

green sheet

volume fifteen, number eighteen may 5, 1985

IUPUI'S 16TH COMMENCEMENT WILL CONFER 3,668 IU/PURDUE DEGREES

Commencement 1985 will be Sunday, May 12, at 3 p.m. in the Hoosier Dome, where 3,668 students will receive degrees from IU or Purdue and where four honorary degrees will be conferred. Presiding will be Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., M.D., vice president (Indianapolis). President Steven C. Beering will confer Purdue degrees and President John W. Ryan will confer IU degrees. Seniors representing the two schools will be Michael W. Coe, IU, and Joseph F. Reinke, Purdue. IU induction ceremonies will be lead by Harry Gonso, vice president, IU Trustees, and Edgar F. Kettler, president, IU Alumni Association. Purdue induction ceremonies will be lead by John H. Karl Jr., associate director, Purdue Alumni Association.

Honorary degrees from IU will be bestowed on the following: Doctor of Laws, economist Clarence W. Efroymsen, humanitarian and scholar who has been active in the social, intellectual and religious affairs in Indianapolis. Doctor of Humane Letters, philosopher Max H. Fisch, a revered authority in the field of American philosophical history. And, Doctor of Science, Harris B Shumacker Jr, medical scientist who has made pioneering contributions to cardiovascular and peripheral vascular surgery and the treatment of arterial disease. An honorary degree from Purdue University, Doctor of Engineering, will be bestowed on A. Donald Duke, leader and expert in the design of computerized systems and founder and president of the SEA Group, three leading corporations with headquarters in Carmel.

John A. Ruby will conduct the 74th U.S. Army Band and Rev. John J. Hogan, Chaplaincy Department, IU Hospitals, will lead the invocation.

1985 FITNESS DAY OFFERS OFFICE VOLUNTEERS

A corps of campus people is volunteering to come to offices to answer phones and greet people so that everyone on campus can come to the 1985 IUPUI Fitness Day and Health Fair, May 23, beginning at 9:30 a.m. on the lawn of the Union Building. This new service, sponsored by the IUPUI Staff Council, is but one addition to the fair. New services and more prizes are added to the popular booths where you can judge if you are fit as a fiddle. Door prizes include a weekend in a local hotel. Other prizes include meals, and tickets to athletic and cultural events. Prize chances will be given free, with drawings all day. You must be present to win. There will be 30 booths set up by clinical and hospital units at the Medical Center and community health organizations. You can check on blood pressure, stress, burnout, weight, test for sickle cell, oral cancer and others. You can learn basic CPR and even check financial fitness. To arrange for office volunteers, call Alice Taylor, Admissions, Ext. 4591.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Sit Up and Notice--Back straight? May is correct posture month. Feet hurt? It's also Foot Health Month, says the American Podiatry Association. Feeling ancient? Get a hug from someone, it's Older Americans Month.

Where to Send Survey--The IUPUI Downtown Housing Survey that was in the April 21 issue of the Green Sheet should be sent to Bob Baxter, AO 109.

Summer Recreation--The Recreational Sports Department's summer recreation schedule will be available in PE 062 beginning May 8. Call Ext. 7548.

Special at the Zoo--You are welcome to act like an animal during "Spring Holiday with the Animals" at the Indianapolis Zoo on May 11. Call 547-3577.

Hospitals Offers Lunch 'n' Learn--To celebrate National Hospital Week (May 12-18), you are invited to a free program by the Department of Health and Wellness entitled "Gaining Personal Power in Stress Management." Presenter is Brenda L. Lyon, associate professor, graduate program, School of Nursing, and consultant and private practitioner in health and stress management. Programs are noon-1 p.m., May 21 in UH C420 and May 22 in RI A-50.

Fulbright Info Ready--Fulbright Program information about the 1986-87 research and lectureship awards is available in the Office of International Programs, E/S 4101, or call Ext. 2081 or in Research and Sponsored Programs, Ext. 8285.

Triumphs and Troubles Welcome--Instead of a formal program, the Molecular Biology Group will have a general discussion on lab problems on May 7, 1 p.m., RR 138. "Worst gels, horror tales and even minor triumphs welcome." Will also discuss G865. Call Ext. 2241.

Physiology/Biophysics Seminar--Julie Lash, graduate student, Dept of Physiology and Biophysics, presents "Local Control of Contraction-Induced Vasodilation in Rat Skeletal Muscle" on May 15, 4 p.m., MS 205.

Y Noon Forum--State Rep. Paul S. Mannweiler presents "A Review of the 1985 General Assembly" on May 8 at noon in The Athenaeum. Lunch is $5. Call 635-5417.

Special Joint Seminar--The Dept. of Biochemistry and Diabetes Research and Training Center presents Dr. Mulchand S. Patel, associate professor, Dept. of Biochemistry and Nutrition, Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine, speaking on "Hormonal Regulation of the Pyruvate Dehydrogenase Complex in Differentiating 3T3-L1 Adipocytes," May 6, 4 p.m., MS 326. Coffee/tea at 3:30 p.m., MS 409.

Management in Action Seminar--Register now for three-day seminar, Manufacturing Resource Planning (MRP-II), at the Business/SPEA Building, Executive Education Suite, May 15-17. Sponsor is IU Graduate School of Business. Call IUB, Ext. 5-0229.

And Another--Management in Action Seminar series offers three-day workshop, Leadership: Individual and Group Performance, May 20-22. Call same number as above.

Weight/Smoking Control--Free workshop on "Hypnosis for Control of Weight and Smoking," on May 11, Stress Treatment Center. For reservations, call 546-8518.

HONORS AND ACCOLADES

THOMAS J. HENRY, director of University Relations; ANDREW J. VALENTINE, assistant to the director of Personal Counseling, and IRENE TAJALLI, School of Social Work, have been asked by the mayor to serve the city. Henry is named to the Public Works Board, Valentine will again serve on the Mayor's Advisory Council on the Handicapped and Tajalli will serve on the Public Housing Task Force.

GAYLE COX, associate professor of social work, was named Region 6 (Indianapolis) Social Worker of the Year by members of the Indiana Chapter National Association of Social Workers.

ALMETTA TRACY, nurses aide, I.U. Medical Center, retired after 31 years' service, and plans to sew, knit and do more church work.

WARREN G. FRENCH, professor of English, was one of three Americans who were recently in Budapest, Hungary, for an American Studies Symposium where he spoke on "Fifty Years of American Moviegoing: 1934-1984."

IUPUI was one of 30 universities that won awards for excellence in marketing and promoting continuing education programs from the National University Continuing Education Association. RONALD H. MILLER, chairman of the competition and director of marketing and promotion for the IU School of Continuing Studies, made the announcement. Other IU campuses also won awards.

GILES R. HOYT, associate professor of German, was chairman of a session on Indiana German history during the annual meeting of the Indiana German Heritage Society.

ADELINE BERENTES, secretary in physical therapy, retired after 14 years' service and plans to enjoy her home and hobbies.

MYRON J. KASLE, professor and chairman, Dental Radiology, was appointed Howard Riley Raper Professor of Dental Radiology, named for an alumnus of the IU School of Dentistry who wrote the first textbook on dental radiology.

IVER F. SMALL, M.D., assistant superintendent of Larue D. Carter Hospital, was a distinguished lecturer at a national symposium sponsored by the Carrier Foundation, the nation's fourth largest private psychiatric hospital.

DOROTHY M. ELSLAGER, hostess in the Dept. of Nutrition and Dietetics, retired after 11 years' service and plans to travel and work in her garden.

RANDOLPH W. LIEVERTZ, M.D., clinical assistant professor for Family Medicine and Allied Health Sciences, gave a lecture to the medical staff at Howard Community Hospital, Kokomo, on the treatment of the acute myocardial infarction.

JAMES R. EAST, associate dean, School of Liberal Arts, was honored by the Indianapolis Boys Club of America for his work in coordinating the Boys Club Scholarship Program, which he organized in 1968.

JUANITA M. BOWMAN, lab aide, Dept. of Medical Genetics, retired after 18 years' service and plans to do church work and learn to sew.

PATRICIA VAN NOY, Learning Resources Office, served as a judge in the recent Indiana Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant.

MORE HONORS AND ACCOLADES

FRANCES STRODTBECK, instructor, and BRENDA LYON, associate professor, both in the School of Nursing, received a $2,000 grant for their research proposal, "Exploratory Study on the Antecedents of Burnout or Work-Related Stress in Neonatal Intensive Care Staff," from the Nursing Association of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

MARSHALL C. YOVITS, dean of the School of Science, was chosen chairman-elect of Section T (information, computing and communications) of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the world's largest federation of scientific organizations that boasts a membership of more than 90,000.

CARRIE L. CARR, housekeeping supervisor, Building Services, plans to do more civic work and play golf following her recent retirement after 20 years' service.

CAROL CECERE, associate professor of primary health care nursing, School of Nursing, is one of the authors and editors of "Primary Health Care Handbook: Guidelines for Patient Education," which was named the 1984 Book of the Year by the American Journal of Nursing.

THELMA MC DOWELL, custodial worker, Dept. of Environmental Services, plans to do church work and travel to the Holy Land now that she has retired after 40 years' service to the university.

JAMES E. SIMMONS, the Arthur B. Richter Professor of Child Psychiatry and director of Child Psychiatry Services, School of Medicine, was elected a Life Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association.

MARY SHEEHAN, member of the nursing faculty, Valparaiso U., and doctoral student, School of Nursing, received the Distinguished Faculty Award from Valparaiso.

FRANCES DODSON RHOME, director of the Institute for Humanities Research at IUPUI, was the keynote speaker during a conference of state humanities committees that met in San Francisco.

G. CHRIS KEELEY, director, Personnel Dept., was elected a member of the board of directors of the Midwest Region of the College and University Personnel Association, which includes the Big Ten universities. She was also a coordinator and presenter in the Midwest CUPA spring conference at the U. of Michigan.

GERALD L. BEPKO, dean of the School of Law, was the principal speaker at the midyear commencement at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law in Chicago. He also delivered a lecture to the Indiana Continuing Legal Education Forum Institute at Mazatlan, Mexico, and was on a panel discussing faculty development at the annual Law School Deans' Workshop during the midyear meeting of the American Bar Association in Detroit.

EUGENE E. LEVITT, director of the section of psychology, Dept. of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, has been appointed to another three-year term as consulting editor for the Journal of Personality Assessment.

ELIZABETH GROSSMAN, dean of the School of Nursing, has been named to the Advisory and Consultation Network, Dept. of Health and Human Services, Region V.

IU AND PURDUE TRUSTEES GIVE NOD ON IUPUI PROMOTIONS

The Trustees of IU and Purdue recently approved promotions for many full-time, Indianapolis-based faculty. These include:

IU Promotions

Promoted from associate to professor are: Jane O. Burns, Business; Arden G. Christen, Michael A. Cochran and Carl W. Newton, Dentistry; James W. Brown, Journalism; Debra A. Falender and W. William Hodes, Law; Laurence A. Lampert, Stephen Sachs and Richard Turner, Liberal Arts; Margaret Applegate, Nursing, and Zacharie Brahmi, Julia B. Clark, Forrest D. Ellis, Ruth S. Gurd, Martin B. Kleiman, Richard B. Kohler, Richard A. Meiss, Arthur J. Provisor, Peter J. Roach and Eric S. Williams, Medicine.

Promoted from assistant to associate professor are: Gerald C. Preusz, Education; Gary W. Emery, Business; Jerry G. Nieten and Charles J. Palenik, Dentistry; Susanah M. Mead, Law; Gabrielle Bersier, Michael B. Burke, Robert B. Harris and Robert Sandy, Liberal Arts; William F. Armstrong, Stephen F. Dierdorf, Joseph A. DiMicco, Donald D. Macchia, Anthony L. Mescher, Michael G. Perri., Donald S. Schauwecker and Thomas Y. Sullivan, Medicine. Also, Joan K. Austin, Nursing; Edmund Schilling, Physical Education, and Howard Hess, Social Work.

Promoted from instructor to assistant professor are: Nyla A. Heerema and William N. Crabtree, Medicine.

Librarian promotions are: From affiliate to assistant librarian, Sandra S. Brown, Medicine. From assistant to associate librarian, Lynn R. Smith, Medicine, and Marie T. Wright, University.

Purdue Promotions

Promoted from associate to professor are: Hasan U. Akay and Charles F. Yokomoto, Engineering and Technology, and Shirley A. Bayer, Science.

Promoted from assistant to associate professor are: Linda R. Brothers, Engineering and Technology, and Florence L. Juillerat and Asok K. Sen, Science.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

ASSOCIATE DEAN, School of Nursing, graduate program. Responsibilities: Master's and doctoral programs, leadership in curriculum, promote faculty scholarship, administer graduate faculty, collaborate with other school administrators and serve as liaison for statewide graduate programs. Qualifications include: Earned doctorate, master's in nursing if doctorate not in nursing, experience in academic administration, graduate level teaching and curriculum development, expertise in leadership, interpersonal skills and commitment to research. Send a vitae with statement of your view of the mission of graduate nursing education to, or nominations, to: Norma L. Chaska, professor and chairman, Search and Screen Committee, IU School of Nursing, NU 484.

FACULTY, full- and part-time, School of Nursing, associate degree program in adult and child care areas. Master's degree in nursing and at least two years' relevant practice experience required. Teaching experience preferred. Call Ext. 4353.

ACADEMIC ADVISOR, School of Business, IUPUI. Full-time, PA 10. Provide counseling, advising and support services to undergraduate and pre-business students. Participate in registration, coordination of Honors Program, preparation of statistical reports and committee assignments. Act as liaison with faculty, student organizations and other units. Qualifications: Master's Degree in counseling, education or related field. Experience in university advising and career counseling desirable. Salary, $15,000-$16,000--12-month appointment. Send letter of application and resume by May 20 to: Marie E. Miller, School of Business, Rm. 3020.

IUPUI is an AA/EO Employer

CAMPAIGN: 'MANY GIVING WHO CAN LEAST AFFORD IT'

Last week the 400 staff and faculty volunteers for the IUPUI Campus Campaign met in the Champions Room of the Sports Center and learned that preliminary results of their efforts look good. The Campus Campaign is the most extensive fund-raising effort ever on our campus. With all the results not in, gifts are up to $383,719. The last of the three-phase campaign begins this week. The campus-based campaign began in February and the hospitals kicked off their campaign in mid-April. "Final results of this extraordinary effort on the part of our dedicated and hard-working volunteers will not be known until all the pledge cards are accounted for, probably early fall," said Neil E. Lantz, director of administrative affairs and co-chairman of the IUPUI Campaign. "I am extremely proud of the support shown by people from every area of campus. Many who gave were among those perhaps least able to afford it. They apparently want to be part of building IUPUI, and their gifts are going to help make the difference," he said.

GET IN THE 'CAR POOL' SWIM AT HERRON

If you sometimes feel you're living in your car, internationally known artist Bill Harding will take you one step further in his sculpture, "Car Pool," a station-wagon-turned-swimming pool. His entry and the work of other artists--60 paintings, drawings, prints, sculptures, videotapes, films, music and more--are part of the giant exhibition, "The Big Car Show: Contemporary Visions of the Automobile," on the grounds and in the gallery at Herron, May 11-June 22. The show covers the last 10 years of America's love affair with the automobile. It is a collection of cultural and artistic perspectives of the auto's image in society. Harding is the only artist asked by Herron to create a piece especially for the show. About his "Car Pool," Harding says it's an obvious pun, but explains that it's a signature piece that will mean different things to different people. "Once you have floated in or seen someone floating in a car, you never think of it in the same terms again...." -SAR

PROFS GET AWARDS FOR RESEARCH, SUMMER FELLOWSHIPS

Grant-in-aid for research and summer faculty fellowships have been announced by the Office of Research and Sponsored Programs. Monetary research grants are awarded to Ralph Gray, professor of history, $525 for "Indiana's Literary Heritage: An Historical Perspective," and to Kurt Moehle, lecturer in psychology, $2,275 for "Establishment of a Psychological Assessment Laboratory."

Faculty receiving summer fellowships are: In the School of Liberal Arts, Anne Donchin, assistant professor of philosophy, "The Role of Reproductive Technology in a Just Society;" Albert Hurtado, assistant professor of history, "American Scholarship and the California Indian;" Scott Seregny, assistant professor of history, "Rural Politics and the Russian Revolution of 1905," and Neal Trubowitz, assistant professor of anthropology, "Feasibility Study: Cultural Change in Central Indiana, A.D. 1500-1850." In the School of Science, Stephen Wassall, assistant professor of physics, "Magnetic Resonance of Plant Hormone-Membrane Interactions," and Jeffrey Rasmussen, assistant professor of psychology, "Data Transformation and Analysis of Variance." And in the Herron School of Art, Candace Lorimer, assistant professor, "The Book as a Visual Object--Part II."

green sheet

*News Bureau

Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202