DEADLINE NEARS FOR ORDERING INAUGURATION APPAREL

Invitations to the formal inauguration of new IU President Thomas Ehrlich are going out to faculty, staff and friends of the University. President Ehrlich hopes faculty members will participate in the robed processions during the academic convocation on Oct. 11 at Indianapolis and the investiture ceremony at IUB on Oct. 12. If you plan to attend, you are asked to notify the inauguration office at IUB, 5-5392. If you need to rent your academic regalia, the deadline for ordering is Sept. 8. The University will pay all rental fees. For order forms, call the Faculty Council Office, 4-2215. Indianapolis ceremonies are in the Circle Theatre at 4 p.m.; robing at 3:15 p.m. Rites in the IUB auditorium are at 1:30 p.m., robing at 12:45 p.m.

SISTER CAMPUS AT COLUMBUS COLLECTS LAURELS FROM MEDIA AND MORE

In a full-page spread in the Aug. 24 Republic newspaper at Columbus, the 52 percent enrollment increase in seven years and other wonders are noted. Director Dr. Paul R. Bippen said Columbus successes are because of a "lot of hard work by a lot of good people."

High-quality faculty members and flexible class hours also attract people, he said. The recent $3.5 renovation there is also a reason and a prize winner. The Aug. 9 Republic ran a large version of the photo here which noted that the Indiana Mason Contractors Association and the Masonry Institute of Indiana gave awards for the construction and brick work on the building to Frank M. Adams Jr., architect, and Dunlap and Co., Inc., construction.

In just about this same spot in last week's Green Sheet the 1987-88 meeting dates of the IUPUI Staff Council were listed. Hope you marked your calendar in pencil--some dates were wrong. The council meets from 3-5 p.m. in AO 103 on Sept. 16, Oct. 21, Nov. 18, Dec. 16, Jan. 20, Feb. 17, Mar. 16, Apr. 20, May 18 and June 15.

To Frances Rhome
With best wishes,

Ronald Reagan

IUPUI'S FRANCES DODSON RHOME is shown here with President Ronald Reagan during recent ceremonies in the White House where she was honored for many years of service on the National Council for the Humanities. Appointed to a six-year term by President Carter, Reagan extended her term another three. Besides reviewing 1,500 or so grant requests annually, Rhome chaired the endowment policy committee and was its speaker at several national meetings. She prepared an affirmative action program and served on the council's education and state guidance committee. At IUPUI she is director of the Humanities Institute and professor emeritus of English. She was responsible for the 1985 visit by U.S. Secretary of Education William Bennett. A couple of years ago, as she neared 70 years of life, she created and coordinated the popular lunch-time lecture series at the City Center on the Circle.-J. Grim

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY'S A. EVERETTE JAMES WILL PRESENT A SPECIAL LECTURE on the use of medical radiology to help study works of art on Sept. 10, 7:30 p.m., DeBoest Lecture Hall, Indianapolis Museum of Art. He pioneered the use of radiology in discovering the composition and authenticity of paintings, such as the one printed here that for many years was wrongly dubbed a Rembrandt. His lecture, "Medical Radiology in Sleuthing Art," is sponsored by the Herron School of Art and the Dept. of Radiology, IUMC. A reception follows the free lecture.

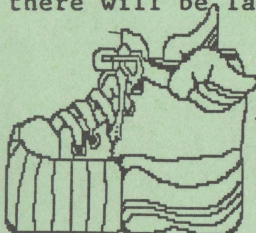

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Come Cheer Runners--IUPUI's winning Corporate Challenge team is going to do it again and needs cheerleaders and cheerers. We will field two teams totalling 50 people who want to better last year's good record. Dr. Gerald Arffa is coordinating this year's efforts and needs volunteers and fans the day of the run, Sept. 19. The 10,000 meter, relays and other races all begin or end at the Track and Field Stadium, 8 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Our teams will be wearing maroon and white uniforms and you can yell at/for them from the south stands. To volunteer, or for more, call Greg Rosner, 4-1496.

A Welcome--You are invited to a welcoming reception for James E. Shmerling, new administrator of Riley Hospital for Children and associate director of IU Hospitals. The party is Sept. 8, 3:30-5 p.m. on the fifth floor crosswalk of Riley. All welcome.

Elder Oops--Older people do have the chance to nourish mind, body and spirit in IUPUI's Elderhostel, Sept. 20-26. However, it is on our campus, not at IUB, as last week's Green Sheet incorrectly said. Reasonable fees include housing, meals, three academic courses, physical fitness and many more activities. Call 4-4501.

Restrictions--Until Nov. 15, there will be severe lane restrictions on West 10th St. between Indiana Ave. and Paca St. Also, rush hours excluded, DOT wants you to know that there will be lane restrictions on West 16th St., Illinois to Capitol, now through Oct. 1.

Fast walkers and half-fast walkers are invited to join the hospital's "I'm a Walker" lunch-time program for fun and prizes and fitness. Walkers can join one of three levels of walking. An information session, sponsored by the Dept. of Employee Health and Wellness, is Sept. 25, 1 p.m., UH C260. Registration is Sept. 28, noon-1 p.m., same place.

For Researchers--The School of Nursing invites you to its next research program, "Preparing an Effective Research Presentation" on Sept. 14, noon-1 p.m., NU 215.

Fulbright Deadline Nears--Sept. 15 is the deadline for applications to compete for 1988-89 academic year Fulbright Scholar awards in Africa, Asia, Europe, the Middle East and lecturing awards to Mexico, Venezuela and the Caribbean. Forms and information are available from Ann Kratz, Research and Sponsored Programs, 4-8285, and the International Programs Office in the Union, 4-2081.

Following Freedom--In conjunction with the celebration of the bicentennial of the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 the play "Traces" will be performed twice in Indianapolis. It will be at the Jewish Community Center, Sept. 13, 2 p.m., and at the University Conference Center auditorium, Sept. 25, 8 p.m. Written by Rita and Thomas Kohn from diaries and letters of pioneers, the play tells of a family's trek across Indiana in 1824, and the impact the Ordinance had on freedom. There is no charge. Call 251-9467.

Lung Saver--Live longer, breathe easier, quit hurting others--stop smoking in the Freedom from Smoking program offered to all staff, faculty and students in September. The Max-Well Program will help you with the Lung Association's program. If you want to quit, call 4-4537 for a brochure and more information.

ICE CREAM, MUSIC, FOOD, AND INFO HIGHLIGHT '87 FALL FESTIVAL

Music on the mall, an ice cream social, an exhibit by student groups, Career Awareness Day and a dance are among the offerings in this year's Fall Festival, Sept. 14-17 on the Library Mall. Sponsors are Student Activities Office, Student Government, Career and Employment Services and the Student Council for Residence Life. "Togetherness" plays music Monday and "Underfire" plays Tuesday, both noon-1:15 p.m. On Wednesday reps from private and public sectors will gather in a big tent from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Employers and university advisers will help students make good choices. Thursday is the annual dime-a-dip ice cream social, 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m., and there will be a Student Activities Fair from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The Indianapolis Concert Band will provide music from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Finishing the festival Thursday evening is a free dance in the Union Building cafeteria, 8 p.m.-midnight.

ADMINISTRATIVE AFFAIRS REALIGNS

Bob Martin, director of Administrative Affairs, announces some organizational changes in the office. There are now three associate directors. In Public Safety is John Mulvey, who remains police chief. He will direct parking, transportation, fire safety/OSHA and environmental safety. Emily Wren will coordinate space assignment and planning, campus repair and rehabilitation and warehousing. She will also serve as direct liaison with physical plant, real estate and university physical facilities. The third associate director is John Williams, campus services, who will head several related services such as telecommunications, printing and duplicating, mail services, hotel operations of the Union Building and bookstores. The departments of personnel, purchasing, physical plant, real estate and the athletic facilities business office continue to report to Martin.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Heart-y Group--More than 1,100 cardiologists, two-thirds of whom are preparing for their national board exams in November, are expected in Indianapolis and at the Medical Center this week, Sept. 9-12. They will be in town for the Cardiovascular Board Review sponsored by the Krannert Institute of Cardiololgy and the IU School of Medicine in cooperation with the American College of Cardiology. Program director is Dr. Charles Fisch, professor of medicine and director of Krannert. He has enlisted the services of the five past presidents of the College (all faculty members of our Dept. of Medicine) to be among the presenters.

Big Apple Fare--Le Masquerade, the famous New York City-based fantasy performers, will entertain at the fourth annual "An Evening Under The Stars" on Sept. 17 at the Indiana Roof Ballroom. Dinner and continuous entertainment and dancing are included. Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Indiana, co-sponsoring the event with the Indianapolis Colts. For tickets, call 638-3501.

Ring Those Bells--The Indiana Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution invites us all to the 200th anniversary celebration on Sept. 17, noon-1:30 p.m., Indiana State House rotunda. Music and a dramatic portrayal of James Madison by Prof. James Soles, U. of Delaware, are planned. That day, in several locations across the state, 300 people will swear to uphold the Constitution and will become U.S. citizens. And, at 4 p.m., religious and secular institutions are invited to join in a national bell ringing to honor that precious document.

COUNSELING CENTER OFFERS FREE PROBLEM SOLVING

The IUPUI Non-Academic Counseling Center offers personal counseling to all staff, faculty and students. With the objective of contributing to your personal and educational growth and self-understanding, many workshops are planned for fall. Workshop topics include stress/time management, assertiveness training, fear of tests, alcohol and substance abuse and parenting skills. The first workshop is stress/time management on Sept. 24, 5-8 p.m. at the Center. It is located in a house at 419 N. Blackford Street, east on the campus between New York and Michigan Streets. For a complete schedule or to make an appointment for counseling, call 4-2548.

LABOR DAY CLOSES SOME OFFICES ON CAMPUS; CLASSES CONTINUE Many administrative offices on campus will close for Labor Day, Sept. 7, but classes will be held, libraries will be open and hospitals and clinics will operate as usual.

CAMPUS DRAWS EXPERTS ON LAW, OLDER WOMEN AND PSYCHOLOGY: YOU'RE INVITED

A seminar on the many issues facing older women is set for Sept. 10. The Office of Gerontology is bringing Pat Taylor, executive director of the North Shore Senior Center, Winnetka, Ill., and president of the Northside Chicago Older Women's League, to speak in open forum from 2-3:30 p.m., and to a gerontology class that evening. Mary Jane Koch, executive director of gerontology, invites everyone and asks that we register by calling her office, 4-4192, no later than Sept. 8.

On Sept. 14, renowned psychologist/author Albert Ellis from the Institute for Rational-Emotive Therapy, New York City, will speak in three forums at the University Conference Center. Dr. Ellis is an outstanding authority on love and mating and has been an eminent marriage and family therapist for more than 40 years. From 9-11 a.m. he will focus on family, sponsored by the School of Nursing and Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing. A feminist application of rational-emotive therapy will be presented in a lunch talk from 11:30 a.m.-1:45 p.m., sponsored by the Office of Women's Research and Resources, Women's Studies Forum. And, finally, therapy as it relates to the individual is the focus of a talk from 2-4 p.m., sponsored by the Dept. of Psychology, School of Science. An open forum for faculty and students follows. There is no charge; all are welcome.

Sept. 19 is the date of the Indiana Civil Liberties Union third annual conference and dinner. The conference, "Eternal Vigilance: The Constitution's Third Century," is at the School of Law from 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. and features several law professors and other experts on such subjects as the death penalty, civil liberties, privacy, medical technology, the Supreme Court and glasnost. Dinner and a social hour is from 6-9:30 p.m. in the Madame Walker Urban Life Center. For details and tickets, call the ICLU, 635-4059.

SEPTEMBER IS INDIANA CHILD PASSENGER SAFETY MONTH and people in the Automotive Safety for Children Program at Riley Hospital and others are sponsoring a "Do It Right" program. They warn that unless car seats are used exactly as directed by manufacturers, your child is not safe. Injury or death can and does result in misuses that include not using harness straps or shields, facing children the wrong direction or misrouting seat belts through the child car seat. For the facts, call 1-800-KID-N-CAR, and BUCKLE UP--THE RIGHT WAY.
