Using This Guide

English Department Mission

Through its courses and other activities in linguistics, writing, creative writing, film, and literature, the Department of English works to create and sustain evolving communities of learners interested in the contributions of language to what has been called the examined life: a thoughtful, morally aware, and civically and personally responsible existence. Faculty and students aim for excellence in analyzing, understanding, and communicating about language and its beauties.

In addition to service courses and courses for our undergraduate and graduate majors, the department supports the diverse communities created by the American Sign Language/English Interpreting program, the English as a Second Language program, the Indiana Center for Intercultural Communication, the Journal of Teaching Writing, and the University Writing Center.

About This Guide

This guide will help you understand what is required to attain a Bachelor of Arts degree in English. You may consult this guide before advising appointments, for example. We also hope it will help you become an active member of the department. Direct your questions and comments to the English Department at (317) 274-3824 or Jim Powell, Associate Chair for Students, jepowell@iupui.edu.

American Sign Language/English Interpreting Program

The English Department is also the home of the American Sign Language/English Interpreting Program (ASL/EIP). This program is designed to prepare students to become entry-level interpreters with analytical skills, a breadth of knowledge, and an ability to assess and synthesize diverse and complex aspects of human language behavior in contemporary society.

Majors in this program should refer to a separate Advisory Guide with all the requirements necessary to graduate with either a Bachelor of Science in ASL/English Interpreting or a Certificate in ASL/English Interpreting. Please contact Janet Acevedo at (317) 274-4025 or jacevedo@iupui.edu for more information. More information is also located on our website at http://liberalarts.iupui.edu/english/index.php/academics/asl/asl\_home/.

Choosing the English Major at IUPUI

Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts Degree in English

This is a basic guide to help English majors understand the course requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree in English at IUPUI. They include some requirements defined by the School of Liberal Arts (SLA) starting on page 11 and some designated by the English Department itself starting on page 15. Students should learn how to access and read their “Advisement Report” in the OneStart system. It will help majors track their progress through the requirements listed on the following pages and is the official record of degree progress.

The English major at IUPUI requires completion of requirements in one of five concentrations designed to provide specific academic training in a distinct field:

Creative Writing

Film Studies

Linguistics

Literature

*Writing
Literacy*

- Each concentration requires 33 credit hours in English with a minimum grade of C in each course. No course may be used to fulfill more than one requirement in the major unless it is specified as “repeatable for credit” — generally workshops and topics courses.
- All English majors must complete at least 15 hours in English at the 300-400 level.
- Each concentration begins with one or more gateway courses that could also be used to fill distribution requirements in other concentrations. Students could thus choose to take more than one gateway before deciding on a concentration.
- All majors take the Capstone Course, E450, or a senior seminar in their concentration in their final year of study.
- In rare cases, students may be allowed to establish a concentration in English Studies if they create a coherent plan for study leading to a specific career or graduate studies; see page 23.

Students who declare an English major generally work under the requirements of the IUPUI Bulletin for the year they declare. So a major who declared in 1998 prior to the current concentration structure, for example, will have significantly different major requirements than one who entered in 2004 or 2010. If a major drops out of school for any significant length of time (usually two years or more), he/she may be required to follow any changed or new plan for the SLA or major requirements. For more information, please see the Campus Bulletin online at <http://bulletin.iupui.edu/>.

Finding an Academic Advisor

Choosing an Advisor

Members of the English Department faculty advise majors under the coordination of Jim Powell, Associate Chair for Students. To be assigned an advisor in the department email Mr. Powell at jepowell@iupui.edu. You may also ask faculty members directly to advise you; if they agree, please inform Mr. Powell.

Succeeding in Academics: Helpful Hints from Advising

Remember that you as a student have the final responsibility for understanding degree requirements and meeting them, so...

- Don't accept advice from just anyone.
- Assert yourself. Ask questions not only about what's required of you but about what options you have and what programs are available to you.
- Ask to see course descriptions and instructors' syllabi before enrolling in a course. Sometimes you can find links to course descriptions and syllabi online.
- Talk with each of your professors outside of class at least once a semester.
- Meet or talk with your advisor regularly. Don't wait for a crisis to develop or for the preregistration rush.
- Take notes during all advising appointments. Don't rely on memory. Your advisor likely sees many students during the semester, and as the semester progresses, you will become busier as well, so remembering the specific details of your case between meetings may be impossible for both of you.
- Set goals for yourself. Revisit and sharpen them periodically.
- Get involved in extracurricular activities whenever possible. Give yourself an opportunity to apply in practical settings outside the classroom the communication and analytical skills an English major helps build.
- If you find yourself having difficulty with your classes, or other circumstances are negatively affecting your academic work, let your professors and/or advisor know.

Getting Support for Specialized Needs

Incoming Freshmen

A student brand new to college typically enters through University College but can declare an English major and be admitted to the School of Liberal Arts after establishing a GPA of at least 2.00. When you apply to enter SLA you will be asked to confer with an English advisor; contact Jim Powell (jepowell@iupui.edu).

Changing Your Major to English

Current IUPUI students who wish to change their majors to English should visit the School of Liberal Arts office (CA 401) to complete simple paperwork. They will be asked to speak to an English advisor and should make an appointment with Jim Powell (jepowell@iupui.edu). A 2.00 or better GPA is required. Students switching from outside of the School of Liberal Arts will find requirements different from those of their previous IUPUI schools and should consider the effect on their plans for timely graduation. “What-If” reports may be generated through students’ OneStart records to see how prior credits will apply in SLA and English.

Transfer Students

A student seeking an English major who transfers to IUPUI from another university or college will usually be admitted directly into the School of Liberal Arts. Transfer students should be aware that a minimum of 12 credit hours in the major must be completed at IUPUI and that they must meet our standard requirements, which are likely to be much different from those of their previous institution(s). If the student goes through the suggested on campus orientation, it is likely that an SLA advisor will look over the transfer record to check for proper assignment of transfer credits. It is essential that if a student has “undistributed” transfer credits in English, he/she make an appointment with Jim Powell (jepowell@iupui.edu) as soon as possible to clarify which of our major requirements have been fulfilled.

When students transfer English credits to IUPUI from another school, including other Indiana University campuses, the department determines whether or not these credits are equivalent to any of its courses and which requirements they meet. For example, classes transferring as UN200 English have not been assigned a specific equivalent IUPUI course number.

Questions about transferring first-year writing courses can be answered by visiting <http://enroll.iupui.edu/admissions/> and clicking on “Transfer Students.”

Returning Students

A student who has been out of school for one full year or more must submit a readmission application through the Admissions website by clicking on the “Returning IUPUI Students” link and following the instructions. The School of Liberal Arts will then notify the student of acceptance. This will arrive via USPS; students must ensure that the university has their current addresses on file. The student will be asked to contact Jim Powell (jepowell@iupui.edu) for advising. If a student in good standing has been out for less than one full year, he/she should be able to register as usual using the OneStart system.

Probationary Students

Students will find themselves on probation if their GPA falls below 2.00 and will be unable to register. They are required to confer with their regular advisor or Jim Powell (jepowell@iupui.edu) to discuss this situation and demonstrate the likelihood of future improvement in their studies. Students who reenter IUPUI on probation will likewise need to confer before their readmission can be completed.

Planning Your Minor in English

Business & Professional Writing Minor

A business and professional writing minor equips you to function effectively as a writer within occupations ranging from business and industry to applied sciences, education, environmental affairs, government, health fields, and law.

This minor represents cooperation among the School of Liberal Arts, the School of Engineering and Technology, and the School of Journalism.

The minor requires 16 credit hours. At least nine hours must be at the 300-400 level, and at least 10 hours must be in the English Department. You are encouraged to take three to six credit hours outside of English. You must have a 2.5 or higher GPA in the 16 hours of the minor, and minimum grade of C in each course for the minor. You should work with a faculty advisor in planning your courses and developing your writing portfolio.

Customizing Your Curriculum

Creating Independent Study Courses

To apply, you must contract with an individual instructor for independent reading (L495, one-three credits) or directed writing (W411, one-three credits). You and the instructor will develop a specific proposal based on subject material that is not covered by an existing course; the proposal will be reviewed by the appropriate program director and department chair for approval. If the independent study is approved, the consenting instructor will authorize you to register for a specific section of W411 or L495 under his/her name.

Typically, faculty members consent to conduct independent study courses only with students who have earned a grade of B or better in a regular course. They need to be assured of the student's work ethic and capacity for independent effort.

Taking Distance Learning Courses

You may take up to 12 hours of distance learning courses for Liberal Arts credit with the permission of your advisor and the Dean's Office. Bulletins for distance learning courses offered through Indiana University at Bloomington are available from CA 401 or online at <http://www.indiana.edu/~scs>.

NOTE: Normally, no more than six credit hours of distance learning work is acceptable in the major and ALL must be approved in advance by the Program Director for your concentration. This policy does not apply to distance learning courses offered by IUPUI. These are treated like regular IUPUI courses.

Getting College-Level Credit from the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) Tests and Advanced Placement Courses

If you have taken CLEP tests and have questions about scores and course credit, contact the Admissions Office for information. Advanced Placement courses are also assigned college credit by the Admissions Office and should appear on your transcript.

Studying Abroad

Students wishing to study abroad in any of IUPUI's programs should see <http://abroad.iupui.edu/>. Programs offered by other colleges or universities must be preapproved by the Office of International Affairs and the appropriate schools and departments; this process can take some time, so contact your advisor as early as possible to indicate such interests.

Special Opportunities in the English Department

Using the University Writing Center

The University Writing Center (UWC) is a free service available to all IUPUI students, faculty, and staff, at both the graduate and undergraduate level. It is a place where students can go for help with writing assignments and projects. The UWC offers students the opportunity to work one-on-one with experienced readers and writers. To better serve the IUPUI community, the UWC offers two convenient locations: Cavanaugh 427 and University Library 2125. Both centers are staffed with the same experienced faculty and student tutors. You may visit the website of the UWC by going to <http://www.iupui.edu/~uwc/>.

Applying for English Department Undergraduate Awards

Submissions for writing awards as explained below should be sent according to guidelines released each January by the date announced (usually early February). For more information, contact Terry Kirts, Senior Lecturer, tkirts@iupui.edu.

1. Outstanding English Major
2. Literature Award
3. Linguistics Award
4. Film Studies Award
(NOTE: Awards one through four are faculty nominated.)
5. Nonfiction Essay Award
6. Creative Writing Awards
(for poetry and fiction completed in introductory Creative Writing classes)
7. Hal Tobin First-Year Writing Award
(for a paper written in W131 or W140)
8. Mary Louise Rea Short Story Award
9. Rebecca Pitts Poetry and Fiction Awards
10. Creative Nonfiction Award
11. Marianne Hedges Award for Excellence in Poetry
(given to female student)

For further information on specific criteria, please visit the English Department's website.

NOTE: In addition to these department awards, IUPUI's literary and art magazine, genesis, also gives awards for the best poem, prose, and artwork published in each issue. For more information, see the genesis website at <http://www.iupui.edu/~genesis/> or click the "Publications" link on the English Department's home page.

Finding Extracurricular Opportunities in the Department

genesis

IUPUI's literary and art magazine since 1972, genesis is published in the spring and fall semesters. It prints poetry, prose, and art. The editorial staff is made up of students who read and view all submissions, select submissions for publication, typeset and edit selections, and work with the printer to publish. Students interested in working on the genesis editorial staff must first take W280 Literary Editing and Publishing and then contact the faculty advisor, Jim Powell.

Phone: (317) 278-2985 | Email: jepowell@iupui.edu

English Collective

The English Collective organizes such events as outings to panels, discussions, readings, and plays. Students interested in the English Collective should contact the interim faculty advisor, Brian McDonald.

Phone: (317) 274-9671 | Email: bcmcdona@iupui.edu

Film Studies Club

The Film Studies Club is a group of students interested in film screenings during the fall and spring semesters. Interested students should contact the faculty advisor, Dennis Bingham.

Phone: (317) 278-9825 | Email: dbingham@iupui.edu

Rufus and Louise Reiberg Reading Series

Named for a former chair of the English Department, the Reiberg series brings to campus each year an array of well-known and emerging fiction writers and poets for readings. Past writers have included Cornelius Eady, Barbara Ehrenreich, Patricia Hampl, Edward Hirsch, Maxine Hong Kingston, Reginald Shepherd and Patricia Smith. For more information, contact Terry Kirts.

Phone: (317) 274-8929 | Email: tkirts@iupui.edu

Student Readings

Each semester, the IUPUI Creative Writing Program sponsors a dynamic series of monthly student readings at a local coffeehouse. The readings typically feature two or more student writers reading their own poetry, fiction, or creative nonfiction, and then leave time for other students to share their work in an open mic format. For times and venues, or to be a featured reader at one of our readings, contact Terry Kirts.

Obtaining Internships in English

The department offers two undergraduate internships: W396 (University Writing Center, three credits) and E398 (one to six credits). Internships are excellent opportunities for applied learning that every student should consider.

E398 internships allow you to learn outside the classroom environment, explore career opportunities, gain experience in career-related fields, make valuable contacts in the professional world, prove your ability to perform at the professional level, and sometimes find permanent employment. Internships are available in a range of settings, including government and nonprofit organizations, small and large businesses, and educational institutions. Most internships in English involve writing, and many involve editing, research, and public relations. Some internships are paid. You can find some internships on file in the Career Center or make your own arrangements. E398 requires a total of 150 working hours for three credits, the preferred number for any single internship experience. Contact Hannah Haas, at hhaas@iupui.edu or (317) 278-8582, for advice and necessary forms.

To do an internship in the University Writing Center, students must apply to the Writing Fellows Program by contacting Tere Molinder-Hogue, tmhogue@iupui.edu, (317) 274-5650. This program offers experienced student writers opportunities to learn more about their writing while tutoring students in the University Writing Center. Those accepted to the program enroll in the W396 Writing Fellows Training Seminar (three credits), which prepares them to work as effective peer tutors and enhances their awareness of language, both written and oral. Fellows tutor five hours a week. This is one of the best internships available for students interested in writing and/or any form of teaching, tutoring, or training.

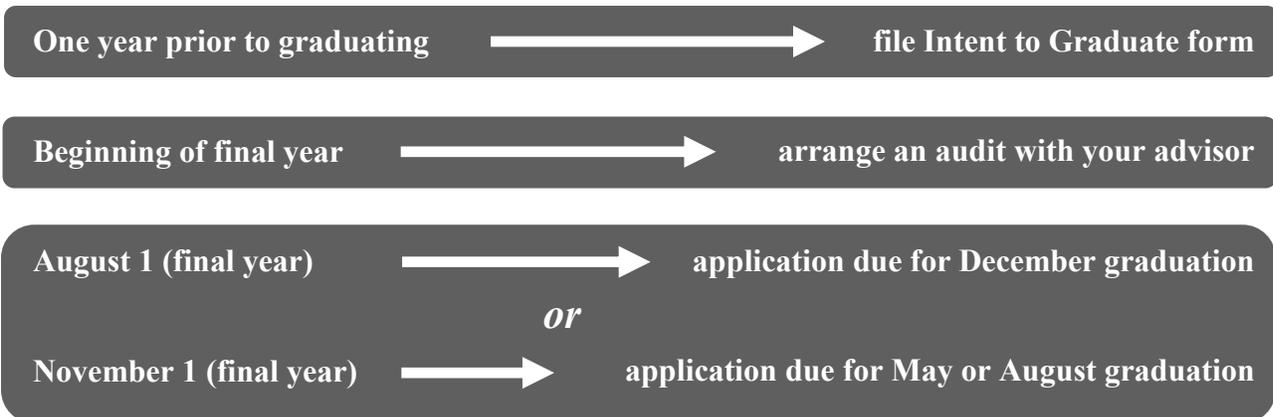

An internship optional only for Senior Editors of genesis, W398, carries one hour credit for a maximum of three semesters.

Preparing to Graduate

One year before your expected graduation date, you must file an Intent to Graduate form with the SLA recorder. At the beginning of your final year, you need to arrange an audit with an advisor to ensure that your coursework and grades satisfy degree requirements. Remember that you need 122 credit hours to graduate with your degree. You must apply for graduation by August 1 (for December graduation) or November 1 (for May or August graduation) electronically via links sent by the School of Liberal Arts.

Graduation timeline:

Applying to Graduate School

Those who wish to attend graduate school should know this: you need to have a strong GPA, especially in the major, and serious recommendations from faculty members. You should demonstrate your desire to go further in the field by being a self-directed learner, someone who goes beyond classroom expectations to develop excellence in thinking and writing. For additional information on IUPUI's English MA program, including the application procedure, contact information, and the MA advising guide, consult <http://liberalarts.iupui.edu/english/>.

Finding a Job with Your English Degree

“You’re majoring in English? What in the world will you do with that?”

Many English majors have no doubt heard this question. Here’s the quick and simple answer: “Just about anything I choose.” True, some careers available to English majors may take some further training, but what job worth having doesn’t? Your degree in English from IUPUI demonstrates that you have trained in skills essential to almost any professional career: critical, analytical, and evaluative thinking; clear, correct, and coherent writing; understanding human motives and means; and thoughtful and communicative response. Such internal processes have definite external outcomes in the professional world. Whether it will be in writing, publishing, education, public relations, law, business, social work, or government, graduates in English have taken the necessary first step toward success.

Of course, it is rare to see an employment advertisement saying “English Majors Wanted.” You can enhance your career opportunities by finding a direction for your studies and adding extracurricular activities that serve more specific purposes: seek an internship in publishing, volunteer at a local nonprofit organization of interest to you, write for your church newsletter, or teach reading in a literacy program.

By the end of their careers as undergraduates in English, most majors possess the often overlooked benefit of living an especially rich life through the reading and writing they have practiced. A degree in English opens two worlds to you: the one inside yourself and the external one in which you will eventually make yourself successful.

Both the School of Liberal Arts (Sloane Thompson, Director of Career Development, slvthomps@iupui.edu) and IUPUI Career Services (<http://www.iupui.edu/career/>), as well as your English advisor, can help you with planning your future.

4-Year Course Plan Worksheets

Sample Fast-Track Plan to Earn a Bachelor of Arts Degree in English in Four Years (No Summers)

IUPUI English majors can earn a BA degree in four years by completing an average of 15.5 credit hours every fall and spring semester. The plan outlined below is one of many that could be followed, adjusting course loads to carry more or less in the fall and spring so long as students average ~15.5 credit hours per semester. Students should work closely with their advisor to select a concentration (Creative Writing, Film Studies, Linguistics, Literature, or Writing and Literacy) and develop and regularly update their “Personal Development Plan” in order to create a path to graduation that is best suited to the students’ strengths and needs.

Key:

* Students who test out of foreign language courses can replace these classes with electives.

** Students who do not successfully test into MATH M118 must complete one or more lower-level math courses to develop the skills necessary to perform well in M 118. Credits earned for these refresher math classes do not count as part of the 122 credit hours required to graduate.

*** At least one of the courses from the Arts and Humanities or Social Sciences lists must also appear on the “Comparative World Cultures” list.

Notes:

Study abroad, internships, research opportunities, minors, certificates, second majors and/or other degrees can be included with adequate advanced planning. See an advisor to discuss details.

Please use in conjunction with the School of Liberal Arts core worksheet. This plan is meant as a sample and may need to be modified or altered based on course offerings. For planning purposes only, official degree requirements may be found in the IUPUI campus bulletin or online at: <http://bulletin.iupui.edu/>.

Sample Fast-Track Plan to Earn a Bachelor of Arts Degree in English in Four Years (Summer Study Included)

IUPUI English majors can earn a BA degree in four years by completing an average of 13.75 credit hours every fall and spring semester and six hours during the summer sessions. The plan outlined below is one of many that could be followed, adjusting course loads to carry more or less in the fall and spring, or more or less in the summer, so long as students average ~14 credit hours per regular semester and six hours per summer session. Students should work closely with their advisor to select a concentration (Creative Writing, Film Studies, Linguistics, Literature, or Writing and Literacy) and develop and regularly update their “Personal Development Plan” in order to create a path to graduation that is best suited to the students’ strengths and needs.

Key:

* Students who test out of foreign language courses can replace these classes with electives.

** Students who do not successfully test into MATH M118 must complete one or more lower-level math courses to develop the skills necessary to perform well in M 118. Credits earned for these refresher math classes do not count as part of the 122 credit hours required to graduate.

*** At least one of the courses from the Arts and Humanities or Social Sciences lists must also appear on the “Comparative World Cultures” list.

Notes:

Study abroad, internships, research opportunities, minors, certificates, second majors and/or other degrees can be included with adequate advanced planning. See an advisor to discuss details.

Please use in conjunction with the School of Liberal Arts core worksheet. This plan is meant as a sample and may need to be modified or altered based on course
