DR. RHOME NAMED

Dr. Frances Dodson Rhome has been named the first affirmative action officer for the eight-campus university system by the Indiana University board of trustees. Dr. Rhome will serve as principal adviser on affirmative action programs to I.U. President John W. Ryan.

She will provide liaison between the office of the president, the Bloomington-Indianapolis campus core, and the I.U. campuses in Gary, South Bend, Fort Wayne, Kokomo, Richmond and New Albany. Her new responsibilities also include administration of policies and procedures designed to insure equal educational and employment opportunities.

Since 1973 Dr. Rhome has served as special assistant to Vice-President Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., as affirmative action officer for the Indianapolis campus. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of California at Los Angeles and postgraduate degrees from New Mexico State University and I.U. She has been an associate professor of English at IUPUI since 1969 and before that held administrative counseling posts at IUB for four years.

MEDICAL SCHOOL ALUMNI COMING

More than 600 physicians will return to the Medical Center Wednesday for the 28th Annual Alumni Day of the I.U. School of Medicine. Many, some of whom are deans, administrative officers and teachers in other medical schools, will come from all over the United States and some will come from other countries.

Highlight of the day will be the 11:45 a.m. luncheon in the circus tent on the Riley Hospital lawn when the surgical pavilion in University Hospital will be dedicated to the late Dr. Willis D. Gatch, former dean of the medical school.

Dean Steven C. Beering will report on the present programs and plans for the School of Medicine, members of the class of 1925 will be honored and awards presented. (The luncheon itself will be the traditional roast beef with the super-special strawberry shortcake from the kitchens of the Dietetics Department.)

Registration starts at 9 a.m. in the lobby of the new Regenstrief Health Center. The Alumni Association will hold its meeting at 11 a.m. Dr. John D. Wilson of Evansville will preside.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

What's New(s) for June? -- If your department or school is planning any special events in June -- outside speakers, symposia, special projects, etc. -- please send the information to Sydney Greensheet in the News Bureau (Room 139 in the Administration Building). Even if you know only the skeleton facts, send those. We'd like to keep up ourselves and even let the local media types know what's going on at IUPUI this summer.

Scholarly Approaches -- Announcements of 1976-77 Fulbright-Hays faculty opportunities abroad have been received for several fields: American history and literature, anthropology, psychology, sociology and social work, economics and business administration, education, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, law and political science, life sciences, linguistics, and English as a foreign language. Appropriate deans and division directors have copies and sample application kits, as does the Office of Sponsored Programs in the Administration Building.

Paperwork Planning -- Monday, June 9, is the deadline for filing paperwork for all academic appointments requiring board of trustees approval. Please send the appropriate data to the Dean of the Faculties Office, Room 108, Administration Building.

Teen Need -- Applications now are being accepted for teen-age volunteers (14-17 years old) in the Indiana University Hospitals. Assignments are based on the needs of the hospitals, the availability and interests of the volunteers. Programs will begin the second week in June. For more information, call Volunteer Services, Ext. 8682.

Closed -- The Office of Computing Services, Union Building Data Center, 38th Street Data Center and the Blake Street Library Terminal Cluster will be closed Monday, May 26. The DEC-10 Timesharing System will be available in unattended mode during that time and until 7 a.m. Tuesday (May 27) when it will be shut down for preventive maintenance. Normal operating schedules will resume at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Lost -- A book on infant death has been left in the School of Medicine Library. If you can prove it's yours, call Ruth Gellersen, Ext. 7182.
