GRANTS ANNOUNCED

A total of $144,482 has been awarded by the Trust Advisory Board of the Attorney General of Indiana Public Health Trust as grants-in-aid to seven basic research programs in the health sciences, it was announced last week by Indiana Attorney General Theodore L. Sendak.

Five of the new projects will be conducted at the I.U. School of Medicine.
The investigators are:

D. C. Bauer, Ph.D., professor of microbiology, "Regulation of Cellular Immunity by Immune Complexes," $10,381; William L. Hoppes, M.D., assistant professor of medicine, "Detection of Antigens of Organisms Causing Infections in Cancer Patients," $28,837; and Ronald R. Watson, Ph.D., assistant professor of microbiology, "Synthesis of L-aptosyl Adenine and D-aptosyl thymidine and Their Action on Two Cancer Viruses," $12,430, all for the period of April 1, 1975, to March 31, 1977.

Also William D. Sawyer, M.D., chairman and professor of microbiology, "Role of Immune Mechanisms in Preventing Urinary Infections," $12,130, April 1, 1975, to September 30, 1976, and Warner S. Wegener, Ph.D., associate professor of microbiology, "Studies on Antihyperlipidemic Drugs--Interactions with Microorganisms," $15,242, April 1, 1975, to March 31, 1976.

The other two selected are from Muncie and Terre Haute. They are Joseph F. Albright, Ph.D., professor of life sciences, Indiana State University, "Cellular Interactions That Regulate Humoral Antibody Production," $44,527, April 1, 1975, to March 31, 1977, and Anthony R. Dowell, M.D., director of the Muncie Center for Medical Education at Ball State University, "Effects of Extracorporeal Handling of Blood Platelets Upon Lung Structure and Function Following Transfusion," $20,935, April 1, 1975, to March 31, 1976.

Sendak announced previously that the trust fund has awarded $75,000 to support scholarships for Hoosier students in the health professions.

The trust was established in 1973 with approximately $900,000 which was part of Indiana's share of a settlement paid by five drug companies in a national anti-trust suit involving over-pricing of the antibiotic tetracycline. No Indiana pharmaceutical companies were involved in the case.

At the time of settlement it was announced that the trust would be used through the I.U. School of Medicine for fellowships and scholarships and for grants to support medical education, research and service programs in Indiana.

HEAD COUNT

The I.U. system enrollment for the spring semester stands at 69,412 -- an increase of 5.5 per cent or 3,630 students from the 1973-74 spring semester.

The traditional national pattern is for second semester enrollments to be lower than first semester enrollments . . . but even this tradition was cracked by I.U. Spring semester enrollments at South Bend, Northwest, Southeast, Kokomo and Richmond passed the fall semester enrollments.

Campus	Spring 73-74	Spring 74-75	Increase	Fall 74-75
Bloomington	28,688	29,467	2.7%	30,623
Indianapolis	17,123	18,283	6.8%	18,457

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Nest-Egg-Dept.--Information about buying U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deduction is being distributed this month to IUPUI faculty and staff. Items include a message from Vice-President Irwin, a descriptive pamphlet, and an enrollment card. I.U. cooperates with the U.S. Treasury Department, and makes this service available at the payroll department in the Allied Health Building. A recent increase in interest on bonds, ways to further increase the interest by planning, and convenience are among the features of this savings plan.

Three for the System -- The Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, long an advocate of an Indianapolis state university, has reversed this position in testimony to the Indiana House Ways and Means Committee. Robert Atkinson, the chamber's education chairman, said: "The recently announced reorganization by the I.U. administration shows promise of elevating this campus. . . This promise, combined with commitments from the university administration to effect substantial improvements in the quantity and quality of educational offerings, has caused the chamber to shift away from the governance issue. We now intend to support the I.U. efforts to strengthen the unit." Similar support came from the Indianapolis Law School Student Bar Association and from the board of the Indianapolis Law School Alumni Association.

Opening -- The Herron Student Show for 1975 will open Friday, March 14, with a reception from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. The exhibit will feature work by freshmen, sophomores and juniors representing all areas of the school: Foundation, drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, visual communication and art education. The exhibit, which continues through April 4, will be open to the public Mondays through Fridays from noon to 5 p.m.

Summer Plans -- A new program has been announced by the Indiana Committee for the Humanities providing financial support for community education projects this summer. March 25 is the grant request deadline. Application forms and guidelines are available in the Office of Sponsored Programs.

Wanted -- Part-time speedwriting instructor; minimum requirement is bachelor's degree. Available immediately. Salary is $600 per course taught. If interested, call Learning in the City, 264-3586.

Found -- Man's prescription sunglasses with dark green tint; in parking lot of Oral Health Research Institute. Call Miss Hirt at Ext. 8822.

Hours -- Spring vacation School of Medicine Library hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday (March 3) through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday. Regular hours resume Monday, March 10.

Splash -- The "Noon Swim" at the Union Building pool is now open to anyone with a current membership card. Bring 25¢ for a towel.
