

April 24, 2014

INScope

Weekly news for faculty, staff and students from the Indiana University School of Medicine

top headlines

Saving billions

An IU-Regenstrief study shows that a new patient- and caregiver-centered model of care cuts health care costs and improves the health of older adults.

'Ethics at the Crossroads'

The IU Center for Bioethics will host an international conference for bioethicists May 7 at the IUPUI Campus Center.

Locally grown

The Eskenazi Health Farmers' Market will kick off its seventh season on May 6.

editor's picks

News to Use

Safety updates

IUSM experts contributed to updates in IU's policy guiding children's safety for university-sponsored programs.

Opportunities

Supervision training

IUSM staff members are invited to register for a training series for new supervisors.

Grants

Drug discovery

features of the week

story

Hair-razing fun

The third annual Shave the Date carnival raised about $2,500 to support the Annique Wilson-Weekes Scholarship of Excellence, which honors a member of the IU School of Medicine Class of 2014 who passed away from gastric cancer during the second week of her second year of medical school.

podcast

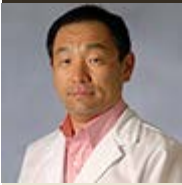

'Sound Medicine'

The Indiana CTSI seeks applications for support from a new multi-institute alliance focused on the early stage development of therapeutics.

Kudos

Trailblazer

Yuichiro Takagi has been named the recipient of a 2014 Research Frontiers Trailblazer Award.

faculty & staff spotlight

President's Award

Dan Waxman was recently honored for his role as chief medical officer for the Indiana Blood Center.

student spotlight

Visible impact

An IU-Student Outreach Clinic leader has been recognized for adding free in-house eye exams and eyeglasses to the clinic's services.

This week, "Sound Medicine" interviews the former executive director for Michelle Obama's "Let's Move" campaign about what every parent can do to advocate for children's health. Other topics include Ebola in Africa, high-risk suicide prevention and pharmacists' fight against illegal drugs.

events & lectures

Maternal and Child Health Poster Session

04-25-2014

Cancer Research Day abstracts deadline extended

05-01-2014

Free skin cancer screenings

05-01-2014

Senior Banquet and Awards Ceremony

05-09-2014

IUSM Commencement

05-10-2014

IU School of Medicine Calendar

IUSM campus links

Bloomington • Evansville • Fort Wayne • Indianapolis
Lafayette • Muncie • Gary • South Bend • Terre Haute

Submit your news

Subscribe or unsubscribe to this newsletter.

IU Communications | 251 N. Illinois St. | Indianapolis, IN 46204