

ARTS EXTRAVAGANZA BRINGING ALUMNI BACK TO CAMPUS

AN ARTS EXTRAVAGANZA

Art, music and film come together again in the fourth annual Arts Extravaganza Feb. 26 at the University Place Conference Center and Hotel. The evening will begin with a reception from 6-7 p.m. featuring artwork from alumni of the Herron School of Art and music by the School of Music. The 1950s film "A Face in the Crowd," which stars Andy Griffith and was directed by Elia Kazan, will run from 7-9 p.m. The film is a comedy/drama focusing on the influence of TV entertainment on American politics. Dennis Bingham of the English Department will lead a discussion following the film. The event is sponsored by Alumni Relations and the alumni associations of the following schools: Herron, Liberal Arts, Allied Health Sciences, Continuing Studies, Engineering and Technology, Science, and Public and Environmental Affairs. Seating in the auditorium for the film is limited to 350. The event is free and open to all IUPUI alumni, faculty and staff, and the general public. For more, call 4-5060.

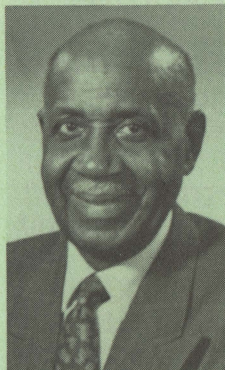

GOSPEL FIESTA CELEBRATES EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

Tickets are on sale for the eighth annual Gospel Music Fiesta at the Madame C.J. Walker Theatre Feb. 13, featuring the IUPUI African American Choral Ensemble, other choirs and groups and a surprise guest soloist. More than 900 people — a full house — has traditionally attended the event, which begins this year at 7 p.m. Advance tickets cost $5 each, while those purchased at the door — if available — cost $10. The theme of this year's event is "When Nothing Else Could Help...Love Lifted Me!" For more information or for tickets, call the Office of Multicultural Student Affairs at 4-4239.

The Indiana State Resurrection Mass Choir is among the groups appearing at the Gospel Fiesta.

MISSION OF BLACK CHURCHES FEATURED AT TAYLOR SYMPOSIUM

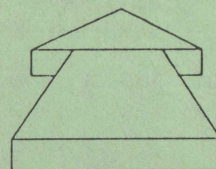

Taylor

Noted theologian Robert Franklin will be the keynote speaker for the fourth annual Joseph Taylor Symposium Feb. 8 at the Conference Center. The event will focus on the theme "Liberating Visions: The Public Mission of Black Churches." Franklin, director of the Program for Black Church Studies in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, will be joined in key roles in the one-day event by David Wills of Amherst College and editor of the African-American Documentary Religious History Project. The event honors Taylor, the first dean of the School of Liberal Arts and a long-time contributor to the Indianapolis community. The symposium will begin at 9:30 a.m. and run through 4 p.m., and is presented by the School of Liberal Arts and the POLIS Research Center. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 4-2458.

SPRING SEMESTER ENROLLMENT HITS RECORD LEVEL

Enrollment for spring semester classes at IUPUI is at an all-time high in 1993, with more than 27,000 students taking classes, according to enrollment reports from the registrar's office. The enrollment of 27,001 students compares to 26,880 students last year (up one-half percent) and up from 26,043 students in 1991. Not only are more students taking classes, they are taking more credit hours of classes, as well. Credit hours are up one percent over 1992.

— Alicia Dean Carlson

ANNUAL JANUS BALL TO BENEFIT HERRON SCHOOL OF ART

The fifth annual Janus Ball, a gala to benefit the Herron School of Art and Gallery, will feature the theme of "Janus, Janus" this year and will be held Jan. 30 at the Athenaeum Turners Club, 401 E. Michigan St. It will run from 6:30 p.m.-midnight. Guests will attend in costumes, dressed as twins, pairs or opposites. A silent auction of an eclectic collection of chairs will kick off the event. The night also will include dinner, dancing and a costume parade. The ball is open to the public. Tickets cost $75 each for general admission, $100 each for patrons and $800 for corporate tables seating eight. For reservations or more information, call Rita Fordyce at 920-2403.

— Alicia Dean Carlson

ARCHAEOLOGY'S LESSONS EXPLORED IN LECTURE SERIES

Archaeology may be a study of the past, but it still teaches lessons for the present and future, according to a lecture series starting Jan. 26 and running through March. The series opener will feature Geoffrey Conrad, director of the Mathers Museum on the Bloomington campus, in the first session at 7 p.m. at the Indianapolis Museum of Art. He will discuss "The Inca Kingdom in the Andes in 1492" in the lecture. At the Feb. 9 session (same time and location), Anne Pyburn of anthropology will discuss "The Maya of Central America in 1492, and Our View of the Timeless Past." For more, call 4-2497.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

FAREWELLS—The last Green Sheet had an error on the site of Adeline Wilson's retirement reception. The 14-year Department of Medical and Molecular Genetics employee will be honored at a reception Jan. 26 from 3-6 p.m. in IB 405.

AWARDS/HONORS—University Place conference manager Patty Lamm has been nominated for a ROSE Award, presented by the Indianapolis Convention and Visitors Association. The ROSE award stands for Recognition of Service Excellence and honors 'front-line' members of the hospitality industry.

NEW FACES—New I.U. Foundation development director Cameron McGuire will join the staff Feb. 1. His initial focus will be IUPUI projects, particularly undergraduate alumni giving related to the university's 25th anniversary.

HEALTH LINE

DIABETES STUDY—Diabetics using insulin aged 35-85 are needed for a research study by the Medical Center to compare a new insulin to current versions. For more about qualifications and benefits, call 630-6987.

CAMPUS NOTEBOOK

BRYN MAWR INFO—Anyone interested in the annual Bryn Mawr Summer Institute for Women in Higher Education Administration should consider attending a Feb. 5 meeting in the School of Liberal Arts conference room in Cavanaugh Hall. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and discuss the two spots that will be sponsored by the university this summer. For more call Jacquie Franz at IUPUI Columbus, 372-8266, extension 7206.

BENEFIT GALA—The "Roaring '20s" will return to the University Place ballroom Feb. 6 at a gala to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The 8 p.m. event is being sponsored by the hotel employees' MDA committee. For ticket info, call 231-4145.

PLAY PREPARATION—Auditions for "A Streetcar Named Desire" will be Feb. 1-2 at 7 p.m. in the University Theatre. Six males and six females are needed for the play, which will be performed April 16-17 and 23-24. For more, call 4-2095.

CAMPUS TOURS—Those new to the university can still sign up for "Exploring IUPUI" tours by calling 4-2323. Tours set Jan. 27 and 29 will examine Cavanaugh Hall, the Peirce Project and the Imagis Project. Feb. 10 and 12 tours will look at the Cable Building, the computer music lab and the theatre program.

CHILD SAFETY—Riley Hospital's Automotive Safety for Children program is reminding people that Feb. 14-21 is National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week. Give your child "official bugging" rights to make everyone in your family buckle up.

LECTURES, SEMINARS AND PRESENTATIONS

DIVERSITY WORKSHOP—Rodney Patterson, director of the Center for Cultural Pluralism at the University of Vermont, will headline the workshop "What Is Diversity? How Do We Achieve It?" Feb. 10 at 7 p.m. at the Conference Center auditorium. The event is free and open to the public. For more call 4-4239.

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT—Three faculty development workshops are on tap in the coming weeks, beginning with a pair Jan. 29. Tom DeCoster will discuss "Improving Productivity Through Time/Self Management" from 9-11:30 a.m. in BS 3017, while Mark Shermis will discuss "Developing Effective Examinations" from 8:30 a.m.-noon in BS 2001. Diana Leslie will focus on "Getting Involved in Community Service" Feb. 5 from 10 a.m.-noon at the Conference Center. For more, call 4-8880.

HEALTHY CITIES—Canadian medical sociologist Michel O'Neill of the Laval University School of Nursing, located in Quebec, will discuss "Academic Partners of the Healthy Cities Movement: A Challenging Endeavor" from noon-1 p.m. Jan. 29 in NU 103-104.

BROWN BAG FUN—International House will again host a weekly Wednesday brown-bag luncheon series beginning Feb. 3 when Paul Nagy of philosophy discusses "National Identity in a Multicultural Society: Can America Be a Model?" The event runs from noon to 1 p.m. in CA 438. Also, Australia is the featured country at the Jan. 29 session of the International Coffee Hours offered by International House. Both series are free and open to the public. For more, call 4-5024.

SEMINAR SERIES OPENS—Mohammad Kaviani of the Center for Economic Education will talk about "Survival Tools for the 21st Century: An Economic Way of Thinking" at the first spring-semester Faculty Seminar Series session Jan. 27. Presented by the Undergraduate Education Center, the seminar will run from 4-5:30 p.m. in BS 4088.

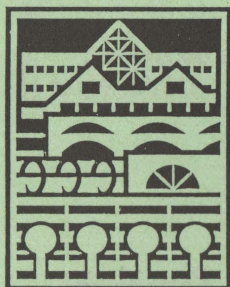

COMPUTER HELP—The IUPUI Multimedia Support & Interest Group is offering a workshop Feb. 12. The 1 p.m. workshop will focus on QuickTime (TM), an extension of the Macintosh computer system, and simple animation. For reservations or information about the site of the workshop, contact 4-0752.

NCAA WELCOMES IUPUI INTO DIVISION II MEMBERSHIP

Years of dreams came true earlier this month when the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) accepted IUPUI into Division II membership at the NCAA national convention in Dallas. The Metros athletic teams will begin official membership Sept. 1, 1993 and will become eligible for post-season tournament play in the 1994-95 school year. IUPUI has been a member of the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) and the largest university in that organization. IUPUI will join other urban universities such as Wayne State in Detroit and Southern Illinois at Edwardsville in NCAA membership.

THEME ADOPTED FOR 1993 CAMPUS CAMPAIGN

Members of the Campus Campaign steering committee have adopted the theme "IUPUI's Campus Campaign Helps Us Help Our Community" to begin the fund-raising effort. The campaign will start within a few weeks and will use volunteers from all units on campus. To get the program underway, a Campus Campaign Committee is being formed, with representatives from all academic and administrative units within IUPUI. Funds raised in the campaign will help provide scholarships, develop our libraries, assist in staff and faculty development, and give individual units support in meeting their own unique needs, as well. The campaign offers those of us on the campus an opportunity to focus on a common cause: the continued improvement, development and growth of IUPUI as an integral part of the broader Indianapolis community. For more call 4-3711.

URBAN POLICY CENTER REPORT PRESENTED TO LEGISLATURE

Hoosier lawmakers considering the future of Indiana's local governments will make their decisions armed with new information provided in the first major report from the Center for Urban Policy and the Environment for the Indiana General Assembly. The report focused on the revenue collected and money spent by those local governments, and how Indiana's figures compared with Midwestern and national averages. The comprehensive report will be compiled annually by the Center and given to the legislature. The Center was created in 1992 to serve as a research organization and leading source of information on urban and environmental concerns.

FINALLY... Nomination forms for the Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., M.D. Experience Excellence Recognition Awards have been mailed. Completed nominations are due in Carol Nathan's office (AO 126) by Jan. 29. Those planning to nominate full-time faculty or staff members for the award are asked to use an official form or a copy of that form. Forms and further information are available by calling Sharon Graves at 4-8974.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University - Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202