

Aug. 28, 2014

INSCOPE Weekly news for faculty, staff and students from the ## top headlines

'I' on the prize

Junior faculty are sought for the Independent Investigator Incubator, or "I3," a new mentorship program focused on research success.

Building updates

Activity includes a dedication for the newly renovated Rotary Building and the installation of an advanced MRI machine.

New look

InScope will debut a streamlined "mobile-first" format designed to deliver at-a-glance information on Sept. 4.

editor's picks

Grants

Research support

The Indiana Biobank, Indiana CTSI and IU Center of Excellence in Molecular Hematology are seeking funding applications.

Opportunities

Health checkup

IUSM faculty, staff and students can now check their blood pressure on campus. Plus, an update on flu shots.

News to Use

Beacon of beauty

features of the week

Indiana University School of Medicine

story

Ice bucket challenge

Watch IUSM administrators and students take on the online phenomenon that's so far raised more than $94 million for ALS research.

podcast

'Sound Medicine'

IU's Rachel Vreeman, who conducts research and patient care on HIV in Kenya,

The IUSM community is invited to visit The Commonground, a new greenspace on the northwest edge of the IUPUI campus.

Kudos

Honors Patrick J. Loehrer Sr. is among IUSM faculty recently recognized for their academic and professional achievements.

faculty & staff spotlight

Aaron Carroll

The author, blogger and YouTuber uses every tool in the box to disseminate and explain research and health policy to the public.

student spotlight

Welcome reception

The IU School of Medicine recently welcomed 28 incoming Ph.D. students to the Indiana Biomedical Gateway Program.

discusses how the stigma from anti-gay laws in Africa is creating a new barrier to medical care. Other topics include how unvaccinated children put others at risk and the growing role of school nurses.

events & lectures

Traders Point Creamery scholarship fundraiser 08-29-2014

Health Law Grand Rounds 09-04-2014

SRPinAM poster session 09-04-2014

Providing Healthcare on the Northern Cameroon-Nigeria Border

09-08-2014

Merritt Lecture in Women's Health 09-10-2014

IUSM Faculty BBQ at IUPUI Regatta 09-20-2014

IU School of Medicine Calendar

IUSM campus links

Bloomington • Evansville • Fort Wayne • Indianapolis Lafayette • Muncie • Gary • South Bend • Terre Haute

Subscribe or unsubscribe to this newsletter.

IU Communications | 251 N. Illinois St. | Indianapolis, IN 46204