WELFARE TO BE DISCUSSED

"Problems in Social Welfare" will be the topic for the first Walter Binyon Johnson Memorial Lecture sponsored by the Graduate School of Social Service. Open to the public, the no-charge event will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 102 of the new Law School. A reception for faculty and alumni will follow.

The featured speaker will be Professor Wayne Vasey of the School of Social Work at the University of Michigan. He has been dean at the George Warren Brown School of Social Work at Washington University in St. Louis, with the School of Social Work at Rutgers University and director of the School of Social Work at the University of Iowa at Iowa City. Among his publications, Government and Social Welfare is considered a substantive work.

The lecture is being presented to honor the memory of Walter Binyon Johnson, longtime faculty member and dean of the Graduate School of Social Service from August, 1966, to July, 1967. He died January 2, 1970.

In recognition of his long and widespread service in the social work field, he received a distinguished alumnus award from Washington University in 1961 and the Howard Gustafson award from the Central Indiana Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers in 1967.

Senator Larry Borst, chairman of the state Senate finance committee, author of the major portion of IUPUI legislation, will speak at the University Faculty Club luncheon meeting at 11:45 a.m. Thursday in the auditorium of the Administration Building at 38th Street. Tickets ($2.75 for members and $3.50 for non-members) are available from Mrs. Alice Max, Krannert Building at 38th Street; Mrs. Pat Swackhamer, graduate office of the Administration Building at 38th Street; Virginia Brandestein, Room 441A, C-A Building, and Carol Kubilis, Room 441F. Wednesday is the deadline for getting tickets.

A series of lectures in physics by R.P. Feynman, 1965 Nobel Laureate in Physics, filmed by the BBC, will be shown in Room 118 of the Krannert Building at the 38th Street Campus at 4 p.m. Thursdays beginning this week and running through April 1.

General title of the series is "The Character of Physical Law." The first lecture is "Law of Gravitation."

Dr. Feynman, professor of theoretical physics at the California Institute of Technology, is a foreign member of the Royal Society and is noted for his ability to bring his subject alive for the non-physicist.

Succeeding subjects will be "Relations of Mathematics to Physics," "Great Conservation Principles," "Symmetry in Physical Law," "Distinction of Past and Future," "Probability and Uncertainty" and "Seeking New Laws."

Progress Report--Mrs. Richard Low, chairman of the Betty Crocker coupon collection project to buy a kidney dialysis machine for the Medical Center, reports that 185,000 coupons have been received so far. That's 35,000 more than last week but they must have 600,000 to complete the project. The coupons are being collected in the News Bureau, 104 Fesler Hall (which received about 1,700 last week), or they may be sent to Mrs. Low, Route 1, Greenfield.

A Little Traveling Music, Please--The Committee on Institutional Co-operation (CIC), a voluntary association of the Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago, has established the Traveling Scholar Program, part of its continuing effort to increase co-operative use of its member institutions' resources.

The program enables doctoral-level students at any CIC university to take advantage of educational opportunities--specialized courses, unique library collections, unusual laboratories--at any other CIC university without change in registration or increase in fees.

A student who wishes to become a CIC Traveling Scholar must first consult with his adviser. Interested faculty and students should confer with their Liaison Officers. At I.U., it's Paul E. Klinge, associate dean of research and advanced studies. At Purdue, it's Frederick N. Andrews, vice-president for research and graduate dean.

IUPUI Sports--The charity basketball game of the season will be played at 7 p.m. Friday in the Cathedral High School gymnasium, 1416 North Meridian Street. Contestants are the School of Dentistry faculty and senior dental students. Admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for children. The game is sponsored by Dental Dames, with all proceeds going to provide dentistry for underprivileged children. . . The Hurryin' Hoosierettes, School of Nursing basketball team, will meet the team from the University of Tennessee School of Nursing in their annual Little Brown Jug contest at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Marion College gymnasium. The teams have competed for the Little Brown Jug for several years. Games are held in Memphis one year and in Indianapolis the next. The team from the UT Medical Center at Memphis will arrive by chartered bus on Friday morning, Feb. 19. That afternoon team members will be taken to the Speedway and a turn around the track, and then on a bus trip to see interesting places on the IUPUI campus and around Indianapolis. They will be entertained with a party on the Roof Lounge at the Union Building Friday night. The team will practice Saturday morning at Ball residence and the two teams will participate in the official luncheon at noon at the Union Building. The visitors will return to Memphis on Sunday morning.

"Inter-Collegiate Athletics" will be discussed Monday by Dr. Edwin Cady of the English Department at I.U.-Bloomington at a meeting of the Convocations and Lectures Committee. The meeting will be at noon in the student lounge of the Krannert Building at the 38th Street Campus. Dr. Cady is the Indiana faculty representative on the Inter-Collegiate Conference of Athletics Faculty for the Big Ten Conference. He also is chairman for the Athletics Committee at I.U. and has three varsity letters in football from Ohio Wesleyan. His official title at I.U. is Consultant to the President on Athletics and Library Affairs.

The Indiana Heart Association has published their deadline for receipt of renewal or new applications as April 1, 1971. Application forms for all new requests will be the same as for last year. Because of the expense, quantities of these applications are not being sent to all individual investigators. If you have need of a copy in order to meet the deadline, we have some available in the Office of Sponsored Programs. The internal deadline for submission is March 18, 1971.

February Art Exhibit--Display for February in the cases inside the west entrance to the Union Building features pencil drawings done in the Foundation Department at the Herron School of Art. The course in applied drawing is designed to help the student discover, through investigation, the structures of things both natural and man-made. By taking a closer look at nature through the magnifying glass and microscope, the student discovers forms, patterns, and textures of which he was unaware. Some of the large drawings displayed may not be recognizable for the act of enlargement has taken the object out of context or the scale to which the human eye is accustomed.

The exhibit is one of a continuing series of cultural offerings arranged by the Student Union Board of IUPUI.
