

Product Development Focus of Conference

"Speeding Quality Products to Market" is the focus of a Sept. 14 conference at the University Place Conference Center and is co-sponsored by the Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation and the Product Development & Management Association (PDMA).

The Center is part of the graduate program in the School of Business. The PDMA, based on the IUPUI campus, is the world's largest association of new product executives and has 1,300 professional members.

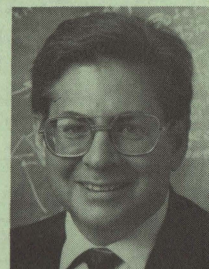

The one-day conference will run from 7:45 a.m.-4:30 p.m. It is designed to help executives find more effective methods of getting quality products to market, according to School of Business professor Thomas Hustad.

"The conference will help increase people's knowledge of the elements of an effective product development process," said Hustad.

Among the featured speakers will be:

- Jim Stryker of Ingersol-Rand, who helped the company redesign its approach to business and climb from third to first in the industrial hand-held grinder market;
- Michael Thomas of The Thomas Group, a leading consultant in helping companies re-engineer their operation processes; and
- Abbie Griffin of the University of Chicago, who helps companies to measure the performance of their innovation processes.

The event has been funded by Boehringer-Mannheim, IU, United Medical Manufacturing and The Walker Group. For more details about the conference, call Andrea Hartley-Green at 4-0889.

Campus Hosting Labor Day Fireworks

The IUPUI campus is not just a downtown parking lot this Labor Day weekend.

The university, an unofficial host to the Indianapolis community in recent years at the annual WENS-FM Skyconcert fireworks show on Labor Day weekend, will be an official festival partner this year, offering a full day of activities Sept. 4 at "The Blast of Summer."

The campus event is sponsored by Alumni Relations and the IUPUI Alumni Roundtable.

Volunteers will be soliciting individual schools to collect donations to use as prizes for the tailgate contest. Volunteers also are needed to park cars and fill other tasks for the day's events. Anyone interested in working may contact Alumni Relations at 4-8905.

"We want to welcome the community and alumni back to campus for a day of fun and to remind everyone that IUPUI is more than just a parking lot from which to view fireworks," said Richard Schilling, a 1989 graduate and president of the Alumni Roundtable.

"This event will provide IUPUI alumni, even those who attended Indianapolis campuses before IUPUI was created in 1969, an opportunity to reunite with friends, faculty and their campus," Schilling said.

Activities include:

- Free concerts at the Track and Field Stadium from 12:30-7:30 p.m., featuring six bands: Ma Kelley, Buzzy Jones, R.H.Y.T.H.M., Bitter Harvest, Reggaenomix and the African American Choral Ensemble.
- A tailgate competition, beginning at 2 p.m. in designated parking lots located south of the IU School of Dentistry. Prizes will be awarded by celebrity judges for Most Elegant, Best Tasting, Most Unique and Most IUPUI-Decorated. Judging will begin at 5 p.m.
- Use of campus sports facilities: swimming in the Natatorium at a cost of $3 per person and outdoor tennis facilities and basketball courts at no cost. Players must provide their own basketballs and tennis rackets.
- IUPUI alumni bearing special admission fliers will have access to "Alumni Hospitality Row," where they can receive a free beverage and the chance to win prizes.
- Visitors can enjoy discounted admission to the nearby Indianapolis Zoo and Eiteljorg Museum of American Indian & Western Art and a carnival in Military Park, sponsored by White River State Park.

The fireworks, sponsored by WENS-FM, Marsh Supermarkets and Coca-Cola, will begin at 8:27 p.m.

Soccer Metros Hosting Golden Boot Classic

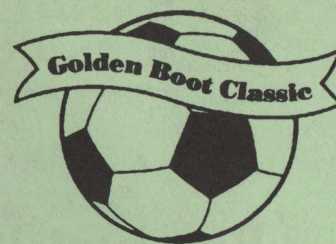

Three-time NCAA soccer champion Indiana University will compete against Notre Dame in the 1993 Golden Boot Classic at 8:15 p.m. Aug. 28 at Kuntz Stadium in Indianapolis.

The IU-Notre Dame competition is one of three intercollegiate matches in this year's Golden Boot Classic. The IUPUI Metros play against DePauw at 6 p.m. on the East Field. New this year is a 6 p.m. match between the women's soccer teams of Indiana University and DePauw.

The Metros are hosts for the Golden Boot Classic which kicks off the soccer season for the competing university teams. The event was first played in 1988.

The classic also opens the youth soccer season in central Indiana. As part of the national Soccer Start program, community center youth teams from the Atkins Boys Club and Riverside Park will compete in a 4 p.m. match.

Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for children under 18 and students with IDs. Youth groups of 10 persons or more pay $3 per person. Tickets are available by calling the IUPUI Athletics Office at 274-0622 and from participating Indianapolis-area sporting goods retailers. Tickets also will be sold game day at the Kuntz Stadium ticket office, 1502 W. 16th St. For more information, contact the IUPUI Athletics Office at 274-0622.

"Starter Fitness," a four-week program designed to educate people about basic fitness principles, is set to begin Sept. 7.

MAX*WELL is taking part in National Cholesterol Education Month, a national event being celebrated throughout September. The program will feature cholesterol screening tests at various campus locations on Sept. 9, Sept. 16, Sept. 23 and Sept. 30. The locations will be announced later.

The wellness program is also joining with Counseling and Psychological Services to offer the Walking Program. Details are available by calling MAX*WELL at 4-0610.
