How safe do you feel at IUPUI?

Dear IUPUI Campus constituents,

IUPUI's Leadership in Dynamic Organizations course provides select students and employees with a dynamic, comprehensive, and interactive leadership education experience using a blend of classroom-based, webbased, experiential, and self-study learning methods.

A survey has been developed by a student study group as a part of the Leadership Dynamic Organizations Spring 2009 class. This group's objective is to research and articulate perceptions of safety among the IUPUI campus community.

Although individual responses will remain confidential, analyzed survey results will be shared with relative campus leaders and administrators in hopes of assisting them in improving services related to campus safety.

The study group would appreciate your participation by completing their three to five minute survey. The results will be shared with the Staff Council Staff Affairs Committee as well.

Thank you.

Dear Colleagues,

You may know that one in eight women will be stricken with breast cancer in her lifetime. What you may not know is that you can help these women and thousands of others in the fight against breast cancer.

On April 18, 2009, I will be participating in the Komen Indianapolis Race for the Cure with a great team of dedicated people. Join the fight by registering as part of our team or by supporting our efforts with a pledge contribution. The money raised through the Race will fund vital education, screening and treatment programs for underserved women in our own community and support the national search for a cure.

Each IUPUI Team member will receive a tee-shirt from the Race for the Cure and will also receive an IUPUI Team Jaquars tee-shirt.

If you would like to join us, please register by Friday, March 20, 2009. (Please note: All participants must register online. Also, we are not able to accept late registrations.)

We need your support! Every step counts!

Riding the Wave:

Successful Techniques for Navigating
Changes at Work and in Life

Tuesday, April 7, 2009 9:00-noon or 1:00-4:00 Campus Center Room 450C

In the hectic pace of life today, change is constant in both our work and personal lives. How can I keep up with all the changes? What can I do to make change work to my benefit? And how can I thrive (rather than simply tolerate) change?

After participating in this session, you will be able to:

- Explain the four phases of response to change
- Identify how you typically respond to change
- Respond effectively to the resistances other people have to change
- Identify what you can do to thrive during times of change
- Be the "captain of your own ship" and make the most of changes at work or at home.

Presented by Dan Johnson: Dan Johnson is President of Performance Mastery, a coaching and performance improvement firm located in Indianapolis. Dan has been helping people in organizations successfully navigate through change for over 20 years. Among his clients have been leaders and individuals working in large financial institutions, insurance companies, manufacturers, and health care organizations throughout North America, South America, Europe, and Asia. His client list includes Clarian Health Partners; Chase Bank; Eli Lilly & Company; the Internal Revenue Service; and The Kroger Company. Dan also teaches several courses for IUPUI Continuing Studies where he received the Award for Teaching Excellence in 2007. His work has been featured in the Indianapolis Star and WIBC radio. (dan@performancemastery.com)
