

volume nine, number eleven

march 18, 1979

Did you know that...

Fifty percent of the approximately 1,200 students in the School of Medicine are considering going into family medicine or some other phase of primary care.

SOCIAL WORK SCHOOL JOINS INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM

When 11 social workers from 10 foreign countries land at Indianapolis International Airport next month it will mark two beginnings: They will begin four months of working in American social work settings and four months of learning about Americans and America. It also will mark the beginning of the Indiana University School of Social Work's participation in the project of the Council of International Programs (CIP).

The 11 social workers who arrive in Indianapolis on April 25 will be part of a group of 209 social workers from 70 countries who will be attending similar programs at 12 other sites in this country.

According to David F. Metzger, assistant professor and co-ordinator of the program, all 11 of the Indiana-bound workers are interested in health-related areas. "These 11," he said, "will be working in health care settings in Indianapolis because that is what they do in their own countries. Ranging in age from 25 years old to 52, they have had varying degrees of experience, but all are practicing social workers. Here, they will get more experience in the areas of medical social work, mental health, public health, community health development and work with the aging."

They will work four days a week in various agencies and medical settings, then convene on campus every Friday for formal educational material and informal exchange of methods, procedures and philosophies of social work between their countries and the United States.

"The value of the exchange lies in comparing developments in different countries, and comparative analysis is always stimulating and enriching," said Leonard Schneiderman, dean of the school. "We study other countries' methods, not to be like them -- or vice versa -- but to learn how others are treating common human problems."

"We hope to have each one stay with three different families while they're here," Metzger said, "probably four or five weeks with each one, so they can get a good overview of family life here. Anyone who is interested in being a host should get in touch with me," he noted. (Metzger's address is Cavanaugh Hall, Room 523; his phone is Ext. 8787 or Ext. 8364.)

The 11 visitors will include Mrs. Sue-ing Teresa Chang and Mrs. Hsing-po Yen, both from Taipei, Taiwan; Madhav Om Shrestha from Kathmandu, Nepal; Marianne Gerda Josine Schippers from Hellevoetsluis, the Netherlands; Helga Helene Schuster from Bad Voslau, Austria; Jacqueline Setti from Ajaccio, Corsica.

Also, Ali Foum Mgeni from Zanzibar; Saeed Rahman from Lahore, Pakistan; Mrs. Dagmar Konecna Charvatova from Prague, Czechoslovakia; Mrs. Tone Haavind from Oslo, Norway, and Leonar Baez from Caracas, Venezuela.

They will leave Indianapolis August 12 for four days in Washington, D.C., before heading back to their homelands.

The aims of the CIP, which has been operating since 1956 with headquarters in Cleveland, are to make a "tangible contribution toward mutual international understanding by giving social work professionals from other countries the opportunity of working together with American social workers in the same fields and thus to learn from each other professionally and culturally."

The CIP, a private, voluntary association, has programs operating in Atlanta, Chapel Hill, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Denver, Iowa City, Kalamazoo, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Morgantown, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. -- and now Indianapolis. It is sponsored jointly with the International Communication Agency of the U.S. Department of State. The agency contributes about 30 percent of CIP's cost and the rest is raised by CIP in this country and abroad.

* * *

ART & ARCHAEOLOGY

Whitney S. Stoddard, distinguished architectural historian and professor of art history at Williams College, will give a slide lecture called "Psalmodi: 10 Years of Medieval Archaeology" at the Herron School of Art. The program, in the auditorium, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday (March 20).

Psalmodi, once a large abbey monastery near Aigues-Mortes in the Rhone River delta area in southern France, is considered one of the most important current medieval excavations in western Europe. Archival documents preserved in Nimes and Paris indicate that an early Christian monastic community settled at Psalmodi as early as the fifth or sixth century. Two early Christian terracotta tombs and fragments of early Christian sarcophagi already have been unearthed. Stoddard will discuss the complex history of building at Psalmodi through the Romanesque and Gothic periods. The subsequent decline of activity after 1300 finally resulted in complete destruction by Protestant Camisards in 1704 and the ruins became a farm.

In 1969 Stoddard visited the site, and, after 10 months of negotiations with the French government, excavations began at Psalmodi in July, 1970, under his direction. The lecture is jointly sponsored by the Art History Program at Herron and the IUPUI Lectures and Convocations Committee.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY
(Week of March 18-25)

Nine-Month Wonder -- The 1979 Student Show at Herron, the product of their nine months of work this year at the school, continues through April 16. Stop by and see the results of their creative labors weekdays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

North of the Border to IUPUI -- The director-general of the Canadian Defense and Arms Control Division, will address a political science class (Y374) by telelecture at 10 a.m. Monday in Cavanaugh 129. The discussion will center on Canada's participation in the United Nations peace-keeping operations, especially in the Middle East. James McCardle, a participant in the telelecture, is a career diplomat whose professional background includes a stint as Canadian ambassador to Australia. The telelecture device permits a speaker to address the class by telephone, followed by questions and answers.

Seminar -- "Ultrasound Tomography in Breast," Ultrasound Research Laboratory Seminar by Dr. James Greenleaf from the Mayo Clinic; University Hospital, Room N436, 3 p.m. Monday.

Visitor from Sweden -- Dr. Tom Saldeen, professor and chairman of forensic medicine at the University of Uppsala, will talk about "Shock Lung" at the Chest Conference on Monday at 3:30 p.m. in University Hospital, Room C331.

Freebie -- "Dr. Strangelove," part of the Political Insight Film Series, will be shown Monday at 7 p.m. in Lecture Hall 101. It is open to students, faculty and staff.

Colloquium -- Nathalie M. Fedynskyj, associate professor of nursing, will give the Nursing Research Colloquium this week on "Generic Drugs Versus Brand Name Drugs: The Nurse's Dilemma." The presentation will be Tuesday at noon in the School of Nursing, Room 305.

Grand Rounds -- Drs. Richard Dexter and Mitchell Rhodes will discuss "An Unusual Case of Hyperthyroidism" and "Recurrent Pulmonary Infiltrates: Diagnostic Dilemma," respectively, during Department of Medicine grand rounds Wednesday at 8:15 a.m. in Myers Auditorium at Wishard.

Displays -- Pharmacy displays this week will be Breon Laboratories in University Hospital and Ross Laboratories in Riley Hospital, both on Wednesday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Business -- "Production Planning, Scheduling and Inventory Control," Management in Action Seminar of the Graduate School of Business; Union Building, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

As Seen by a Dean -- "A Dean's View of Existence at IUPUI" will be the "Lunch and Discussion" topic Wednesday at noon when Edward C. Moore, dean of the faculties and executive dean, speaks at the informal session in the Hideaway Cafeteria.

Guest -- Roger Barthaburu, a foreign service national with the American consulate general in Bordeaux, France, will speak Wednesday at noon during the "Lunch and Learn" program in the Grissom Room at the Union Building. Call International Programs (Ext. 7294) for information.

Liberation -- "The Battle of Algiers," a classic of revolutionary film-making, will be shown Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Lecture Hall 101. Part of the "Films of Liberation Struggles" series, the event is free.

Another Film -- "The Age of Fragmentation" will be shown Thursday at 12:15 p.m. in the School of Dentistry, Lecture Hall S116. The 30-minute film is part of the "How Should We Then Live?" series.

Especially for Vets -- All students, but especially veterans, are invited to a two-day program called "Career/Employment Topics," sponsored by the Office of Veterans Affairs and the Career Counseling and Placement Office. The topics and dates are: "Career Exploration and Decision" on Friday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., "The Employment Picture," on Friday from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., and "Job Readiness Strategies" on Saturday from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. All sessions will be in University Library, Room 318. For more information, call Ext. 7425.

In Bloomington -- The 10th annual "Women's Day" program, sponsored by the I.U. Alumni Association, is scheduled for Friday with "I Believe in Music" as the theme. With the exception of luncheon in the Union Building, all the events will be held in the Musical Arts Center in Bloomington.

Biochemical -- "Regulation of Liver Acetyl-CoA Carboxylase by Covalent Modification," Biochemistry Faculty Seminar by Dr. K.H. Kim from Purdue; Medical Science Building, Room 326, 4 p.m. Friday.

After-Dinner Comedy -- Jean Kerr's "Finishing Touches" will be the comedic offering at the dinner-theater Friday sponsored by the Department of Speech, Theater and Communications, the Lectures and Convocations Committee and the Union Building. IUPUI students will fill the roles of a university professor, his wife and students in the comedy which begins at 7 p.m. The 6 p.m. dinner offering includes combination salad, roasted breast of chicken and dressing, whipped potatoes and gravy, seasoned green beans and nutty ice cream chocolate delight. All events are in the Union Building cafeteria. Tickets are $4 for IUPUI students and $5 for faculty, staff and general public. You can buy tickets by mail or in the Union Building Director's Office. For more information, call Ext. 7685.

Thou Shalt Attend -- "The Ten Commandments," starring Charlton Heston, Yul Brynner and Anne Baxter, will be on screen in the DeBoest Lecture Hall at the Indianapolis Museum of Art at 8 p.m. Friday in the museum's film series focusing on special effects. The most spectacular effect in this 1956 flick is the parting of the sea. Admission is $1 for IMA members, students and senior citizens, $2 for non-members, and 50¢ for children 12 and under.

On Stage -- A 15-performance run of "Oh Coward," a tribute to the late Noel Coward, opens Friday at 8 p.m. at the Broad Ripple Playhouse. The show will go on on weekends (except for Easter weekend) through April 29. For information, call 253-2072.

ISO-plus -- The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Charles H. Webb Jr., dean of the I.U. School of Music, will be joined by the Indianapolis Symphonic Choir and vocalists in presenting Mendelssohn's "Elijah" on Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Clowes Hall. Tickets range from $5.50 to $8.50.

Coming Up -- "Axoplasmic Transport of Proteins and Glycoproteins in Sciatic Nerve," Physiology Seminar by Dan Stromska, graduate student; Medical Science Building, Room 205, 4 p.m. Monday, March 26.

* * *

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

New Faces -- Beth Anne Brown and Rita Muncie have joined the IUPUI University Relations staff this month -- Beth as a writer/editor in the News Bureau and Rita as editor/designer in the Publications Office. Beth, who will be covering student services, faculty council, admissions, placement and the like, comes from Merchants National Bank where she was communications coordinator. A graduate of Purdue, she also has been a news-anchor in Bangor, a public relations specialist in Fort Wayne and teacher in Richmond. Rita, who has won several awards for her design work, previously worked as a graphics designer at the Bobbs-Merrill Co. She is a graduate of I.U. (English major) and holds a BFA in visual communication for Herron.

So You Want to Change Your Green Sheet Address? -- Here's the best way to get the job done: Make all changes or deletions on the label and return it to the News Bureau, Green Sheet, Administration Building 139. If you need to add information (name, address, whatever), it must be typed and sent to the same place. Limit all corrections and additions to three lines. All changes, deletions or additions depend on your notifying the News Bureau in writing. While the changes are ultimately handled by the Personnel Office, they are not automatically done by that office. The News Bureau must know first. And . . . please be patient. It usually takes at least four weeks for the changes to become effective. (N.B. The same mailing list is used for the Green Sheet and for the cream-colored Research and Sponsored Programs Announcements. The same procedure applies to both.)

Forum -- All interested persons are invited to attend a "Forum on Medical Records Manpower," scheduled for April 3 at the Ramada Inn at the airport. Sponsored by Indiana Health Careers, Inc., the program will examine discrepancies between education and utilization, the competencies required, numbers of persons needed and levels of job responsibilities. Elton T. Ridley, associate professor of hospital administration, has chaired the conference planning committee. Other Medical Center persons active in planning the event are Mary Ann McKenzie, Donald Franklin, Harwood Prince and Michael Evans. For more information, call 923-3625.

Found -- Last month an engraved lighter was found in Lot 57 (on Michigan Street across from University Hospital). Call Ext. 7903.

* * *

BECKY MARKEL WINS HINE AWARD

Citing her leadership and outstanding contributions to I.U. and to its alumni programs and activities, Rebecca (Becky) T. Markel was awarded the prestigious Maynard K. Hine medal at ceremonies last Thursday. The invitational dinner, sponsored by the Alumni Association of I.U.'s Indianapolis campus and its constituent societies (individual schools), was held in the Hoosier Room of the Union Building.

Mrs. Markel, a native of Shelby County, is an associate professor of nursing who is working on her doctorate in education. She holds undergraduate and graduate degrees with distinction from I.U. Her responsibilities at the School of Nursing include teaching in the graduate program and directing the office of international studies. She also fills the office of second vice president of Sigma Theta Tau, national honorary society of nursing which is headquartered at the I.U. nursing school.

Her leadership to the school and university has been in academic affairs, curricular matters, student support, community liaison and alumni relations. The presentation also noted her goals of excellence and scholarship and her qualities of leadership, integrity, and civic pride.

* * *

TEEN VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Volunteer Services Department will begin interviewing 14- through 17-year-olds for their Summer Cheer Teen Program during the week of April 1, which is spring break time in the Marion County public schools.

Teen Volunteers are placed on the basis of the applicant's ability, interests and possible career choice. They may be assigned to admitting, information desk, gift shop, gift cart, nursing services, clerical duties or the outpatient clinic area.

Requirements for Cheer Teen applicants are: Consent of parent or guardian, physician's consent form, positive commitment of time for morning or afternoon, uniform fee of $4.50 and attendance at an orientation program.

The Cheer Teen Summer program will start June 11 and continue through the last week in August. Persons who want to apply should call Mrs. Maxine Mingle at Riley Hospital, Ext. 8682, or Mrs. Virginia Bradley, at University Hospital, Ext. 3738.

* * *

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

JEANNETTE MATTHEW
LIBRARIAN, SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS
420 BLAKE STREET