Did you know that...

Some structural nomenclature around IUPUI (mostly at 38th Street) has changed in the last year? The old "A" Building is now the 38th Street Administration Building, the Krannert Building is now the Krannert Science Building, the Center for Women is now the Continuing Studies Center for Women, the Burger Chef (rear) now should be called the Continuing Studies Crafts Building, the old "D" Building is now the Community Services Building and -- on the West Michigan Street campus -- Blake Street Library should be called University Library.

FREE BUS SERVICE TO IUB LIBRARY STARTS SATURDAY

A sort of bookmobile-in-reverse will start Saturday (January 20) for IUPUI faculty and students: A free shuttle bus service between IUPUI and the I.U. Library in Bloomington on every Saturday from January 20 through April 28 (except for March 31, spring recess).

"We think many undergraduates, graduate students and faculty members will welcome the chance to save some gas money and use the bus service to Bloomington for their library facilities," said Mike Reardon, president of the IUPUI Student Assembly, the group that suggested the bus service several months ago to Robert J. Bonner, director of University Libraries in Indianapolis.

Approval and details were worked out with the I.U. trustees, library and administration officials.

According to Bonner and I.U. Libraries Dean Carl Jackson, the new bus service is evidence of the libraries' commitment to develop a co-operative, functional library system based on sharing the special resources of each campus.

The bus will leave from the parking lot north of University Library at Blake Street (parking lot east of Cavanaugh) at 8:30 a.m. and arrive at the I.U. Main Library in Bloomington about 9:45 a.m. The bus will start the return trip at 3:45 p.m.

Sign-up sheets and free boarding passes will be available at the University Library. Since bus capacity is 38 passengers, persons planning to use this service should contact their library personnel by Wednesday of each week. Arrangements can be made in person or by telephone; call Ext. 8278.

To learn more about what is available in Bloomington library, students and faculty should consult librarians here. University Library and the 38th Street Library have microfilm copies of the I.U. card catalogs, as well as guides to the library facilities, so users can do some "homework" before going to Bloomington. IUPUI students and faculty also have borrowing privileges from Bloomington.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Saturday Artistry -- Registration for the spring program of Saturday classes at the Herron School of Art will be held Saturday (January 20) from 9 a.m. till noon in the Museum Building auditorium. Classes start January 27. The program is open to junior high and high school students, whether or not they are enrolled in an art program. Classes cover life-drawing, painting, water color, portraits, printmaking and photography. Scholarships are available through the student's art department. The regular fee for the 10-week program is $30. Students must buy their own supplies. For more information, call 923-3651.

"Thanks to You" -- $82,812 was raised for the 1978 Greater Indianapolis United Way Campaign by IUPUI employees. Chairman Ken Beckley reports that the total represents 98 percent of the IUPUI goal of $85,000. The total was an increase of 7 percent over the amount collected in 1977. Another goal attained was an increase in the number of contributors: 2,163 persons, an increase of 11 percent over 1977, contributed from IUPUI. Beckley extends a special thank-you to all unit co-ordinators.

Yearbook Material Needed -- The Student Assembly is developing The Graduate Record, the 1979 IUPUI yearbook and wants to include as much information as possible about IUPUI. If you have any material on student activities, honors projects or other departmental activities that you want to submit for possible publication, please send it or drop in off at the Student Assembly office by Monday, January 22. (The assembly office is Room 001C in Cavanaugh Hall.) Photographs submitted should include the photographer's name and phone number. For more information, call Jenni Bergman at Ext. 3907 or Ext. 2583.

Meet -- IUPUI Women's Club members are urged to bring a guest for the year's first meeting on January 23 at 6 p.m. in the Porter Harrison Room at the Union Building. The after-dinner program is a "one-girl showing" with a representative from Stretch & Sew Fabrics. For information, call Helen Straub at Ext. 3764.

Cosmetic -- Male and female volunteers are needed for a cosmetic testing program. Payment will vary according to type of test and number of laboratory visits required. Male subjects are especially needed. Apply in person at the Elizabeth Arden Dermatology Laboratory, Regenstrief Building, sixth floor, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.
