Observations

Speedway suspends Snake Pit

There's going to be a new look at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway this year. The Speedway has added some infield seating, in the first turn section affectionately known as the Snake Pit.

As you might imagine, this may not set very well with Snake Pit sojourners who are more comfortable lying on the hood of their cars—or should we say more capable of lying on the hood of their cars than sitting in a seat. Undoubtedly the Speedway will increase their revenue since they will be able to charge more for the reserved seats. And the Speedway should not be faulted for this. After all, auto racing is an expensive sport and the Indy 500 has the richest purse in the world.

But we have to assume that the Speedway officials had a little more in mind when they decided on the reserved seats. In light of the recent accidents and injuries over the past few years, including one death last year; the conclusion could be drawn that the Speedway is trying to eliminate the problems in the first turn by eliminating the bare backs and beer bellies.

The Speedway's effort is a gallant one and they should be commended for trying to solve a very serious situation. The problem is that the Snake Pit will be relocated in either the third or fourth turns.

Now, maybe the fans should take a closer look at themselves and their negligent attitudes before another one of them is seriously injured or killed.

Rider thanks lady-driver

To the Editor:

Now that the semester is about to close and many regulars of the Escort Service Shuttle are about to depart their individual ways, I'd like to take the time and opportunity to say thanks to the lady-driver, "What's her name?" for her well-intentioned cheerfulness and assistance she so freely proffered each night I shared a ride with her. So, here's to you, lady, a BIG thanks!

I'm sure numerous other riders agree with me and thank you too. I hope to see you in the fall.

Sincerely,
Jina S. Kuyate

Group offers solution to communication gap

To the Editor:

We feel there are some changes that would greatly enhance student-instructor relationships at IUPUI.

The vast majority of the students at IUPUI are commuters and this is what presents the most problems. For example, assigned outside class readings at the library can be very time-consuming or expensive, if we choose to Xerox each article. This outside reading could be made easier and cheaper by making a compiled reader of the outside articles. Perhaps an even better idea would be for instructors to spend enough time to choose one book that contains the most important concepts to be stressed in class.

In classes with a lot of assigned readings and lectures that don't always parallel the reading, a study guide for exams would be very helpful. The study guide would not have to be formal typed document, but rather a view on what the instructor feels emphasis should be placed on. The study guide would eliminate unnecessary studying and the student would end up learning what the instructor felt was most important. The study guide would also help alleviate pre-test anxiety.

New instructors coming from "campus" colleges to "commuter" colleges should consider the difference that we at IUPUI have more multiple roles (families, full-time jobs, etc.) and have less time.

Tennis team wins first

by Ann Miller

After weathering a string of defeats, the rebuilding IUPUI Tennis Metros picked up their first win of the year last Friday at the Indianapolis Sports Center, thrashing Marian College 8-1.

"A tough schedule pays off—this shows what good competition can do for you," said a jubilant Coach Dave Kimball after the match.

Against the Knights, the Metros swept the doubles matches and came up victors in all singles matches except #4. James Garner handily disposed of Bob Meyer 6-2, 6-1 in the #1 singles. In the #2 match, Paul Buckta downed Mike Staton in two sets, both by 6-2. Thuc Tran came from behind to take the #3 singles 6-7, 6-0, 6-3 from Jim Bryan.

Marian's only point of the day was scored by Bob Freese in his defeat of IUPUI's Gary Johnston 5-7, 6-1, 6-2. Lance Wittrey blanked Dan Greenlee 6-0, 6-0, and Jeff Miller soundly defeated Brian Cunningham 6-1, 6-0 to round out the singles matches.

Garner paired up with Andy Ohmer to capture the #1 doubles 6-2, 7-5, over Meyer Staton. Johnston gained revenge with partner Bucktra by triumphing 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, over the team of Freese-Bryan. Tran and Tom Strattman completed the match with a 6-1, 6-3 drubbing of Greenlee-Cunningham in the #3 doubles.

The win tops off an uphill struggle for the Tennis Metros this spring, as the 1-8 record attests. With just a few exceptions, Kimball's roster was filled with new names at the start of his second season. Senior standout Garner, a former City champion, was the lone regular from last year's squad. Tran and Ken McKnight, who did not compete against Marian, both returned after a year's layoff. The rest of Kimball's outfit were freshman and sophomore rookies.

From the first swing of a racquet, Kimball knew this inexperience was going to show up in the won-loss column. The coaching staff experimented with different doubles combinations throughout the season, and shuffled their singles lineup periodically. "This really is a learning experience," he stated earlier. "We're attempting this year to see what improvement our players can accomplish."

The team has made great strides since their opening match, advancing steadily with every game. Prior to the Marian bout, the IUPUIers had dropped matches to Butler, Indiana State-Evansville, Evansville U, Taylor, Bellarmine (Ky.), Rose-Hulman, and Depauw. One game, with Manchester, was rained out.

Garner was instrumental in scoring both Metro points in the 7-2 loss to Butler. He took the #1 singles and teamed up with Buckta to win the #1 doubles.

ISU-E beat the Metros 6-3, with Bucktra and Wittrey copping the #2 and #5 singles respectively and Garner-Bucktra taking the #1 doubles. Evansville romped 8-1 with Wittrey getting the sole win in the #5 singles.

In their fourth defeat, at the hands of Taylor 7-2, the IUPUIers began to look like potential winners. The #2 and #3 singles went to Buckta and Wittrey. Garner lost a tough 3-setter in his singles battle and the team of Garner-Bucktra narrowly fell in the #1 doubles.

Although the 7-1 (one set was cancelled) score failed to show it, Coach Kimball termed the Bellarmine contest "one we could have won if we had had a bit of luck." The #1 doubles duo of Garner-Ohmer were the only Metro victors, but most of the other Metro players were in contention until the final points.

The team played their best tennis to date against undefeated Rose-Hulman, who barely escaped with a 5-4 triumph. Garner, Bucktra and Miller scored wins in the singles. Bucktra-Wittrey chalked up the

#2 doubles win over Greg Hulbert and Dave Boodt (son of IUPUI math professor Ione Boodt).

Attempting to continue their newfound "winning streak," the tennis Metros finish up the season today at Franklin.

Sierra Club circulates petition

The Sierra Club today announced a nationwide petition drive to have James Watt replaced as Interior Secretary.

Directed to the Congress of the United States, the petition states: "Secretary Watt is representing private economic interests rather than following the laws that define his responsibilities. He is sabotaging conservation goals supported by a vast majority of the American people. He is seeking to defy decades of legislation designed to protect our natural resources..."

Members of the Sierra Club, a national conservation organization with more than 200,000 members, will circulate the petition nationwide.

"We intend to collect and send a million signatures through this petition drive," said Michael McCloskey, the Club's Executive Director.

"The Secretary of the Interior has as his foremost responsibility the wise stewardship of our public lands heritage. He is meant to be the country's number one conservationist.

"By contrast, James Watt has interpreted November's election victory to mean he has been given a mandate to declare virtual war on the environment. The Sierra Club believes that the many steps that Watt has already taken to undo environmental legislation and safeguards are contrary to the wishes of most Americans."

Architect will visit campus

Paolo Soleri, a visionary architect whose ideas are taking shape in cement and steel, will appear at IUPUI Thurs., April 30. Now engaged in building Arcosanti, a city of the future, in the Arizona desert, Soleri is also a teacher, speaker and a prolific writer. His most recent publication, "Fragments," is a selection of work from his sketchbooks.

Many persons with a professional or personal interest in how humans live together follow

Soleri's ideas with interest. It is said that he feels that survival depends upon pulling back to create a new order of living based upon the principles of architecture and ecology—"ar-cology."

Soleri's appearance on the campus is sponsored by the IUPUI Philosophy Club and the Indiana Society of Architects, AIA, with support from the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Soleri will be honored with a reception from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in the Hoosier Room of the Union Building, 1300 West Michigan Street. At 8 p.m. he will discuss his philosophy of community and show slides of Arcosanti in Room 101 of the Lecture Hall, 325 Agnes St. Both events are free and open to the public.

Fountains will flow with fruit and wine as the Athenaeum Turners host their May Wine Festival May 1 and 2 at the historic Athenaeum Turners building, 401 E. Michigan St.

The event is open to the public and will be held from 6 p.m. to midnight each evening.

Entertainment will include the Paul Hilgeman German band. Hilgeman, a trumpeter, is a regular with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. International folk-dancing will be performed by Dance Ethnik.

Also appearing will be the Athenaeum Turners Orchestra and German Oompah Band and the mixed chorus of the Intermezzos. The Orchard County Day School Junior German Band will perform at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

At 9 p.m. fest-goers will have a chance to participate in the Maypole dance, traditionally done in celebration of the new spring season.

A selection of German foods will be offered on buffet tables from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. German pastries will be offered until 10 p.m.

"May wine is a white German wine flavored with woodruff, a sweet aromatic herb," said Bob Swan, Athenaeum Turners president. "It's traditionally served chilled with strawberries or other spring fruit floating in it," he said. The Athenaeum will have a large selection of wines of hand.

Admission price for the festival is $4 in advance and $4.50 at the door. Wine tasting is included in the admission price and dinner is extra.

Disabled students 'walk' for March of Dimes

by Michael W. Meiring

Five disabled students participated in the March of Dimes WalkAmerica that was held this past Sunday. The marathon walk started at Military Park and wound around the north side of Indianapolis for 25 kilometers.

The Disabled Student Organization of IUPUI entered as a team in the marathon and according to President George Holland, their total pledges should amount to around $125.00. Team members included Holland, Janet Earnest, Roger Harvey, David Scott, and Mary LouAnn Wilson.

As one might imagine, there were a few minor details that had to be worked out and according to Holland, everything turned out just fine.

"I told Sherry Gillin (March of Dimes coordinator for the event) that we would need a police escort and a transport vehicle and she put me in touch with Sargent Ed Laporte of the Indianapolis Police Department," said Holland.

Holland said he would like to send special thanks to Chairlance for the free use of their valuable service, Sherry Gillin for her help and cooperation, Fred Lennertz of the Physical Plant for his donation of a gasoline powered cart, and to the Indianapolis Police Department. "They did a super job for us," he adds. "IPD deserves a pat on the back." Officer John Jones of the IUPUI Police Department escorted the group through the campus at the beginning of the walk.

Many of the students that participated are afflicted with the types of disabilities that the March of Dimes organization raises money to combat. "It was wonderful having them there," said Gillin. "They added something to the walk. I would like to see more of that kind of participation," she added. According to Gillin, the March of Dimes is hoping to surpass last year's total of $35,000.

Most of the money pledged to the students came from IUPUI faculty, administrators, and students. According to Holland, all of the money will be pooled together and presented to the March of Dimes in one lump sum at the "turn-in" party.

Holland added that this event was the first in a series of programs that are being planned for the International Year of Disabled Persons.

Most of the other events are planned for fall but there will be the Indiana Wheelchair Games this Saturday and Sunday, May 2 and 3. Holland, Mary LouAnn Wilson, and Janet Earnest will be participating.

The Disabled Student Organization is a fairly new one, according to DSO member Andy Valentine. "Anyone who receives assistance is automatically a member," said Valentine. He adds that DSO membership is not exclusively for disabled students.

Even though the walk was a long haul, it looked as though everyone had a good time.

BALSA serves minorities

by George A. Hayes

The Indianapolis Chapter of the Black American Law Student Association (BALSA) stands as an able organization to aid black and minority students wishing to enter the IU School of Law in Indianapolis. BALSA is a national organization which was formed to promote the needs of the black and minority American law students. BALSA also instills a responsibility in its law students of the needs of both the black community and the community at large.

Locally Mr. Gregory Thomas and Ms. Sherri Hayes—chairpersons of BALSA's chapter in Indianapolis—share the responsibilities of holding black and minority BALSA awareness seminars, recruiting perspective students for the program, and keeping their numbers in good academic standards in the university.

Any black or minority student interested in the opportunities BALSA has to offer should contact Mr. Thomas at 925-9611.

Liberals Arts has honors day

by Barbara Jones

The human race was referred to as "man" several times during the Honors Convocation for the School of Liberal Arts Friday evening.

However, Assistant Professor of English Kathleen Klein suggested the high proportion of women receiving honors in Lecture Hall Room 101 was a good reminder that "women hold up half the sky."

Richard Turner, assistant professor of English, apparently holds up a big piece of sky at IUPUI, as the recipient of the Outstanding Liberal Arts Faculty Award. Associate Professor of German John D. Barlow called Turner "an example of collegiality and participation that inspires us all." ("Collegiality" is the sharing of authority among colleagues.)

Judged outstanding student, Sandra Emmelman received the Liberal Arts Faculty Medal for Academic Distinction. She is majoring in political science and sociology, with a 3.99 GPA.

Dean Martha E. Francois cited the many faculty, student and school accomplishments during the past year and shared plans for the future. She stressed the growing interest and participation in the Student Advisory Committee and in the Alumni Association.

Cavanaugh Awards for scholarly achievement were presented to Mary Ann Dolatowski, Thelma Hall and Sandra Emmelman.

For outstanding work in biomedical ethics, Jo Neighbors received the John M. Riteris Award. Her paper described positions for and against abortion.

Jan Rubin received the history department's Thelander Memorial Prize for her paper on ultranationalism in Japan.

In appreciation of her efforts as journalism coordinator, Associate Professor of English Shirley Quate received a special plaque from IUPUI journalism students.

Eight new members of Sigma Tau Delta, the national English honor society, were also announced in the program. They are Harold Bush, Terri Glidewell, Jacqueline Green, Sharon Moore, Ruth Morrison, Jo Neighbors, Gail Stygall and Janet Vargo.

trade up.

If you have a $10,000 job waiting for you, you could have an American Express® Card right now.

Trade the card you've been using every day for the Card you'll be using the rest of your life.

You're about to leave school and enter a whole new world. You've got great expectations. So does American Express. For you.

That's why American Express has created a special plan that reduces the usual application requirements - so you can get the Card before you finish school.

All you need to apply is a $10,000 job or the promise of one.

You'll use the Card the wealthy and the well-traveled use for business lunches, buying clothes - for work, paying for vacations - for all sorts of after-school activities.

One of the surest ways to establish yourself is to start out as if you were already established. And just having the Card gives you the chance to establish a solid credit rating.

So trade up now. You'll find application forms on campus bulletin boards. Or call toll-free 800-528-8000 and ask for a Special Student Application. And set yourself up for next year before you finish this one.

The American Express Card.
Don't leave school without it.

Drama classes offered

Children's and adults' courses on "Drama by the Handicapped and Developmentally Disabled" will be offered at Free University during its May-June term.

A teenage-adult class will meet at Holy Cross Parish Hall, 125 N. Oriental, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. for eight Tuesdays, beginning May 5.

Children's drama will meet eight Saturdays from 3 to 4 p.m. beginning May 9 at The Learning Center, 6113 Allisonville Road. The fee for each eight-week class is $25.

Jack Werle, course instructor, formerly taught similar courses for disabled persons in Terre Haute with The Happiness Bag Players, Inc.

At Terre Haute, Mr. Werle's volunteer staff assisted the handicapped in these classes. He is now requesting Indianapolis area volunteers for his Free University courses.

Persons who volunteer need not have a background in drama or working with the handicapped, according to Mr. Werle.

Interested persons may call 253-FREE for information on volunteering, or for drama course registration.

Tax class offered

Indianapolis Free University will sponsor an all-day workshop on "Small Business Tax and Finance," scheduled for Saturday, May 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Good Hall, room G-130, Indiana Central University, 1400 E. Hanna. The workshop fee is $25.

Designed to introduce the small business person to updates on legal tax structures in proprietorships, partnerships, Subchapter S, and regular corporation, the workshop also focuses on available fringe benefit arrangements, qualified retirement plans, estate planning problems, accounting needs, obtaining financing, use of insurance and related problems.

Workshop instructors are Dee C. Saul, a local practicing C.P.A. in his own professional corporation, and Diane L. Liptack, a local practicing attorney with Bamberger and Feibleman. Both are adjunct faculty members of Indiana Central University.

Ms. Liptack is a CPA who holds J.D. and M.B.A. degrees from Vanderbilt University and is a member of the board of directors of Free University, a non-profit corporation offering complementary, supplementary and continuing education courses in central Indiana.

Workshop registration details are available through the Free University office, 253-3733.

You told her you have your own place.
Now you have to tell your roommates.

You've been trying to get to know her better since the beginning of the term. And when she mentioned how hard it is to study in the dorm, you said, "My place is nice and quiet. Come on over and study with me."

Your roommates weren't very happy about it. But after a little persuading they decided the double feature at the Hyou might be worth seeing.

They're pretty special friends. And they deserve a special "Thanks." So, tonight, let it be Löwenbräu.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.

Intramural Department announces equipment purchases

The IUPUI Intramural Department is pleased to announce several new equipment purchases.

The Student Activity Fee has provided funds for a beautiful 16' x 10' cabin-style tent. In addition, A Coleman camp stove and other camping-related equipment will be available upon request.

This equipment may be checked out for a weekend during the semester or for up to seven days over the summer by an individual student or a group of students.

There will be a nominal charge to defray the cost of check out, check in, and clean up. The tent is available for immediate occupancy.

For additional information contact Jeff Vessely, intramural director, at 264-3766.

State tourney opens Friday

Metros conquer ICU

by Matt Strum

IUPUI's women's softball team closed the regular season with a 23-3 record by sweeping Indiana Central University Monday 10-0 and 1-0.

The Metros will now face defending champion Franklin in the opening game of the double elimination state tourney Friday at noon at Metropolitan Softball Stadium.

IUPUI scored all the runs needed in the first inning as they sent eight batters to the plate.

Merri Taylor led off with a double and scored on Marty Kalb's double. Judy Cummings singled home Kalb and later scored on a throwing error.

Barb Walden singled home Trudy Bernath with two outs for the Metros fourth run.

IUPUI scored another run in the third as Bernath led off with a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. Tina Masengale reached base on an error that allowed Bernath to go to third.

Another Indiana Central error on Walden's line drive scored Bernath.

IUPUI added five insurance runs in the seventh. Cummings led off with a double and was followed with walks to Bernath and Masengale.

Nancy Polley singled home Cummings and Walden sacrificed home Bernath. Kathy Presnal walked to load the bases and Judy Pluckebaum picked up a RBI on a walk.

Taylor then doubled home the Metros final two runs to complete the 10-0 win.

IUPUI and Indiana Central battled through six scoreless innings before the Metros scored in the top of the seventh to win 1-0.

Leftfielder Cummings and centerfielder Lisa Ellis doused Indiana Central threats in the first two innings by throwing out runners attempting to score.

IUPUI was no hit entering the sixth inning when Cummings led off with a triple. Bernath popped out followed by a walk to Masengale.

Polley then attempted a safety squeeze and was thrown out at first. Cummings, attempting to score, was called out in a close play.

Walden opened the Metros seventh with a walk and went to second as Presnal reached on an error.

Shelley Joyce bunted for a hit and Taylor, pinch hitting for Ellis, singled home Walden.

Joyce was the second game winning pitcher while Bernath threw the first game shut out.

ONLY THE ARMY GIVES YOU TWO WAYS TO LOWER THE COST OF EDUCATION IN JUST TWO YEARS.

LOAN FORGIVENESS

If you have a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan (made after October 1, 1975) hanging over your head, consider spending a couple of years in the Army.

If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from 1/3 of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty.

Obviously, a three-year enlistment would eliminate 100% of your indebtedness. But you may prefer to take a shorter route and sign up under the Army's two-year enlistment option (and put 2/3 of your debt behind you).

Or you might want to join the Army Reserve. If you qualify, as a Reservist you can stay home, get paid for your active duty, and receive 15% loan forgiveness (or $500, whichever is greater) for each year you serve.

But we're not just offering you loan forgiveness. With your education, you can probably qualify for a higher rank and pay grade. You'll have your choice of many sophisticated Army skills.

And you may be eligible for generous monetary educational incentives.

TWO-FOR-ONE SAVINGS PLAN

If your dream is to continue your education some day, joining the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program can bring that day closer.

In fact, in just two years you can accumulate up to $9,200 for grad school. (Only the Army can offer you a two-year enlistment.)

It's not a loan, so you'll never have to worry about making payments. It's simply a savings program between you and the government.

THE ARMY'S COLLEGE BENEFITS

	Per Mo.	2 Yrs.
You Save:	$100	$2,400*
Gov't Adds 2-for-1:	$200	$4,800
Total:	$300	$7,200
Army Adds:		$2,000
Total Benefits:		$9,200

*Maximum individual contribution during a 2-year enlistment.
Certain 4-year enlistments can get you as much as $14,400 for college, plus a $5,000 cash enlistment bonus for a total of $19,400.

If you save between $25 and $100 of your monthly Army pay, the government will match that amount two-for-one. On top of that, you might qualify for an exclusive Army educational incentive of $2,000. (Longer enlistments can result in higher incentives.)

And you can participate in VEAP at the same time you're receiving loan forgiveness.

So, in just two years, you can go back to school with 2/3 of your debt behind you and up to $9,200 for your education ahead of you. (Of course, a longer enlistment could result in more educational benefits and 100% loan forgiveness.)

To find out more about both ways to serve your country as you serve yourself, call 800-421-4422. In California, 800-252-0011. Alaska and Hawaii, 800-423-2244. Ask for the name of the Army's college representative nearest you.

ARMY.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
