

UNIVERSITY, CENTER ON PHILANTHROPY MAKING NATIONAL HISTORY

History will be made when Bob Payton steps down this summer as director of the IU Center on Philanthropy to assume full-time responsibility as the nation's first full professor of philanthropic studies. He will cap his tenure as head of the Center, which was created in 1987, with his second national address on the "State of Philanthropy" in New York City this month.

Payton

Payton's new role at the university is part of the nation's first comprehensive, university-based, degree-granting philanthropic studies program, which is housed in the School of Liberal Arts. The program offers graduate and undergraduate courses in the field, focusing on the history, culture and values of philanthropy. In addition to its academic programs, the Center will continue its current focus on practitioners in the not-for-profit sector through seminars, conferences, non-credit courses and The Fund Raising School.

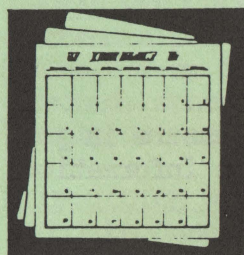

Payton's national address on the "State of Philanthropy" will be the focal point of the Center's national meeting with its National Board of Visitors in New York. Leaders from the major foundations and philanthropic organizations in the U.S. will attend the meeting.

CAMPUS CAMPAIGN PARTICIPATION, CONTRIBUTIONS CONTINUING TO GROW

Gifts from the 1993 IUPUI Campus Campaign are continuing to pour in from faculty and staff from across the campus. Contributions and pledges have already surpassed the $75,000 mark, with results from several units and organizations still being counted. The gifts you've given will support a wide range of projects and programs that are important to you. Campus Campaign organizers have also been pleased at the more than 750 new contributors who have given gifts and pledges. Scholarships and the new IUPUI Library have been among the most popular choices for support. If you have not yet made your donation or pledge and still wish to participate, call the Campus Campaign office at 4-5495.

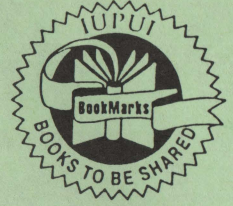

ACTIVITY CALENDAR DEADLINE SET FOR JUNE

Campus planners who have events coming up in the 1993-94 school year and want them listed in the annual IUPUI Activity Calendar need to submit the information by June 15 to the Calendar Office, International Communications, UN 115. The calendar will cover the university's 25th anniversary celebration, so anyone with an event connected to the celebration should be especially interested. If you don't have one of the forms available from the Calendar Office, turn in a memo with the pertinent date(s), title or description of the event, a contact person and phone number. The calendar is free and is distributed by External Affairs office, the Indianapolis office of the IU Foundation and the Alumni Affairs office. Entries will cover events from August 1993 to August 1994. For more, call 4-2323.

SIX BOOKS HEADLINE '93-94 BOOKMARKS SELECTIONS

And the winners are... The votes have been cast and the selections for the 1993-94 BookMarks program have been made. Next year's diverse reading list includes Chaos: Making a New Science by James Gleick, Fort Wayne is Seventh on Hitler's List by Michael Martone, Frankenstein by Mary Shelley, Race by Studs Terkel, The Seven Habits of Highly Effective People by Stephen R. Covey and Teacher by Sylvia Ashton-Warner. BookMarks officials are encouraging anyone interested in the books to volunteer to be a presenter for 1993-94 programs. Faculty members also are being encouraged to include selections in their classes and curriculums. To volunteer or to pass along ideas for the BookMarks program, call 4-4371.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

DENTAL HONORS--Donald Arens, director of the School of Dentistry's continuing education program and a member of the endodontics department, has received the fourth annual International Louis I. Grossman award from the French Society of Endodontics. The award is based upon excellence in teaching and is named for a pioneer in endodontics.

ENGINEERING AWARDS--William Conrad of electrical engineering technology and Kenneth Rennels of computer integrated manufacturing technology were each awarded the Wisner-Stoelk Outstanding Faculty Awards from the School of Engineering and Technology ... William Ansty of the supervision department received the Frank E. Burley Distinguished Professorship for service to the engineering school and its students ... The Abraham M. Max Distinguished Professorship Award went to Hasan Akay of mechanical engineering ... Mary Adams of the manufacturing technology department earned the Distinguished Staff Award.

POETRY WINNER--L.E. McCullough of the School of Music and the School of Journalism recently won first prize in a pair of poetry contests, including the sixth annual Panhandler Poetry Chapbook Competition held by the University of West Florida and the White Rabbit Poetry Contest sponsored by the University of Southern Alabama. His winning chapbook of poems will be published this July in Panhandler Magazine, and his White Rabbit entry will appear in the summer issue of The Harbinger.

NURSING RECOGNITION--The Sigma Theta Tau International nursing honor society honored Sharon Wilkerson of the School of Nursing's parent/child nursing department recently, awarding her the "Excellence in Education" award.

ELECTION TRIUMPH--G. Paul DeRosa, chair of the orthopaedic surgery department, was elected second vice president of the Mid-American Orthopaedic Association at its recent annual meeting. He'll become president of the association in 1995-96.

RETIREMENT RECEPTION--Friends of Barb Coleman of Riley child psychiatry can wish her well at her retirement reception June 9 from 2-5 p.m. in the fifth-floor atrium at Riley Hospital for Children. For more call 4-8162.

HEALTH LINE

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE--A 14-week drug study for people with high blood pressure is seeking participants through the Hypertension Research Center. For more information about the study and compensation, call 4-0796.

BONE STUDY--African-American girls (ages 5 to 15) and their mothers are needed for a one-time visit for a bone density study in the department of medicine. For more about the study and compensation, call 4-8440.

AMUSEMENT PARKS TOP NEXT URBAN AGENDA

Summer fun in the city used to mean a ride on the roller coaster at one of Indianapolis' amusement parks. That era of the city's history will be featured at the June 2 Urban Agenda session when David Vanderstel of the POLIS Research Center and assistant editor of the Encyclopedia of Indianapolis discusses "Amusement Parks in Indianapolis." Urban Agenda sessions are sponsored by POLIS and focus on how and why Indianapolis developed as it has. Vanderstel's presentation will be held in conference room A of the Associated Group headquarters, 120 Monument Circle, from noon to 1 p.m. The sessions are free and open to the public.

CITY LIBRARIES TO HOST ADMISSIONS INFORMATION SESSIONS

Faculty and staff who have children or know of other people interested in learning more about attending IUPUI are invited to meet with representatives from the admissions office at one of five city library sites May 25 and May 27. On May 25, representatives will be at the Warren Public Library, the Indianapolis Central Library and the Southport Public Library from 3-7 p.m. Two days later, they'll be at the Nora Public Library and the Decatur Public Library during the same hours. No appointments are necessary, but those who are interested in attending classes are asked to bring official high school and/or college transcripts with them, if possible. The sessions are designed to help those interested in attending classes to beat the June 15 deadline for applying for the fall semester.

CAMPUS NOTEBOOK

SURPLUS AUCTION--Surplus Property is staging an auction June 19 at the PX building (630 W. New York St.) beginning at 9 a.m. For more call Dan Reynolds at 4-7753.

WEIGHT WATCHERS--Weight Watchers at Work is planning an open house June 2 beginning at noon for anyone interested in learning more about the program. Due to construction at Riley Hospital, the meeting will be held in room 319 of Fesler Hall. Bring your own lunch. For more call 4-7215 or 875-7546.

LECTURES, SEMINARS AND PRESENTATIONS

SEX, ART & AIDS--Educational posters and how they are used in the fight against AIDS are the focus of the next John Shaw Billings History of Medicine Society seminar, set June 1 at 4 p.m. in the Emerson Hall auditorium. The various messages contained within the posters, including information, warnings, promotion of abstinence or fidelity to one partner, etc., will be discussed. Those interested in attending should be aware that some of the posters on display contain explicit depictions of sexual practices, condoms and drug use.

HUMAN RESOURCES PROGRAMS--Campus supervisors and biweekly staff are invited to attend a pair of Human Resources Administration workshops in June. The first, set June 8 from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in UN 372, will focus on the job evaluation process. The second, scheduled June 15 from 9-10:30 a.m., also in UN 372, will feature the exempt employment process. To register or for more information call 4-8931.

CURRICULUM WORKSHOP--The medical school's next Faculty Enrichment Series seminar will be June 4 in the rooftop lounge of the Union Building from 8:30-11 a.m. Karen Gable of the School of Education will discuss "Highlighting Diversified Learning Styles in the Teaching-Learning Process." The seminar is free but seating is limited. To arrange attendance, call 4-4083.

CAMPUS JOINS NATIONAL WRITING PROJECT

Teachers sometimes learn best by becoming students. So goes the theory behind the National Writing Project, which has chosen IUPUI as the site of its second five-week summer institute based in Indiana for Hoosier teachers. The campus is one of nine new sites in the federally funded program, which now has 164 sites in 43 states, plus Puerto Rico, Canada, Australia, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Japan. In the program, teachers from all grade levels and all fields work with each other to understand more about writing, and how to pass along that knowledge to their students and their fellow teachers. The program is designed to increase the use of writing in other areas of study, not just English, literature and traditional courses that focus on writing as a means of expression. This year's program will involve up to 20 Hoosier teachers and run from July 5 to August 6.

DENTAL SCHOOL SIGNS FRIENDSHIP AGREEMENTS WITH THAI UNIVERSITIES

A visit from an old friend and 1960 IU School of Dentistry graduate Tanphuying Petchara Techakampuch has strengthened ties between IUPUI and her new home, Chulalongkorn University in Thailand. As dean of the faculty of dentistry at Chulalongkorn, she headed a delegation of Thai officials from several universities that signed friendship agreements with the School of Dentistry. Under the agreements, the universities will work together to establish joint graduate degrees and study in several dental specialty areas, collaborative teaching and research programs, visiting professorships and exchanges of staff and graduate students. Other Thai institutions involved in the agreements are Chiangmai, Songkhla and Mahidol universities. While visiting, Techakampuch, now the official dentist to the royal family of Thailand, was able to renew old acquaintances, including Thailand native Suteera Hovijitra of the IUSD prosthodontics department, a former student of the IUSD alumnus.

CONFERENCE CENTER EARNS GOODWILL AWARD

Goodwill Industries of Central Indiana, Inc. has named the University Place Conference Center and Hotel its 1992 "Large Employer of the Year" for its participation in Goodwill's Supported Employment Program. The Conference Center hired four new permanent employees under the program, one of whom earned "employee of the month" recognition from the Conference Center. The program is aimed at providing productive mainstream employment for people who have disabilities that might at one time have limited them to work in sheltered workshops.

GREEN SHEET SUMMER SCHEDULE

Tentative dates for the summer issues of the Green Sheet have been set, with the first issue in June now slated for June 13. Subsequent dates will be June 27, July 11, July 25, August 8 and August 22 (all Sundays). Deadlines for material to be considered for inclusion in the Green Sheet will be 5 p.m. the Tuesday preceeding each of the issue dates listed above.

green sheet

*News Bureau

Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202