THREE TO LEAD CAMPUS CAMPAIGN HERE

Maynard K. Hine, chancellor emeritus; Neil E. Lantz, director of Administrative Affairs, and Jan Shipps, professor of history and director of the Center for American Studies, will lead the IUPUI Campus Campaign, announced Mary Burgan, IUB, general chair of the campaign. Burgan said, "With the commitment and leadership of these people, the Campus Campaign for IUPUI promises to be a success." She also noted that a high participation in the campaign by faculty and staff will be essential in making a case to outside prospective major donors.

CORRECTION--All faculty and staff who want to hear about the $1.4 billion building projects planned in the next few years for our campus and nearby are invited to a presentation on the subject that follows the IUPUI Faculty Council meeting on Feb. 7 (not Feb. 4 as incorrectly printed in last week's Green Sheet). Neil Lantz, Robert Baxter and J. Terry Clapacs will talk at 4:15 p.m. after the Faculty Council meeting in Room 116 of the Law School.

SENIORS SCREEN IN SICKLE CELL SEARCH

The Walker Eye Clinic, operated by IU's School of Optometry, participated in January's monthly clinic session at the Sickie Cell Center. Senior optometry students under the direction of Dr. Linda Casser conducted eye exams for individuals served by the center. Last fall, the optometrists screened many patients for vision problems, including renal changes which can indicate sickle cell anemia. The Walker Eye Clinic opened in September at the Madame Walker Urban Life Center. It provides primary eye care for the public, especially aiming for the IUPUI campus and downtown Indianapolis. For an appointment or more information, call the clinic at Ext. 4582.

GOOD TURNOUT INSPIRES CELEBRATION PLANNERS

Bolstered by the numbers of students, faculty and staff who attended our first Martin Luther King Jr. celebration on campus, the committee and the Black Student Union (BSU) that planned the Jan. 21 event are already making plans for next year. Lincoln V. Lewis, director of Affirmative Action and chairman of the planning committee, said, "Because of the tribute paid Dr. King, we achieved a higher level of awareness throughout the campus and community about his dream for the black community." The 14th Annual Martin Luther King Award Dinner was part of the celebration. Its sponsor, the BSU, announced that dinner was a sell-out and that, through the generosity of faculty and staff, more than 35 students were given sponsorships to the dinner. The committee, which so far has no official title, was appointed recently by Howard G. Schaller, executive dean and dean of the faculties at IUPUI. It has been charged with the responsibility of promoting better community and internal relations at IUPUI and it will be handling other special projects.

RUSSIAN STUDY TOUR INFORMATION AVAILABLE

Professor Thomas Fedor, Department of Geography, will be leading a study tour of Russia and Siberia scheduled for May 17-31. Part of the course "Field Study in Geography--The Soviet Union (G-345)" offered during Summer Session I, the tour includes Leningrad and Moscow. Also on the itinerary are Novosibirsk and the "scientific city" of Akademgorodok in western Siberia. Areas in Eastern Siberia include Irkutsk and Lake Baikal that will be reached via the Trans-Siberian Railroad. For information, call Prof. Fedor at Ext. 8877.

They play Franklin on Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. and Marion on Feb. 9 at 3 p.m. Come out and root for the home teams.

PROF. JEGEN'S TAX TIPS: FICA, ABUSES, MILEAGE

--The FICA tax rate is now a total of 14% (7.05% for employers and 7.05% for employees). Also, the self-employment tax is now 11.8%. And, both of these percentages apply to earnings up to $39,600. Thus, the maximum annual social security tax which is to be paid by employees during 1985 is $2,791.80, $4,672.80 for the self-employed. For individual taxpayers this increase will largely offset any tax savings from indexing, and I am certain that many of you will be paying more employment taxes in 1985 than you will income taxes.

--In recent speeches, IRS Commissioner Egger warned taxpayers who invest in abusive tax shelters that in the future these taxpayers will not be receiving "quick" income tax refunds for amounts which are indicated as refundable amounts on these taxpayers' income tax returns. Also, the IRS is confident that a significant number of taxpayers who invest in such abusive shelters will ultimately pay more in taxes, penalties and interest than they can afford.

--The standard mileage rate for vehicles used in business during 1984 is 20.5 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use of an automobile/vehicle which is not fully depreciated. The rates for business use (which is not fully depreciated) after the first 15,000 miles and for all business use of a vehicle (which is fully depreciated) are 11 cents a mile. The rate for charitable, medical and moving expenses is nine cents a mile. You may deduct either the business standard mileage rate or the actual expenses for the business use of your vehicle. In addition to the standard mileage rate, you may deduct the business-related portion of parking, tolls and interest on an automobile loan.

(Lawrence A. Jegen, III, is the Thomas F. Sheehan Professor of Tax Law and Policy at the IU School of Law - Indianapolis and an IRS Tax Commissioner.)

FOCUS ON SOUTH AFRICA

Eunice Sowazi, general secretary of the Swaziland Christian Council, will give two separate presentations of an insider's view on the subject, "South Africa, Apartheid and Christianity," on Feb. 4 at noon in Cavanaugh Hall, Room 537 and at 7:30 p.m. in Ball Residence, Room 160. Swaziland has been an independent country since 1968. Rev. James D. Stender, campus pastor for the Indianapolis Lutheran Campus Ministry, sponsor of the programs, invites all.

USING THREE DECS IN CAI, BACS, WCBIS

Dean Ralph E. McDonald and Dr. Rosario H. Potter, School of Dentistry, recently implemented Computer Aided Instruction (CAI) for dental students in a cooperative project with the Bloomington Academic Computing Services (BACS) Workshop for Computer Based Instructional Support (WCBIS). The system uses Digital's VAX computer at IUB. Three DEC graphic terminals are in operation at the school. Software is authored by Dr. Chamnan Hovijitra, staff programming analyst, using the new DEC language COURSEWARE for educational purposes. Dental students also access the system through the DEC terminals at IUPUI. The question-answer database system is now capable of operating either in a mock-test mode with retrievals and automatic scoring or in a self-evaluating mode with subject material reinforcement in the form of explanations, reference material and sources, or hints for both correct and incorrect answers. A particularly effective feature of the program is the graphic capability to handle illustration material.
