

BEPKO TO OFFICIALLY OPEN NEW BIO LAB

Researchers from four IUPUI schools will be involved in a new Biomechanics and Biomaterials Research Laboratory at IUPUI, the first of its kind in the nation. Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko will officially open the new lab Nov. 19, with a reception from 6-8 p.m. and dedication ceremonies at 6:30 p.m., second floor of the School of Dentistry. The unique research team based in the center will include representatives from the Schools of Engineering and Technology, Dentistry, Medicine and Science. Among the equipment that will aid in research is the facility's centerpiece, a $250,000 Material Testing System (MTS), which applies mechanical engineering concepts to the study of bone structure in medical and orthodonture research. It allows the research team to study the manner in which bone, ligaments and joints respond to mechanical forces. The MTS is devoted to research on smaller, more delicate bones, while another MTS in the SET II Building is calibrated for larger bones and other engineering projects. Research in the lab is expected to benefit people with such conditions as cranial/facial abnormalities, and to prevent fracture, sports injury and other problems. --R. Burrous

United Way
of Central Indiana

UNITED WAY VICTORY NEARLY OURS

Once again, the staff/faculty/student team is clearly a winner in the annual United Way Campus "tournament." The IUPUI team was predicted to shoot at 100 percent by the time you read this. At last count your generosity had scored a total of $261,300 in cash and pledges--very close to our promise of $270,000. The next Green Sheet will note which units led the scoring and who beat their own record.

GARY HADNOTT HONORED FOR SAVING CO-WORKER'S LIFE

Black

Hadnot

Margaret Black was especially pleased to attend ceremonies last Wednesday where Gary Hadnott was honored for saving her life. Black, a custodian in the Business/SPEA Building, was eating a bite during break one day recently when a bone lodged in her throat. She quit breathing. Gary Hadnott noticed his co-worker was in trouble, went to her aid and quickly performed the Heimlich Maneuver and dislodged the bone. Margaret began breathing, was checked by Campus Fire Protection Services and IFD Rescue folks and was found to be okay. So okay was she that she resumed her duties that day. She joined Vice Chancellor Robert E. Martin, Director of Campus Facility Services Emily C. Wren and others in a special ceremony for Hadnott.

THANKSGIVING BLESSINGS on campus will include days off Nov. 28-29 for many whose offices will close and the continued care and watchfulness of police, health professionals, telecommunications and campus facilities folks and others who stay at their posts and take the days off at another time. Some libraries will close or have special hours, so call the one you use for details.

HERRON HOSTS OMNIBUS '91: THE WORK OF 10 ARTISTS

The works of 10 invited artists are in the free public exhibition "Omnibus '91: Recent Work by Ten Mid-Career Artists from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Connecticut, New York and Texas" which runs through Dec. 13 in the Herron Gallery. More than 40 works will be showcased, with the work of the Hoosier artists juxtaposed throughout. From Indiana, the artists are Michael Begley, photography; Susan Calza, installation; Linda Adele Goodine, photography, and Ed Sanders, painting. The others are James Fellows, painting, Conn.; Daniel Ford, painting, N.Y.; Walter King, painting, Oh.; Gail Simpson, sculpture, Ill.; Susan Wides, photography, N.Y., and Anthony Wright, sculpture, Tex. Call 923-3651 for gallery hours. --S. Matthys Roob

A BUNCH OF SWELL STUFF WILL BE SOLD IN THE IUPUI SURPLUS AUCTION, coming up Dec. 7, 10 a.m., at 630 West New York Street. For sale will be IBM typewriters, desks, chairs, shelving, TV sets, animal cages, wall lockers, tables, an ice machine, and miscellaneous items. Terms are cash, check, Mastercard or VISA. Call Dan Reynolds for more, 4-7753.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Minding Small Business--The Central Indiana Small Business Development Center on campus is cooperating with the Minority Chamber of Commerce and the Light of the World Christian Church in offering free business counseling sessions at the church, 5640 E. 38th Street. Start-up packets will be available and are $5. Sessions are Nov. 20, Dec. 4 and Dec. 18, 9 a.m.-noon. Mary Alice McCord, director of the SBDC at IUPUI, will provide counseling. For an appointment, call 4-8200.

IUPUI Toll Free--The IUPUI toll-free number for staff and faculty is 800-274-8944. After the number connects, you will get a dial tone and can then dial campus extension numbers. Any other number requires your university authorization code.

Spreading the Cheer--The Cheer Guild is offering the Entertainment Book for $30, with proceeds to benefit campus hospitals. They will be sold weekdays, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Cheer Guild Office, room 4599B, Riley Hospital. Also, the Guild has cancelled the poinsettia sale scheduled for Dec. 5-6.

Look Here--Look at the insert in this Green Sheet and plan to attend software upgrade day, Nov. 19, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in University Place, room 132.

IGEC Twosome--Two Indiana Geriatric Education Center interdisciplinary seminars are set for the remainder of November. They are from 3:30-5 p.m. On Nov. 19 in NU 221 Sue Morrissey presents "Gender Issues of Aging," and on Nov. 26 in NU 233 Irene Tajalli presents "Aging in Minority Populations." For more, call Morrissey, 4-4664.

All Wins, No Losses--The IUPUI women's volleyball team ended the season, 31-3, with a 21-game winning streak, the record for all sports at IUPUI.

Still Playing--"The Good Doctor," Neil Simon's take-off on Chekov satire, continues on campus with performances Nov. 21-23 at 8 p.m. For tickets, call 4-2095.

Shape Up--Registration is open for winter/spring fitness programs at the natatorium. Gift certificates are available in time for the holidays. Call 4-6787.

Nationally Noted--Robert L. Payton, director of the IU Center on Philanthropy, stood IUPUI in the limelight again as he was appointed honorary chairman of National Philanthropy Day Nov. 19. It is a day set aside to thank those who give their time and resources to others. He said, "The day is important because it reminds citizens of the philanthropic tradition and offers an occasion to reflect upon it."

ROBBINS LEADS IUPUI STUDENT LITERACY CORPS

About 15 selected IUPUI students are expected to be inducted next spring into Project LIST, a new volunteer student literacy corps under the direction of Edward L. Robbins, associate professor of education. LIST, or Literacy Instruction for Student Tutoring, will offer students a three-credit tutor training course that includes 12 hours of training in literacy tutoring and six hours of supervised, uncompensated tutoring per week in a public community agency. They will tutor youths and adults from the Indianapolis Network of Employment and Training, Upward Bound and I Have a Dream-Indianapolis Inc. "Our goal," Robbins said, "is to support community agencies, but fundamentally the program is about promoting the spirit of helping and the importance of volunteering." For more, call 4-6845.--Alicia Dean Carlson

MC KINNEY TAKES ON THE GREAT OUTDOORS Craig Mc Kinney has been appointed new assistant director for grounds in Campus Facility Services at IUPUI. He comes to us with 20 years' experience as a private landscaping contractor. He's already at work making the campus a showplace.

ELECTRONIC MUSIC WIZARD GARY NELSON IS NEXT IN THE IUPUI RECITAL SERIES

His concert is Nov. 18, 8 p.m. in room 101 of Lecture Hall. Tickets are $3 and are available at the door. Nelson is a professor of music and composition at Oberlin College Conservatory of Music and is one of the nation's leading exponents of MIDI-based (Musical Instrument Digital Interface) electronic music technology. For more, call the School of Music, sponsor, 4-4000.

HEALTHY PEOPLE WHO HAVE RECOVERED FROM A MAJOR DEPRESSIVE ILLNESS are needed as volunteers for a study by the Institute of Psychiatric Research. To participate, you must be medically diagnosed with recurrent depression (two or more episodes), currently mood stable, and non-obese. The study includes visits over a 6-8 week period, with 2-3 overnight hospital studies, for which you will be compensated. There are other requirements. Call 4-8821 and ask for depression study 277. (Please note that this is not a treatment study and, if you have symptoms of major depression, you are urged to seek professional psychiatric care.)

PEOPLE WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE AND WHO ARE DIABETIC—CONTROLLED WITHOUT INSULIN are needed for a six-month study for which participants will be paid $350. For more, call the Hypertension Research Center, 4-0796 and leave a message.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Fitness Challenge--A national fitness challenge to aid research and assist the 2 million Americans who suffer from Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis is under way on campus. To help the Crohn's and Colitis Foundation, just sign up at the natatorium anytime through Nov. 23. Choose an exercise, get your friends to pledge so much a minute or a flat amount, then get pumping. For a pledge form or more information, call 783-5408.

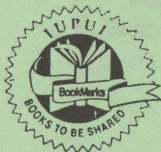

Student/Faculty Seminar #2--Next in the Undergraduate Education Center's seminars series to enhance the spirit of the academic community is Doris Merritt, M.D., School of Medicine, presenting "How Federal Agencies Function to Support the Research Role of the University," Nov. 20, NU 108, 4-5 p.m. Refreshments in NU 127, 3:30-4 p.m.

Nominations Sought--IU welcomes your nominations for people worthy of receiving an honorary degree. Nominees must have demonstrated excellence through scholarship and/or creative activity; service to the world, nation, state or community, and commitment to the improvement of IU. There's more. For details, call 5-5392.

PREPARE TO PLUCK YOUR PERSON FROM THE HOLIDAY GIVING TREE

The true spirit of the holiday season can be enjoyed by providing gifts for the needy men, women and children whose names will be placed on the annual IUPUI Holiday Giving Trees. The IUPUI Wellness Committee will decorate two trees with ornaments bearing the name, size and other information of people whose names have been supplied by local service agencies. Individuals or units on campus can take an ornament from the tree and buy the person or family a needed gift. A $15 maximum is recommended. There will be two trees up by Dec. 2—one in Ball Residence and another in the lobby of Cavanaugh Hall. For more, call Gabrielle, 4-5949 or Freda, 4-5200.

BookMarks: PAYTON TO REFLECT ON FEDERALIST 10 In celebration of the bicentennial of the signing of the Bill of Rights, and in conjunction with BookMarks, the IUPUI reading program, Robert L. Payton, director of the IU Center on Philanthropy on campus, will present "Tyranny, Faction and Democracy: Reflections on Federalist 10." "James Madison, one of the writers of the Federalist Papers, and his peers were concerned that voluntary associations would bring divisiveness to democracy. Today, we define philanthropy as 'voluntary action for the public good.' Is it really for the public good, or should we, like Madison, worry that it is only a cover for self-interests," said Payton. He will discuss this and other issues in his presentation Dec. 4, 4-6 p.m. in University Place, room 118. Copies of the paper are available in the BookMarks office, 4-4371.

FREE BREAST SCREENINGS The Breast Diseases Treatment Center at the Medical Center is offering free breast exams, instruction on breast self-exam and a limited number of free mammograms for those who qualify. This special offer to IUPUI faculty and staff runs Nov. 18-Dec. 20. For more, call Kim Wagler, 4-9800.

COMMENTS ON PRESIDENT EHRLICH'S PERFORMANCE ARE STILL BEING ACCEPTED AT IUB

All IU faculty and staff are invited to submit comments about the performance of IU President Thomas Ehrlich to the Presidential Review committee, Union M-19, IUB. Please note that in a recent communication about the committee, it was mistakenly noted that Barbara Blauvelt is a faculty member. She is a staff member at Fort Wayne. Those from Indianapolis on the committee are Victoria Champion, faculty; James W. Smith, faculty, David Benz, student, and Richard Searles, alumnus. For the complete list, call 5-9260.

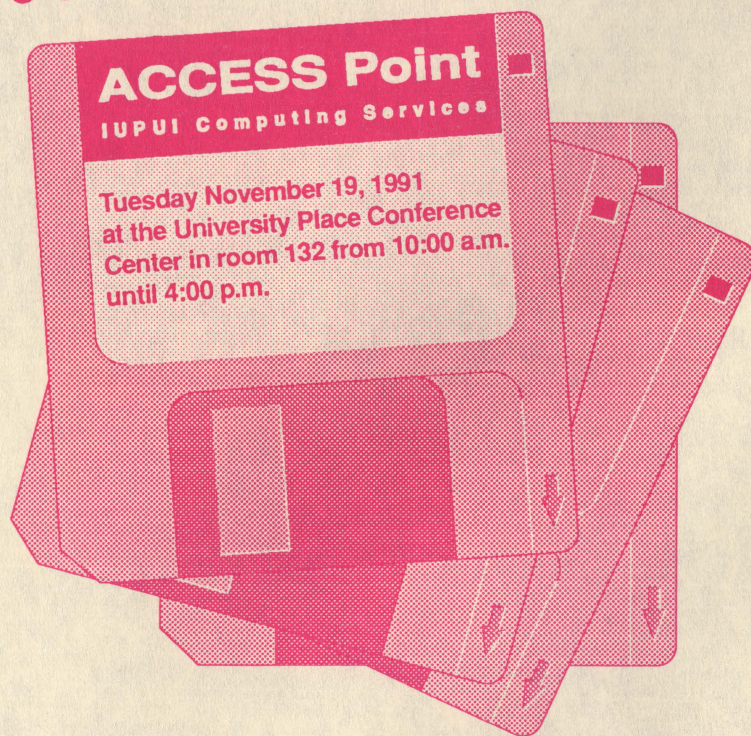

FINALLY...

...the IUPUI University Library, Special Collections and Archives Division, in conjunction with the Center on Philanthropy has received the papers of Hugh N. Brown, an independent fund-raising and public relations consultant with 50 years of professional experience. Among his other achievements, in 1972 Brown helped plan and implement the grand opening celebration of the $30 million Indiana Convention Center in Indy. His gift to the library is 14 boxes of detailed records of his fund-raising and PR work for a spectrum of nonprofit agencies.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

Software Upgrade Fair

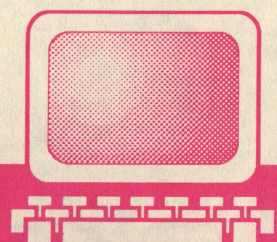

You are invited to ACCESS Point's Software Upgrade Fair on Tuesday, November 19 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the University Place and Conference Center in room 132.

ACCESS Point and several software vendors will be offering special bargains only during the software upgrade fair. The participating vendors include: Apple, Claris, Douglas Stewart, IBM, Lotus, Microsoft and WordPerfect.

- WordPerfect will be upgrading registered users to WordPerfect for Windows before the product is released.
- Microsoft will be offering MS-DOS 5.0 upgrade for $54.00 and for departments upgrading several copies a special offering will be available. Users will be able to upgrade from MS Works for DOS to MS Works for Windows.
- Lotus and Douglas Stewart will upgrade any Lotus product to the most current version for $49.00, Including Lotus 123 to version 2.2, version 3.1 and Windows version.
- IBM will be offering PC-DOS 5.0 upgrade for $48.00.
- Claris will have forms for upgrading to FileMaker Pro, MacDraw Pro and MacWrite II. There will be copies of HyperCard v2.0 upgrade for $54.00.
- Apple will be offering System 7.0 for $83.00.

Departmental purchases must be made using purchase orders and personal purchases must be made using cash or credit cards.

IUPUI COMPUTING SERVICES ACCESS POINT
799 WEST MICHIGAN STREET ET1030D
(317) 274-0767