

NEW CENTER FOR URBAN POLICY AND THE ENVIRONMENT ANNOUNCED AT IUPUI

Chancellor Bepko stands before a TV monitor showing President Ehrlich at the news conference.

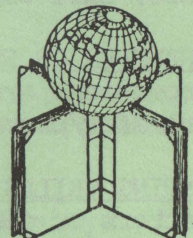

IUPUI is the home of the new Center for Urban Policy and the Environment, approved earlier this month by the IU Trustees. The Center will be directed by Mark Rosentraub of SPEA, with the environmental portion led by SPEA Dean A. James Barnes. The Center was announced in a teleconference featuring IU President Thomas Ehrlich, Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko, Mayor Steve Goldsmith of Indianapolis and John M. Mutz of Lilly Endowment, which is providing $8.6 million in initial funds. The Center will work closely with Indiana governments and organizations to deal with real problems involving cities, towns and the environment. On the university level, the information gathered in collaboration with state and local governments will be used in research and teaching. The Center will have a core staff and also will involve faculty members from other schools, such as Liberal Arts. Policy teams will be formed to deal with problems brought before the Center, focusing on four main areas: state and local government fiscal policy, environmental policy, neighborhood development and public health and indigent health care.

GOVERNOR'S ENVIRONMENTAL CONFERENCE OPEN TO ALL

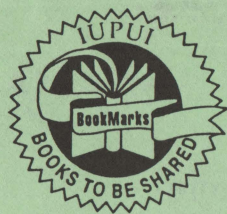

Nationally recognized experts, state officials and representatives of an array of environmental organizations will be part of the "Governor's Conference on Indiana's Environment" scheduled June 27 at the Convention Center. The conference, which is open to the public, will run from 8 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. and focus on such issues as recycling, wetlands protection, energy conservation, pollution prevention and stewardship of public lands. Among those scheduled to take part is Denis Hayes, organizer of the first Earth Day in 1970 and its 1990 successor, who will deliver the keynote address. Also appearing will be W. William Weeks of The Nature Conservancy. For registration information, call (317) 232-8863.

POLITICAL SCIENCE FACULTY FEATURED IN 'NEW WORLD ORDER' LUNCHEON SERIES

Political science faculty members Richard Fredland, Charles Winslow and John McCormick will lead brown-bag lunch crowds through the fascinating issues confronting the world of the 1990s in "The New World Order," a June series sponsored by the Options program. Sessions will be held each Tuesday June 9-30 at the Indianapolis Power & Light Company auditorium, running from noon-1 p.m. Winslow will look at "The Winds of Change in the Middle East" in the June 16 session. Fredland will look at "U.S. Leadership in the New World Order" in the June 23 session. McCormick will discuss "The European Community and Economic Integration" in the June 30 meeting. The June 9 session will feature part-time IUPUI instructor Carla Randolph, who will discuss "The Future Role of the 'Soviet Union' in Global Affairs." The Options program involves 140 colleges and universities in 35 states, including 10 universities in Indiana. Options is designed to focus public attention on international security issues and to create a better-informed public by offering the services of speakers to groups and organizations.

BOOKMARKS BALLOTS IN, '92-93 READING LIST SET

The voters have spoken and the 1992-93 BookMarks reading list is set. Six books make up the list, including The Mismeasure of Man by Stephen Jay Gould, Sacred Cows--and Other Edibles by Nicki Giovanni, Rachel and Her Children: Homeless Families in America by Jonathan Kozol, You Just Don't Understand; Women and Men in Conversation by Deborah Tannen, Candide by Voltaire and Malcolm X by Alex Haley. The BookMarks committee is seeking individuals who would like to serve as discussion leaders. Those interested should call 4-4371.

AFRICAN-AMERICAN ART EXHIBITION SET FOR DISPLAY AT HERRON

African-American artists Adrian Piper and Carl Pope will exhibit their works at the Herron Gallery, Indianapolis Center for Contemporary Art. Pope is an Indianapolis native whose work focuses on problems within the black community. The nationally acclaimed Piper deals with hidden messages and culturally embedded ideas about social relations in her work. The show will run through June 26 and is funded by a Lilly Endowment grant. For more, call 923-3651. — Sandy Matthys Roob

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

ADMISSIONS DEADLINE—June 15 is the priority deadline for degree-seeking applicants for fall 1992. A completed application, proper transcript and a $25 fee are required for processing. For more, call 4-4591, or write the Office of Admissions, Cavanaugh Hall 129.

NEW SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED—Friends of Women's Studies at IUPUI will award a $1,000 scholarship to a woman student majoring in science, engineering or technology for the 1992-93 school year. A one-year volunteer commitment to Girls' Inc. (2-4 hours per month) will be required. Applications are due by June 1 and are available in the Women's Studies Office, CA 001C. For more about the criteria, call 4-7384.

SCIENCE SEMINAR—Mary Henehan of Girls' Inc. will discuss the topic "Girls Like Science, Too" at the next Association for Women in Science (AWIS) meeting at 6 p.m. May 26 in the Medical Library, room 301. The meeting is free and open to all.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED—The Undergraduate Education Center will celebrate its second anniversary May 20 from 4-6 p.m. in the center. All are welcome to attend.

DOCTOR, DOCTOR—Steven Stowe of the history department at Bloomington will talk about "Looking for the Good Doctor: American Medical Students and Medical Work, 1800-1880" during a noon discussion May 28 in University Hospital, room 4220. For more, call 630-7200.

TRANSFER OR PROMOTION, ANYONE?—Tips on becoming more competitive for transfers or promotions are part of the Human Resources Administration's June 10 workshop on the transfer/promotion process. The sign-up deadline is June 3; for more call 4-8931.

TYPING SKILLS OFFERED—Anyone needing professional typing for term papers, resumes, letters or dissertations can call Willie at 257-6418.

LOST, THEN FOUND—A butterfly pin was found in late April between the Union Building and Ball Residence Hall in April. To see if it is yours, call Jean at 4-3510.

CALENDAR CHANGE—The "Omnibus '92" exhibit at the Herron Gallery, scheduled to run through June 26, has been put on hold. The listing in the May calendar did not reflect the change in the gallery's agenda.

CREDIT UNION MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IN HIGH GEAR

A $500 U.S. Savings Bond can help you "Join the Winners' Circle Today," the theme of the Indiana Federal Credit Union's current membership drive. To be eligible for the bond, you must do one of the following before a May 30 deadline: sign up for credit union membership, add direct deposit or payroll deduction, open a checking account, apply for a Cirrus ATM (automated teller) card, apply for the credit union's Mastercard or bring in a relative or co-worker to open a new account.

HONORS 'N' ACCOLADES

PICTURE PERFECT--Doug Bartlow, chief photographer for Photographic Services, won two ribbons during the University Photographers' Association of America Conference in Park City, Utah, last month. He won first place for his color image of laser surgery and an honorable mention for his photo of a magnetic resonance machine. Rick Baughn, manager of Photographic Services, also earned honorable mention for his photo of Richard Meiss and his computer simulation on animal research.

PURCHASING HONOR--Director of purchasing Jim Wilson has been chosen as the Pro-D (Professional Development) Person of the Year for District IV of the National Association of Purchasing Management, Indianapolis.

PROGRAM FUNDED--W.K. Barger's proposed study of "Bio-Social Factors in Infant Mortality" has been chosen for funding by the Faculty Development Office under the program of Study in a Second Discipline.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

INTERNET DEMO SET--Faculty interested in seeing a demonstration of Internet (the high-speed international network) can see it at work in the Education/Social Work building from 2-3 p.m. May 29. Integrated Technologies and University Library will run the demonstration, which will focus on electronic mail and discussion lists, file transfer from remote computers, access to classroom materials and software, and bibliographic databases. Only the first 20 can attend, so call 4-0733 ASAP.

DESKTOP LEVERAGE--"Information Access--Leverage at the Desktop" will be the featured topic May 21 from noon to 1 p.m. in the Apple Education TV series in ES 2132. The series is sponsored by Integrated Technologies. For more, call 4-4532.

TEE TIME--There is still time to beat the May 29 deadline to register for the annual IUPUI Metro Athletic Club golf tournament June 3 at the Golf Club of Indiana. To sign up or for more info, call 4-0622.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

BUSINESS LECTURERS--The School of Business needs lecturers for operations management and accounting classes on the introductory and undergraduate level. For more about the requirements for both positions, call 4-2481.

NURSING SCHOOL--The School of Nursing is seeking a coordinator for continuing nursing education to work with faculty contracted for the program and grant-writing to raise funds. For more, 4-3796.

OUTPATIENT STUDY--Women ages 40-65 who are at least one year post-menopausal and are not taking estrogen are needed for a two-year outpatient medication study. Visits will occur every three months and participants will be compensated. For more information, call Jan DiStasi at 4-8440.

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF INDIANAPOLIS HEADLINES NEXT 'URBAN AGENDA'

The fascinating and unique history and development of Indianapolis as a major American city will be discussed in the May 20 "Urban Agenda" presentation at the Associated Group headquarters, 120 Monument Circle, Conference Room A. POLIS Research Center director David J. Bodenhamer will focus on "The Encyclopedia of Indianapolis: A New Reference for a Modern City" during the one-hour session, beginning at noon. Coffee, tea and soft drinks are provided; brown-bag lunches are encouraged. For more, call 4-2458.

PEIRCE PROJECT DIRECTOR PART OF UNIQUE CEREMONY

Christian J.W. Kloesel, director of IUPUI's Peirce Edition Project, helped close out three decades of service for the Ship Peirce of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Ship Peirce during a decommissioning ceremony at the Atlantic Maritime Center in Norfolk, VA, earlier this month. Kloesel's keynote address at the ceremony honored the ship named for Charles Sanders Peirce, the noted 19th century scientist, philosopher, mathematician, epistemologist and logician. The Peirce was used in coastline charting of the eastern seaboard and the Great Lakes, surveying the ocean bottom and measuring the depth of seas and oceans. The Peirce Edition Project is sponsored jointly by the School of Liberal Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

NURSING SCHOOL DEAN CLOSING SPEAKER FOR RESEARCH CONFERENCE

Nursing school Dean Angela Barron McBride will serve as the closing speaker at the "Voyage Into the Future Through Nursing Research" conference May 19-22 in Columbus, OH. Nurse scientists from more than 22 countries will take part in the event, which will focus on the role of nursing research into the 21st century. The conference is sponsored by Sigma Theta Tau International, the honor society of nursing. Also sponsoring are nine Ohio chapters of Sigma Theta Tau and 10 Ohio schools of nursing.

VELODRAMA IX WHEELS INTO INDY IN JUNE

Campus bicycle riders looking for a special event to challenge them may want to take part in "Velodrama IX," a weekend-long series of events June 6-7 sponsored by the Indiana Repertory Theatre (IRT). Events begin with a scenic "Fun Ride" around central Indiana Saturday morning (June 6), followed that afternoon by the "Team Challenge," a head-to-head competition for corporate relay racing teams at the Major Taylor Velodrome. Saturday night a "Pro-Am Track Race" will be held at the Velodrome, followed Sunday morning (June 7) by the annual "Criterium" in the streets of downtown Indianapolis near the Indiana War Memorial grounds. A health fair is planned for both days. Entry fees range from $9-15 for the individual events up to $300 for team entries in the "Team Challenge." The fees support IRT programs and are due by May 31. For more, call Jill Brummett at 635-5277.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

