

green sheet

volume twenty, number forty-two

december 9, 1990

ANOTHER MIRACLE ON WEST MICHIGAN STREET

Yes, there is a (IUPUI) Santa. And, for the 28th year, the same Santa will take from his bag large doses of the miracle drug--happiness--for the children at Riley Hospital during the annual Christmas party Dec. 13. For obvious reasons, at other times of the year the white-haired IUPUI Santa uses an alias, Ray Dault. Just last year he was able to give up his other job at IUPUI and retire from the chairmanship of the Restaurant, Hotel and Institutional Management Department in the School of Science. This year, as usual, he will see that each child at the hospital gets a gift and a photo taken with him. The Riley Memorial Association makes the gifts possible. Ray provides the rest of the miracle. Ho. Ho. Ho.

STELLER ZELLERS

It's cold now, but a few months ago at the Union Building, when inside temperatures stayed a nice warm 90 degrees, six departments and their 150 staff members, 100 or so desks and file cabinets and tons of sundry other stuff moved in. Tempers also grew warm in the shuffle and housekeeping was a nightmare. But James Zellers and his crew, who helped with the move, is credited with making the move easier. "It is refreshing to know that a spirit of helpfulness can remain in tact even with the unbearable heat, stress and problems," wrote a person from the Testing Center. Typical of Jim, he gave credit for smoothing the move to his men. "My crew was great through the whole move, they completed their tasks with positive attitudes and managed to maintain a good sense of humor." Jim gave special credit to Pat Tracy and his crew for the outstanding job they did. Away from IUPUI, Jim enjoys running, weight lifting and spending time with his 12-year-old daughter, Amanda.

CHRISTMAS COMES EARLY TO NEW NURSING GRADS

In the grand ballroom of the Westin Hotel on Dec. 15 at 2 p.m. 164 students in the School of Nursing will receive an "early Christmas," a pin they earned for themselves. Dean of the School of Nursing Constance Baker will preside over pinning ceremonies awarding one doctoral degree, 11 masters, 104 bachelors and 48 associate degrees.

THE IUPUI GIVING TREE MAKES GIFT FOR THE NEEDY EASY Ornaments bearing the name of people who need a Christmas gift adorn the IUPUI Giving Tree in the lobby of Cavanaugh Hall. Stop by, select a person with whom you wish to share your bounty and take your gift no later than Dec. 14 to the Bursar's office during office hours, weekdays, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Call 4-2735 for more.

YOU ARE INVITED In appreciation to all on campus, Campus Equipment Plus invites everyone to a Christmas openhouse, Dec. 19, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in the room 405 of the Medical Research Building (IB).

Look at Us:

PHILANTHROPY'S DOCUMENTARY ON GIVING AIRS DEC. 23 This time of year many people open their hearts and become philanthropists by giving to others of their own free will. Many people keep that spirit year round, and the topic of doing good for others is the focus of a half-hour documentary that airs on WFYI Channel 20, Dec. 23 at 10:30 p.m. It airs at the same time on cable stations in 17 surrounding counties. Created by the IU Center on Philanthropy on campus, the half-hour show is entitled, "Voluntary Action for the Public Good," and it will define the independent or third sector. Viewers will gain an historical perspective of some pioneering philanthropists such as Andrew Carnegie and Jane Addams, founder of Hull House in Chicago, who are credited with sparking modern philanthropy. It will talk about philanthropy from the landing of the pilgrims until today where there exists 873,000 voluntary associations with the help of 80 million volunteers. You can learn how to make informed choices about your personal philanthropy. Lilly Endowment, Inc., funded the program. It is available for rental or purchase through the center. Call Laura Dean, associate director for development and communication, 4-4200.

CONTINUING STUDIES CATALOG TO SPRING UP IN THE DEC. 30 SUNDAY STAR More than 300,000 homes in the eight counties surrounding us will discover a copy of the 1991 Div. of Continuing Studies' 1991 Spring catalog. IUPUI faculty and staff are eligible for a 20 percent discount on any of the 300 or so courses. For more catalogs, call 4-4501.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Favorite Perk--In a recent survey among employees of 340 member organizations of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, tuition assistance was the most popular non-insurance benefit. Flex-time and health and fitness programs rated high for the perks most wanted by employees. For a complete survey call the research department, 464-2238.

Oops--In last week's Green Sheet it was mentioned that IUPUI was given the Waldo Award for its involvement in the Summer Training and Employment Program (STEP) on campus. Laurels to people who helped make it work were mentioned--one incorrectly. It was David L. Stocum, dean of the School of Science, not Richard L. Slocum, associate dean for student affairs, who was one of those who helped make the program successful. Also it was an error of omission not to mention that department and unit supervisors and directors who were willing to hire the young people also instrumental in the STEP's success. Your editor regrets the errors.

From Harvard--Kathleen Morgan, associate professor of physiology in medicine, Harvard, presents "Regulation of Vascular Tone by Calcium Dependent and Calcium Independent Mechanisms," a Physiology & Biophysics seminar, Dec. 12, 4 p.m., MS 205.

GED--Staff and faculty and their family members can take the Graduate Equivalency Degree (GED) exam at Larue (little r, one word) Carter Hospital. On-going classes to prepare for the exam are 3:30-5 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Call 634-8401, Ext. 451.

Women Welcome--The monthly lunch meeting of the Association of Women in Science is Dec. 11, noon-1 p.m. in MS 118. Bring lunch and a friend. Call Deborah, 4-7315.

Shop Talk--Barbara McQueen, who retired from the Bursar's Office, has opened a shop, "The Mother Lode," in the Lumberyard Mall, 141 1st St. in Carmel. Linens, furniture, old beads and quilts are among the offerings.

Microbiology/Immunology--Ann Summers, Dept. of Microbiology, U. of Georgia, presents "Metallo Regulation--The Bacterial Plasmid Mercury Resistance Operon," Dec. 13, 4 p.m., MS 326.

DEPENDENT CARE SURVEY NEEDS YOUR INPUT

People on campus who need child care or older adult care services are urged to fill out and return a survey on the subject that was recently sent out. "A Child/Elder Care Survey" will be used in considering future provisions for care on campus. If you need a copy of the survey, ask your department head, supervisor or instructor, or call 4-4105.

TICKETS AVAILABLE NOW FOR BSU'S 20TH MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. DINNER

For the 20th consecutive year, the IUPUI Black Student Union is sponsoring the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. dinner, this year featuring Na'im Akbar, celebrated author and scholar of the psychology of African-Americans. The dinner is Jan. 21 in the Westin Hotel. Tickets are $15 for students; $25 for others. They are available through Dec. 12 by calling 4-4239 or 4-2279, weekdays, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

CHAIR, professor, Dept. of Psychology, 12-month position. Seek candidates with outstanding scholarship, active research program, and commitment to programs in research and teaching at graduate and undergraduate levels. Send letter of interest, and a CV with statement of research interests by Feb. 1, 1991 to John Kremer, Chairman of Search and Screen Committee; Department of Psychology, IUPUI, 1125 E. 38th St., Indianapolis 46205.

PEDIATRIC SURGEON, tenure-track, full-time faculty, Dept. of Surgery. Must have completed a pediatric surgery residency and have appropriate additional training or fellowship. Must have strong commitment to teaching of med students and resident, developing and maintaining research programs, and managing patients on pediatric surgery service. Send CV to Jay L. Grosfeld, M.D.; Chairman, Dept. of Surgery, 545 Barnhill Drive, EM244, Indianapolis 46202.

IUPUI is an AA/EO Employer

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

$ for Women--Last in the Women's Studies fall series is "Scholarships for Women," Dec. 11, noon-1 p.m., CA 001E. Scholarship recipients and a representative from Financial Aid will share thoughts on how returning women can apply for scholarships.

Anatomy Seminar--Ying Nie, graduate student, Dept. of Anatomy, will give a presentation Dec. 18, noon, MS 205.

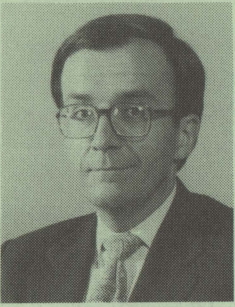

Carter Tops--Each year the IU School of Continuing Studies selects its top staff person from among eight campuses. This year, Sherry Darrah Carter from IUPUI was given that honor and a monetary award during the Robert W. Richey Symposium at IUB. It is given for the person who displays "initiative, enthusiasm, dependability and a positive attitude." Carter has worked at IUPUI since 1978.

Helweg Speaking--Otto Helweg, chairman of civil engineering, Memphis State U., is among the featured speakers at the Midwest Leadership Conference in Indianapolis Dec. 28-30 at the Westin Hotel. Sponsored by Christian Leadership Ministries, the conference also includes Campus Crusade for Christ leaders, Bill Bright, president and founder, and Tim Downs, director of the communication center. Call Vicki Anderson, 4-0610.

Holiday Giving--The need is great for the one gift that money cannot buy--human blood. You can give on Gift of Life Sunday, Dec. 16, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at all downtown Indianapolis locations of the Central Indiana Regional Blood Center.

DEPUTY MAYOR KRAUSS BECOMES SENIOR FELLOW IN SPEA

John L. Krauss, an alumnus of the School of Law-Indianapolis, and deputy mayor of Indianapolis since 1973, joins the staff Jan. 2 as a senior fellow in the School of Public and Environmental Affairs. He has taught in SPEA for many years and is chairman of the board of the Indianapolis Mapping and Geographic Infrastructure System (IMAGIS), a joint venture housed on our campus. Among his new duties, Krauss will develop a technical assistance program in conjunction with SPEA schools on five IU campuses. He also will develop and lead an advisory committee of Indiana mayors and other public officials who will share information and concerns about public governance.

He will continue to teach and provide resources for instruction. IUPUI Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko and SPEA Dean James Barnes welcomed Krauss as an asset to the university. Indianapolis Mayor William H. Hudnut III, in turn, said Krauss' "wise counsel and wry humor will be missed in city government."

EDITORS SEEK MANUSCRIPTS AND BOOK PROPOSALS

The editors of a new philanthropic publication series seek book-length manuscripts and detailed book proposals from scholars and practitioners in the humanities, social sciences, and the professions, on such topics as philanthropy, altruism, comparative international studies, and more. The IU Center on Philanthropy and the IU Press are teaming up for the publication in an effort to encourage scholarly interests in the emerging field of philanthropy. For details, call Dwight F. Burlingame, associate director of the center, 4-4200, or write Robert J. Sloan at the IU Press, IUB.

TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES EXTEND FEE PAYMENTS The date for spring semester fee payments for IUPUI students who pre-registered has been extended from Dec. 7 to Dec. 12. Delays in billing students were caused by technical difficulties, which IUPUI Bursar Michael Cozmanoff said he regrets. The extension includes the phone-in payment period. More than 20,000 students have registered for spring.

FINALLY...

...cataracts, glaucoma and other eye and vision problems were diagnosed among 50 of our "especially needy" city neighbors who were examined at no charge by the faculty and staff in the Dept. of Ophthalmology during "Donate a Day," recently. They donated their time in a public service program promoted by the Indiana Society to Prevent Blindness. The people seen had been referred by counselors at the Salvation Army, Lighthouse Mission, Wheeler Mission and Sojourner. Many of them were not eligible for medical coverage in any program and are among the "underserved" population who often suffer from long-term effects of untreated eye disease. "We were pleased to participate in this program," said Sandra Eads, administrator. "We worked hard in a cooperative effort to see people who were especially needy."

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202