

green sheet

INDIANA UNIVERSITY-PURDUE UNIVERSITY AT INDIANAPOLIS

volume one      number forty-one      october 17, 1971

iupui

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH is on its way to Bloomington, and the IUPUI Student Activities office in the Union Building on the Medical Center campus has tickets for the four performances. A 4 p.m. matinee and an 8 p.m. night performance will be staged on Oct. 26 and 27 in the new Assembly Hall on the Bloomington campus. Reserve your tickets now ($5, $4, $3, and $2, with another dollar saving for kids under 12) with Mrs. Helen Zapp, telephone 264-8265.

Although she was supposed to be selling them, Mrs. Zapp did not have tickets on hand until last Thursday. Now she has thousands of every description and wants to get them out of her office so she can resume her place behind her desk. Help her out and buy your tickets now!

* * *

Games are, of course, for kids. But the most interesting and consequential games tend to be reserved for adults -- some for men, some for women, some for "mixed company." For further details, catch the scene at Room 104, Lecture Hall, on Tuesday, October 26, 8:15 p.m., as Professors Martin Bloom (Social Service), Stephen Sachs (Political Science) and Libby Kamisugi (Psychology) explore the topic of "Games Men Play."

This program is the first in a series of interdisciplinary Campus Colloquia planned for the current academic year under the general title of "Dimensions of Modern Man." Open to all interested persons, each program will attempt to generate open discussion out of a format that calls for two speakers and a commentator. Presupposing a common desire to share and acquire understanding of ourselves in the world today, each program will be informal, exploratory and open-ended. In support of this goal, refreshments will be provided.

* * *

I.U. Foreign Area Studies Program. Faculty members and students interested in learning about the I.U. Foreign Area Studies Programs in Lima, Hamburg, Strasbourg, Madrid, Bologna, and Tel Aviv please come to a meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 2:30 p.m. in Room 223 of Cavanaugh Hall.

Prof. David Gitlitz of the Foreign Area Studies Committee of I.U. at Bloomington will outline the purposes of the various programs. Dean Preuse of the IUPUI Student Services will explain procedures for students to follow in seeking financial aid.

Nov. 1 is the deadline for applications for each of the programs.

* * *

The News Bureau offers a free and easy mailing list service for communications among the parts of the IUPUI whole. The News Bureau lists now include all members of IUPUI faculties, principal administrators and staff members, and their campus addresses. These lists are available in most conceivable combinations.

The lists, developed by the News Bureau and Research Computer Center, come either as computer print-outs or as stick-on mailing labels. Considerable staff time has been invested to develop and maintain the lists. They are accurate and up-to-date.

Call Mrs. Carol Fiechter in the News Bureau, 7711, for further information about the lists.

* * *

Central Services - Equipment has been assigned telephone extension 7579. Please use this extension when requesting equipment service or information.

* * *

Come to the International Festival!! Everyone is invited to the event to be staged by the American Association of University Women at the Athenaeum, 401 East Michigan Street, from 2:30 to 10:00 p.m. Saturday. Continuous entertainment, beautiful costumes, delicious food. A German chicken dinner will be $2.00, and there also will be sandwiches, snacks and soft drinks. Stage show at 7:30 p.m.

Share the customs and traditions of many countries! Adults, $1.50, children under 12, $.75 pre-school children free. Proceeds go to the AAUW Scholarship Fund.

Parking will be available at Junior Achievement, 555 N. New Jersey, and at the Zion Evangelical Church, 416 E. North. For tickets contact Mrs. Charles E. Wright, telephone 546-7018.

* * *

TWO LUNCHEONS--The Department of Political Science will have a lunch-meeting Oct. 26, open to all faculty members to meet and talk with Dr. Clinton Marsh, who will be lecturing at the Downtown Campus on "Focus: The New Generation in Africa" on the basis of his several years experience there. Participants may purchase lunch in the cafeteria in the basement of the library or bring their own and join Dr. Marsh in the faculty dining room in the basement of the library. Dr. Marsh will appear in an open convocation at 4 p.m. that day in the Faculty Lounge on the fifth floor of Cavanaugh Hall.

Dr. Louis Dupree, an anthropologist of the American Universities Field Staff, will be the guest of honor at a "Lunch and Learn" meeting sponsored by the department at noon Oct. 28 in the Faculty Dining Room (basement floor of the Library Building). Based in Kabul, Afghanistan, Dr. Dupree has specialized in the study of this country as well as Pakistan. Following lunch he will give an informal talk on recent developments.

* * *

HONORS & ACCOLADES

Dr. Glenn W. Irwin Jr., dean of the School of Medicine, and Dr. Jack W. Lukemeyer, associate professor of pediatrics, have been elected to the board of directors of the Indiana Division of the American Cancer Society. Another board member, Dr. Eugene E. Levitt, chief of psychology for the School of Medicine, has been elected to the division's executive committee.

Dr. James E. Simmons, Professor and Coordinator of Child Psychiatry Services for Indiana University has been named Editor of the "Newsletter of the American Association of Psychiatric Services for Children." Membership in AAPSC includes 157 psychiatric clinics or services in all parts of the U.S. and the Newsletter is a major medium for keeping abreast of members' activities.

Dr. Monte E. Juillerat, agricultural economics, is co-author with Robert F. Kelly of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, of a paper "Quality Traits Associated with Consumer Preference for Beef," in volume 36 of the Journal of Food Science.

Dr. B.B. Morris, psychology department, is author of two papers in two recent issues of the journal Perceptual and Motor Skills. His article "Effects of Angle, Sex, and Cue on Adults' Perception of the Horizontal" is in the June issue of the journal. His article "Effects of Order and Trial on Necker Cube Reversals Under Free and Resistive Instructions" is in the August issue.

Three members of the 1971 Class of Dentistry won awards in the Student Achievement Award Competition sponsored by the American Society of Dentistry for Children. They are Dr. Earl K. Phares, Jr., first prize, plus a trip to the annual meeting in Atlantic City; Dr. Randolph Kixmiller, third prize and Dr. Virgil Ullom, honorable mention.

* * *

TRAVELLERS

William A. Nevill, acting dean of the 38th Street Campus, has returned from Washington, D.C., where he attended a meeting of the American Chemical Society. He chaired the curriculum committee's session on "Programs for the Non-Science Major." He also served on the ACS examination committee on "Inorganic, Organic and Biological Chemistry" which creates national standardized tests for college chemistry.

Dr. Donald J. Niederpruem, professor of microbiology, was at the University of Exeter, England, last month as a participant at the first International Mycological Congress. He presented a paper on "The Fungal Septum."

Dr. Violet Tennant, professor of social service, will travel to West Lafayette this month to be a group leader at a seminar for directors of volunteer services in community agencies and community education.

Dr. Samuel S. Patterson, professor of endodontics and director of graduate endodontics, was in St. Louis recently to present a clinic at the all-day symposium of the Greater St. Louis Dental Society and was the featured speaker at the society's dinner.

Dean Emily Holmquist, as president of the Indiana Nurses Association, presided over the annual meeting of the organization Oct. 7-9 at the French Lick Sheraton Hotel.

Other Medical Center personnel participating in the program were Mrs. Anne Black, R.N., M.S., director of nursing services for children at Riley Hospital; Janet Gillon, R.N., M.N.Ed., clinical nurse specialist, Riley Hospital; Brenda Lyon, R.N., M.S., assistant professor of nursing.

Miss Priscilla Brown, editor, feature writer, and photographer for the IUPUI News Bureau, was in French Lick to attend the Indiana State Nurses Association meeting. Among her duties, she has charge of news pertaining to the School of Nursing.

Prof. Owen A. Paul, Chairman Industrial Supervision and Supervision Programs, spoke in Lancaster, Pennsylvania recently on "The Ramifications of Communications." He was the guest of the Lancaster chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management. Prof. Paul is serving as International President of the New York based organization.

Two School of Medicine faculty members will participate in the 40th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics to be held in Chicago from Saturday through the next Thursday. Dr. Robert A. Garrett, professor of Urology, will present a paper before the Committee on Urology, and Dr. Morris Green, chairman of Pediatrics, will discuss the White House Conference on Children before the joint meeting of the Section on Community Pediatrics and the Section on Child Development.

Dr. Rosa Felsenberg, Assistant Professor of Social Service, spoke recently for the Marion County Association for Retarded Children on "A Range of Services for the Retarded Child and His Family."

The Hoosier Round Table, a unit of the Indiana State Association of Parliamentarians, has named Mrs. Lee Fisher as their delegate to the National Association of Parliamentarians' Conference, which will be held in Philadelphia, October 27-29, 1971. Mrs. Fisher is administrative secretary to Dean Ralph E. McDonald of the School of Dentistry.

* * *

Herron School of Art will sponsor a lecture, "Experimental American Theatre," at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the Herron Auditorium. The guest lecturer, Mrs. June Pyskacek, is founder of Chicago's Kingston Mines Theatre and a major figure in American experimental theatre.

* * *

SARAH A. HOSTETLER
PURDUE ASSISTANT TO THE DEAN
38TH STREET CAMPUS