YOUNG SCHOLARS OPENS REGISTRATION

Gifted and talented children entering grades 4-10 next fall can register now to participate in the third Young Scholars Program set for this summer on campus. The concentrated, two-week educational endeavor is designed to help these young people explore and develop new ideas in a hands-on university environment. Topics in the program include writing, puppetry, algebra, computer skills, sign language, dentistry, chemistry, law, TV production, drama, geology, anthropology and physical fitness. Courses are taught by faculty and staff. The program is headed by Miriam Z. Langsam, director of the Honors Program. Sessions are July 8-19 or July 22-Aug. 2. Space is limited and filled as applications are received. Enrollment ends June 15. Call Ext. 2660.-JG

CAMPUS RESPONDING WELL TO IN-HOUSE CAMPAIGN

The first phase of the IUPUI Campus Campaign is nearly over and the I.U. Foundation has let campaign chairman know that preliminary reports show that, so far, faculty and staff participation is running just over 61 percent, with $264,445 already raised for programs at IUPUI. Volunteers still are contacting colleagues on campus. "We estimate that nearly half of the solicitations are completed, but some haven't been turned in yet," said Jan Shipps, co-chairman on our campus. The first phase should be over on April 15. The returns so far do not include hospitals, ICFAR, or the schools of Business, Public and Environmental Affairs or Education.

! SALE Limited edition prints of the PE/Athletic Complex done by K.P. Singh are on sale for $15 at the IUPUI Bookstores in the Union, Cavanaugh Hall and the Krannert Building. The prints were originally $75. Sale ends June 1.

FOREIGN GUESTS WILL SHARE IN 'PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE'

People on campus and in the city have opened their homes to 13 visiting foreign social workers and human service specialists who will be featured speakers in the "People-to-People Across Nations and Cultures" program that is in conjunction with the annual program. Our guests from countries all over the world will talk about their nations and cultures at 7:30 p.m. every Tuesday evening through Aug. 6 at the International Center of Indianapolis. Sponsors, the Council of International Programs and our School of Social Work, invite you to any or all of the presentations. Also, host families still are needed for the next two groups of visitors who will be here, June 3-July 7 and July 8-Aug. 12. For a schedule of talks, or to become a host family, call David Metzger, Ext. 7405, or Cathy Robinson, 842-5962.-SAR

 TELL STUDENTS In the summer and fall 1985 schedule of classes, the telephone number for University Division is incorrect. It should be 264-3986.

LOVELL AND WOLF AMONG NEW MAC OFFICERS

The IUPUI Metro Athletic Club has two from IUPUI among its officers for 1985. Michael A. Carroll, Lilly Endowment, Inc., is president; James D. Keckley, AFNB, is vice president, and from IUPUI Hugh Wolf, associate dean of the School of Education, is secretary and Robert Lovell, athletic director, is treasurer. MAC raises funds for student athletic scholarships and support of the IUPUI Intercollegiate Athletic Program. If you are interested, call Lovell at Ext. 2725.
