PANGS OF PROGRESS -- Work on the new addition to our building involves a certain amount of noise. In the next few weeks, particularly, jackhammers will be clattering near our lecture rooms. The builders are cooperating to the best of their ability, and we ask that you be patient.

OTHER PHYSICAL CHANGES now underway include remodeling of the Oral Pathology offices on the first floor and installation of exterior floodlights for the north side of the building.

RECENT CHANGES OF TITLE APPROVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING:

Dr. S. Miles Standish, Professor of Oral Pathology, has been named Assistant Dean for Graduate and Postgraduate Education

Dr. Paul E. Starkey has been named Chairman and Professor of Pedodontics

Dr. James R. Roche has been named Chairman of the Division of Graduate Pedodontics

DR. IAFORREST D. GARNER was inducted as a Fellow of the American College of Dentists at the annual meeting in New York.

DR. VIRGINIA WIESJAHN'S article on a team approach to scoliosis won first prize in a national contest sponsored by the Journal of Hospital Dental Practice. Doctor Wiesjahn is a 1st Year Resident in Pedodontics at Riley Hospital.

JOHN W. BROOKS AND MRS. MARILYN K. GREENE, both juniors, were the only undergraduate students to present table clinics at the recent meeting of the National Dental Association in Cincinnati.

CONTINUING EDUCATION COURSES being presented in November:

November 4, 1969 - Efficient Utilization of the Chairside Dental Assistant

November 12, 1969 - Endodontics of Value to the General Practitioner

November 19, 1969 - Modern Concepts in Dental Materials Important to Dental Assistants

SEVEN OFFICERS FROM THE ARMED FORCES are among the first year graduate students. They are:

DR. RALPH W. PHILLIPS, Assistant Dean for Research, was in Tokyo in October for meetings of the Japanese Association of Dental Science and the Japanese Association for Technology. He also lectured at three Japanese universities.

Here are some impressions which Doctor Phillips jotted down at the request of the Newsletter:

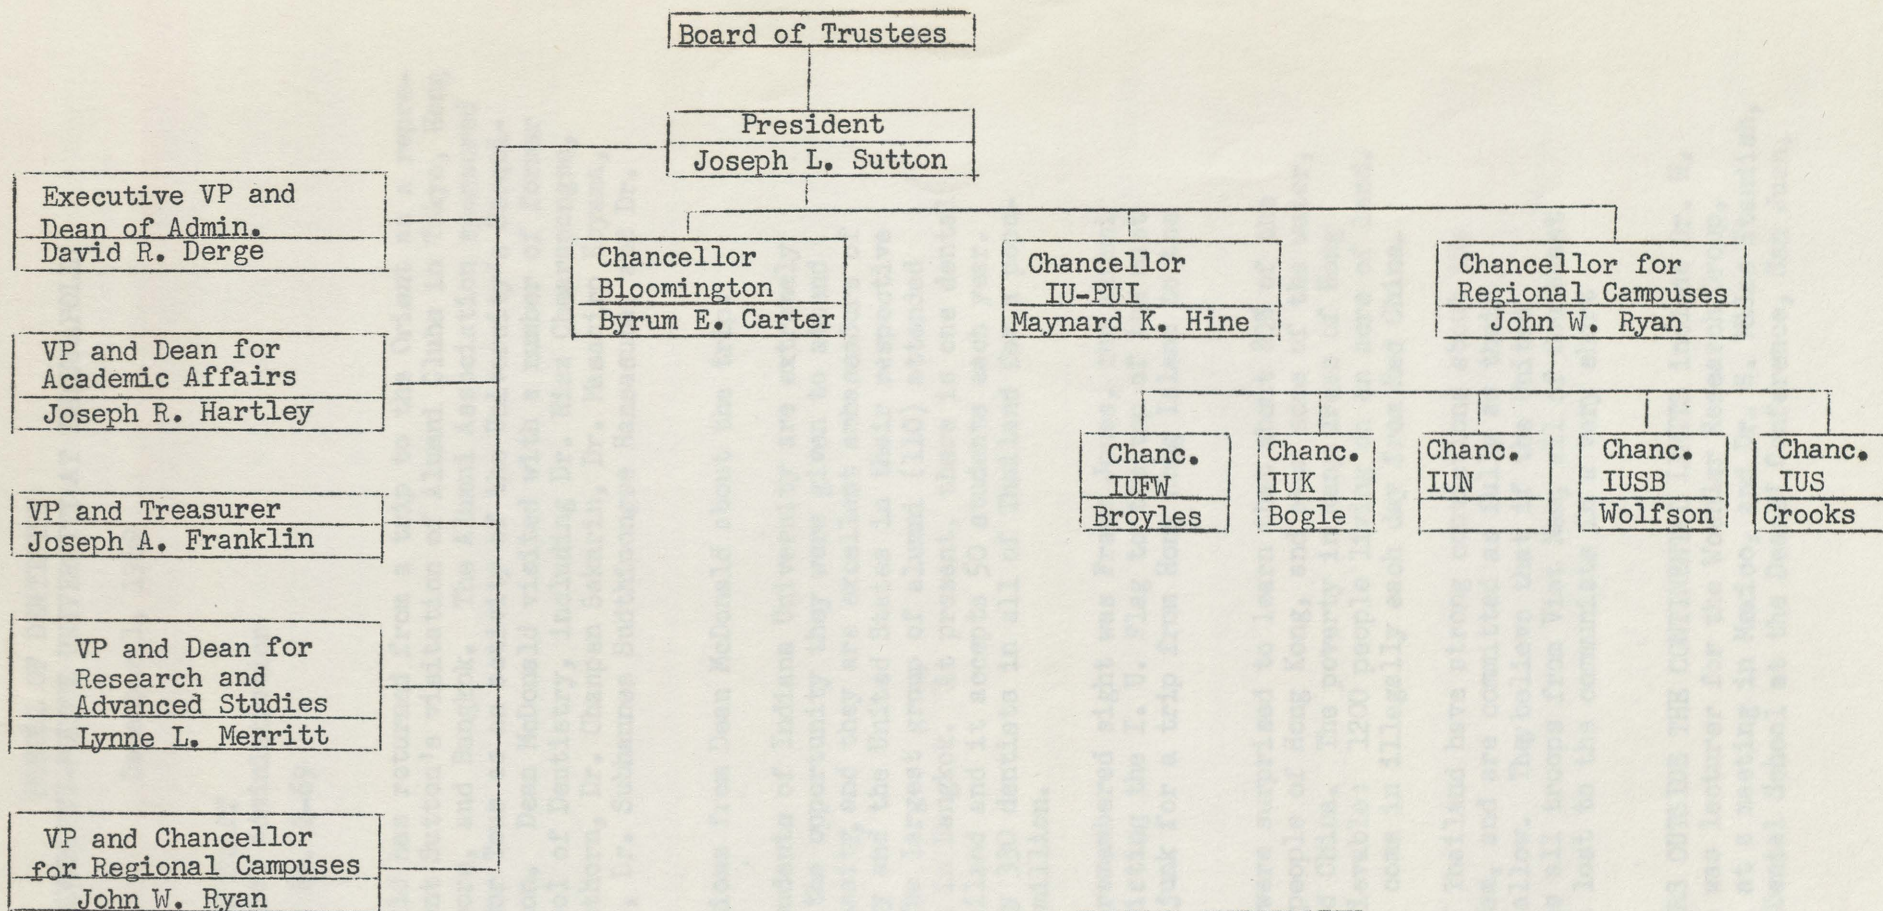

"Regarding the current rash of student rioting in Japan, one university official told me that this is the first generation of Japanese young people to repudiate their elders. He said that they lost respect for the older generation for two main reasons: (1) being so ill-advised as to get Japan into World War II, and (2) once they were in the war, losing it.

"It seems to be the general feeling there that this lack of confidence and respect for the current generation now in power parallels the basic rationale behind the student unrest in the United States. Several of the dental and medical schools in Japan have been closed for several months but they anticipate opening very shortly. Many of the faculty take turns staying in the building, on a 24 hour basis, in order to protect research and teaching equipment.

"I was quite impressed with the level of dental research at several institutions and of the quality of research and the control of product quality at the larger dental manufacturers - I visited four companies. All of the researchers are intently absorbed in their fields of endeavor and are extremely cognizant of the research activities and peoples throughout the world - in general much more than their counterparts in the United States. Most researchers are anxious to come to the United States but have limited or no funds available for such visiting programs.

"The entire country is now geared to the around the world exposition to be held in Osaka starting in March. It is an immense project, which I visited, and gives every evidence of being a successful venture by the Japanese government."
