

June 5, 2014

INScope

Weekly news for faculty, staff and students from the Indiana University School of Medicine

top headlines

Alcoholism gene

IUSM researchers are part of an international team that found 11 genes that can successfully predict an increased risk of alcoholism.

National initiative

The U.S. Department of Defense and the NCAA will fund $30 million in concussion research at IU, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Presidential visit

IU President Michael A. McRobbie recently toured the future site of the IU School of Medicine-Evansville.

features of the week

story

A deep clean

The only company in the world certified to restore the works of artist Dale Chihuly recently paid a visit to the IU School of Medicine to meticulously clean the "DNA Tower" glass sculpture in the atrium of the VanNuys Medical Science Building, restoring the artwork to its original shine.

editor's picks

News to Use

Academic updates

Faculty volunteers are sought for the admissions committee, and the academic advising program is delaying implementation.

Opportunities

Open positions

IUSM is seeking applications for several open positions, including a department chair and two regional medical education center directors.

Grants

Grants and awards

podcast

'Sound Medicine'

IUSM researchers earned more than $2.8 million in grants and awards, excluding commercial projects, in May.

Kudos

New appointment

Antwone Haywood began his new duties as assistant dean for medical student affairs at the IU School of Medicine on May 30.

This week on "Sound Medicine," a nutritionist responds to a new study that finds dietary sugar increases the risk of heart disease. Other topics include the ethics of free pharmaceutical samples, an HPV test newly approved for cervical cancer screening and the author of "The Heart Health Bible."

faculty & staff spotlight

William Kronenberger

The professor of clinical psychology is the first author on a study about cognitive risks in children with cochlear implants.

student spotlight

Mrs. India International

With her new title, IUSM alumna Arthy Saravanan hopes to raise awareness for health care disparities in women and children.

events & lectures

Glick Eye Institute Basic Research Seminar

06-11-2014

Gold Humanism Honor Society nominations due

06-13-2014

Leadership in Academic Medicine Program nominations due

06-27-2014

Spirit of Medicine program applications due

07-01-2014

Register for the IUSM Golf Outing

08-10-2014

IU School of Medicine Calendar

IUSM campus links

Bloomington • Evansville • Fort Wayne • Indianapolis
Lafayette • Muncie • Gary • South Bend • Terre Haute

Submit your news

Subscribe or unsubscribe to this newsletter.

IU Communications | 251 N. Illinois St. | Indianapolis, IN 46204