PROFSCAM WRITER HEADS MOORE SYMPOSIUM

The controversial journalist Charles J. Sykes, whose book Profscam: Professors and the Demise of Higher Education indicts big universities and faculties for seeking prestige at the cost of their students, is the keynote speaker in the annual Edward C. Moore Teaching Symposium, Apr. 19, 8:30 a.m.-noon, in Lecture Hall, room 101. Sykes' address, "Are We Sacrificing Teaching for Prestige," is at 9 a.m. A panel discussion by IUPUI faculty and a question and answer session with the audience will put IUPUI into the debate Sykes' latest book has stirred across the country. The panel discussion begins at 10:30 a.m. with David J. Malik, acting chairman of chemistry, moderating. The panel includes David L. Stocum, dean of the School of Science; Susan L. Zunt, associate professor of oral pathology, School of Dentistry, and Richard G. Peterson, professor of anatomy, School of Medicine. The Q & A session is from 11:20-11:45 a.m. The symposium is designed to encourage professional and academic development in faculty and students. IUPUI staff and the public also are invited. For more, call John F. Kremer, chairman of the symposium coordinating committee, 4-6760.

14K GOLD JEWELRY IS HALF-PRICED OR MORE in the Cheer Guild's "Dazzling Gold Sale" Friday only (Apr. 19) in the main lobby of Riley Hospital, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Rings and things, chain and bracelets, earrings and more will be sold.

COMMENTS ON A FAMILY LEAVE POLICY FOR STAFF EMPLOYEES will be solicited by University representatives during a meeting on the subject, Apr. 17, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. in Nursing, room 214. No registration is required; all are welcome.

SAGAMORE SWEEPS 10-COLLEGE NEWSPAPER COMPETITION Marie Chmielewski, editor-in-chief of the IUPUI student newspaper, led her able staffers to win first place (for the sixth time) in the 1990-91 Indiana Collegiate Press Association's 34th annual college student publications contest, Div. II. The "Sag" also carried home first, second and third place for best front page design. There's more. For best news stories, Sag news editor Amy Morris and managing editor Cheryl Matthews won top honors. The Sag took second for best editorial, first for best editorial campaign, third for best column and first for best feature story, and much more. Others on the staff include David Beall, Jane Partenheimer, Greg Taylor, Kyle Barnett, Stacey McArthur, David Lee Hartlage, Mike Perkins, Kim White and Leanna Woodley. Publisher is Dennis Cripe.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY: ASKING FOR AND SPENDING IT PANEL TOPIC

Faculty and staff are invited to consider the ethical issues surrounding the preparation of proposals and administering funded projects during a panel discussion with specialists on those subjects, Apr. 24 from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. in the roof lounge of the Union Building. Wendell F. McBurney, dean of Research and Sponsored Programs, will moderate the discussion, "Asking for and Spending Other People's Money" beginning at 5:30 p.m. IUPUI panelists will be Dr. Joe C. Christian, chairman and professor in the Dept. of Medical Genetics and chairman of the IUPUI Committee on Ethics Research; Pamela McKeough, director of sponsored program administration and assistant to McBurney, and Robert L. Payton, director of the IU Center on Philanthropy and professor of philanthropic studies. Also on the panel is Charles Johnson, vice president for development, Lilly Endowment, Inc. Refreshments are at 5 p.m. There is no charge, but attendance is limited to those who pre-register no later than Apr. 19. Call 4-8285.

ALL IU FACULTY CAN APPLY FOR OVERSEAS DIRECTORSHIPS

Directorships for Overseas Study Programs are opening in Madrid, Spain, and Strasbourg, France. All IU faculty can apply, but you must be fluent in the language of the country in which you are applying, have extensive teaching and/or administrative experience with undergraduates and previous experience abroad. The program in Strasbourg is for 1991-92 or 1993-94; Madrid is for 1991-92. Application guidelines are available in the Office of Overseas Study, Franklin Hall 303, IUB, 5-9304. Application deadline is May 15.

THE BAND PLAYS ON: APRIL 30, NOT APRIL 29

Sousa's Washington Post March, Clare Grundman's Second American Folk Rhapsody, Claude T. Smith's Emerata Overture, a few good old commerical jingles and a synthesizer piece featuring Sara Reed are on the program for the IUPUI Concert Band concert Apr. 30 at 8 p.m. in the Mary Cable Building Theatre. (It is not Apr. 29, as noted in the Campus Calendar.) There is no charge. IUPUIites and their families and friends are welcome to hear Doug Smith strike up the band.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

From Utah--A U. of Utah professor, Robert A. Goldberg, who has written about McCarthyism, Jewish farmers in Utah, the Klu Klux Klan in Colorado and the American labor movement, speaks Apr. 18 at 4 p.m. in IH 104. He will talk about "The Philanthropist as Activist" in the presentation sponsored by the IUPUI Center for American Studies and IU Center on Philanthropy at IUPUI. Goldberg's most recent book is Grassroots Resistance: Social Movements in Twentieth Century America.

History of Medicine--William Armstrong, Ph.D., a membrane physiologist, knew many of the history makers he will discuss when he speaks at the next meeting of the John Shaw Billings History of Medicine Society, Apr. 29, 4:30 p.m., Emerson Hall auditorium. His presentation will be "The Sodium Pump--A Chapter in the History of Membrane Physiology." All welcome. Refreshments at 4 p.m. Call Jans Muller, M.D., 4-8577.

Special Seminar--George R. Breese, Ph.D., professor of psychiatry and pharmacology, presents "Modeling the Neurological Deficit in Lesch-Nyhan Syndrome--An Approach for Defining Neurobiology of Dopaminergic Mechanisms," Apr. 18, 1 p.m., Nursing auditorium.

Progress or Not?--The Disabled Student Organization on campus welcomes everyone to discuss its progress at a meeting Apr. 23, 11:30 a.m., CA 226. Call Sheila Hall, 4-0489.

Your Ring?--A man's ring was found Apr. 3 in a men's restroom in the School of Nursing. For recovery information, call the IUPUI Police Department, 4-7971.

Applicant Screening--Effective Apr. 8, a drug screening program was implemented as a condition to hire for new staff in the IU Hospitals. Current non-hospital staff seeking transfers to hospital positions will be required to undergo a health evaluation which includes a drug screen. The program was launched in order to continue the Hospital's commitment to providing a safe and healthy environment for patients, guests, visitors and staff. IU Hospitals will be joined by several other Indianapolis hospitals which have developed similar programs to promote a drug-free workplace. In addition, this program complements the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988. IU Hospitals also is revising its current policy to include drug screening of current staff for "just cause," a component targeted for implementation this summer. For more, call Chris Keeley, in Human Resources Administration, 4-8931, or Mark Hamilton in Hospital Administration, 4-2141.

RIBBON-CUTTING MARKS RESEARCH CENTER'S NEW AREA

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies Apr. 22 at 12:30 p.m. will mark the completion of renovated space to house the Center for Nursing Research. Created six years ago as the office of research, the Center is now in area on the third floor of the nursing building and will accommodate the offices of the associate dean for research, a work area for research efforts, 19 research assistants and the assistant dean for clinical research. There is also space for a library/conference room and the offices of the Mary Margaret Walther Research in Cancer Care Program. Assisting in the opening ceremonies in NU 338 will be Angela Barron McBride, interim dean of nursing; Nell Watts, executive officer of Sigma Theta Tau International, IUPUI Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko, and William B. Plater, executive vice chancellor and dean of faculties. An open house follows from 1-3 p.m.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Add 'em Up--About 70 mathematicians from across the U.S. will converge on the Conference Center Apr. 20-21 for the Wabash Miniconference; this year's topic is Extramural Modern Analysis. The meeting, an annual event for about 20 years, is sponsored by institutions associated with the Wabash Seminar (IUB, Purdue-West Lafayette, U. of Illinois and IUPUI), with funding from IUPUI and the National Science Foundation. Neal J. Rothman, professor of mathematical sciences here, is among the planners.

Greek Week--All faculty members are invited to join Phi Mu and Pi Kappa Phi fraternities for the first faculty tea, Apr. 16, 1-3 p.m., BS 4088. Each fraternity will give a half-hour presentation on its workings.

Equipment Auction--A grinder, a band saw, 4-5 sets of scaffolding, a table-top metal lathe, a drill press and other equipment will be sold by IUPUI's Surplus Property Dept. in a public auction Apr. 20 at 10 a.m., 630 West New York Street.

Use It or Lose It--Absentee voting in lieu of the May 7 ballot is Apr. 13-May 5, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. and May 6, 8 a.m.-noon, in Room W-122 of the City County Building. People away from their residences can apply to vote by mail. Call 236-5100 for more.

Coffeemaker Danger--Proctor-Silex, Inc., in cooperation with the Consumer Produce Safety Commission, is voluntarily recalling certain discontinued Proctor-Silex, Sears and J.C. Penney brand automatic drip coffeemakers because they are a potential fire hazard. They include coffeemakers manufactured between 1985-1986, which have caused about 200 reported fires. Owners are urged to unplug any coffeemaker among the 800,000 estimated to still be in use. To get serial numbers of recall models, or more information, call 1-800-341-3333. Dave Kelly, IUPUI fire inspector, wanted us to know.

Play Ball!--Beginning Apr. 15, you can buy '91 Indianapolis Indians baseball tickets in the Bursar's Office, CA 147. General admission tickets are $3.25 and box seats are $6 each. Office hours are weekdays, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. (Editor's note: If you haven't been to an Indians game, you're missing a treat. With a group of friends or colleagues or by yourself, the stadium on 16th street is itself a bit of nostalgia and of course, The Great American Pastime is fun for kids of all ages. And there isn't a bad seat in the place.)
