The $1,000 award is given annually to an individual whose pursuit of excellence in the medical or paramedical professions deserves both recognition and financial support. The award is presented by the Winona Memorial Foundation

A native of Burlington, Iowa, he received his bachelor's and master's degrees and Ph.D. from the University of Iowa and had taught in Indianapolis for nine years. He also was an Army veteran of World War II.

The commission also agreed to provide easements for the Indianapolis Water Company to service water mains along Central Canal and assured Acme Evans Company of access to their facilities on Market Street and to their general office aside the river. Some properties purchased by the commission earlier have been cleared and some streets which originally separated the parcels have been vacated by the city to provide contiguous acreage.

iViva las flambres!

IUPUI's Hispanic student group, the Universitarios Hispanos, is sponsoring a picnic Saturday, May 8 at 1 p.m. The picnic is on the west lawn of the Warthin Apartments, 440 Winona Street on the Michigan Street campus. The public is invited. For more information, call Fred Nasrallah at 257-0868.

King's Island discount

Anyone planning to visit King's Island May 1 or 2 can pick up exchange tickets worth $2.80 off admission. Exchange tickets are available in CA 322, Student Union Building ticket window and other offices. Call 264-3931 for information.

Studenomics

The Student Economics Association will be meeting Thursday, April 29 at noon in BS 3013.

genesis

The fall issue of the IUPUI literary journal, Genesis, is available free of charge in the Blake Street library and campus bookstores. The spring issue will be available by the second week in May. Information about submissions of fiction, essays, poetry and artwork is included in each issue of Genesis for future contributions.

Seniority at Herron

The Herron School of Art Gallery presents a "Show of Seniority" which opened April 16 and runs through May 1. The public is invited.

Mayan mythology

The next English Club meeting will be Thursday, April 29 at 3 p.m. in CA 229. Brenda Bischoff will present a program on Mayan mythology using slides, textiles and artifacts.

Quitters

Smokers and non-smokers alike are needed now by the Indiana University Oral Health Institute at Indianapolis. A study to determine the effects of a nicotine-containing gum needs volunteers who have a sincere desire to stop smoking cigarettes. Non-smokers, who won't be asked to use the gum, will be used as a control group. All participants will have dental examinations and cleaning over a period of six months. Please call (317) 264-8822 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for more information.

Theatre awards

The annual awards banquet for the communication and theatre department will be held Saturday, May 8 at 7 p.m. in the University Theatre located in the Mary Cable Building. After the roasting and serious awards, a catered buffet dinner will be served. Tickets are available for $4.50 on room 117 of the Cable Building or reservations may be made by calling 264-4517.

Tetrapeptides

A Chem Club seminar entitled "Synthesis of Cyclic Tetrapeptides Related to Chlamydocin" will be held Wednesday, April 28 at 4:30 p.m. in KB 249. Dr. D.H. Rich of the University of Wisconsin at Madison will speak. Refreshments will be served from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

BSU elections

The Black Student Union is currently holding elections for 1982-83 school year. Elections are open and anyone can vote. Ballots can be cast 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Black Student Union office (CA 001B) until Friday, April 30.

WE'LL PAY YOU TO GET INTO SHAPE THIS SUMMER.

During your six weeks of training this summer, you'll learn some very basic things about the Army. Weapons. Combat tactics. Drill and ceremonies.

You'll also learn some very basic things about yourself. Your physical endurance. Your leadership capabilities. Your ability to think and perform under pressure.

You'll finish the summer with some other basics. Discipline. Pride. Confidence. Basics which will be important to you in all your future endeavors.

You may also have the opportunity to compete for a two year full tuition scholarship.

For information see Major Jim Winters
Cavanaugh 335 or call 264-2691

If you have at least two years of college left, you can spend six weeks at our Army ROTC Basic Camp this summer and earn approximately $600.

And if you qualify, you can enter the ROTC 2-Year Program this fall and receive up to $1,000 a year.

But the big payoff happens on graduation day. That's when you receive an officer's commission.

So get your body in shape (not to mention your bank account).

Enroll in Army ROTC. For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

Parking problems again

Parking is rarely a problem this time of year. If it is a problem, complaining students aren't as vocal about it as they are during the fall semester.

The Sagamore office is swamped with letters every September from students who couldn't find a parking space at all or, once they found one, couldn't get their doors open because of the cramped area.

Well, the problem doesn't go away in the spring. The "biggest" problem is large cars parking in the small car lot. On any given day, you can watch drivers of oversized cars trying to squeeze their vehicles into the confining area of a small car parking space.

One can also witness these same vehicles remaining in the space with no parking ticket ever being placed on the windshield. Why?

These oversized cars in the small car lot are making it nearly impossible to park a compact car in the space, therefore defeating the whole purpose of the small car lot.

Maybe fining the drivers of these cars is not enough. Perhaps towing them at the owners' expense would be a better incentive to park them where they belong.

Student groups say thanks

To the Editor:

We would like to thank the students, faculty, and administration alike for making the Schlafly-DeCrow debate, held on April 8, a successful endeavor.

We were delighted with the turnout and the obvious support for such an event. We hope that in the future, facilities will be available to accommodate even larger crowds.

The debate was made possible through the collective energy of the Progressive Student Union and Women's Student Caucus members.

Specifically, we would like to recognize and commend Marg Herder, chair of the Women's Student Caucus, for the efficient manner in which she coordinated the efforts of various people seating the crowd.

As we all know, the limited seating capacity in LE 101 posed a great problem, resulting in the use of overflow rooms. Marg Herder's ability to manage the floor contributed immensely to the debate's success.

Another P.S.U. member who worked long hours and whose input was invaluable was Nancy Hill.

A special thank you is extended to Charlotte Wright at the IUPUI News Bureau. It was a joy to work with her as it was with the Instructional Media personnel, Bill Stuckey and Joy Krammer.

This letter would not be complete without thanking Student Activities for all their hard work as well as the Sagamore for its detailed coverage. It was truly an IUPUI event.

Student questions BSU

To the Editor:

Today when I attended class in Cavanaugh Hall I noticed there were quite a few new signs adorning the walls. I was not surprised, because of the elections, but at closer inspection I realized that many of the signs were promoting a new Student Union; a Black Student Union.

I was shocked to read signs such as, "... here is the chance to belong."

It is in my opinion that a Student Union is just that; a union of the students—together. Next I will see signs advertising a Female Student Union, a Male Student Union; and what do you suppose would occur if a WHITE Student Union was formed?

I think the founders of the Black Student Union should go back to their drawing board and design a Student-Student Union. A Student Union should be open to every student, not just a select group.

— Cheri Yonta Smith

It should be noted membership in the Black Student Union is not limited to blacks. Everyone is welcome to join the organization. It is also not a new organization but one of the oldest on campus. —Ed

Pediatric specialists to speak at child care conference

An internationally recognized faculty of pediatric leaders will converge on Indianapolis May 19-20 for the 17th Annual Indiana Multidisciplinary Child Care Conference at the Hyatt Regency-Indianapolis.

At the invitation of Dr. Morris Green, physician-in-chief at Riley Hospital for Children, these specialists will conduct 12 seminars on such topics as pediatric nephrology, adolescent health, child development, neurology, infectious disease, ambulatory problems and care of newborns.

Among the featured speakers May 19 will be Dr. Elizabeth R. McAnarney, George Washington Goler associate professor of pediatrics and director of the Division of Biosocial Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine. Her presentations will highlight the developmental and behavioral aspects of adolescence.

Dr. McAnarney is a cum laude graduate of the State University of New York Upstate Medical Center and a visiting fellow in the department of human development and family studies at Cornell University. She is a consultant to many New York health agencies and medical centers and a frequent lecturer at national and international symposiums.

On May 20, Dr. Gerald S. Golden, director of the Child Development Division and Pediatric Neurology and professor of pediatrics and neurology at the University of Texas Medical Branch, will address the newer therapies for developmental disabilities.

The conference faculty will include several Riley Hospital physicians. Dr. Richard L. Schreiner, director of Riley's newborn intensive care unit, and his associates will review the state of the art of newborn care.

Open to Hoosier pediatricians, nurses and other child health specialists, this conference has been accredited by the Indiana University School of Medicine and qualifies for continuing education credits.

To make reservations or for more conference information, contact the office of Dr. Morris Green, Riley Hospital, A573, 1100 West Michigan Street, Indianapolis, Ind. 46223.

SAFECO has a very sensible policy of insuring careful drivers. So if you've been keeping to the straight and narrow, your agent can probably offer you lower rates right off the bat.

And help you get the most for your money with other suggestions too. Like these:

Keep your auto coverage up-to-date. Changes in your driving habits and in your family can drastically affect your premiums.

If you have young drivers on your policy, have them take a driver's training course.

Downgrade your collision insurance as your car ages. In fact, as your car gets older, it may not be worth buying collision coverage at all.

Liberal Arts honors students

The IUPUI School of Liberal Arts acknowledged the achievement of many students at the annual Honors Convocation for Outstanding Students held Friday, April 23, at 8 p.m.

The program, presided over by acting Dean James R. East, began with recognizing the parents of the honored students for their support and encouragement. Then, stating that the School of Liberal Arts wanted to "show off its own," Dean East introduced Anne Wilcox, an IUPUI graduate who majored in philosophy with a straight A average.

During her undergraduate years, Wilcox served as editor of Genesis, a literary magazine, and compiled an outstanding record with the debate team in which she holds a charter membership. Ms. Wilcox attended the IU School of Law from which she also graduated with distinction. Since January 1974, she has been a member of the associate faculty of IUPUI.

"Achievement is a habit of mind," Wilcox stated in an address which discussed excellence after leaving the university setting. Citing the current tough job market, Wilcox asserted that "habits of excellence" are necessary if one is to survive, perform and compete against others, and that you "never lose what you learned at the university and you never lose your history either."

Wilcox thanked the faculty members for sharing their knowledge and good judgment, and claimed that "there is a wealth of knowledge among the faculty."

Awards presented are as follows:

Sigma Tau Delta welcomes new members

Nine IUPUI students were inducted into the Zeta Lambda Chapter of the National English Honor Society, Sigma Tau Delta. Members of the society welcomed the newcomers in a brief ceremony and reception Thursday, April 22, at Professor Edwin Casebeer's residence.

Chartered for IUPUI in May, 1971, the organization grew originally from the English Club to recognize excellence in college English achievement.

Sponsor Mary Blasingham, along with President Ruth H. Morrison, Vice President Jackie Green, and Treasurer Gail Stygall, oversaw the installation of the following students: Linda J. Collins, Catherine Dixon Davis, Pamela J. Koons, William A. Neiman, Phyllis R. Newton, Joann L. Shanks, Madge B. Steifel, Kathleen Doyle Sturgeon, and Bettina M. Thomasson.

Those not in attendance but also accepted into the organization include: Deborah L. DeVaney, Debra A. Marshino, and Pamela G. McBride.

The candidates for Sigma Tau Delta need not be members of the English Club but active membership is limited to English majors, minors, and education majors who are preparing to teach English. These students must also meet the following requirements: 56 hours of credit completed, 12 hours of literature above the 100 level completed, and a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 in English.

Clay Courts return to Indy — no price increase

The 73rd U. S. Open Clay Court Championships will return to the Indianapolis Sports Center, August 1-8, supported by its two long-time sponsors, and with an eighth day added to its schedule, but with no increase in ticket prices.

American Fletcher National Bank, now in its 10th year of sponsorship, will again be joined by Elizabeth Arden, which has co-sponsored the event for the last three years. It is significant that both corporate headquarters are located in Indianapolis.

"American Fletcher National Bank and Elizabeth Arden have supported world class tennis in this city for a number of years," said Tournament Director Stan Malless. "We are proud to have them return again this year as sponsors of our championships."

Malless also announced the Clay Courts has entered into a new association with Mark McCormack's International Management Group, based in Cleveland, Ohio. IMG is the world's largest and most successful sports management company and has been involved in the organization of a number of major tennis events for many years.

"Our work with Wimbledon stretches back over a dozen years and we are also heavily involved with the Open Championships of Germany, Italy, France, Canada, and of course, the U.S.," said John Beddington, vice president of Racquet Sports of IMG. "We are very selective about the tournaments with which we form long term relationships, and we are excited about the opportunities here. The Clay Courts are one of the best known and highest regarded of all the tournaments on the international circuit, and we look forward to working with such a finely organized championship."

Staging and operation of the Championships will remain the responsibility of its non-profit, volunteer committees. Any net income from the tournament will continue to be used for the further improvement of the Indianapolis Sports Center, support of the National Junior Tennis League, the International Junior Tennis Tournament, and the retirement of the bond issue for the construction of the facility. In the first three years, over $300,000 has been contributed by the Clay Court Championships toward retirement of these bonds.

Tickets may be purchased by mail, through June 26, by writing to: 1982 U.S. OPEN CLAY COURTS, Box 26035, Indianapolis, Indiana 46226.

Over-the-counter sales will begin July 12 at the Indianapolis Sports Center located at 725 West New York Street.

IT TAKES MORE THAN BRAINS TO GO TO COLLEGE.

It takes money. For tuition, room and board, and books. And that's just the beginning.

To help meet these costs, the Army proudly introduces the Army College Fund. You can join it, upon qualifying, when you join the Army.

For every dollar you put in, Uncle Sam puts in five. Or more. So, after just two years in the Army, you can have up to $15,200 for college. After three years, up to $20,100.

Call for your free copy of the Army College Fund booklet. It could be the most important book you've ever read.

Downtown welcomes Old Spaghetti Factory

by Dugg Smith

Indianapolis welcomed a new restaurant in the downtown area this month. The Old Spaghetti Factory, located at the corner of Georgia and South Meridian, opened its impressive doors to the public April 5, and it will assuredly become one of the more popular eateries very soon.

Founded in 1969 by Guss

Dussin in Portland, Oregon, The Old Spaghetti Factory emphasizes freshness, quality, and value of their product. All sauces are made at the restaurant using only fresh, high-quality ingredients and all salad dressings, with the exception of the French dressing, are also made fresh. The Old Spaghetti Factory also makes their own meatballs.

Although spaghetti is the sole menu item, patrons are given a choice of five sauces. The manager's favorite entree allows the diner to choose a combination of any two of the five sauces. Choice of sauces include clam, mushroom, meat, tomatoe, and browned butter and mizithra cheese. Included with all dinners are a salad, a loaf of french bread, choice of coffee, tea or milk, and for dessert a delicious bowl of Spumoni ice cream.

The decor of The Old Spaghetti Factory can only be described as awesomely beautiful. A collection of antiques from all over the world make the renovated building almost magical. There are rugs at the entrance from mainland China, stained glass from churches in Rhode Island, a variety of antique chairs from all over the world, many ornate chandeliers, and some impressive woodworking.

The Old Spaghetti Factory is also an excellent value. Dinners start at $3.25 and go to $5.95. Mixed drinks start at $1.45. Although the restaurant is not presently open for lunch, there are plans for a lunch menu in the near future.

Hours are Monday thru Thursday 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, Sunday hours are 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The Old Spaghetti Factory is a dining experience that should not be missed.

Theatre gives final play

The final production of the current season is now under way at University Theater on the IUPUI campus. Curtain-time for "The Subject Was Roses" is 8 p.m. on April 29th, 30th, and May 1st; with general admission tickets at $3.00, and students at $1.00.

"Roses" is Frank D. Gilroy's poignant comedy which chronicles the humorous and often touching happenings of the Cleary family during the forty-eight hours immediately following the return of their son from WWII. The Clearys are Irish-Americans and the action takes place in their Bronx apartment.

University Theater's current offering of "Roses" is directed by Clara Heath, an associate member of the Theater Department faculty. Through her good taste and directorial ability, Heath also sustained the audience's interest with more succinct comedy emphasis in her fast-paced version of "Roses". Heath is a 1979 graduate of Indiana University-Indianapolis, and is currently working on her Masters' Degree at Purdue University. Heath recently directed University Theater's production of "The Children's Hour". She previously directed "All My Sons" at the Christian Theological Seminary's Theater.

"Roses" treats you to a nostalgic trip back to the 1940s, complete with the music of the era and a realistic stage set designed by Technical Director James Walker.

Call 264-2094 for reservations.

Life for Clara Heath began 14 years ago with a "screechy" one-line part in a play and now her life is theatre — learning, teaching and directing it.

She took 18 years, but in 1979 the petite, energetic former assistant personnel manager earned her bachelor's degree in speech/theatre/communications from the I.U. School of Liberal Arts at Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis. She is still there — teaching drama and literally telling her old drama professor how to act.

Heath to direct 'Roses'

She is now directing her 12th play, "The Subject Was Roses," set for performances this Thursday through Saturday, April 29-May 1 at IUPUI. The lead male role is played by her former professor-mentor Dr. J. Edgar Webb, who is also director of University Theatre at IUPUI.

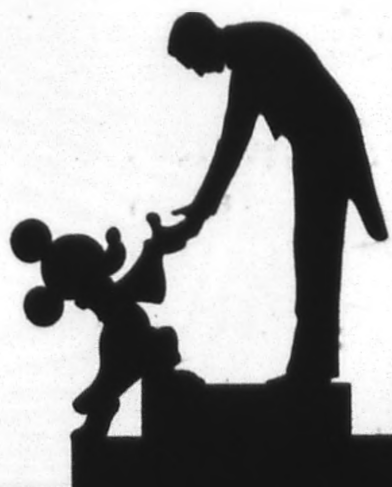

It is their old relationship that makes this play particularly challenging for Heath. "He knew me when I directed my first play and it was awful. I'm better now and we both know it but still, he taught me what I know. It's as if I know that he knows what I'm going to say before I say it."

Very soon Heath will draw from the bank her "New York savings account" and will spend six months studying master's degree courses at New York University and in professional theater studios in New York City. She will live frugally, as many struggling artists live in New York City. Her goal is to bring all she has learned back and teach it to others. Her dream is that fate, plus her experience and the contacts she makes in New York, will lead one day to a career in directing off-Broadway productions.

The ultimate in sight and sound.
Now re-recorded in new digital stereo.

When you're wanted for a murder you didn't commit,
Chased for secrets you didn't steal,
And running from people who want to kill you,
The worst mistake you can make is falling in love...

Meet Michael Jordan. And his mistake.

"How much did you pay for your last pair of jeans?"

$28. $35. $45. Well, you didn't have to. Because Marshalls has hundreds of pairs of jeans for less. In fact, 20% to 60% less than department and specialty store regular prices. Oh, but yours are "designers"? No problem. Marshalls has racks of top brand name and designer jeans. Labeled, with logos... straight leg, flairs or boot cut... for as little as 9.99 to 24.99.

And that's only the beginning. Our 20% to 60% everyday savings are storewide! From pro-maker running shoes to designer tees and jackets. In styles from prep to new wave.

So whether you're dressing for frisbee on the quad or dinner in town, you can get in style at Marshalls... for less.
