DENTAL DIGGINGS AND BALCONY BULGINGS

From all appearances, the Dental School is being "dug up", but from the official word, it is just being "dug under". As originally reported in the July 9th issue, we are going underground for space to provide several new research laboratories, sorely needed for expanding programs. It is hoped that room for areas for electron microscopy and radioisotope studies will be included. In the meantime, inconveniences will be experienced, but such is the price of progress. The greatest inconvenience the contractor's entourage poses would seem to be that of an obstacle to that sustainer of everyman's and woman's daily worklife, coffee. Daunted but not to be defeated, new paths to Bea's are being trod.

Even greater inconvenience will be felt when the expansion of the balcony in the Main Clinic begins in the middle of November. Simultaneous construction operations and patient treatment will be unavoidable, so tolerance and patience will be in order. The contractor assures us the job will be finished by mid-January, and your cooperation in the meantime is solicited to aid the progress of the operation.

LAS VEGAS TO HOST A.D.A.

IUSD will experience a large exodus of faculty next week as the ADA and related specialty meetings convene in Las Vegas from November 1-11. The Dean's Office reports that 22 from IUSD will be attending. Of that number, 16 will be actively participating.

SAFETY GLASSES DEADLINE DATE TODAY

Beginning today, all students must have safety glasses for admission to all clinics and laboratories. Each student must purchase a pair, but Mr. Kenneth Nelson in the Student Instruments Office has several pairs for loan if a student forgets his own.

The faculty are urged to cooperate in enforcing this program and set an example by offering themselves similar protection when demonstrating in either the laboratory or clinic.

RICHARD SCOTT HAS NEW POSTS IN BIOLOGICAL PHOTOGRAPHIC ASSOCIATION

Mr. Richard Scott of Illustrations Department, better known as "Scotty", has been elected to serve as secretary and Director of Communications of the Indiana Chapter of the Biological Photographic Association.

DENTAL HEALTH NEWS

Mrs. Judy Jarvis, dental hygienist from New York, started working with the Division October 1. Her husband, Ronald, is a graduate student in Crown and Bridge.

Dr. Victor Mercer, Miss Kay Conaway, and Mr. David Gunn have been giving teacher inservice programs in dental health continuously throughout the school year. So far this fall, they have reached nearly 500 teachers.

Doctors Charles Gish and Joseph Muhler are finishing the five-year dentifrice (Crest) study in a fluoride area.

Harrison, Floyd and Clark counties in Indiana have started their school topical fluoride programs this year. A hygienist employed by the county gives each child participating in the program a prophylaxis, topical fluoride treatment, and individual dental health education. The hygienist is also responsible for dental health education in the classroom and with teachers.

DR. McDONALD IN CHICAGO FOR ROUND TABLE VISITS CINCINNATI CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Dr. Ralph McDonald was in Chicago October 14-15 as a member of the Committee on Advanced Education of the American Association of Dental Schools and participated in a round table discussion on graduate education in dentistry. Dr. John W. Ashton, former Dean of the Graduate School and Vice-President of Indiana University, was one of five graduate deans who participated in the program. Doctor Ashton is currently on leave from IU, serving as Director of the Facilities Program, U.S. Department of Education in Washington.

On October 21, Dr. McDonald visited the Children's Hospital in Cincinnati as a representative of the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association.

IUSD GRADUATE STUDENT WINS A.S.D.C. AWARD

Dr. Robert Zager, Periodontics graduate student, has been informed that he is the recipient of the American Society of Dentistry for Children Student Achievement Award for 1965. As a senior student at IUSD, Dr. Zager developed a case history which he submitted in national competition. The award is in the amount of $200 plus his expenses to the A.S.D.C. meeting in Las Vegas.

OPERATIVE DENTISTRY REPORTS

Two new dental assistants have been employed by the Operative Department. Mrs. Jo Ann Dean of Columbus has replaced Mrs. Donna Weber, who left recently to work in Frankfort. Miss Michele Kinnamon will begin work November 1 as a new addition to the department.

Graduate students in the department now have four new operatories at their disposal. The units are equipped with Ritter units and fully powered handpieces.

Dr. Julian J. Thomas, graduate student in the department, will present a paper, "The Effect of Gold Condensation on the Human Pulp" at the annual session of the American Academy of Gold Foil Operators in Los Angeles November 5. Dr. H. William Gilmore, secretary of the Academy, will give a gold foil clinical demonstration at the same meeting.

Late News: Somehow we missed reporting in the July issue that Dr. Gilmore was elected President-Elect of the Omicron Kappa Upsilon fraternity during the July session of the I.A.D.R. at Toronto.
