

IUPUI WILL CELEBRATE WHO'S INTERNATIONAL DESIGNATION

Nursing's Institute of Action Research for Community Health will celebrate its recent designation as a World Health Organization Collaborating Center for Healthy Cities and everyone is invited. The Healthy Cities movement began in Europe and Canada and it will gain from the research, a global data base and the training that will be provided at the new center at IUPUI. The inauguration banquet and international conference with speakers from across the globe is Oct. 31-Nov. 1 at University Place. The theme is "Public Policies for Healthy Cities: Involving the Policy Makers" and the focus will be on topics that can enhance urban living in all cities, said Beverly Flynn, head of the new center and professor of nursing. The keynote speech, "Taking an Optimistic Approach to Healthy Cities," will be presented at the Oct. 31 banquet by interim dean of nursing Angela Barron McBride. For costs and to register, or for more information about the banquet and conference, call 4-3319.--S. Matthys Roob

HISTORY'S GRAY TO EDIT SERIES ON MIDWEST

Midwestern scholar and IUPUI history professor Ralph D. Gray has been appointed editor of a book series about Midwestern history that is to be published over the next few years by the Michigan-based A&M Publishing Company. He was selected for "his lengthy experience in evaluating scholarship in the field of history," said an A&M spokesman. No stranger to the task of editing, for 10 years Gray has been editor of the well-known "Journal of the Early Republic." Looking forward to the challenge of selecting writers and manuscripts for the series, Gray said, "I've long been convinced that this area of the country has been overlooked by people on both coasts. Because of that I think a lot of us who live here tend to have a bit of an inferiority complex about the Midwest, even though there is a rich history in everything from agriculture to industry to politics. We live in one of the most interesting and dynamic regions in the country...."--R. Burrous

For Your Development

DEADLINES NEAR FOR TWO SPECIAL WORKSHOPS

The different ways that people learn and the dramatic Mathematica way to teach math are the focus of two separate free workshops planned for faculty by the Faculty Development Office at IUPUI. Registration is due Oct. 23 for "Learning Styles: Understanding the Learner through the MBTI," a discussion of the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator for assessing a person's psychological type in the sense of Jung. It is Oct. 25, 1-4:30 p.m. in BS 3017. Then, beginning Oct. 25 is the Mathematica workshop series, which requires registration and a commitment to all five sessions that are through November, 4-6 p.m. in SET II, room 2116. Space is limited to 30 people. Mathematica is a computer program that does symbolic processing which has dramatically changed the way scientists and educators think about math problems. Faculty all over the world are involved in Mathematica. To register, or for more information about either workshop, call Joyce Chaffin, 4-8880.

BALTIC BRIEFING ON TV PRECEDES CAMPUS CONFERENCE

The rebirth of the nations of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania and the resulting changes to be wrought in history, politics and economics are the topics of a one-hour briefing by IUB and IUPUI experts that will be shown on cable's education channel this week. It is just in time to give you good perspective and background before the arrival of the leaders and prime ministers of those countries at University Place. In the TV briefing, from IUPUI, are Marjorie Lyles from business, moderating; Ain Haas in sociology and Juergen von Hagen in business economics and public policy. The "insightful" briefing can be seen on American Cablevision-Ch 19 and Comcast-Ch 35 at the following times:

Oct. 21--3-4 p.m.

Oct. 22--8-9 p.m.

Oct. 24--8-9 p.m.

Oct. 25--3-4 p.m.

Then, beginning Oct. 20 Baltic leaders will converge on campus for discussions in preparation for the arrival of prime ministers Ivars Godmanis of Latvia, Edgar Savisaar of Estonia and Gediminas Gagnorius of Lithuania. They will participate with IU faculty and others in the Hudson Institute's International Baltic Economic Commission Conference, Oct. 28-30 at University Place. Among the topics for the nations' transformation will be IBEC commissioners and experts presenting written proposals for moving the Baltics toward market economies and establishing Western banking there.

NOMINATIONS FOR APPOINTMENTS OF DISTINGUISHED PROFESSORS ARE BEING ACCEPTED

Faculty, alumni, students and "any other worthy and knowledgeable source" can nominate individuals for distinguished professor appointments. Nominations with full supporting evidence are due no later than Jan. 10. Call 5-4613 for guidelines.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Bees and Bugs Pollution--African bees, the Asian tiger mosquito and garlic mustard are among the exotic species contributing to the nation's biological pollution and have made the program list for an Indiana Academy of Science conference Oct. 25-26 at University Place. Bill N. McKnight of the Indiana State Museum is chairman of the "Biological Pollution: The Control and Impact of Invasive Exotic Species" conference. Call 4-3627.

Science Mentors--Professionals and students interested in becoming mentors or proteges are invited to the Association for Women in Science reception, Oct. 29, 4-7 p.m., SL 2230. To RSVP, call 4-7315.

Toddler Case History--The case of emotional abuse of a three-year-old will be presented at the quarterly child abuse conference, Nov. 7, noon-1 p.m. in the Riley Meiks conference room. The Riley Hospital Child Advocacy Committee invites everyone.

Rinks Retires--Everyone is welcome to a retirement reception of Rosie Rinks from the Office of Fiscal Affairs, School of Medicine, Oct. 25, 2:30-4:30 p.m., Fesler Hall 319.

Free Brochure--Herron School of Art at IUPUI and four other Marion County institutions and the Arts Council of Indianapolis are offering you the free brochure "Hit the Campus for Culture," a comprehensive calendar of cultural events they sponsor. Call 631-3301.

Play It Again--The IUPUI Concert Band is looking for a few good players of instruments of any kind to rehearse a couple hours of a week and perform once or twice each semester. Call band director Doug Smith, 4-4000 for more.

Luscious Lunches--All American cuisine is offered each Wednesday through Dec. 4 in the Hoosier Room at noon. The cost is $10--no tax, no tips. Call Pat Ault, 4-0815.

HEAR THE "PAPERS," SEE THE SYNOPSSES, SPEAK ABOUT "SOLITUDE"

The BookMarks project for everyone on campus gears up with more information from its director Jane Rooksby. For the sight impaired and for those who like to listen to books, The Federalist Papers is available on audio tape at $15.50 for rental, $48 for purchase from Books on Tape. Call 1-800-626-3333 to order, or 1-800-541-5525 for library service. Also, for your enjoyment there is available one-page orientations written by IUPUI faculty members for all five books on the reading list. And, you don't have to be alone with One Hundred Years of Solitude. Faculty member Lucila Mena continues discussions of Marquez's novel in brown bag gatherings in the International House in the Warthin Apartments, Nov. 8 and Nov. 22, both at noon. For material and information, call Jane at 4-4371.

UNITED WAY WAITS ON YOU

By the time you read this, your colleagues were expected to have donated more than $100,000 to the campus United Way Campaign. Helping out with our goal of $270,000 has been student Mark Williams, who organized a fund raiser outdoors on Library Mall. Mark, like many people on campus, has been on the receiving end of the United Way through Big Brothers, and now he's giving back. Somewhere on your desk is your United Way pledge card. Giving all that you can can help.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

At the Walker--Chuck Davis and the African American Dance Ensemble will present concerts Oct. 25-26 at 8 p.m. in the Walker Theater. IUB student Kelly Ann Anthony will be featured in one number. For tickets and more, call 236-2099.

Exempts--Human Resources Administration's workshop on the exempt employment process is Oct. 29, 9-10:30 a.m., UN 372. Deadline to register is Oct. 22. Call 4-8931.

Top Actress to Speak--Hyapatia Lee, actress in more than 30 adult movies for which she has also written, will speak on "First Amendment Rights" in the Hoosiers Speaks Out free lecture series, Nov. 4, 7:30 p.m., LE 101. Recently voted the top performer in her field, Lee has been featured in more than 30 magazines for men, and has appeared on national TV talk shows. The School of Liberal Arts Student Council welcomes all.

Grant Deadline Nears--The deadline is Nov. 30 for the James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Association research grant-in-aid applications. Research proposals are limited to those dealing directly with Riley patients. For more, contact Mark Spalding, Fesler Hall 207, or call 4-5265.

Natatorium Calling Volunteers--Several major sporting events are set for the coming year at the natatorium. Hundreds of volunteers will be needed to welcome and assist athletes and visitors from across the country and the world. Campus people are especially welcome to volunteer for such events as the Big 10, World Masters, and NCAA championships, as well as diving trials for the Olympic teams and more. Call Deb Turner, 4-3378.

Tune In--IUPUI is pleased to be a part of the Educational Television Cooperative which coordinates the Educational Access Cable Channel found on American and Comcast cable channels. Check your October listings and check out the Fall Premiere show that features Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko and other officials discussing TV education.

Witness Wanted--Anyone who witnessed an accident Sept. 25 at 5:10 p.m. in Lot 58, between the south parking garage and New York Street, involving a green-gray Nissan and a white Cavalier is asked to call Claudia Richardson, Alumni Office, 4-5060.

Even though today's children know as much as their parents, "it's not enough, the world has changed and education must do more," said Robert Lehn, director of the Indiana Education Policy Center, Indianapolis Office, which he directs. He announces a series that was set to begin with an overview on Oct. 18 in SPEA, where the center is located. Sessions to follow include Education and Economic Development: What is the Connection, Jan. 10; The Equity of Indiana School Finance: Are Things Improving, Feb. 21; Demographic Trends Shaping Indiana Schools, Mar. 27, and The Golden Age of Indiana Public Education: Fact or Fiction, Apr. 24. All are from 2:30-4:30 p.m. in BS 4095. Lehn's work and that of other researchers will be presented.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH FROM MAX*WELL Through November, Max*Well, the IUPUI Fitness Program, has scheduled events to help you get and stay healthy. A blood sugar screening to test for diabetes is Nov. 12, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. in BS 4093. There is no charge, but you should not eat for a few hours before the 10 minute test. The Community Health Nursing Department will help with a Health Risk Appraisal to help you establish goals to improve your health. It is Nov. 13, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. in NU 214. The cost is $2 without cholesterol test; $5 with it. And, during the Great American Smoke Out, Nov. 21, 12:10-12:50 p.m. in NU 229, the American Heart Association will give a free presentation on stopping smoking.

FINALLY...

...New York law professor Harvey Dale presents a free public lecture, "Holding Ourselves to Higher Standards: An Argument for Regulation of Nonprofit Organizations," Oct. 31 after a 7:30 a.m. breakfast at the Marott. Cost is $7.50. For reservations, call the Center on Philanthropy, co-sponsor, 4-4200 by Oct. 25.

...the Indiana Geriatric Education Center at IUPUI announces a national videoconference, "Aging and Developmental Disabilities" Nov. 6, 12:30-3 p.m. For campus viewing sites or more information, call Karen Fraenkel in MERP, 4-4220.

...Jim Berlin, professor of English at Purdue, presents "Cultural Studies and Composition Studies: Collapsing Boundaries" Oct. 25, 3:30-4:30 p.m. in LE 103. A reception and refreshments follow in CA 507. The English Dept. welcomes everyone.

...the Youth Sports Development Program at the natatorium offers basic skills instruction classes for children 5-16 years old at sites around the city, weekends, Nov. 9-Dec. 15. There's a "Run for Your Life" Oct. 25 and much more. Call 4-8613.

...at Herron School of Art today (Oct. 20) is National Portfolio Day where recruiters from 17 schools from across the country were set to meet with prospective art students. And, William Crutchfield, an internationally known artist/alumnus returns for a free public lecture/slide presentation Oct. 28, 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

...Forrest Meiere, physics, joined a 14-member multinational team of physicists from German, Italy, Australia and the U.S. in a recent three-week tour of China. The effort was sponsored by the German Physical Society to improve physics education in developing countries. He gave seminars at Beijing and Guangxi Universities.

green sheet

*News Bureau

Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202