folly of taking in yet more students, what then? For most of us, the answer for 1990-91 will be the same as it has been for the past 20 years. We will dig deeper into our stores of patience, struggle with the pains of invention and creativity, and thrill secretly at beating the odds once again. There is no place in American higher education quite like IUPUI, largely because there's no group of people quite like the faculty, librarians, staff and students who have made IUPUI their home. Yes, we have another record enrollment, but the real news is that ever increasing numbers of our students will succeed because it matters to each of us personally. IUPUI's best year yet is certain to be 1990-91."

TWO GATHERINGS TO FOCUS ON LIBERIAN CRISIS AND TOWN MEETING FOR CHILDREN

The crisis in Liberia and the city's and the world's children are the focuses of two free public programs this month sponsored by the IUPUI Office of International Affairs, the School of Medicine and the School of Social Work, along with the Indianapolis Committee for UNICEF.

First is "Liberia: Beyond the Current Crisis," Sept. 21, 1-5 p.m. in the basement auditorium of the Medical Science Building. It will feature presentations by American and Liberian health professionals and others who have firsthand experience in the area. The recent assassination of Liberian President Samuel Doe and the historical, socio-economic and cultural perspectives that have contributed to Liberia's current political climate will be discussed. The presenters include David Van Reken, M.D., pediatrics; Ruth Stone, Folklore Institute, IUB; Wvannie Scott, School of Nursing; Ralph Cummings, consultant, and Bill Ardill, M.D., ELWA Hospital, Liberia.

Second, the day after a candlelight vigil for children Sept. 23 at 6 p.m. in University Park, is a "Town Meeting for the Children of Indianapolis," Sept. 24, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Catholic Social Services Center, 1400 N. Meridian. Resolutions will be drafted for forwarding to the first World Summit for Children at the United Nations, Sept. 29-30. To keep with the theme, "Think Globally, Act Locally," the morning session will address the needs of the world's children, and the afternoon will focus on the needs of Indy's children. Some IUPUI faculty members and members of the School of Social Work's International Exchange Program will participate. Reservations are required only for lunch. Call Gretchen Schirmer, International Affairs, 4-6999.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Tartan Too?--A Los Angeles taxi company can be fined up to $1,500 if one of its drivers is caught wearing anything plaid. (Harper's Index, September)

'50s Benefit Bash--The Memories Band will play "oldtime" rock'n'roll for a dance Sept. 28, 8 p.m.-midnight at the Southside K of C that will benefit the mentally handicapped of the Southside Work Center. Cost is $10 each and includes ham sandwiches, chips, door prizes, drawings and a prize for the best '50s outfit. For reservations, call Marianne Morris, fund raising chairman, 4-7711.

About Exempts--Oct. 2 is the deadline to register for "Exempt Employment Process," workshop offered Oct. 9, 9-10:30 a.m., in Human Resources Administration. Part of the University Procedures Series, the workshop will describe the recruitment and appointment procedures for exempt (monthly paid) regular staff positions, and is intended for anyone involved with any phase of documentation or handling of the exempt employment process. To register, call 4-8931.

Grand Rounds--Jeffrey Cummings, M.D., UCLA School of Medicine, presents "Delusions and Brain Function: New Insights from Neuropsychiatric Investigations" Sept. 21, 11 a.m., auditorium, Larue Carter Hospital.

Fear Free--Invite students to register for the workshop, "Fear of Tests/Study Skills," offered by the IUPUI Counseling Center on Sept. 21, noon-1 p.m. or 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the Union Building. The fee is $1 for students, $5 for others. Call 4-2548.

Big Sale--The Bookstores are selling all summer apparel--t-shirts, tanks and shorts--at 25% off, Sept. 17-22.

"OUR" DOC BOWEN LENDS NAME TO NEW RESEARCH CENTER

Former Indiana Governor Otis R. Bowen, M.D., whose lifetime contributions to family medicine are world renowned, will have another namesake, the Bowen Research Center at the IU Medical Center, which will focus on the role of primary care physicians in rural and urban environments. One of the first centers of its kind in the country to focus mainly on family doctors, it is expected to develop methods for these practitioners to reduce preventable disease and curb rising health care costs. Research in prevention and promoting healthy lifestyles will be multidisciplinary by medical doctors and social scientists in various schools at IU and elsewhere. Deborah Allen, M.D., chairman of the Dept. of Family Medicine, said, "This is a different way to approach medicine. We have to find a way to affect behavior and prevent, not just treat, diseases." Her department, in collaboration with the School of Public and Environmental Affairs, will operate the Bowen Research Center. Deborah A. Freund, Ph.D., prominent social policy researcher in SPEA, is senior researcher for the Center. A dinner to announce the Center and honor Doc Bowen, "Indiana's most distinguished, mild-mannered, country doctor," and former U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services, was Sept. 12 at the Indiana Roof.

MICRO EXPO 1990: MICROCOMPUTER SHOW IS SEPT. 19

Hands-on demonstrations by computer makers, answers to questions about microcomputing services at IUPUI, and hints from Purchasing on how to buy equipment are all offered in the Micro Expo, Sept. 19, 9 a.m.-6 p.m., University Place Conference Center. Access Point and IUPUI Computing Services are sponsoring the event that features opening addresses at 9 a.m. by Burt Cummings, director of educational marketing for Apple Computer, and Fred Hofstetter, associate provost for academic computing, University of Delaware, who is the IBM traveling scholar specializing in multimedia. One-hour breakout sessions will be held throughout the day; vendors will award door prizes. For more, call 4-0767.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Shall We Dance?--All staff and faculty and their guests are invited to the Faculty Club's first dance, Oct. 6, 7-11 p.m. in the new Indianapolis Ballroom on Guion Road. Membership in the faculty club is not required to attend. Besides couples dancing, there will be a "spectacular" professional ballroom dance show and hors d'oeuvres. Tickets are $7.50 each. For reservations or more information, call Dr. William DeMyer, 4-8951.

You Can Help--Volunteers are needed to help with the 1990 U.S. Transplant Games in Indianapolis, Oct. 5-8. The National Kidney Foundation of Indiana is host. Recipients of transplants such as liver, kidney, heart and lung will compete in nine swimming and track events and other sports. Many events will take place on campus. Call Kurt Kuppler, 4-4370.

Deadline Nears--You have until Sept. 20 to purchase tickets to the M.A.R.S.H. luncheon with Susan Bayh, Sept. 28 at noon in the Hoosier Room, Union Building. Call 4-3931.

Vietnam Tour--Hoosier veteran Doug Reese is conducting his seventh tour to Vietnam for tourists, scholars and medical personnel, Oct. 7-22. Another trip is planned for April, 1991. Call 926-4111.

Plan to Plan--A three-session workshop on the preparation and use of business plans for small business is Sept. 27 and Oct. 11 and 25. Joseph Murray of Silver Eagle Consulting will facilitate. Sponsor is the Indiana Small Business Coalition. For more, or to register, call the Small Business Development Center on campus, 4-8200.

NEW NETWORK FOCUSES ON STUDENT-RELATED CAMPUS FUNCTIONS

Academic counselors, recruiters, program directors, admissions people and other IUPUI employees who work one-to-one with students are invited to a series of upcoming workshops sponsored by the IUPUI Network, a new association on campus. The brown bag lunch meetings from noon-1 p.m. will focus on and discuss campus programs, policies and procedures, new campus initiatives and other topics. For more about Network, call Martel Keister, SPEA, 4-3409. Following are workshop dates and topics:

Oct. 5, DS S421, IUPUI Non-Academic Counseling Center Services

Nov. 2, BS 3-15, Student Financial Aid

Dec. 5, LS 225, Non-traditional Employee Benefits at IUPUI.

OFFICE OF OVERSEAS STUDY NOTES APPROACHING DEADLINES FOR JOB/PROGRAMS ABROAD

Applications from French-speaking faculty members interested in directing the 1990-91 overseas study program in Strasbourg, France, are due Oct. 15. Also, draft proposals for new overseas study programs for IU students or for individual courses to be conducted abroad for credit are being accepted. The University Committee on Overseas Study meets and screens proposals. Deadline for the November, 1990, meeting is Oct. 5 and for the March, 1991 meeting, March 1. Proposals are usually prepared by faculty members with help from the Office of Overseas Study. For guidelines or assistance, write Richard E. Stryker, associate dean and director, Franklin Hall 303, IUB, or call 5-9304.

FUNDING REPRESENTATIVES FROM NATIONAL FUNDING AGENCIES WILL BE AVAILABLE VIA TV

Funding agency representatives from the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Education and NASA will be available via a teleconference link Sept. 27, 10 a.m.-noon in NU 108. Faculty members are asked to register for the limited seating. Call Ann Kratz, Research and Sponsored Programs, 4-8285.

FINALLY...

...the Dept. of Physiology and Biophysics announces two seminars both in MS 205. Dr. Neil Granger, professor and chairman of physiology, Louisiana State U. at Shreveport, presents "Leukocyte-Endothelial Cell Interaction During Eschemia-Reperfusion Injury," Sept. 18, 9 a.m. Dr. Glenn Bohlen, Dept. of Physiology and Biophysics, IUMC, presents "Interaction of Active and Passive Forces in Arteriolar Responses," Sept. 19, 4 p.m.

...a limited number of $600 overseas conference travel grants will be awarded during 1990-91 by the Office of International Programs. Application must be made before departure and the grants for travel only do not apply to travel in the U.S., Canada or Puerto Rico. Deadlines for competing are May 1, Oct. 1 and Feb. 1. For application forms, call Beth Watt, IUB, 5-8669.

...the Office of Learning Technologies at IUPUI is pleased to announce it has successfully produced the first interactive telecourse with IUB, "Introduction to Health Administration (H305). The class takes place Tuesdays and Thursdays this fall and features an interactive setup which allows students at both campuses to see and hear each other in the classroom. The instructor Frank Valardo plans to teach the class from the IUB and IUPUI campuses. Associate director of Learning Technologies, David Donaldson, said producers/directors in the department developed the course and are expected to develop more courses this fall.
