"GOODBYE CHARLIE" IS SEASON'S LAST LAUGH

Something funny happens to a guy-turned-girl in George Axelrod's comedy "Goodbye Charlie," University Theatre's last play of the season. Performances are Mar. 30-31 and Apr. 6-7 in the Mary Cable Building theater. The cast of IUPUI students includes Holly Beavon, left, as the reincarnated Charlie Sorel and Collin Bischoff, left, as "her" best friend who sees the returned Charlie in a whole new light. Suzi Moore plays Rusty Mayerling, Charlie's former lover whose jealous husband killed Charlie. And, playing the pathetic crew of people who came to Charlie's funeral are James Mannan as his lawyer, Chris Stevens as his agent, Jay Hamlet as his tax man and Kristin Tuller as Franny Saltzman, the puritanical wife of a studio executive. Clara Marshall, who teaches in the Dept. of Communication and Theatre, is directing the play, her ninth at IUPUI. Tickets are $3.50 for students and elders, $4.50 for staff and faculty, $6 for others. Curtain is at 8 p.m. For reservations, call 4-2094.

SPRING BRINGS BROWN BAG "PICNIC" WITH THE PRESIDENT

Everyone is invited to bring a lunch and join I.U. President Thomas Ehrlich in his annual spring visit to this campus Mar. 23, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. in room 118 of the Conference Center. He will visit briefly for 15 minutes, join in a brown bag lunch discussion at 11:45 a.m., and preside over an open meeting for an hour beginning at 12:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. For more, call Bernice Chumley, 4-2215 or Jeff Vessely, 4-2824.

MAN WHO BEGAN "JIM CROW'S" DEMISE IS LAW DISTINGUISHED JURIST

The School of Law's 1990 Distinguished Jurist in Residence, Robert L. Carter, who argued and won the famous Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, will give a free public address at the School of Law, Mar. 26 at noon, room 102. He calls the talk, "A Jaundiced View of the Constitution and Supreme Court Jurisprudence." Carter, who is senior judge for the U.S. District Court for the southern district of New York, argued the Brown case in 1954 before the U.S. Supreme Court. It is considered the watershed for civil rights in U.S. courts, the landmark case for school desegregation and the abolition of "Jim Crow" segregation laws. His illustrious career in law includes 27 years as legal counsel to the NAACP when he won 21 of 22 cases he argued before the Supreme Court. He holds degrees from Lincoln, Howard, Columbia and Northwestern universities. He has taught at the University of Michigan, Yale University and New York University Law School. During his two-day stay, Mar. 26-27, he will address School of Law faculty and students.

KOLYER FOCUS IN "BORDER CROSSING: WOMEN AND ART IN INDIANA"

Artist, teacher and world famous writer Suzi Gablik joins other women artists Apr. 6-7 on campus for a communal tribute to women in art, with special focus on the life and works of the late Silvia Kolyer. Born in Schoenebeck, East German, Kolyer was an Indianapolis artist and graduate of Herron who died in 1987. The two-day gathering entitled "Border Crossing: Women and Art in Indiana" includes a symposium and a series of concurrent workshops and exhibitions of the work of Kolyer and others. Gablik, author of "Has Modernism Failed?," will give the keynote address on Apr. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Conference Center. Workshops on Apr. 7 will be in the School of Law, a sponsor, and will cover such topics as artists' health, art as a priority, marketing and collecting women's art, and women's art and their spiritualism. All events are free and open to the public. Pre-registration by Mar. 25 is recommended. Other program sponsors include Herron, Women's Studies Program, and the Herron Gallery/Indianapolis Center for Contemporary Art. For more, call Linda L. Haas, 4-7384. --S. Rogers

CLASSICAL STUDIES' ALPHA EVENT PRESENTS POMEROY LECTURE

The first public event to be sponsored by IUPUI's new program of Classical Studies features Sarah B. Pomeroy, professor of classics, Hunter College and the graduate school of CUNY, who will present, "Domestic Feminism in Xenophon's 'Oeconomicus'" Mar. 29, 4 p.m., Cavanaugh Hall, room 507. She is an internationally recognized scholar on women and family in ancient Greece and Rome. Her books include the basic "Goddesses, Whores, Wives and Slave: Women in Classical Antiquity," which has been translated into four languages, and "Women in Hellenistic Egypt from Alexander to Cleopatra." Her lecture, based on current research on Xenophon's "Oeconomicus," a fourth century BC treatise on household management, will focus on the role the ancients recommended for women. Those attending may wish to read sections VI-X of the "Oeconomicus" on reserve in University Library for Robert Sutton's course WOST W300. Other sponsors in the School of Liberal Arts are Women's Studies, the History Society, the Classics Club and the Family Research Center. There is no charge; all are welcome.

FINALLY...

...you can still attend the last two sessions of the series, "Women in Power: Myth or Reality." On Mar. 15, Marilyn Shultz, former state legislator, businesswoman, and president of Indiana Women's PAC, will present "Finding a Place of Power in Our State." On Mar. 22, a panel of sociologists and family therapists will discuss "Intra- and Inter-Dependent Relationships." Both are from 7:30-9:30 a.m. in the Conference Center. For fees and more, call Pat Boer, 4-4784.

...there also is still time to register for the Mar. 20 dinner meeting of the Indiana Chapter of the American Society for Information Science, which will feature Clement J. McDonald, M.D., speaking on the "Future of Hospital Information Systems." He is professor of medicine at I.U. and the developer of large-scale computerized pharmacy, clinical and laboratory and medical information systems, and was recently editor of "MD Computing." Cost is $17 for non-members. Call Jim Morgan, 4-1408.

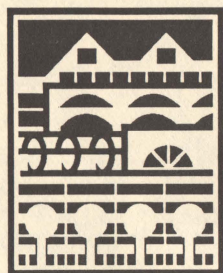

..."Our Children: Who is Caring for Them?" is the topic to be presented by Barbara Coleman, ACSW, assistant director, Riley Child Psychiatry, in the next brown bag lunch series presentation Mar. 20, noon-1 p.m., RI 3088. Sponsor is the IU Hospitals Social Work Dept. For more, call 4-3746.

...Tom Carnegie will emcee "Battle of Champions II" at Washington High School Mar. 21, 7 p.m. State basketball champs from 1965 and 1969 will do battle again with many original cheerleaders and team members such as Bill Keller and George McGinnis. Tickets are at the school and at the gate.
