

green sheet

volume seventeen, number sixteen

april 26, 1987

LILLY GRANT MAKES POSSIBLE THE NEW CENTER ON PHILANTHROPY

Ethics in fund raising will be an important focus of the new Center on Philanthropy recently established on the IUPUI campus. Created by the IU Board of Trustees early this year, the Center will open with a $4 million grant from the Lilly Endowment, Inc. Offices will be in the new University Conference Center. Outreach is expected to become international. Vice President Gerald L. Bepko said, "We believe the Center on Philanthropy will be an international leader in teaching, research and public service in the complex and growing field of fund raising and philanthropy. One important component will be the devotion to studies and instruction on ethical, effective charitable fund raising." A partner in the new center is The Fund Raising School of San Rafael, California, a public benefit corporation dedicated for more than 13 years to the advancement of ethical fund raising through training. It will be incorporated into the University, become an integral part of the Center and will be a means of linking professionals in philanthropy with academic programs to be developed by the University. Those on the Operations Advisory Committee are Eugene R. Tempel, chairman, vice president of the IU Foundation; Philip C. Chamberlain, professor and chairman, Program in Higher Education, IUB; Scott E. Evenbeck, associate dean, School of Continuing Studies, IUPUI; Lawrence A. Jegen III, Sheehan Professor of Tax Law and Policy, School of Law-Indianapolis, and Howard D. Mehlinger, dean, School of Education, IUB. Also, Anya Peterson Royce, dean of faculties, IUB; Howard G. Schaller, executive dean and dean of faculties, IUPUI, who is named by Bepko as acting director of the Center; Jan B. Shipps, director, Center for American Studies, IUPUI, and James R. Wood, chairman and professor, Dept. of Sociology, IUB.

LIMITED PRINTS OF SINGH'S PEN AND INK OF CAMPUS AVAILABLE

Limited edition prints of a detailed and hand-lettered pen and ink drawing of the campus by internationally known artist, K.P. Singh, are available. Born in India, Singh has made his reputation on the intricate and sensitive drawings of architecture here and elsewhere. There are 400 numbered prints of Singh's composite of the campus. The unframed print is 17 by 22 inches and is $60. Prints can be purchased May 1, 11 a.m.-6 p.m. during cap and gown pickup, tunnel level, Union Building. They can be ordered through Publications, AO 136. (Add $1.50 for handling.) Call 4-5490.

The original drawing can be seen in the Administration Building, outside Room 104.

Walt Disney World, producers of opening ceremonies Aug. 8 for the Pan American Games here, Aug. 7-23, is looking for paid professional dancers, volunteer dancers and volunteer character costumed roles. Auditions are at Shortridge Junior High School at the following times: Professional dancers, May 2, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; volunteers ages 12-15, May 8, 4 p.m., and volunteers 16 years old and older, May 9, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Jazz, ballet and other dancers needed. Take appropriate shoes.

(Editor's Note: There is no phone number to call for more information. You are urged to just "show up" if you want to dance with Disney.)

EMPLOYEES CAN HIRE CAMPUS-TRAINED SUMMER CARE GIVERS

Students interested in becoming trained summer home child care providers can take a two-week training course in Continuing Studies. Faculty and staff who want to hire the students for the summer can request a list of the trainees. Training will include ethics, business, liability, health and safety, CPR, recreation, accident prevention and management and nutrition. There is a fee for the training, but no fee for matching workers with employers. Call Heidi Neuburger, 4-5036.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

We Are Invited--The Cheer Guild invites us all to Founder's Day ceremonies at Riley Hospital on Apr. 28, 2-4 p.m. Tours and tea are planned.

Physics Seminar--Kenneth Kliever, dean of science, Purdue, West Lafayette, presents "High Energy Synchrotron Radiation Prospects for the U.S." on Apr. 29, 3:30 p.m., KB 125.

Get to Know Us--The next new employee orientation is Apr. 27, 2-3:30 p.m., Fesler Hall, third floor. The next health insurance information session is May 4, 3:30-4:30 p.m., Union Building, Grissom Room.

Two for Riley--When you buy a colorful cookbook or tickets to the 1987 Downtown Designer Showcase you will be helping the Ronald McDonald House, the haven for families of little patients at Riley. The book, "Fresh Ideas, Winning Boneless Pork Recipes," features low-calorie cooking. Send check payable to the Indiana Ronald McDonald House to Prof. Raymond A. Dault, ET 1211. This year's showcase is June 4-14 and features the Harness Factory Lofts, 30 E. Georgia. Call Bobbie Smith, 632-6989.

Nice Going Nursing!--May 6 is National Nurses' Day. We are invited to celebrate the occasion with refreshments from 9 a.m.-2 p.m., in the faculty lounge, first floor, School of Nursing. All welcome.

TV Grand Rounds--MERP begins the new series, Grand Rounds in Surgery: Plastic Surgery. Congenital Anomalies in Pediatrics is Apr. 29, noon-1 p.m. Comprehensive Burn Management is May 21 at the same time. For TV viewing locations and more information, call 4-7212.

Want Runners--Gerry Arffa, "still flushed from last year's triumphant finish," is looking for a few good runners--male or female, any age--for the IUPUI Corporate Challenge Team. Call 4-0818 or 4-2413.

Warm Weather Rappellents--Cadre and cadets from Military Science/ROTC were set to follow their leader Lt. Col. Robert Lenz and leap off Cavanaugh Hall during the department's annual rappelling demo last week. The group also planned to sponsor a free rappelling clinic at the fire training tower at the west edge of campus.

EINHORN, GROSFELD AMONG THOSE FETED ON FOUNDERS DAY

The university's highest honor, the title of Distinguished Professor, was bestowed on Lawrence Einhorn, professor of medicine, during recent Founders Day ceremonies at IUB. Three others also were awarded the title. During ceremonies, Jay L. Grosfeld, Lafayette F. Page Professor of pediatric surgery and chairman of the Department of Surgery, became one of nine faculty members to receive citations and cash awards for their teaching excellence.

BUSINESS' BEST NOTED AT BREAKFAST During the recent annual Beta Gamma Sigma initiation and awards breakfast, the School of Business gave teaching excellence awards. Award winners at the graduate level are Dan R. Dalton, Thomas P. Hustad, Lawrence J. Lad, R. Thomas Lenz and Ashok K. Soni. Faculty who received the Schuyler F. Otteson Undergraduate Teaching Excellence Award are Peter W. Howard, Roger E. Jerman and Lawrence J. Lad, all full-time, and John C. Snell, Valerie B. Lindsey and Vernon S. Thomas, all adjunct faculty.

MORE NEWS 'N'NOTES

MAY, LAW, LEI DAY--Cover your head with a circle of flowers and dance around the May Pole because it is the first of May, or because it is also Law Day, you can hug an attorney and thank your lucky stars for our court systems and the professors who teach people how to operate ethically in them. The figure at the right is some of the detail of the fireplace taken from the Maennerchor Building, home of the School of Law for 24 years and now preserved in the Hal Woodard Barristers Room in the Law Library. Law Day will be celebrated with the annual Red Mass Dinner celebrated by Archbishop Edward T. O'Meara. President Elect of Notre Dame Rev. Edward A. Malloy will speak. Guests are welcome. Call 632-8240.

Molecular Biology Group--Barbara Beckerman, Dept. of Medicine, VA Hospital, presents "Evidence for Multiple Human Serum Amyloid A Genes" on May 5, noon-1 p.m., RR 138.

Departmental--Martin Corbett, Dept. of Microbiology and Immunology, School of Medicine, presents "Biochemistry and Immunology of Outer Membrane Protein-Macromolecular Complex, A Common Neisserial Antigen" on Apr. 30, 4 p.m. MS 205.

For CST--The Vocational Training Committee, Indiana Corporation for Science and Technology, meets Apr. 28. The Advanced Materials Committee meets May 5. Call 635-3058 for more.

A Peek Inside--Newcomers, anyone considering downtown as a place to live and the just plain nosey and curious are invited to the Downtown Apartment Tour, May 2, noon-4 p.m. Union Station trolleys will provide free transportation to eight unique apartment buildings. The Commission for Downtown, Inc. is charging a mere $1. Call 633-1790.

Smoking Student Wanted--One student who smokes is needed to serve on the ad hoc committee for smoking policy of the IUPUI Faculty Council. Meetings will be during the spring and summer, with work completed by Sept. Call Kathleen Warfel, M.D., 4-3476.

MAY 1 DEADLINE FOR $2,000 FACULTY AWARD

The $2,000 Hewlet Summer faculty award will be made to an IUPUI faculty member to conduct research, study and/or writing related to international affairs during the summer at Bloomington. Preference will be given pre-tenured faculty on tenure track appointments who have research in progress that is likely to result in publication. Because of the required commitment, faculty members with full-time summer teaching assignments are excluded. Submit one-page project outline indicating resources that will be used and a CV to International Programs, Union Building, Room 564. Deadline for application is May 1. For more, call Pat Biddinger, 4-2081.

JAZZ ON THE AVENUE is every Friday night in May from 6-9 p.m. in the Madame Walker Urban Life Center. Tickets are $2. Musicians include Clem Tiggs, Sy Jones, Cherryl Hayes & Triplet, Sonnie Smith and Flo Garvin.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

FACULTY, tenure-track, registered occupational therapist, full-time, in accredited baccalaureate and associate degree OT program, Div. of Allied Health, School of Medicine. Includes teaching theory and practice, clinical practice and research in either physical or psychosocial dysfunction area. Desire experience in application of work programs. Minimum qualifications include: three or more years' clinical/teaching experience and master's degree; doctoral degree desirable. Send resume with three letters of reference to Susan Meyers, Search and Screen Committee, Coleman 311.

TWO POSTDOCTORAL OPENINGS, Dept. of Medicine, Hematology/Oncology, School of Medicine. Need Ph.D. or M.D. with experience in molecular and cell biology for an NIH training program to study regulation of myelopoiesis/lymphopoiesis. Begin July 1. Areas include biochemical, molecular and cell changes induced by purified positive and negative cell growth molecules, gene expression, transfection/infection of hematopoietic cells. Send CV and three references to Hal E. Broxmeyer, director, Training Program, 541 Clinical Dr., Room 379, Indianapolis, 46223.

IUPUI is an AA/EO Employer

APRIL SHOWERS LAURELS ON DESERVING HEADS

CHARLES BARMAN, associate professor, Dept. of Curriculum and Instruction, School of Education, has been awarded the 1987 Gorman Teaching Award for the teaching and preparation of education professionals at I.U.

JANE ENGDAHL, RN, Continuity of Care Office, Riley Hospital, will be given a Citizen of the Year Award from the National Association of Social Workers, Greater Metropolitan Indianapolis, during ceremonies Apr. 29 at Riley.

MARVIN NEEDLER, Ph.D., professor of electrical engineering and electrical engineering technology, was awarded the 1986 AT & T Foundation Award for excellence in the instruction of engineering and engineering technology. AT & T and the American Society for Engineering Education presented him with $1,500 and a certificate.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

(ARCH-800321)

ARCHIVES
UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
420 BLAKE ST

Cultural Spotlight:

Are There 'Don Juans' Anymore In Latin Literature, in Person?

The stereotype of Latin American men is that of the Don Juan, based on the Spanish literary tradition of the character Don Juan Tenorio. Don Juan was the inspiration for Jose Zorrilla's play in the 18th century. Through Don Juan, Zorrilla presented a character who not only betrayed women, but one who did not respect the church—the maximum power in Spanish society—nor the divine rules in the 18th century.

Don Juan was portrayed as a ladies gentleman with seductive manners, elegant and brilliant, to fool the world. In Hispanic folklore, this character lives in the Americas with new characteristics attributed to Don Juan. He is the "macho man" of the Pampas, the Andean heights, the tropical forests and rivers, and the beaches of the Latin world.

The lyrics in the songs of the Latin American world portray the passion, the hatred and love that Don Juan could feel towards a woman. The woman is always related to gentle scents, delicate flowers, caressing breezes, and pastel colors when she is loved. However, when she is hated, she is portrayed as a stone, a vulture, a savage animal, lacking pity.

These types of songs have helped form the stereotypes within the Hispanic culture, but also throughout the world. The conscientious men and women of Latin America nowadays strive for enrichment and for breaking of stereotypes like these which hinder the progress of the people. It is now a consensus that men and women see each other as competent individuals that can complement one another.

In the Latin American world, the main spice for the lyrics continues to be that of love and hate—passions embodied in Don Juan Tenorio. However, Don Juan and the lyrics are seen as "cultural spice" in the turmoil of the Latin American realities.

Calendar Pan Am-Related Activities

Event	Contact	Location	Date
Pesticides/The New Grape Boycott Cesar Chavez , President of United Farm Workers	Ken Barger 274-2585 or 274-8207 Sponsors: Campus Ministries Anthropology Dept.	IUPUI Union Bldg. Cafeteria	Wednesday, April 29 7 pm Free
International Symposium on the Latin American Rain Forest Crisis	Richard Ward Dept. of Anthropology 274-8207	Lecture Hall 100 IUPUI	May 6-7, 1987
High School Mini-Pan Am Games	Mary M. Carr Coordinator, PANAMELP 274-7314	Sports Facilities	Sat. May 9
Latin America: "The Experience of Business and Trade" Dr. Victor E. Childers, Associate Professor of International Business, School of Business	Frances Rhome Humanities Institute 274-2477	City Center on the Circle	May 20 Noon

If you are planning a Pan Am related meeting, conference or special event and would like it placed on the Piñata Calendar, please contact the PANAMELP Office at 274-7314 at least two months in advance.

Columbia: 4th Largest, 2 Coastlines

Colombia, land of El Dorado and emeralds, is the fourth largest nation in size and population in Latin America. It is the only South American country to have two coastlines, one on the Caribbean and one on the Pacific.

Besides the coastal lowlands, Colombia has two other major geographical areas—the highlands consisting of three parallel ranges of the Andes and valleys, and the “Oriente” or eastern region made up of plains and jungle. Accordingly, the Colombian climate varies from hot and humid in the coastal plains and jungle area to temperate to cold in the highlands.

The capital, Bogota, is sometimes referred to as the “Athens of America”. It preserves its colonial landmarks and renowned institutions of learning side by side with its tall, modern buildings. It is the site of the first astronomical observatory in South America.

The 27-million population of Colombia is predominantly of European and Indian origin. There are small percentages of blacks and pure Indians. Most of the population lives along the coasts or in the highlands.

Colombia has one of the most varied economies in the world. Its economy, traditionally based on agriculture, cattle raising, and mining, has been reinforced by rapid industrial growth. Its petroleum industry is among the foremost in the continent and its coal reserves are among the largest in the hemisphere. Colombia is promoting the gradual development of an Andean Common Market with Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru, and Venezuela.

Sports in Spanish

Mini-games Here on May 9

Students throughout the state are learning vocabulary and sports terms to use on Saturday, May 9 when they come to IUPUI to compete in the Mini Pan American Games. Over 1,200 students from 50 schools will compete in basketball, tennis, volleyball, swimming, softball, soccer, and track.

The day will begin with a parade of nations. As in the Model OAS, schools participating in the Mini Pan American Games have adopted one of the countries scheduled to participate in the 10th Pan American Games.

The uniqueness of the Mini Pan American Games is the focus on the use of Spanish while participating in the sporting events. Points will be added to team scores for the use of Spanish and prizes will be given to students who use the most Spanish while competing.

High Schoolers to Learn About Rain Forests

Dr. Frederick Bein of the IUPUI Department of Geography and Dr. Emilio Moran of the IU Department of Anthropology are among six panelists noted for their work in the rain forest who are participating in an International Symposium on the Latin American Rain Forest Crisis. It is to be held in IUPUI Lecture Hall 100 on May 6-7.

The symposium is a component of La Selva project organized by the Indianapolis Zoo. IUPUI Department of Anthropology is collaborating with the zoo on the project.

La Selva project is designed to increase local youths' awareness and interest in the Latin American rain forest. The goal of the symposium is to achieve a multi-disciplinary analysis of the cause and effect of current land management practices in the Latin American rain forest.

The general session is open to the public. Public and private high schools in Marion County have been invited to send two academically talented students as delegates.

Students Successful In Debating Concerns of the Americas

On Saturday, April 11, 290 students from 27 high schools assumed the roles of delegates from Western Hemisphere nations.

Dr. Irene Tajalli, professor in the School of Social Work, represented IUPUI and welcomed the students to campus. Opening remarks were by Richard Watkins, senior vice-president of International Relations for the 10th Pan American Games. Mr. Watkins is on loan from the Department of State. The main speaker was Senator Dan Quayle.

For the Indiana Model OAS, students submitted over 60 proposed resolutions dealing with 14 topics. Some of the topics were the drug traffic control problem, the Central American crisis, observation of human rights in the Americas and the external debt crisis.

Officers for the IMOAS were those students the University sent to Washington D.C. to observe the Model OAS in December. The ceremonial activities were done in Spanish. Head Delegates gave their opening remarks in Spanish. The luncheon buffet featured Latin American dishes. The award for the Best Delegation went to Trinidad y Tobago, represented by students from Secena Memorial High School, Indianapolis.