Student-run health clinic celebrates fourth year

The IU Student Outreach Clinic will celebrate its fourth year of providing free health care to uninsured Indianapolis residents with an open house from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 25. Opening remarks will be at 1 p.m., followed by tours of the facility.

Reservations are appreciated but not required. To RSVP, contact 317-225-1881 or freeclinic@iu-soc.org.

The IU Student Outreach Clinic opened Aug. 1, 2009, in the Neighborhood Fellowship Church, 3102 E. 10th St. Patients without insurance are seen weekly, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays.

The medical school students provide free urgent care to the needy in collaboration with students from Butler University College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, the IU School of Medicine Department of Public Health, the IU School of Dentistry (who see patients at the People's Health Center), the IU School of Health and Rehabilitation Science Department of Physical Therapy and the University of Indianapolis Krannert School of Physical Therapy.

"The IU Student Outreach Clinic has been an integral part of my medical education," said Neha R. Patel, a member of the IU School of Medicine Class of 2013. "It brought perspective to medicine and advanced my education by allowing me to practice my skills, talk to patients, form friendships and learn from peers. Through continual involvement in the Student Outreach Clinic, I grasped the social aspects of health care and was able to 'practice' medicine under the watchful eyes of compassionate physicians and friendly students from all disciplines."

Students from the IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law volunteer in partnership with Indiana Legal Services to provide free legal services and resources, and IU School of Social Work student volunteers help by identifying needs and providing information on available resources.

“One of the most important and exciting aspects of the IU Student Outreach Clinic is the partnerships, both with our community partner, the Neighborhood Fellowship Church, and our various academic partners -- the students from all the participating schools,” said Charles B. Goodwin, chair of the IU Student Outreach Clinic executive board. “These partnerships allow us to better understand what our future colleagues do, and how we can best work together to provide comprehensive care for our patients now. This multidisciplinary approach is the future of health care, and we feel like we are at the forefront of it.”

The clinic, which serves as a hands-on educational opportunity for students, sees 30 to 35 patients for acute and chronic conditions each Saturday. During the first six months of 2012, 676 patients were seen at the clinic, and 196 of those were there for the first time.

IU School of Medicine curricular reform update

The IUSM Curricular Reform 2.5 Team has released an audio presentation to update the IUSM community on the curricular reform process. Please note that this audio slideshow presentation will not play on an iPad or iPhone. For more information about the curricular reform process, read online about Curricular Reform 1.0 and 2.0, and Curricular Reform 2.5.

As the proposal for the new IUSM curriculum continues to develop, the curricular reform team is seeking input from members of the IUSM community. To share questions or comments, email the Curricular Reform 2.5 Team at iusmcurriculum@oncourse.iu.edu.

Medical Humanities fall seminar series

The Medical Humanities and Health Studies Program has announced the speakers in its fall seminar series. Each lecture will be from noon to 1 p.m.

The series will kick off with a lecture titled "In Minute Particulars: Humanitarian Medicine in Rural Africa" by Ellen Einterz, M.D., adjunct associate professor of medicine, Monday, Aug. 27, in the Van Nuys Medical Science Building, Room 326. Dr. Einterz, a physician from Indianapolis, will discuss how the need to surmount cultural barriers and to work with so few resources brings health workers closer to patients. Dr. Einterz has worked in Africa for more than 30 years, and currently serves as medical director of a district hospital in northern Cameroon, where she has been since 1990.

Additional speakers include:

- Thursday, Oct. 11: Rudy Banerjee, Ph.D., will present Geographic Information Science: A ‘Leitwissenschaft’ (A leading or guiding science)” in Cavanaugh Hall, Room 438. Dr. Banerjee is an assistant professor of geography at IUPUI.
- Monday, Oct. 22: Kenneth Cornetta, M.D., will present “Personalized Medicine versus Personalized Care: Can we balance technology and spirituality?” Dr. Cornetta is chair and Joe C. Christian Professor of Medical and Molecular Genetics and professor of medicine and microbiology and immunology at the IU School of Medicine.
- Monday, Nov. 12: Steven S. Ivy, M.Div., Ph.D., will present “Expecting a Miracle: Religion, Medicine, and Cura” in the IUPUI Library auditorium. Dr. Ivy is senior vice president for values, ethics, social responsibility, and pastoral services at IU Health.

A lecture by Jason Karlawish, M.D., professor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, is also scheduled Tuesday, Oct. 2, in the Emerson Hall auditorium. His lecture title is to be announced.

This series is sponsored by the Medical Humanities and Health Studies Program at the IU School of Liberal Arts at IUPUI. To RSVP, contact medhum@iupui.edu

For more information, visit the MHHS seminars website or contact medhum@iupui.edu.

Student Showcase

Regatta team registration begins Aug. 20

Team registrations for the Fourth Annual IUPUI Regatta – which will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 22, at the Downtown Canal at 11th Street – open Monday, Aug. 20.

Last year, IUSM team Gubernaculum helped the IU School of Medicine paddle to victory over 111 other IUPUI teams. Do you have what it takes to make it happen again in 2012? The IUSM Dean’s Office and Medical Alumni Association have offered to cover the cost of two student teams, so start recruiting your team of four now.

The first two teams to email Nolan Ryan at nsryan@iupui.edu will be entered into the event.

This annual tradition is open to everyone. For more information, visit the IUPUI Regatta website.

On Saturday, more than 335 students from the IU School of Medicine class of 2016 walked the stage at the Murat Theatre at Old National Centre to receive the symbol of their profession — the white coat. This White Coat Ceremony is annual tradition that marks the first step in a long journey towards becoming a physician.

To see photos from this event, visit the IUPUI Gallery.

Bogdewic earns AAMC award

Stephen P. Bogdewic, Ph.D., executive associate dean for faculty affairs and professional development, was presented the 2012 Carole J. Bland Phronesis Award by the Association of American Medical Colleges on Aug. 11 at the AAMC Annual Conference in Indianapolis.

The award recognizes individuals who have contributed to faculty development in academic medicine. Recipients are recognized for making a positive impact on the life and success of faculty by serving as a thought leader and developing policies and programs that allow individuals to succeed.

Dr. Bogdewic, who has been on the IU faculty for 21 years, is the associate chair of family medicine and the George W. Copeland Professor of Family Medicine.

News to Use

Indianapolis 'Top Doctors' data collection under way

Information collection practices related to the annual "Top Doctors" list, which is compiled each year by Indianapolis Monthly magazine, have changed. A company called AVVO has been retained by the magazine to collect account information beyond peer recommendations in order to select this year's "top" physicians.

AVVO is requesting information on physicians from all Indianapolis-area hospitals, including IU Health and Wishard Health Services, and in some cases may have contacted faculty directly. Engaging with AVVO may increase an individual's ranking and chances of selection; however, the IU School of Medicine neither discourages nor advocates participation.

Faculty who wish to participate in this information collection effort should send information to the Whitney Ertel, manager of public relations at IU Health, at wertel@iuhealth.org, or may choose to interact directly with the company at www.avvo.com/claim-your-profile. This is an opportunity to ensure that the hospital have up-to-date information on physicians' office hours, numbers for appointments as well as special interest areas for referrals. There is also an opportunity to provide peer recommendation at www.avvo.com. The deadline to submit information is Wednesday, Aug. 22.

For questions or concerns, contact Margie Smith-Simmons, IU School of Medicine, at smithsim@iu.edu.

Diabetes risk and weight loss screening

Volunteers are sought for a study conducted by the IU Department of Medicine Diabetes Translational Research Center.

A free screening is offered to help participants learn whether they are at risk for developing Type 2 diabetes. Participants in the screening must be 18 or older and may be eligible to participate in a research study of how their risk for diabetes may be lowered using lifestyle changes. The approach used in the study has been shown to reduce risk by 60 percent.

The screenings will be in the IUPUI Campus Center, Room 268:

- 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 20
- 3 to 7 p.m. Aug. 21
- 2 to 6 p.m. Aug. 22
- 8 a.m. to noon Aug. 23

Walk-ins are welcome, but to reserve a time contact 317-278-6208 or dtrc@iupui.edu.

IUPUI Health Services offers screenings

To encourage employees to have healthier lifestyles, IU is offering free health screenings and a $100 incentive (before tax) to full-time academic and staff employees. (Per IRS rules, the $100 incentive is paid as supplemental pay and is taxed at a higher rate than normal wages.) This program is independent of the health benefit plan.

IUPUI Health Services and IU Bloomington Health Center began providing health screenings with informational feedback for employees in August. Each month, eligible employees on the IUPUI and IUB campuses will receive an email from Healthy IU inviting them to schedule an appointment. The alphabetical process will continue throughout the year. Regional campuses will have on-site screenings at least twice per year. For more details, visit the Health Screening Frequently Asked Questions

Screenings for IUPUI full-time employees and spouses/same-sex domestic partners may be done at IUPUI Health Services or at your own health care provider's office. IUPUI Health Services appointments will be scheduled from 7:30 to 9:45 a.m. Monday through Friday.

For more information, visit the IU Health website or contact Lee Bernard of IUPUI Student Health Services at labernar@iupui.edu.

This week on 'Sound Medicine'

This week on "Sound Medicine," Laura James, M.D., professor of pediatrics at the University of Arkansas, will discuss the unrecognized dangers posed by common over-the-counter medications that contain acetaminophen, the common active ingredient in Tylenol and other pain medicines.

Also on this week's program, experts will review the relationship between kidney stones and obesity, a study that suggests autism may be linked to metabolic disorders during pregnancy, and an occupational therapist talks about her journey of recovery from multiple liver transplants.

"Sound Medicine," an award-winning radio program that covers controversial ethics topics, breakthrough research studies and the day-to-day application of recent advancements in medicine, is co-produced by IUSM and WFYI Public Radio and underwritten by IU Health Physicians and IUPUI. The program next airs at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 19, on WFYI 90.1 FM. Reports on Primary Health Care topics are sponsored by Wishard Health Services.

The program is available via website, podcast and Stitcher Radio for mobile phones and iPads.

For more information on this week's show, visit the IUSM Newsroom.

At Your Fingertips

Continuing Medical Education

The Continuing Medical Education office launched a new and improved website at cme.medicine.iu.edu. In addition to online registration and listings of grand rounds, conferences and courses, the site provides in-depth tools and information for presenters and program developers. Included are forms, tips, links, contacts, maps and other useful resources to make it easier to participate in CME events, prepare a presentation or plan an event.

Resources

Want to find a room that has a Polycom hook-up? Need official IUSM templates for your PowerPoint presentation or poster about a guest lecturer? Check out the new “Resources” page on the IUSM web site. This section is accessible from the left-hand side of the school’s home page at medicine.iu.edu.

If you have suggestions of other resources that would be beneficial and could be added to this list, contact the Office of Public and Media Relations at medschl@iupui.edu.

MEDTV

The Office of Public and Media Relations manages the MEDTV screens on the medical school campus. This closed-circuit TV system, part of the IUPUI network, presents an opportunity for faculty, staff and students to communicate events and information of interest. It also serves as a source for broadcasting emergency information on campus.

The MedTVs are in public areas of the HITS building, the VanNuys Medical Science Building atrium and corridor/lounge, the Daly Student Center, Fesler Hall, Gatch Hall (formerly Clinical Building), Research II (R2), Walther Hall (R3) and the Cancer Research Institute (R4).

Announcements from departments and offices are welcome. To display your department or office announcement on MedTV, read the MedTV guidelines and find our online submission form at communications.medicine.iu.edu/get-the-word-out/medtv.

For more information, call 317-274-7722.

Scope submission guidelines

Scope wants your news items.

The deadline for submission is 8:30 a.m. Wednesdays. Scope is published electronically and sent to faculty, staff, students and residents on Thursdays, except on holiday weekends. Photos are encouraged with submissions and also may be used on the IUSM homepage or social media channels.

There are three easy ways to submit story ideas or information to Scope:

- E-mail the information to scopemed@iupui.edu

- Mail the information to Kevin Fryling, IU Communications, 251 N. Illinois St., North Tower, Suite 300, Indianapolis, IN 46204 (Campus mail; no postage required)
- Fax your information to 317-278-8722

Contributions submitted by e-mail should be forwarded in 12-point, plain text-format. Word document attachments in lieu of fliers are encouraged.

In the interest of accuracy, please do NOT use:

- Acronyms
- Abbreviations
- Campus building codes (use full, proper name of building and include the room number)
- Dr. as a preface before names (designate M.D. or Ph.D.)
- For more info, see the Scope Style Guide (PDF)

To keep the electronic version of Scope as streamlined as possible, only seminars and lectures of general or multidisciplinary interest will be included.
