DR. RYAN INSTALLED

An investiture service installing Dr. John W. Ryan as the 14th president of Indiana University was held last Thursday in the Board of Trustees Room, Bryan Administration Building, Bloomington.

Donald C. Danielson of New Castle, president of the I.U. board, invested Dr. Ryan with the symbols of office and gave him the charge of office. In accordance with President Ryan's request that the ceremony be brief and simple, attendance was limited by invitation to some 45 representatives of the various segments of the University and state government.

Dr. Ryan was elevated to president on January 26, 1971, after 2½ years' service as vice-president and chancellor for regional campuses.

HONORARY DEGREE NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

The Honorary Degrees Committee is again asking the faculty for suggestions for honorary degrees to be awarded at the various commencement exercises next May or in subsequent years. Nominations must be made before February 1 to be considered for this year's commencement.

It is the current policy to award honorary degrees only to people who have had some connection with Indiana either by birth, residence or education. So far, the only exceptions have been for heads of state governments and the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

If you submit a nomination, the committee would appreciate as much information about the nominee as possible. Forward nominations to Lynne L. Merritt Jr., vice-president and dean, Research and Advanced Studies, 315 Bryan Hall, Bloomington.

POST OFFICE REQUESTS

Each person who isn't a U.S. citizen is required to fill out an alien registration form during January. (This includes children.) If you're visiting from another country or are living here under alien status, stop at the campus post office in the Administration Building and pick up your card.

Be sure to use complete addresses on all campus mail. The name, department, building and room number, and return address are essential for speedy correct delivery. Use your name and department in return addresses on outgoing mail also.

The campus post office is not automatically informed of new personnel or address changes. If you are new on campus or are moving to a new campus address, call Ext. 8209.
