Classroom topics include: federalism, the jury system, and the common law, and allows the participants an opportunity to better understand the legal system in the U.S. and compare it to their own home country's system. Sites of field trips include: United States District Court, Indiana Supreme Court, Indiana Senate, Office of the Indiana Attorney General, and Faegre Baker & Daniels law firm. In addition, a visit to Wabash College provided Brazilian representatives an opportunity to join faculty in a presentation titled, "Crisis and Recovery. Reflections on Economic Policies in Brazil and the U.S." Professor Wilson will introduce a 5th program next September 2013.

Indiana Court of Appeals Hears Oral Argument in Andrews v. State in Wynne Courtroom. A three-judge panel of the Indiana Court of Appeals heard oral argument in the case Andrews v. State in our law school's Wynne Courtroom on September 5th. The case, before Judges Michael Barnes, Paul Mathias, and Nancy Vaidik, was an appeal out of Hamilton Superior Court concerning whether the appellant was required under the decision in Wallace v. State to register as a sex offender. The appellant pleaded guilty in Massachusetts in 1984. The state argued that Andrews had an obligation to register under the federal Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act, passed in 2006. After the argument, the judges answered students' questions. Judge Vaidik pointed out that many lawyers connected with the case began their legal careers as law clerks. She invited those attorneys to talk about how they obtained their first legal jobs.

Students may register for the Disability and Criminal Defense clinics through the regular registration process. There is no prior authorization required for these clinics; however, the courses do have prerequisites. Students are admitted based on availability at the time they register. If the course is full when you attempt to register, be sure to add your name on the waitlist. Students may not participate in more than one clinical program or externship program per semester.

Students represent persons charged with Class D felonies. Students are certified to practice under faculty supervision pursuant to Rules for Admission to the Bar. Prerequisites: Completion of 45 credit hours, Criminal Law, Professional Responsibility, Evidence and Criminal Procedure I. Students interview, counsel and provide administrative representation to persons with physical or mental disabilities. Legal problems include: initial disability determinations for Supplemental Security Income, continuation of disability benefits, and other matters related to benefits from the Social Security Administration. Prerequisites: Completion of first year courses. Professor Joanne Orr.

On issues including access to housing, systemic due process claims, and worker rights, students engage in advocacy in the form of amicus briefs, investigations and reports, and public education. These cases and projects, and companion international projects pursued in partnership with global justice advocates, provide a platform for the review of issues in international human rights law and comparative law.

Professor Fran Quigley.

Immigration Clinic: (2 or 3 credits Graded)

Students represent both detained and non-detained clients in immigration matters before federal administrative agencies under the supervision of the professor/counsel. Students may enroll in the clinic for two consecutive semesters. Prerequisites: Course is open to upper level J.D. students and LL.M. students. Completion of or enrollment in Immigration Law (unless waived by the instructor) and Professional Responsibility (unless waived by the instructor) is required. In the classroom component of the course, students consider federal and state post-conviction remedies and the relevant issues, including eyewitness identifications, false confessions, informants, government misconduct, junk science, and DNA testing. Prerequisites: Students completing the Criminal Defense Clinic are eligible to register. ## No Smoking on IUPUI Campus

IUPUI Tobacco Policy states that tobacco use or sale is prohibited on University-owned, operated or leased property. A new state law that was enforced July 1, 2012, will now mandate that nearly all public places and places of employment in Indiana, including university campuses, restaurants and other workplaces, will be smoke free. This change comes as the result of Indiana's first statewide smoke-free-air law, House Enrolled Act 1149:

in.gov/legislative/bills/2012/HE/HE1149.1.html.

The purpose of the Indiana Smoke Free Air Law is to protect Hoosiers from the harmful effects of exposure to secondhand smoke as the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has classified secondhand smoke as a cause of cancer in humans.

While IUPUI has had a tobacco-free policy (www.smokefree.indiana.edu/) since 2006, the the new state law will make smoking in restricted areas illegal and a citable offense. IUPUI officers will begin issuing citations (minimum of $150) for violations. Additionally, violations will be referred to the appropriate administrative office for review and appropriate administrative action for: students, faculty, and staff. Law students who choose to smoke must use the sidewalk on the south side of the building on New York Street – NOT at the main entrance doors or steps into the building and NOT in the courtyard area on the north side of the building.

To obtain information on the IUPUI policies on tobacco or to obtain help with cessation programs, go to the website www.smokerfree.iupui.edu.
