MEDICAL ALUMNI DAY, MAY 20, 1981

Having hardly caught its breath from Commencement, the I.U. School of Medicine will hold its annual Alumni Day under the tent on the lawn of the Union Building from 9 a.m. to early afternoon on May 20. Featured will be the 50 year class, of whose members are expected to be on hand. Annual meeting of the School of Medicine Alumni Association will be held in the Grissom Room of the Union Building at 11 a.m.

Traditional roast beef and strawberry shortcake luncheon begins at noon under the great tent. After the luncheon the alumni will hear a report from the School of Medicine Dean Steven C. Beering. The Distinguished Medical Alumnus Award will be presented, and classes winning the Kime and Moore awards will be announced.

MILITARY SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

A Department of Military Science was established at IUPUI by the I.U. Board of Trustees at a meeting May 1 in Bloomington. Lt. Col. Henry E. Rosser was named chairman of the new department and director of the ROTC program.

Rosser is a U.S. Army Infantry officer and has been on active duty for 17 years with two tours in Germany and two in the Far East. He has served in Vietnam and is currently assigned with the U.S. Army's 2nd Infantry Division in Korea. He also will have the academic rank of professor of military science at IUPUI.

In other action, Gerald L. Bepko, professor and associate dean of law, will become acting dean of the School of Law-Indianapolis, and Patricia A. Boaz was appointed assistant dean of the Purdue School of Science at IUPUI, both effective July 1. Also in the School of Science, Joseph Kuczkowski, professor of mathematical sciences, was named acting chairman of that department effective June 1.
