DENTAL SCHOOL RESEARCH GOING BACK INTO SPACE

Dental school researchers Eugene Roberts and Lawrence Garetto will have a special interest in the next NASA space shuttle flight, scheduled to lift off this week from Cape Canaveral. They will have two research projects aboard the shuttle flight as they continue to study the influence of gravity on the development and function of bone-forming cells called osteoblasts. This is the second space flight involving projects by the two dental school researchers, though this flight is not directly connected to their 1991 project. A follow-up to their first space-related study is scheduled to lift off later this summer.

MEDICAL SCHOOL EARNS NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Ninety years of commitment to improving the field of medicine has earned the Medical Center a national Newcomen Award. The award is presented by the Newcomen Society to honor outstanding businesses and institutions for their contributions to the free enterprise system. Center accomplishments noted at the awards ceremony included more than $60 million in research programs annually, more than 1,500 active research studies and more than 11,000 alumni throughout the country involved in service, academics and research.

EXPERTS FEATURED AT 'FINANCIAL FUTURE' SEMINAR

More than a dozen experts will help faculty and staff who want to learn more about their financial benefits at the April 7 seminar "Designing Your Financial Future." The event is sponsored by the Human Resources Administration and will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Conference Center. The event is open to all university employees and their spouses. The sessions will run through 4 p.m. and cover: retirement plans; long-term care insurance; Social Security; wills, trusts and estates; financial planning and the 18/20 faculty retirement program. ## HOOSIER TENNIS STANDOUT NAMED DIRECTOR OF SPORTS CENTER

Campus tennis buffs will find a famous face — Hoosier native Todd Witsken — in charge of the Indianapolis Sports Center beginning this September. Witsken has been hired by the university to run the indoor tennis complex once he retires from the professional tennis circuit following the 1993 U.S. Open. As director, Witsken will be responsible for overseeing the clinics, lessons, tournament bids, facility rentals, university programs and other projects that involve the Center. He has ranked among the top 50 players in the world in singles and as high as fourth in doubles play during his professional career, which began in 1985. The university manages the Indianapolis Sports Center on behalf of Municipal Recreation Inc.

NCAA MEMBERSHIP OFFERS NEW RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

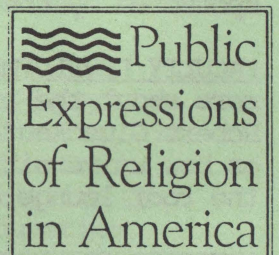

Joining the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) offers an exciting future to IUPUI, but the university's athletic teams aren't the only ones to benefit from the new affiliation. The NCAA research committee provides funds for athletics-related research projects conducted at member institutions. Starting this fall, IUPUI faculty and researchers are eligible to compete for projects. Samples of projects that have received NCAA funding in the past are injury prevention, diet and weight-loss techniques, health risks and the economic impact of federal regulations. For more about NCAA guidelines and procedures for research funding, contact athletic director Hugh Wolf at 4-0622.

NATIONAL FIGURES HEADLINE RELIGION CONFERENCE ON MEDIA

Nationally renowned media figures from across the U.S. will be part of the third "Public Expressions of Religion in America" conference April 15-17 at the University Place Conference Center. This conference, sponsored by the Center for the Study of Religion and American Culture, will focus on "The Expression of American Religion in the Popular Media" and will feature such notable writers as Kenneth Woodward of Newsweek, Gustav Niebuhr of The Washington Post, Richard Griffiths of the Cable News Network (CNN) and John Dart of the Los Angeles Times. The series is supported by funding from Lilly Endowment, Inc. For more call 4-8409.

FINALLY...Volunteers are needed for the annual FOCUS (Family Orientation to College and University Selection) national collegiate fair, which will be held April 18 at the Convention Center from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Volunteers will work two-hour shifts, giving directions, distributing literature, hosting hospitality areas and performing other tasks. IUPUI is one of 150 colleges, universities and technical institutions taking part in the event, which provides prospective students and parents with information about curriculum, sports and housing. Anyone interested in volunteering should contact Kim Manlove at 4-2527 by the April 9 deadline.

If you're under 40 now, you're going to need $1 million to retire.

Have you started saving yet?

A former Commissioner of the Social Security Administration recently wrote that in order to maintain a comfortable standard of living at retirement in the year 2020, you're going to need $1 million in personal savings. If you're about to retire now, your savings should be a minimum of $1/4 million. In either case, it's a substantial amount of money, and you have relatively little time to accumulate it.

VALIC can help you get started on your retirement now with:

- Two guaranteed fixed-rate accounts
- A wide variety of investment options
- Investment flexibility
- Reduction of your current taxable income
- Tax-free loans
- Personal local service

Call 1-800-44-VALIC (1-800-448-2542) today for a free computerized retirement check-up.

Start planning. Start saving.
