NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Whatever Happened to. . .--The Green Sheet's Friendly Ad Service, as you have undoubtedly noticed, has been in abeyance because of the pressure of time and events that have needed Green Sheet attention. (The ad service is run as a courtesy for faculty and staff members as time and space permit.) So, to start the new year off with a clean slate, all ads received so far will move from "abeyance" to "no go." Please submit ads after the first of the year and we'll try to get them in the Green Sheet as soon as possible.

Programs --WAT 21 Medical Television will not be broadcasting the weeks of December 17, 24 and 31. Major equipment moves have necessitated shutting down this week, one week earlier than indicated in the current holiday Program Schedule. Regular programming will resume January 7.

Hours -- The Office of Veterans Affairs will be closed December 24-26, but open December 27-28.

More Hours -- The School of Medicine Library hours for the Christmas Holiday are as follows:

THINK SUMMER

IUPUI will begin a new eight-week summer session schedule this summer on a trial basis. Energy conservation and budgetary considerations are among the reasons for the experimental change in schedule. (In previous years, the summer session was divided into two six-week sessions.) This summer classes will begin June 9 and will end August 4.

A greater variety of courses will be offered in the new eight-week summer session. Classes will be available in morning, afternoon, and evening sections. The summer session class schedule will be distributed in early January.

The new time period for the summer session will allow more class time for the fast-paced summer courses and will be conducive to less travel time for students commuting to campus.

The new dates also will enable area teachers, high school students, and college students to enroll in IUPUI summer courses at the proper time. In the past, the first session of the two six-week sessions started before the completion of area schools' and universities' academic year.

Walk-in registration for the eight-week summer session at IUPUI will be June 5-6.
