'HALLELUJAH HOPSCOTCH' PREMIERS IN CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL

Captain Kangaroo (Bob Keeshan) said when he opened IUPUI's National Children's Playwriting Contest, "Children, like adults, need nourishment for their souls and minds," and a veritable feast for them and adults is offered March 22-23 during a Children's Theater Festival on our campus. "Hallelujah Hopscotch," the winning play in the playwriting contest, plus five other produced plays including "Charlotte's Web" and staged readings of the five runner-up plays will all be presented in the Mary Cable Building. A symposium, featuring Aurand Harris, author of "Androcles and the Lion" is also planned in conjunction with the Children's Theater Association of America. If you register for the symposium and plays before March 20, there will be no charge for any of the activities--only meals. After that the cost is $25. "Hallelujah Hopscotch, written by 63-year-old Rachel C. Burchard, will be performed on Friday at 8 p.m. and on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Director is Dorothy Webb, director of children's theater at IUPUI. All the activities are in the Mary Cable Building Theater, 504 North Blackford Street. Play-only tickets are $1.50 for children and $2.50 for adults. For details or a program, call University Theater, Ext. 2094.

INTENSE, INFORMAL RELIGION CONFERENCE OPEN TO ALL

Authors from 14 states will present 25 papers--covering American religious life from the Puritans to the Moonies, and religion in realms political to cultural--during a national public conference this month. "Re-Visioning America: Religion in American Life" will be March 28-30 at the Sheraton Meridian Hotel. It is funded by the Lilly Endowment, Inc., and the Indiana Committee for the Humanities, and sponsored by the Center for American Studies and the Dept. of Religious Studies at IUPUI.

Everyone on campus as well as the general public is invited to attend the concurrent sessions on March 29-30 that will have a moderator, community respondent and academic respondent for each presentation. The conference promises to be intense, but informal and will include public discussions. The sessions will be punctuated with three public lectures:

March 28 at 8:30 p.m. -- "We the People: Black Religion and the Re-Creation of America," keynote address by Vincent Harding, professor of religion and social transformation at the Iliff School of Theology, Denver;

March 29 at 4:30 p.m. -- "Revisionary, Revisionist, or Revisory; or, How Do You Revision an America?" by Giles B. Gunn, professor of English and religion at the U. of Florida at Gainesville;

March 29 at 8:30 p.m. -- "Missions and Millennialism: American Christianity's World Vision" by Timothy L. Smith, professor of history and director of the Program in American Religious History at John Hopkins U.

There is a nominal registration fee and banquet reservation cost. For details and more information, call Anne Fraker, conference coordinator, Ext. 3759, Center for American Studies, CA 532.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Nice Shot!--The terrific photomural of the city skyline overlooking the campus under a gleaming moon is now available as a poster that is suitable for framing. The 14.5 by 29 inch poster and photo is the handiwork of our Publications Office. Buy the posters in IUPUI bookstores for $8 each.

Jeff Godecker and Amy Phillips will reflect on their recent trip to Central and S. America. Services are at noon, CA 537. All IUPUI people are welcome.

Two Social Work Events--Human service professionals are invited. Sharon Wegscheider-Cruse, substance abuse consultant, presents "Family Systems and Alcoholism" on March 26, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sheraton Meridian Hotel. Also, there is a seminar entitled "Medical Social Work Update: Creating and Coping in a Changing Environment" on March 29, Interchurch Center. Call 923-9878.

Chemistry Seminar--David Hart, Chemistry Dept., Ohio State U, presents "Free Radical Cyclizations in Natural Product Synthesis" on March 27, 4:30 p.m., KB 231.

Brown Bag Series--Dr. Lina Fruzzetti presents "Female Circumcision: A Cultural or Religious Argument" on March 26, noon, CA 537. Bring lunch and listen.

MEDICINE FOCUSES ON DIABETICS AND ANESTHESIOLOGY

The School of Medicine will host two continuing medical education programs this week, dealing with diabetic microangiopathy (small blood vessel disease) and the other with anesthesiology. Diabetic microangiopathy affects the nerves, kidneys, eyes and other vital organs of many long-term diabetes patients. The March 20 conference will address new approaches to the problem, including prevention, early detection and laser and drug therapies. Sponsor is the Dept. of Medicine, IU's Diabetes Research and Training Center and the American Diabetes Association Indiana Affiliate.

The Dept. of Anesthesiology will conduct its Anesthesiology Update, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Indiana Society for Anesthesiologists, on March 23-24. Physicians from six states will cover medical as well as legal aspects of the specialty.

CONSTRUCTION CLOSES RILEY'S FRONT ENTRANCE

Spring has finally sprung (more or less) and contractors for the addition to Riley Hospital are moving ahead with work in front of the existing building which means the front entrance and the driveway to it will be closed--except for emergencies. Charles Richmond, associate director of hospitals, asked that we all bear with him and the contractors until this important work is completed in that area--about three-four months.

MEETINGS SET FOR INFO ON $-SAVING TDA

Personnel has scheduled two separate meetings on March 21 so that campus people can learn more about the retirement savings plan, Tax Deferred Annuity (TDA). PERF and TIAA-CREF Plan members are eligible for TDAs. As part of the university's TDA Supplemental Retirement Program, five companies offer TDAs and reps from each will be at the meetings to explain their plans. The first meeting is a formal one from 9-11 a.m. in Lecture Hall, Room 101. A member of IUPUI's benefits staff will explain TDAs and company people will give brief statements. Registration is required. The second meeting from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. is an "open house" format, where staff and faculty can hear company reps make a brief statement on the hour. Interested persons can select whom they wish to hear. Presentations are in Rooms 2100, 2101, 2106, 2109 and 2116--all in the E/S Building. To register or for more information, call Barbara Jones in Personnel, Ext. 8931.

KINSEY CUSTOMS CASE FOCUS OF PUBLIC LECTURE

"The Kinsey Customs Case and the Constitution" is the topic of a discussion to be held today (March 17) at 2:30 p.m. in the Indiana State Library auditorium. Kenneth R. Stevens, professor of history at Texas Christian U. and doctoral graduate of IU, will deliver the lecture, the third in a series on "Indiana and the United States Constitution." He will concentrate on the court case, U.S. v 31 Photographs and the late Professor Alfred C. Kinsey, founder of the Kinsey Institute for Sex Research at IU-B. The main issue of the case was whether or not the importation of pornographic material for scientific research purposes violated federal obscenity law. Sponsor is the Indiana Association of Historians. For more, call Bernard Friedman, Ext. 3811.

Dr. Hendrie and Dr. M. DeMyer need normal women, ages 35-43, for a psychiatric research study using the nuclear magnetic resonance machine for brain imaging. The NMR is considered safe and painless. The study requires no medicine or injections. Volunteers lie quietly for about an hour. Results shared with participants. Call Betty Koeppen, 634-8401, Ext. 392.

BOOK SALE!! The annual book sale sponsored by Accolade Honor Society is March 26-28 in University Library. Hours are 11 a.m.-7 p.m. on Monday; noon-8 p.m. on Tues. and Wed. and 11 a.m.-5 p.m. on Thursday. (You can still take donated books to the library.)
