THEATER SYMPOSIUM SCHEDULED

A line-up of several of the country's foremost authorities on mid-19th Century drama and history will be on the IUPUI campus on April 29 for the symposium on early American theater to be sponsored by the IUPUI Center for American Studies in conjunction with the University Theater. (See schedule on Page 1.) After a light supper in the courtyard of the theater in the Mary Cable Building, the group will attend the comedy, "Our American Cousin," the play Abraham Lincoln was watching at Ford's Theater when he was shot by John Wilkes Booth in 1865. The production and festival also celebrates the first anniversary of the University Theater in its new quarters.

All the symposium participants, scholars, working actors and interested persons, will hold a round-table discussion in Room 318 of the University Library. (Those wishing to join in the discussions should call ext. 3759.) After the 8 p.m. performance of the play the festival will conclude with a presentation dealing both with Lincoln's interest in the theater and with the play as drama. For information about tickets and dinner contact the University Theater at ext. 2094.

TAYLOR HONORED

Dr. Joseph T. Taylor, former dean of the School of Liberal Arts and presently special assistant to the vice president and professor of sociology at IUPUI, received the Dr. Hayward Campbell Award For Overall Achievement at the Minority Business and Professional Achievers Awards Dinner March 21. This award was presented by the Center for Leadership Development.

Dr. Taylor also has been appointed co-chairman of the Police/Community Relations Committee by Mayor William H. Hudnut, III. This represents an opportunity to follow up on the significant work of the Tanselle/Adams Committee.

VOLUNTEER RECOGNITION WEEK

This is the Tenth Annual Volunteer Recognition Week sponsored by the Volunteer Action Center of the United Way to recognize and honor all persons who give time and talent to serve as community volunteers.

The fourth annual Indianapolis Volunteer of the Year Award will be presented and the Volunteer Action Center will have special "thank you for volunteering" cards available to help agencies honor their volunteers and to emphasize that what the volunteer gives, money cannot buy.

Thank a Volunteer
April 17-23

I.U. FOUNDERS DAY TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Traditional Founders Day ceremonies commemorating the 163rd birthday of I.U. will be held beginning at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the University Auditorium at Bloomington, when members of the faculty and associate instructors will be honored through the presentation of awards for outstanding teaching and the conferral of distinguished and "name" professorships. Also honored are Bloomington campus students who have achieved high academic records.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Pharmaceutical--Pharmacy displays at University Hospital this week are: Roche Laboratories, Monday; Boehringer-Ingelheim, Tuesday; Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Thursday, and Roerig Pharmaceuticals, Friday. Organon Pharmaceuticals will be at Riley Hospital Wednesday.

Appears on "Firing Line"-- William F. Harvey, former chairman of the commission for the Legal Services Corporation, and a professor and former dean at the I.U. School of Law at IUPUI, will appear on "Firing Line," the syndicated television show hosted by William F. Buckley Jr. The show will air on WFYI-Channel 20 at 4 p.m. today (April 17), and will repeat at 2 p.m. Monday. Also appearing is Mark Green, former associate of Ralph Nader. Green spoke here last week during Social Awareness Week sponsored by the Progressive Student Union.

Communications Lecture Scheduled--The life of Angelina Grimke, the first woman to address an American legislature and perhaps the first woman to advocate emancipation publicly, will be the focus of the 13th "Lecture in Communications" to be given at 3:45 p.m. Monday in Room 102 of the Lecture Hall by David McCants, chairman of the Department of Communication at IUPUI Fort Wayne. There is no charge and the public is invited.

Cuban Social Work Discussed--Manuel Gonzalez, director of the Department of Social Work at Havana Psychiatric Hospital and president of the Cuban Health Social Workers Association, will speak Monday and Tuesday at the I.U. School of Social Work, Room 4130 of the E/S Building. At 7 p.m. Monday he will discuss "Life and Well-Being in Cuba," and at noon Tuesday he will speak on "Social Work in Cuba and Implications for Social Work Practice in the USA." His visit is co-sponsored by the School of Social Work, I.U. International Programs, and the Hispano center. For more information call Irene R. Tajalli, assistant professor of social work, at ext. 8467.

School of Science Honors Program--Mike Ahern, Channel 8 news anchorman, will be the speaker at a Purdue School of Science honors convocation to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 150 of the Krannert Science Building on the 38th Street campus.

Dean to Speak--Dr. Helen Dorsch, associate dean of the I.U. School of Nursing Graduate Programs, will be the guest speaker at the School of Nursing Honors Convocation at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the School of Nursing Auditorium.

Reception Planned--The IUPUI School of Liberal Arts will have a reception for graduating liberal arts students at 6 p.m. Friday in the main floor cafeteria of the Union Building. Several outstanding alumni of the program will be on hand to talk with the seniors.
