IUPUI TO HOST SCIENCE FAIR FOR FIRST TIME

Meters and wheel bearings, solar energy panels and computers, test tubes and building insulation all will be on display when the 27th Annual Central Indiana Regional Science and Engineering Fair takes place at the Purdue University School of Engineering and Technology at IUPUI, March 27-29.

The fair is being co-sponsored for the first time this year by IUPUI in co-operation with The Indianapolis News. Alternate co-sponsors are Butler University, Indiana Central University and Marian College.

Dr. David Bostwick, assistant dean for administrative and student affairs at the school, said IUPUI has been looking forward to participation in the fair since space became available when the Engineering and Technology Building was completed. The fair will be held in the lower level of the building.

Participants will compete in three separate divisions with judging on three different days: Elementary division pupils will be judged March 27, junior division on March 28, and senior division on March 29. Each day exhibits will be set up between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. The exhibit area will be open for public viewing from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., with the daily awards ceremony beginning at 7 p.m.

Prizes will include ribbons, certificates, trophies, cash, merchandise and trips in each division. Two senior division winning contestants with the best biological and physical science entries, and their sponsoring teachers, will receive expense-paid trips to the International Science and Engineering Fair at San Antonio, Tex., in May.
