

✓ green sheet

C1

volume eleven, number twelve

march 29, 1981

SPRING SPECIAL

Dr. Glenn W. Irwin, Jr. will "headline" the meeting of all IUPUI faculty and staff this Thursday (April 2) in the Champions Room at the Indianapolis Sports Center. Everyone is invited to hear him give the "state of the campus" address at 4 p.m., followed by refreshments and entertainment. Immediately preceding this program, at 3:30 p.m. in the same place, the IUPUI Faculty Council will meet.

* * *

DR. KNOEBEL TAKES NATIONAL POST; LILLY AWARDS GO TO TWO PROFESSORS

✓
Dr. Suzanne B. Knoebel, Herman C. and Ellnora D. Krannert professor of medicine, was installed this month as president-elect of the 11,000-member American College of Cardiology during the 30th Annual Scientific Session held in San Francisco.

Dr. Knoebel is associate director of the Krannert Institute of Cardiology and assistant dean for research in the I.U. School of Medicine. She will become president of the college at the 1982 Annual Scientific Session.

Two professors from this campus are among the 11 recipients of prestigious Faculty Open Fellowships for 1981-82 from Lilly Endowment. The competition, limited to Indiana colleges and universities, was open to scholar-teachers in mid-career who want to take a break from academic routine to pursue individually designed programs in the U.S. or overseas.

✓
Helen Garfield, associate professor of law, will spend her time as a Lilly fellow in a "project of historical research and investigative reporting," with a special interest in Justice Louis Brandeis as a dominating figure of his era.

✓
James F. Smurl, professor of religious studies, has become aware through his studies of the "centrality of legal considerations in every nook and cranny of medical moral dilemmas." Smurl plans to use his fellowship year in auditing "bread and butter courses" in law school and to begin an exploration of Justice Brandeis' perspective on the priority of the public interest.

* * *

✓
READ TO HEAD FLORIDA LAW SCHOOL

Frank T. (Tom) Read, dean of the I.U. School of Law-Indianapolis, will resign June 30 to become dean of the College of Law at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Read, who became dean of the Indianapolis law school in August, 1979, is expected to begin his new job July 1. The announcement was made last week by Dr. Robert Q. Marston, president of the University of Florida.

"This is a wrenching experience for me," Read said. "I will deeply miss my colleagues and students and I would like to express my deep and abiding thanks to President John Ryan, Dr. Glenn Irwin, and Dr. Edward Moore for their wonderful support."

Before coming to Indianapolis, Read was dean of the University of Tulsa College of Law for five years. Before that, he served in various capacities at the Duke University School of Law for eight years.

"Dean Read will be sorely missed by the university community here in Indianapolis. During his all too short term as dean of the law school, we have come to know him as a fine person, excellent administrator and inspiring teacher. The University of Florida is gaining an exceptional man and we wish him nothing but the best of success in his new position," Irwin said.

According to Moore, the university will await the recommendations of the law school's executive committee on the next step toward finding a new dean.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Nix -- Monday's Biochemistry Seminar has been canceled.

Displays -- Pharmacy displays in University Hospital this week will be Adria Laboratories on Monday and Pfizer Laboratories on Friday. Boehringer-Ingelheim will have a display in Riley Hospital on Wednesday.

✓
Psychiatric -- Dr. Helmuth Freyberger, professor of psychosomatics at Hannover Medical School in Hannover, West Germany, will speak at a special psychiatric research seminar Monday at noon in the ground-floor conference room at the Institute of Psychiatric Research. His subject will be "Hannover Consultation-Liaison Model -- With Special Regard to Student Auxiliary Therapists."

✓
Physiological -- "Mechanism of Axoplasmic Transport," Physiology Seminar by Dr. Sidney Ochs, professor; Medical Science Building, Room A406, Monday at 4 p.m.

Through Rose-Colored Glasses Dept. -- Monday night, Channel 13, NCAA basketball, I.U. vs. North Carolina or Virginia.

Training -- Two Staff Training Programs are scheduled for this week: "Writing Effective Letters," designed for anyone interested, will be given Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the nursing building, Room 212. And "Discipline, Discharge and Grievances," designed especially for supervisors and managers, will be given Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon in the nursing building, Room 211. For information or reservations, call Ext. 8931.

Political -- "Politics of the '80s: Single Issue Interest Groups" will be the focus of a roundtable discussion Tuesday at 3 p.m. sponsored by the Department of Political Science. The hour-long program will feature Indianapolis attorney D. Robert Webster, an I.U. and Harvard Law School graduate now with the Indiana Lawyers Commission. Webster was the Democratic Party candidate for Indiana's attorney general in the last election. Guests are welcome at the session.

Genetic -- "Increased Frequency of Sister Chromatid Exchanges in Alcoholics," Medical Genetics Seminar by Dr. Merlin G. Butler, postdoctoral fellow; Riley Research, Conference Room 138, Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Oncological -- "Radiation Therapy and Neruo-ophthalmology," grand rounds in oncology by Dr. David Zauel from the Department of Ophthalmology; Radiation Therapy Building, Room R104, Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Oh, To Be in England -- Dr. Lynton Robbins, lecturer in British politics, and Dr. Martin Denscombe, lecturer in sociology in the School of Social and Community Studies at Leicester Polytechnic University in Great Britain, will speak about "Current British Politics: Life with Maggie Thatcher" at this week's Noon-Hour Series. All interested persons are invited to the Wednesday session, which will start at noon in the Lilly Room at the Union Building. No reservations are required. For information, call the Office of International Programs and Services, Ext. 7294.

Chemical -- "Synthesis of Sugars Derived from Antibiotics," Chemistry Seminar by Robert W. Binkley from Cleveland State University; Krannert Science Building, Room 231, Wednesday at 4:30 p.m.

Oral Cancer -- The spring meeting of the Indiana Student Oral Cancer Society will be held Wednesday at 5 p.m. in the auditorium at the nursing building. The topic will be "Oral Cancer -- The Patient's Viewpoint" and will be addressed by a panel headed by Dr. Ronald C. Hamaker. Panelists will include patients, a psychiatric nurse and a head and neck cancer surgeon. All persons (including students) with professional interest in oral cancer are invited.

Nomadic -- This week's entry in the free film festival of classics from the early 1900s features "Grass: A Nation's Battle for Life." The film, which focuses on the migrations of Bakhtiari nomads in Persia (Iran), will be shown Wednesday in Lecture Hall 105 at 8:15 p.m.

Honorable -- Qualified sophomores (3.5 cumulative GPA) are invited to learn more about the Honors Program offered by the School of Business on Friday from noon to 1 p.m. in University Library, Room 318.

Mathematical -- "How Do We Evaluate the Significance of Mathematical Achievements," Fifth Annual Ernest R. Johnston Colloquium sponsored by the Department of Mathematical Sciences; speaker will be Felix Browder from the University of Chicago; Krannert Science Building, Room 031, Friday at 3:30 p.m.

Liberal Arts Comeback -- Former IUPUI students are expected to return to campus next Sunday (April 5) to become reacquainted with the advantages of a liberal arts education and degree. The program opens at 1 p.m. in Cavanaugh Hall (Room 507) when a panel will discuss available degrees, requirements and scheduling. Panelists will include Dr. Martha E. Francois, liberal arts dean; Dr. James R. East, associate dean of liberal arts and director of Weekend College and Learn & Shop, and Marjorie Stonehill, assistant dean of continuing studies. The panel will be repeated at 3:15 p.m. Tours of Cavanaugh Hall and University also are included.

Shakespearean -- Paul Scofield's portrayal of "King Lear" will be shown Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Cavanaugh Hall, Room 229. Also on the bill is a documentary on "The England of Elizabeth."

Advance Notices -- Monday, April 6: "Pancreatic Insulin Cell Function in Starvation and Aging," Diabetes Seminar by Dr. Franz Matchinsky, director of the Diabetes Research and Training Center at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania; University Hospital, Room C420, 12:15 p.m. . Monday, April 6: "The Hypertensive Blood Vessel: Functional and Mechanistic Implications," Physiology Seminar by Dr. Shirley Mueller, assistant professor of neurology; Medical Science Building, Room 205, 4 p.m. . Tuesday, April 7: "Issues and Concerns Surrounding the Mental Health Needs of the Elderly," Seminar Series on Interdisciplinary Psychiatric Treatment of Disadvantaged Client Population, sponsored by the Department of Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing; speakers will be Elizabeth Carter from Columbia University and Eleanor Dougherty of I.U. School of Nursing; nursing building, Room 110, 9 a.m. to noon. . Tuesday, April 7: "Physiological Ecology of Oscillatoria Rubescens," Biology Seminar by Dr. Alan Knopka; Krannert Science Building, Room 357, noon. . Tuesday, April 7: Collegial Conversation, sponsored by the IUPUI Center for American Studies, will feature Dr. Ralph Gray and his specialty, Indiana history; Cavanaugh Hall, Room 208, 1 p.m.

* * *

SPRINGTIME CURTAIN TIME AT IUPUI

A short, intense play, "The Effects of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds," will be performed Friday through Sunday and again April 10-12 by the University Theater of IUPUI. This Paul Zindel, Obie Award-winning drama about 20th-Century living is directed by Dr. Dorothy Webb, professor of speech-theater-communications.

The all-female cast includes Wanda Sewell as Beatrice, a bitter, dissatisfied but occasionally loving middle-aged mother. Susan Rosecrans plays her sweet, bright teen-age daughter, Tillie. Mary K. White portrays the other teen-age daughter, Ruth, who has suffered a nervous breakdown. Also in the play is Maria Russell, 21, who plays the role of Nanny, a 90-year-old woman. Nancy Peterson portrays a teen-age classmate. Michelle Shady, IUPUI student from Cicero, is assistant director.

The play will be performed in the Marott Building, 902 North Meridian Street. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, 2 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for children, and they are available at the IUPUI theater box office in the Marott Building. For more information, call Ext. 2094.

* * *

AFRICAN AMERICAN CONFERENCE MARKS FIRST DECADE

Black playwright and poet Sonia Sanchez and Lu Palmer, columnist and radio commentator for the Chicago Metro News, are among the nationally known black educators and leaders who will head this year's African American Conference, celebrating its 10th anniversary.

The conference will be held Friday through Sunday and is sponsored by the IUPUI Black Student Union. Subject of the program is "Is There a Need for Independent Black Institutions?" Workshops, a dance, seminars, exhibits and a special education program for children are included. All events are free.

Sanchez will kick off events Friday with a seminar called "Is There a Psychological Need for Independent Black Institutions?" The author of 10 books and a contributing editor to Black Scholar magazine, Sanchez will speak at 2 p.m. in Cavanaugh Hall and again at 7:15 p.m. in the Lecture Hall.

Black media experts begin Saturday's events with a panel discussion on the subject "Is there a Need for Independent Black Media?" Lu Palmer will be joined by Kalamu Ya Salaam, editor of the Black Collegian magazine, and Mal Goode from the National Black Network. Amos Brown, assistant manager of Indianapolis radio station WTLG, will moderate the program which begins at 3:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall. Also on Saturday in the Lecture Hall, the BSU plans a film series beginning at 11 a.m., and a children's program at 3:30 p.m. Saturday's conference also includes a dance and live entertainment starting at 9 p.m. in the Union Building cafeteria.

Manning Marable, director of African Studies Center at Cornell University, begins a series of workshops in the Lecture Hall at noon on Sunday. Marable's subjects include: "Independent Black Political Party" and "Black Independence."

Other Sunday events in the Lecture Hall include a workshop at 1:30 p.m. on exercise and nutrition, a workshop beginning at 2:30 p.m. on gardening and canning foods, and another at 4:15 p.m. on developing food cooperatives.

A workshop on how to get the most out of your money, begins at 5 p.m. and, finally, on Sunday the Black Life Academy will lead a workshop at 6 p.m. on the problems of starting a black institution.

For more information, call the BSU at Ext. 2279.

* * *

NEWS & NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Shutterbugs -- An open photography contest for women in the Indianapolis area is being sponsored by the IUPUI Women's Studies Program. Entries are due by April 15. Amateur and professional photographers can enter, and photos can be of any subject in black and white or color. Entries will be exhibited April 19-May 1 in the lobby of University Library. Honorary prizes will be awarded the three entries receiving the most votes by those who view the exhibit. Winners will be announced April 23. Photographers are responsible for mailing or delivering their entries to Cavanaugh Hall; they must also pick up their photos after the exhibit and before May 8. The contest and exhibit are part of the annual Warm Weather Women's Festival on April 22-23. Women faculty, staff and students at IUPUI are urged to enter the contest. For information, call Ext. 2812.

Positions Available -- Research Associate, Department of Dermatology: Two years' college science or equivalent, training in histotechnology and preferable certification ASCP (HT); experience in preparation of frozen tissue sections and various staining techniques; experience in use of American Optical AO 840 C Cryostat; applicant must be willing to catalog research data on skin cancer patients and will have heavy research responsibilities. Call Linda Anders at Ext. 7551. . . School of Nursing: Positions available in August to teach courses in psychiatric/mental health nursing and management of patient care; senior level, baccalaureate program; master's in nursing and clinical experience required; teaching experience preferred. Contact office of Dean Elizabeth Grossman, Ext. 8637. . . Also in nursing, faculty opening in the graduate program in psychiatric/mental health nursing; available this fall; doctorate preferred. Contact Dr. Helen Dorsch, Associate Dean, Nursing 408. . Engineering and Technology: Faculty member to teach and develop software protocols for computer-aided-design (CAB) in all areas of engineering design; Ph.D. with five years' industrial and/or teaching experience required. Send resume by April 15 to: R. Bruce Renda, Dean, 799 West Michigan Street, Indianapolis, 46202.

Wanted -- Physicians are wanted to review medical evidence of claimants who are applying for Social Security Disability benefits. This is professional work in providing specialized medical services. Must have an M.D. degree and be licensed to practice in Indiana. Contact: Administrator of Medical Services, Indiana Rehabilitation Services, Disability Determination Division, 17 West Market Street, P.O. Box 7069, Indianapolis 46207 (232-6011).

CX -- A correction should be noted on the 1980-81 Telephone Directory Update. On Page 1 of the update, insert:
8583 BAILEY, Dr. L. Rush Fixed & Removable Partial Prosthodontics

Move -- The Bookstores Administrative Offices have moved to 1350 Stadium Drive. Nearly all merchandise will be received and distributed from there. Office hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The only telephone change is that the assistant director, Joe Fulmer, is now at Ext. 2341.

Retiring -- John Toction will be retiring May 1 after 14 years with the Physical Plant. His plans after that include spending more time at his hobby, metal working, and visiting Denver.

* * *

BANISH THOSE PRE-TEST JITTERS

Your head hurts, your hands are cold and sweaty. You are short of breath, your heart is racing and your mind has gone blank. You are not facing a firing squad, but a college exam -- a test.

All or any of these discomforts are symptoms of "test anxiety," and they keep students from putting what they know on paper. Skills to overcome test anxiety can be learned, says Dr. Constance Clodfelter, psychologist in personal counseling at IUPUI.

"Some students have so much anxiety about taking a test they can't even study for it because studying reminds them of the test," she says. "Students panic, some become ill, others simply can't concentrate.

"Students can develop skills that minimize anxiety and enable them to attend to the task. They can overcome fear and frustration, learn to think clearly and logically, rather than suffering the 'fight or run' syndrome, which makes them forget what they know," Clodfelter explains.

Clodfelter, who is doing research on test anxiety, will lead two all-day workshops April 10-11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For students who cannot attend all day, four workshops that include six one-hour sessions also are offered. The public is welcome; if space becomes limited, IUPUI students will be given priority. For registration or for more information, call Ext. 2548.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University - Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

(ARCH-791205)

ARCHIVES
UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
420 BLAKE STREET