DUFFERS AND VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR UPCOMING BENEFITS AND TOURNEYS

Athletes, burn victims and the local economy will benefit from three upcoming golf tournaments. First is the 11th Annual Metro Athletic Club Tourney on June 4 at the Golf Club of Indiana. You can win $10,000 for a hole-in-one and other great prizes. You can golf and have dinner, have dinner only or golf only with a foursome or sponsor a hole. Call Bob Lovell, 4-0622, for more on this tourney that benefits IUPUI athletic scholarships. Second is the First Wishard Memorial Foundation Golf Tournament set for June 27 at the Broadmoor Country Club. It's a Florida Scramble with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. There is free morning practice, a drink cart, hors d'oeuvres and dinner. Prizes include a BMW auto for a hole-in-one and a Florida vacation. This tourney will benefit the adult burn unit at Wishard. To sign up, call the sponsor, the Wishard Memorial Foundation, 630-6451. In the third event, you can't golf but you can volunteer to help with the 1991 PGA Championship at Crooked Stick Golf Club in Carmel. The director Jeff Parsons says he hopes the event will rival the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race, as he expects it to bring in 200,000 spectators and $30 million. Volunteers get passes and must pay $90 for the required uniform. To volunteer, to buy tickets or for more information, call 1-800-PGA-1991.

RUSSO'S COMPUTER FOREST TAKES INNOVATIONS PRIZE

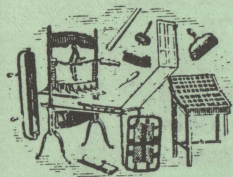

RUSSO

Raymond J. Russo, associate professor of biology, grew weary of waiting for a good day for a field trip to a forest where he could teach his students about trees, so he developed a rain-or-shine computer simulation that shows them how to count age rings and gives other information such as species, branching, leaf shape and bark characteristics. For his "Trip to the Forest," he won a national award for Innovations in Four-Year College Science Teaching. The OHAUS-NSTA award is from the Ohaus Corporation, a manufacturer of scientific balances in Florham Park, N.J., and the National Science Teachers Association, which gave him $1,000 during ceremonies at its 39th national convention in Houston Mar. 28. Russo says he still plans to take students into the woods when weather permits, but he's not spending the prize money on umbrellas--he's going to buy more computer equipment.--S. Matthys Roob

MAIL SERVICES WANTS NO LINK TO CAMPUS CHAIN LETTERS The chain letters recently reported circulating around campus abuse University resources, says Mail Services director Jim Geswein. Some recent letters threaten poverty and worse if you don't send 20 copies out. He notes that in some cases, University office supplies and copy equipment are being misused. He asks that chain letters not be sent in campus mail and he notes that his office will report instigators of chain letters to the police.

DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE DAVID STOCUM AND IUPUI WERE COMMENDED by the National Science Foundation for Stocum's "valuable contribution" in a recent panel review of proposals submitted to the "instrumentation and laboratory improvement" program. In a note to Chancellor Gerald Bepko, Division Director Robert Watson said that the participation of such scholars greatly helps the grant processing procedure, and it benefits the applicants, the Foundation, the reviewers themselves and their institutions.

APRIL IS FAMILY WELLNESS MONTH ON CAMPUS

A series to help parents help their children thrive in these times, a researcher who knows what makes strong healthy families and a movie about our longing for community are all on the agenda of Family Wellness Month. Sponsor is MAX*WELL and the IUPUI Wellness Education Committee. The following events are open to everyone.

ACTIVE PARENTING SERIES: Thursdays, Apr. 11-May 30, noon-1 p.m. in Riley Hospital, room 3088. Don Romsa will training in developing parenting skills. The $7 fee covers the cost of the handbook and is due the first day of the program. Call 4-8110.

"CHARACTERISTICS OF STRONG FAMILIES: KEYS TO FAMILY WELLNESS": Apr. 16, 7 p.m., University Place Conference Center auditorium. Speaker is John DeFrain, professor in the Dept. of Human Development and the Family, U. of Nebraska. He will share information from current research. He is the author of books that include Secrets of Strong Families, Parents in Contemporary America: A Sympathetic View and On Our Own: A Single Parent's Survival Guide. This is a free public lecture.

"HOME IS WHERE": Apr. 21, 8 p.m., Shortridge Jr. High School Theatre. Produced by the Underground Railway Theatre, sponsored by the IUPUI Lutheran Ministry and recommended by the Wellness Education Committee. Play is about home and homelessness and it focuses on the need for place and the longing for community, "the web of life that connects all creatures in the ecosphere." Admission is free for children and students with valid ID; adult tickets are $5. For more, call 4-0610.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Feminine Feat--Librarian Kirstin Quam, in her "one remaining effort to non-genderize language," notes that in her area it is only females who are on duty during holidays and they do not "man" the phones as a recent Green Sheet said. Neither do they woman their offices, but they do staff them and answer the phones. Your editor appreciates all consciousness-raising communications.

Pay Makers--Employees and supervisors involved with payroll are invited to the workshop, "Payroll and Wage Practices," May 2, 9-11 a.m. in the Human Resources Administration conference room, Union Building. Procedures and policies governing wage issues will be covered. There is no charge, but registration is required by Apr. 29. Call 4-8931.

Summer Place--The Fall Creek YMCA, our neighbor right near Wishard on 10th Street, invites working parents on campus to consider parking their little people, ages 4-12, at day camp. Kids will enjoy swimming, outdoor stuff, field trips and more. Extended hours are offered 6:30 a.m.-4 p.m. each day. For details, call Nancy Bellinger, 634-2478.

Helping the Hungry--Volunteers are needed to help provide food for staff and transient people Apr. 23 at the Lighthouse Mission. Last year the mission served nearly 60,000 meals and it continues to provide meals and refuge for the homeless. The IUPUI Newman Center is handling food operations that day and needs help beginning at 1 p.m. and throughout the afternoon and early evening. Call Karin Cramer, 632-4378.

Tanning Your Hide--Next in the Women's Health Series is Margaret Gaffney presenting "Summer Skin Care" Apr. 8, 11 a.m.-noon, UH N436. To register, call 4-8842.

Need Subjects--People with diabetes that is controlled by oral medication and also have high blood pressure are needed in a six-month research study. Participants receive $250 on completion. Call Terry Golay, 4-4635.

SHOWCASE WILL CELEBRATE THE CREATIVITY OF THE YOUNG

An afternoon of celebrating the artistic talents of young people is set for campus Apr. 14 at 2 p.m. in University Place Hotel. The IUPUI Humanities Institute, members of the National Society of Arts and Letters (NSAL) and the Indiana Council of Humanities are sponsoring "Showcase of Talent Awards." Young artists in photography, poetry, drama and music will compete and win prizes. Guests for the showcase and reception will include professional artists, educators, professionals in the arts and supporters of the arts. "The aim of the competition is to encourage young people to develop talents and to pursue careers in the arts. We emphasize the importance of aesthetics in human development and in social enrichment," said Frances Dodson Rhome, president of the Indiana Chapter of NSAL and professor emeritus of English at IUPUI. If you want to attend the reception or events, or for more information, call 251-6132.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Just Beachy--Twenty tons of sand have been shifted here and there on the stage in the Mary Cable Building in preparation for "Coastal Disturbances," University Theatre's last play of the season. Jack Douglas Sutton, technical director, and several students raked and shoveled the wet sand into place after it was delivered via a conveyor from outside the building. Performances are Apr. 12-13 and Apr. 19-20, with curtain at 8 p.m. For tickets, call 4-2094.

International Speak--Everyone is welcome to a panel discussion, "Foreign Language Proficiency for the 'Global Citizen,'" Apr. 9, 3-4 p.m. in the Roof Lounge, Union Building. Panelists from IUPUI and international English educators from Europe, Asia, the Middle East, North Africa and South America will participate. IUPUI panelists are Larbi Oukada (moderator), Dept. of French; James Haas, International Programs; Arthur Mirsky, Dept. of Geology; Bruce Renda, School of Engineering, and David Stocum, School of Science. The English Dept. and International Programs, sponsors, welcome everyone. A reception is 4-5 p.m.

Editor's Note--Time and space restraints prevent the use of all items received for publication in the Green Sheet. However, items received in time can be noted in the Campus Calendar, which is inserted in this publication twice a month. See the calendar for publication dates and an address, or call Noel Duerden, 4-5488.

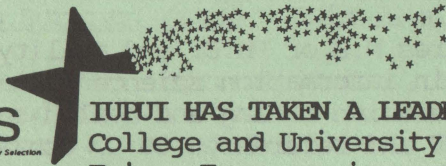

CAMPUS TO HONOR VETERANS WITH TWO PROGRAMS

University records show that more than 60 IUPUI students and several employees served in the Persian Gulf War. To honor them, and to assist veterans in pursuing higher education—at any university or college—IUPUI is offering two special programs. The office of Carol D. Nathan, associate dean of the faculties, is attempting to locate all veterans with university ties so that they be afforded academic advising, career counseling and other services. Gulf War and Vietnam War veterans, or anyone who knows of a student veteran, can call her office, 4-8974. Also, Gulf War and other war veterans and their families will be honored in a recognition ceremony on May Day, May 1, 11 a.m. in the courtyard at University Library. Everyone is welcome. Other area colleges and universities have been invited to participate. Chancellor Gerald Bepko and Gulf war veteran/IUPUI student Teresa A. Morehead, a winner of the 1991 Challenger Scholar Award, will attend.

FOCUS

Family Orientation to College and University Selection

IUPUI HAS TAKEN A LEADERSHIP ROLE IN FOCUS (Family Orientation to College and University Selection), Indiana's first National Collegiate Fair. Everyone is encouraged to bring friends and neighbors to the Convention Center Apr. 14, noon-6 p.m. where reps from more than 150 colleges will talk with parents and students of all ages. Also, to help promote this important boost for higher education and the people of Indiana, WISH-TV (CH 8) will broadcast a piece about FOCUS and IUPUI with Susan Bayh, Indiana's first lady. It airs Apr. 11-12 on the 5 o'clock news. Producer Clayton Taylor has cooperated with IUPUI and others in this project.

FINALLY...

...the acronyms may be confusing, but for the first time, several groups will join for spring regional meetings at University Place Conference Center Apr. 11-14 and the conference, "Developing Strategies for Effective Evaluation." It will focus on the evaluation of pre-med, medical and resident student evaluations and program evaluations. School of Medicine Dean Walter J. Daly, M.D., and others will participate. The groups meeting include CGEA, CGSA, CGSA/MAS, COSR and CAAHP. Host is the School of Medicine, with support from the Upjohn Company, Glaxo, Inc., and Eli Lilly & Co. For more, call Fred Ficklin, 4-7806.

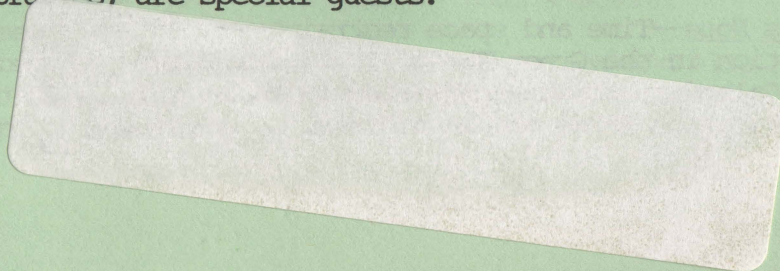

...volunteers and walkers/runners of all ages are needed for the fifth annual DO Run Run on campus Apr. 28. This is a fun benefit for the Alzheimer's Association. There is a 10K run, a 5K walk and a Kiddie Romp. To enter, call the Center for Alzheimer's Disease, 4-4333, and to volunteer, call the Association, 542-8888.

...finalists will compete in the 46th IUPUI speech night Apr. 15, 7:30 p.m. in LE 101. Students and faculty in the Dept. of Communication and Theatre will participate. Everyone is welcome. For more, call Bruce Wagener, 4-0564.

...IUPUI will be featured each Sunday in April on the TV talk-show "Indianapolis Notebook" which airs on Comcast and American Cablevision. Chancellor Bepko and Barbara Fischler, director of University Libraries, are special guests.
