EDUCATION COMMISSION APPOINTED

Governor Edgar D. Whitcomb has appointed a dozen-member Higher Education Commission whose broad mission is to co-ordinate the growth of the state universities.

Authorized by the Indiana General Assembly, the Commission has the power to approve or disapprove the development of new campuses and new degree programs. It also will review the budgets of the state universities and can pass on its recommendations to the General Assembly.

Members of the Commission are:

Robert D. Anderson, Valparaiso, president of McGill Manufacturing Company

David H. Baker, Kendalville, agent of Mutual Insurance Company of New York

John R. Benbow, Indianapolis, president of Indiana National Bank

Mrs. William Bray, Martinsville, wife of 6th District Congressman William Bray. She is a former associate professor of business education at I.U.

Oliver C. Carmichael, South Bend, president of Associated Investments

Mrs. John P. Corrigan, Evansville housewife and formerly executive secretary of Sterling-Winthrop Research Institute

George Doup, Columbus, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau

Grant W. Hawkins, Indianapolis, president of Grant W. Hawkins, Wholesale Janitor Supply Company

John M. House, Terre Haute, president of Sunajo, Inc., and House Properties, Inc.

Robert A. Lucas, Gary, lawyer and former member of the I.U. Board of Trustees

Beurt Servaas, Indianapolis, president of Curtis Publishing Company, Review Publishing Company and other companies

Van P. Smith, Muncie, president of The Ontario Corporation

(Also, it is reported that Dr. James B. Kessler, associate professor of political science on leave from IUB, is being strongly considered by Governor Whitcomb as the Commission's chief executive.)

BARBERSHOP DUET

Ray Daub and Harlan "Abe" Karn will take over management of the Union Building barber-shop starting Monday (August 2). Some IUPUI faculty and staff may already know them because they currently operate a shop on Lafayette Road in the Ayr-Way Shopping Center.

They will bring to the Medical Center campus their knowledge and experience in styling, razor cut or just a light trim. And if you're leery of the more "mod" styles, they can even give you a "flat top."

Please welcome these first-class barbers by calling Ext. 8518 for an appointment, or just stop in for a trim.

LITTLE RED DOOR OPEN

Each year The Little Red Door, Marion County Cancer Society, Inc., provides financial for research in cancer. Notice has been received that proposals for such research should be sent to The Little Red Door before November 1. Persons interested in pursuing projects of this kind should call the Office of Sponsored Programs (Ext. 7367) for application forms.

C-A BUILDING TO GET NAME CHANGE

The five-story Classroom-Administration Building on the new Downtown Campus will be named Robert E. Cavanaugh Hall in honor of a former distinguished I.U. educator and administrator.

Robert E. Cavanaugh was director of I.U.'s Extension Division from 1921 until 1946 and was the second man to hold that position. The Extension Division was the forerunner of I.U.'s current regional campus system. Cavanaugh retired from the University in 1956 and died in 1960.

The C-A Building, along with the new library building and lecture center will be dedicated September 10 in a special ceremony. The three buildings cost a total of $11,199,099 in Federal and state funds.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE SELECTED FOR HYPERTENSION RESEARCH

The I.U. School of Medicine is one of five medical schools selected for major Federal grants in a new program of basic research in hypertension.

The National Heart and Lung Institute has awarded a $476,000 grant to the school to begin work in the program. Federal support for the program at the school is expected to total $2.8 million by 1976.

Dr. James T. Higgins Jr., associate professor of medicine, will direct the project. The research will involve 27 members of the faculty as well as students who are working toward graduate degrees in the biological sciences.

Among the specific research projects that will be supported by the Federal grants are studies to determine the genetic patterns of inheritance in hypertension, the production and metabolism within the body of chemicals associated with hypertension, the effects of various drugs on hypertension, the relationship between diabetes, kidney diseases, hormonal glandular diseases and hypertension. A dozen separate research projects will be supported in the new program.

The other four medical schools chosen for Federal support in the hypertension program are at Harvard University, Vanderbilt University, Columbia University and the University of Tennessee.

CO-OPERATE TO EDUCATE

The Medical Center has been co-operating each year with the Indiana State Fair School of Boys to give a brief exposure to education, research and service in health care to outstanding high school students who are active in 4-H.

This year the Medical Center will be host to 15 to 20 young men on Thursday, August 26. They arrive about 9 a.m. and leave at 3:45 to return to the Fairgrounds.

If you would like to be a personal host for one or two of the young men, call the News Bureau, Ext. 7711, for further details. Faculty members and administrators who have been hosts in previous years report that the 4-H students are intelligent and easy guests.

PERSPECTIVE ON THE PAST

Dozens of collections of Indian arrowheads, tools and related items will be on display Sunday, August 8, at a meeting of the Indiana Archaeological Society on the mezzanine of the Union Building. The event, which will be free and open to the public, will take place from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Chairman of the arrangements committee is IUPUI Chancellor Maynard K. Hine, a charter member of the Society.

RILEY CANTEEN

Beginning Monday (August 2) a new Patient/Visitor Canteen will open in Riley Hospital Phase II, in the south wing of the first floor. The existing canteen in the older part of the building will be kept open for both patients and staff. Staffers are encouraged to use the canteen in the older section, because the new canteen is small and was designed specifically for patients, visitors, and parents.

JAZZ ROCK CONCERT AT HERRON

The Intentions, an Indianapolis and Kokomo jazz rock group, will give a concert at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the Herron School of Art in the auditorium or on the mall between buildings (depending on weather and sound). The group has played many engagements in Indianapolis, Marion and Kokomo festivals, as well as on the Bloomington campus. The concert will be open to the public and there's no admission charge. If you have any questions, call Miss Mary Green at Herron, 923-3652, Ext. 52.

ATTENTION GREEK-AMERICANS

The University of Athens in Greece is looking for Greek-Americans who teach in American Colleges and Universities. They plan to assemble a roster of graduates from both the University of Salonika and the University of Athens so they can correspond with them and occasionally use them as visiting professors at both schools. A call to the News Bureau (Ext. 7711) with name, age, address, degree and field would be appreciated. The Bureau will send the information along to the Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta, which has been authorized by the University of Athens to gather the information.
