

2006 ANNUAL REPORT

NATIONAL FFA FOUNDATION

FOREVER BLUE

Forever Blue represents all who value the hopeful spirit, generosity, enthusiasm and high ideals embodied by the blue FFA jacket. It also represents the common connection among the thousands of people who recognize the necessity of FFA and agricultural education in strengthening people, communities and the agricultural industry. The Forever Blue family represents National FFA Alumni, former members, Collegiate FFA, National FFA Foundation sponsors, teachers, state agricultural education administrators, teacher educators, donors and all those friends of FFA who know the positive difference FFA makes in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Are you a member of the Forever Blue family? If so, then you support FFA, the most enduring of high school organizations. Prestigious and successful alumni fill its roster. Your ongoing support is critical to keeping FFA powerful and relevant to a new generation – a generation whose expectation has changed dramatically. So as you review this annual report, consider your opportunity to contribute to the group that gives so much back – to the student, to the school, to the community and to you.

DEAR NATIONAL FFA FOUNDATION SPONSORS,

I am pleased to report that 2006 was another in a series of watershed years for FFA, its 500,000 members and the schools and communities in which it serves. Through your commitment, we were able to raise more than $12 million for the National FFA Foundation, ensuring that the good work of FFA will continue to grow. This is an extraordinary achievement, and my personal thanks to all of you who worked so hard for such a good cause. Our slogan for 2006, Serving Through Your Contributions, was borrowed from the FFA Motto – Learning to Do; Doing to Learn; Earning to Live; Living to Serve. It represents the type of service that many of us are most capable of providing today; but more than that, it represents our ongoing willingness to serve in any way we can. These are the attributes being taught every day to young people through FFA and agricultural education, and they are what differentiate the impressive young people of FFA.

Success like this year's campaign requires a visionary and committed group of people to drive to a new record level of contributions, and I am privileged to have been a part of that team, the 2006 National FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board and the unmatched FFA Foundation staff. My personal thanks go out to all of you for your time, energy and dedication to FFA and the work of the foundation.

American agriculture is again facing a new era as traditional food and fiber production makes room for renewable fuel in a changing world. In addition, the expansion of agricultural education and FFA programs to a whole new range of subjects and career opportunities is opening doors for more students than ever before. The mission of FFA and the impact of educational programs built on "... developing the potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success ..." are now more important than ever. We should all take great pride in the work we are doing to support this opportunity.

Thank you again for your support and for your ongoing belief in the value FFA brings to today's world.

Sincerely,

Doug DeVries

FFA IN INDY – A MOVING EXPERIENCE!

In 2006, FFA embarked on a new adventure – moving the 79th National FFA Convention to Indianapolis, Ind. Known as “The Crossroads of America,” Indianapolis is conveniently located in the nation’s heartland and provides a perfect venue for the 54,489 members, advisors, parents and other guests who attended this grand event.

Indianapolis is only the third site for the National FFA Convention. In 1928, the first convention was held in Kansas City, Mo., and it remained the sole venue for the next 70 years. From 1999 through 2005, the honor belonged to Louisville, Ky., and now Indianapolis will host the convention for seven years.

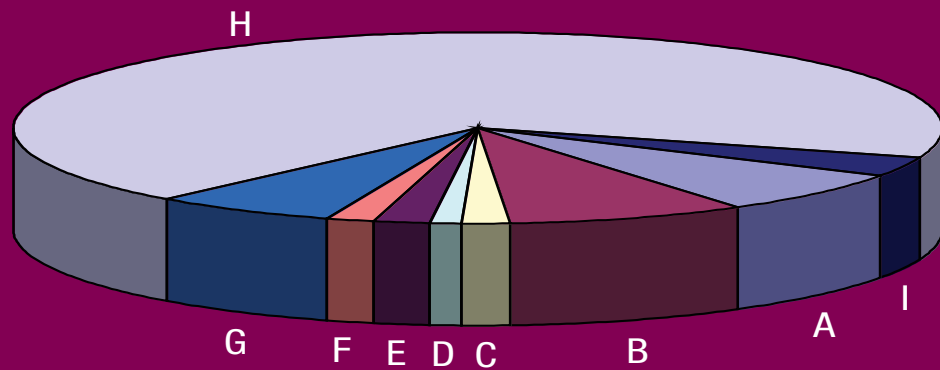

Jeff Simmons
Elanco Animal Health

Elanco Animal Health believes that the No. 1 need for agriculture today is strong leadership and individuals who possess outstanding leadership qualities. We believe that the National FFA Organization is exemplary in building students who think critically, have a high level of integrity, possess a strong work ethic and are honest team players with strong leadership skills. Elanco is pleased to have been supporting FFA for more than 25 years and helping to ensure the development of tomorrow’s leaders.”

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION'S LONG-RANGE GOAL, "10 X 15"

Today, agricultural education is at a crossroads. The need of American agriculture to secure a highly educated, talented and motivated workforce has never been greater, while the pressure to hold public schools accountable for academic achievement in math and sciences has never been more intense. Agricultural education faces twin challenges to improve both the quality of our programs and the number of students and communities they serve. The goal of "10 x 15" as embraced by each sector of our profession is clear:

By 2015, there will be in operation 10,000 quality agricultural science education programs serving students through an integrated model of classroom/laboratory instruction, experiential learning, and leadership and personal skill development. Further, all students will be members of FFA and have a supervised agricultural experience that supports classroom and laboratory instruction.

Working under direction of The National Council for Agricultural Education, the "10 x 15" Management Team has articulated eight strategic themes and identified eight high-priority initiatives. Those themes are:

1. Program Standards for Agricultural Education
2. Link Food, Agriculture and Natural Resources Content Standards to National Academic Content Standards
3. Develop Multiple Agricultural Education Designs
4. Program Data Reporting
5. Agricultural Educator Recruitment
6. Agricultural Education Advocacy Strategy
7. Agricultural Education Brand Strategy
8. Program Funding Strategy

These themes represent a manageable body of work that can yield the greatest results in carrying agricultural education successfully into the future. The National FFA Foundation will play a pivotal role in identifying and securing the resources that will allow agricultural education to meet the needs of the agricultural industry and the students necessary to fill the industry needs.

“ There are many reasons that Merial has continued to sponsor FFA for the past 39 years. We have always been impressed by FFA’s capability to develop young people by getting them involved in career-related activities and by teaching leadership skills. To that regard, LifeKnowledge® is a natural extension of what FFA has always promoted, but with the added benefit that it is an all-encompassing program that offers educational and leadership opportunities to the entire student population in agricultural education. We are excited to be a continuing partner of FFA and LifeKnowledge, and even more excited about where this program will take agricultural education and the young people enrolled in it for the future.”

DAY OF SERVICE

The National FFA Day of Service was introduced as a new feature to the 2006 National FFA Convention. Four Indianapolis sites (Gleaners Food Bank, Keep Indianapolis Beautiful, Habitat for Humanity and Indianapolis Parks & Recreation) were selected for FFA members to participate in a community service project. Each service activity offered a unique project aimed at improving a part of the community while creating an educational experience for participating FFA members. More than 800 FFA members, advisors and alumni provided nearly 3,000 hours of community service.

Vital to the success of this event was support from Timberland PRO and Toyota. In addition to a significant financial contribution, Timberland provided in-kind support, including staff time from key personnel. The Timberland Social Enterprise team provided experience and knowledge that proved to be very useful in planning and launching the Day of Service.

An innovative partnership was launched between central Indiana Toyota dealerships and seven central Indiana FFA chapters. These partners worked together to raise the awareness and need for food donations to community food banks. In three weeks, these unique partners worked together and collected nearly 5,000 pounds of canned food and other nonperishable items.

Stewart Whitney
Vice President and General Manager
Timberland PRO

“ The Timberland Company believes ‘Doing Well and Doing Good’ is essential to its success.”

By sponsoring the Day of Service at the Washington Leadership Conferences and National Convention, Timberland PRO is helping to make an impact in the Washington, D.C., and Indianapolis communities, and is also helping to provide the tools for the students to make an impact in their local community.

“UPS is proud to support the FFA and its activities. FFA values the same beliefs that UPS does, like honesty, integrity, hard work, education and faith. Values matter on the job and in everyday life. At UPS, we believe in giving back to our communities in which we work and live. We believe that in order for UPS to grow, the communities we serve need to be economically and socially healthy. FFA is certainly part of creating those values and the vision for economically and socially healthy communities for the future.”

Scott Beck, Vice President
Beck's Hybrids

“We appreciate all that the FFA program does to help prepare our youth for leadership in agriculture and other areas of society. Many of our employees have held leadership roles within the FFA organization. Their experience has prepared them well for the positions they hold within our company and in the community. Investing in the FFA is an easy decision that we make with confidence and a smile.”

CORPORATE DONORS

Paul LaRoue, President
Rocky Mountain Clothing

“Rocky Mountain Clothing Company, manufacturer of ‘Cinch jeans and Cruel Girl jeans,’ is proud to partner with the FFA. FFA is an organization that mirrors many of our company’s core values. Their leadership and members’ passion for what they do is contagious. It’s good to know that the youth who participate in FFA are becoming leaders who understand how important their role is in shaping not only our industry, but also our country for years to come.”

SAN ANTONIO PROJECT

With a goal of increasing diversity in FFA and agricultural education programs in San Antonio, Texas, a partnership was formed between the National FFA Foundation and Texas A&M University to invest five years in three of the city's schools: Southside High School, Burbank High School and Southwest High School. The funding for this program was provided by Toyota Motor Sales USA.

Currently in its third year, the program has helped to develop and implement interventions that increase student diversity in agricultural education programs, and membership, participation and leadership in FFA.

The results, thus far, have been astounding. Overall membership has gone from 110 members to 238 members – an increase of 136%. Diversity in the program has also skyrocketed, with a 75% increase in Hispanic involvement. The success of the program belongs not only to the sponsors and the students themselves, but also to the teachers, administrators, parents and alumni who have all supported the project's mission.

INDIVIDUAL DONORS

Glenn Stith,
Vice President,
Seminis Seeds
Division, Monsanto
Company

“It is refreshing and inspiring to see young people preparing not only for career success but also to be of service to others. There is no organization that better prepares young people to be leaders in all walks of life than FFA.”

In 2006, Monsanto employees, led by Glenn Stith, raised more than $100,000 in individual contributions. No other corporation has reached out to its employees with this amount of enthusiasm or success.

GLYNDON STUFF
MEMORIAL FUND

One of the highlights of the 79th National FFA Convention featured the 1945-46 National Officer Team at their stations alongside the 2005-06 National Officer Team. J. Glyndon Stuff served as president for the team that celebrated their 60th anniversary. Despite the effects of chemotherapy, Glyndon said he wouldn't have missed the reunion for the world. Glyndon passed away in December 2006. The family has established the Glyndon Stuff Memorial Fund.

FOWLER/ARMSTRONG
SCHOLARSHIP

Dwight Armstrong and his brothers, Randall and Jeff, have established the Ray Fowler/Armstrong Family Scholarship. They sponsor this scholarship in honor of Ray Fowler, their FFA Advisor, and in memory of their mother, Joan. Dwight said, "The training and encouragement that we received from dedicated FFA advisors and the many leadership and personal development activities have been invaluable to our career success."

“AGCO Corporation is a 60-year supporter of the National FFA Organization, and for good reason. The future of farming and the success of this country’s agriculture industry rests in the hands of the FFA and its blue and gold standards. As a board member, I am honored to be affiliated with FFA and its members. In fact, FFA holds a special place for many here at AGCO as they, too, were FFA members. AGCO Corporation is a company that is ‘Always Growing,’ and we will continue to grow and strengthen this relationship for many years to come.”

“BNSF Railway is America’s largest grain shipper. We have been involved with rail transportation of agricultural products for more than 125 years. We also have been a supporter of higher education through scholarship programs, like FFA. It is natural for BNSF to partner with a fine organization like FFA, which is dedicated to encouraging high school students who have worked in agriculture to pursue a career in this industry. FFA members who have earned BNSF scholarships are making meaningful contributions to the field.”
