green sheet

volume 15, number six

february 10, 1985

SHERRILL AND SHIPPS STEERING MAJOR CONFERENCE HERE

Rowland A. Sherrill and Jan Shipps are co-chairmen of a major national conference March 28-30 that will feature Vincent Harding, a scholar who has served on the front lines of the civil rights movement of the '60s and who is now professor of religion and social transformation at the Iliff School of Theology in Denver. Other renowned scholars will also speak at the conference entitled, "Re-Visioning America: Religion in American Life," which is sponsored by the Center for American Studies and Department of Religious Studies at IUPUI. Some 25 papers will be presented by scholars and experts from across the country and the "roundtable" format for each group is meant to encourage community participation in the public conference, to be held at the Sheraton Meridian Hotel. Funding has been provided by the Lilly Endowment, Inc., and the Indiana Committee for the Humanities. For more information, call the Center for American Studies, Ext. 3759.-GW

BODY TALK, WOMEN'S HISTORY ARE SYMPOSIUM HIGHLIGHTS

Verbal and non-verbal "Communications in the Classroom" is the theme of the day-long 1985 Learning Resources Committee Symposium set for campus on March 1. Body language and women's history are the major topics. Beginning in Lecture Hall 101 Charles M. Galloway, an authority on how we speak without using words and a professor of education at Ohio State University, will give the keynote address at 9 a.m. He will be introduced by Dr. Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., vice president (Indianapolis), who will also present the 1985 Edward C. Moore Outstanding Teacher Award to an IUPUI faculty member. Then, in the Champions Room at the Sports Center, "Women's History: Or How to Fit Them into Columbus, The Revolution and the War Between the States" is the topic of the noon box-luncheon portion of the symposium. Jeanne Mueller, librarian and technical service librarian at the School of Medicine, is coordinator and Lillian Stokes, assistant professor of nursing, will facilitate. Many afternoon workshops are planned for faculty who wish to share ideas and new approaches to teaching. Erwin Boschmann, professor of chemistry at the School of Science, is chairman of this year's event, sponsored by the IUPUI Learning Resources Committee.—SAR

COLORING VALENTINE'S DAY GRAY

If you're one of those who worry about science and technology wiping out the sweet, the romantic, the emotional—take heart (or brain)! Tradition lives on. Since the loving Saint Valentine was martyred some 1,600 years ago, we've learned that it is the brain and not the heart wherein the center of emotion lies. Knowing that, Valentine's Day motifs "should" be more logical. Florists should send gray roses in brain—shaped vases. When lost in your lover's eyes, you "should" say, "I love you with all my brain." If what we know and how we feel were in total sync, Valentine cards would be lace—edged brains inscribed with brain—felt messages. Thwarted lovers would be brain—broken or dying of a broken brain. Enough of this brain—wrenching stuff. Happy St. Valentine's Day.—CHW

BURGAN OUTLINES CAMPUS CAMPAIGN OBJECTIVES

Plans for IUPUI's Campus Campaign continue, and objectives for the fund-raising have been announced. "This campus campaign is important because it offers each campus the opportunity to raise funds for itself," said Mary Burgan, head of the Campus Campaign. The fund-raising program that is being emphasized at IUPUI was selected by administrations, faculty and staff. They include endowed professorships, undergraduate and graduate fellowships, the library and areas of greatest opportunity at IUPUI—a general category to be used when emergency needs arise for which state funds are not available. Also, donors at IUPUI can direct their gifts to a particular program. "We all know that salaries at IU are below what they should be, but our willingness to support the campaign is a vital step in the overall strategy for the upcoming Campaign for Indiana," Burgan said.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Goodies--A Valentine bake sale, sponsored by the Black Nursing Student Organization, is Feb. 11, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., lobby of the Union Building. Proceeds go for service projects.

Rehab Seminar--Roger Ware, Ph.D., Department of Psychology, IUPUI, presents "Applications of Jung's Type Theory to Rehabilitation," Feb. 15, noon-1 p.m., Psychology Conference Room, Krannert Building. All welcome.

Ride Needed--Lorna, School of Nursing, needs a temporary ride to and from Martinsville for about eight weeks. Call her at Ext. 4413 or at home, 342-2419 after 6 p.m.

Pathology Seminar--Michael D. Glant, M.D., associate professor, and William Crabtree, M.S., instructor, both in Department of Pathology, IUMC, present "The Efficacy of Fine Needle Aspiration Specimen Procurement for In Vitro Cell Culture and Antineoplastic Sensitivity Determination," Feb. 21, noon-1 p.m., UH N436.

Physics Seminar—Paul Kissinger, Department of Physics, DePauw University, presents "Goals and Strategies of an Undergraduate Liberal Arts Physics Department" on Feb. 20, 3:30 p.m., KB 127. Refreshments at 3:15 p.m., KB 118.

Christian Faculty Conference—Metropolitan Indianapolis Campus Ministry conference, "The Beatitudes in a Secular Setting," on Feb. 16, 9 a.m.-noon, Roof Lounge, Union Building. All welcome. Fee is $2.50 for students; $5 for others. Call Ext. 2585.

Biochemistry Seminar--Larry K. Steinrauf, Ph.D., professor in the Department of Biochemistry, IUMC, presents "Beta Adrenergic Blocking Agents: Control of High Blood Pressure for School Athletes?" on Feb. 11, 4 p.m., MS 326. Refreshments, 3:30 p.m., MS 409.

MIRROR Trains—First training session for volunteers in the Minorities in Reach Regarding Our Retention (MIRROR), a standing committee of the Black Faculty and Staff Council, is Feb. 15, 11 a.m., Lilly Room in the Union Building. Interested faculty and staff welcome. For more information, call Cecilia Hawkins, Ext. 2306.

Biology Seminar--Dr. Blake Neaubauer, Lilly Research Laboratories, presents "Epithelial-Mesenchymal Interaction in Accessory Sex Organ Development" on Feb. 15, noon, KB 357. Refreshment served.

Chemistry Seminar--Robert Buchanan, Chemistry Department, University of Louisville, presents "Structural and Magnetic Properties of Mononuclear and BInuclear Copper (II) Complexes of O-Diphenols" on Feb. 13, 4:30 p.m., KB 231. Refreshments, KB 249, 4 p.m.

EXPERIENCE EXCELLENCE AWARD NOMINATIONS OPEN

Nominations of staff and faculty for the 1985 Experience Excellence Recognition Award are now open. Six staff and six faculty members will be selected for "service above and beyond the call of duty." Recognition is for non-job-related service that benefits the university as a whole and any of its units for which the nominee is not reimbursed. Deadline to nominate any full time faculty or staff member is March 8. For nomination forms or more information, call Carol D. Nathan, associate dean of the faculties, AO 108, Ext. 8974.

NEED VOLUNTEERS TO HELP WITH NAIA COMPETITIONS

Volunteers are needed for the World Class competition to be held at the natatorium. The first National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Swimming and Diving Championship tournament will be Feb. 27-Mar. 2. The diving competition begins Feb. 27 at 11 a.m. with finals beginning at 4 p.m. Diving continues Friday and Saturday, with no competition on Thursday. Swimming competition is Thursday through Saturday. Preliminaries begin each day at 9:30 a.m., with finals at 7 p.m. Tickets are at the Natatorium and at all Ticketmaster locations, or call Ext. 7364. Help will also be needed at the NAIA Softball Championship set for May 16-18. To volunteer, call Marika Kalyvas, Coordinator of Intercollegiate Athletic Information, Ext. 3764.

FEBRUARY: FOCUSING ON BLACK HISTORY

Here and everywhere special events are planned in conjunction with Black History Month. On Feb. 12, "The Black Cultural Experience" will be one of four topics to be discussed by faculty researchers, and will feature Alvin S. Bynum, dean of the University Division. Entitled "Early Influences to American Life," the discussion is the third in a series sponsored by the Institute for Humanities Research at IUPUI, and will be in Business/SPEA, Rm. 4095, from 3-5 p.m.

And, IUB has planned more events that can be mentioned here. There are readings, opera art exhibits, music, drama, symposiums and other events going on all month. For information, call Terry Grimes, IU Alumni Office at IUB, 335-1711.

This year's Afro-American History Month Lecture, sponsored by the Indianapolis-Marion County Public Library, features Mari Evans, poet, musician, writer of children's books editor and educator. The free lecture is on Feb. 17, 2 p.m., St. Peter Claver Center. A resident of Indianapolis, Evans is an assistant professor at the Africana Studies and Research Center, Cornell University. She has also taught at IU and other universities. For more information, call Jean Bowles, 269-1732.

SAYS J-SCHOOL HAS MODEL CURRICULUM

Students don't have to go off to New York or Chicago to get a well-balanced education in journalism. Despite critical reports from journalism professionals that journalism schools across the country are "nearly stagnant" and "industry-oriented" the curriculum at the I.U. School of journalism fits the bill for a "model curriculum" that was outlined by the University of Oregon in a recent edition of the Chronicle of Higher Education. James W. Brown, associate dean for the School of Journalism here, pointed out that our school was named one of the nation's best by the Associated Press Managing Editors education committee. "We follow the model curriculum right down the line," Brown said.-JG

A discussion of the IUPUI ten-year capital development plan and nearby community development projects will be discussed on March 1 at 3:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall, Room 100. Presenters are Neil E. Lantz, director of Administrative Affairs; Robert R. Baxter, special assistant to the vice president, and J. Terry Clapacs, director of University Physical Facilities. Students, faculty and staff welcome.

MORE NEWS "N' NOTES

Nuclear War Lecture--Ongoing "Perspectives on Nuclear Warfare" series presents Dr. George P. Rice, attorney, Emeritus Professor of Speech, Butler University, on the topic, "The Cultural Consequences of Nuclear Warfare," on Feb. 14, 5:30 p.m., LH 101.

Brownbag Seminar--Linda Haas, Ph.D., associate professor, Department of Sociology, presents "Young Women's Attitudes Toward Sex Roles" on Feb. 14, noon, CA 537.

Ash Wednesday--Masses will be held in the Catholic Student Center, 1309 W. Michigan, on Feb. 20, 8 a.m., 12:10 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Call 632-4378.

Great Decisions '85--Lecture and discussion featuring Dr. Robert Jefferson, Department of History, Marian College, on "Iran-Iraq War: What Role for the U.S. in the Persian Gulf?" on Feb. 19, 7:30 p.m., International Center. Call Prof. Fedor, Ext. 8877.

Season Nears End--Players on the Men's and Women's IUPUI Metro Basketball teams can still use a few Rahs! as they end their seasons. The women play Mount Saint Joseph's at home on Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. and Oakland City College, there, on Feb. 16 at 2 p.m. The men play IU Southeast on Feb. 11 and Purdue Calumet on Feb. 15, both there, 7:30 p.m.

Management in Action Seminar -- "Production Planning, Scheduling and Inventory Control" three-day seminar is March 6-8, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. For fees and registration, call William G. Panschar, director of executive education, Graduate School of Business, IUB, 335-0229.

Herron Lecture--William Carter, practicing architect and interior designer, presents "The Development, Planning and Construction of the University of Michigan School of Art and Architecture Facilities" on Feb. 12, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., Herron auditorium.

Geology Colloquium—Danny Stropes, Indiana Department of Natural Resources, Div. of Reclamation, presents "Non-Coal Minerals Mining in Indiana," Feb. 11, 4 p.m., CA 435.

Physiology/Biophysics Seminar -- Dr. Eric De Weese, assistant professor of medicine, IUMC, presents "Ventilatory Responses to Resistive Unloading" on Feb. 20, 4 p.m., MS 205.

Open Forum—Doctors from the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, University Hospital, Robert E. Rogers, M.D., and Frederick B. Stehman, M.D., present "What About Menopause, Cancer and Osteoporosis?" on Feb. 12, 12:05-12:55 p.m., UH C261.

Touchy Teeth?—The Oral Health Research Institute of the School of Dentistry needs adults over 18 years old with a least one sensitive tooth to participate in a study to evaluate experimental toothpastes. Sensitivity must be associated with gum recession and/or tooth abrasion and not caused by cavities, large fillings or crowns or gum disease. Two-month study, four appointments of less than an hour. Modest reimbursement. Call Dr. Jackson, Ext. 8671.

*News Bureau Indiana University - Purdue University at Indianapolis 355 Lansing Street Indianapolis, Indiana 46202 (ARCH-800321)

ARCHIVES UNIVERSITY LIBRARY 420 BLAKE ST